Legislature authorizes purchase for emergency shelter

Following a 17-8 vote at the June legislative board meeting, the Dutchess County Legislature on June 13 authorized the allocation $3,100,000 of American Rescue Plan (ARP) funds to purchase 26 Oakley Street in the City of Poughkeepsie and help establish the emergency housing shelter set to be created there. The resolution establishing a Stakeholder Group was adopted unanimously.

After last month's legislative committee meeting, Chairman Gregg Pulver announced a 30-day postponement of consideration and the formation of a legislative work group that included several legislators and county officials to brainstorm a community input committee. That committee will consist of up to 11 members and intends to "ensure meaningful community input into the development and ongoing operations of the proposed emergency housing facility for individuals experiencing homelessness." The members will come from various backgrounds, and will include one county legislator, one representative of a local school, neighbors, business owners, a Poughkeepsie city councilperson, and a local faith leader. With the commencement of work at Oakley Street, the Stakeholder Group brainstormed in the work group and enacted by the legislature is now free to commence its work as well. The group will review the Request for Proposal (RFP) for a vendor to work on the facility and will also have formal input on selecting a facility director.

Legislator Steve Caswell said, "The research and development of this is reassuring and we hope the Oakley Street facility will bear fruit for the benefit of our homeless residents. The current arrangement for our homeless has issues and we will be glad to see the current PODS temporary housing system replaced by something better. I'm happy that our homeless residents will be getting the care they need, both for their own sake and for the sake of the surrounding community."

Democratic legislators said City residents have voiced their concerns regarding the County's proposed homeless shelter for this location. The City's 5th Ward is struggling with gun violence, crime, drug use, and high unemployment. After an initial 30-day delay of the vote, Democratic caucus members said they again asked for more time regarding the purchase of this facility, but were denied.

Minority Leader Yvette Valdés Smith, said, "The Republican legislative caucus worked on the purchase and planning of this facility behind closed doors for the better part of two years. The Democratic caucus, the City of Poughkeepsie Common Council, and community residents only learned of the 26 Oakley St. location on March 3, 2022. The lack of transparency and honesty at play when real lives and vulnerable communities are at stake is shocking and abhorrent. This is bad government."

Lyra Music Festival to debut in Hudson Valley June 26 - July 9

By Kristine Coulter

The Lyra Music Festival is coming to Beacon. The Festival, which began in Massachusetts and Vermont, will take place from June 26 – July 9. The Festival is described as "an outstanding series of summer classical music events" based in the Hudson Valley. Performances will take place in the Howland Cultural Center, 477 Main St.

"Audiences can expect chamber music concerts performed by world class musicians in the beautiful, acoustically rich Howland Cultural Center. Unlike large concert hall venues, the Howland Cultural Center provides the opportunity to experience chamber music up close, in the kind of intimate setting perfectly designed for this type of performance," said Rachel Odo, executive director of the Lyra Music. "Our final student gala concert will give audiences a glimpse of the next generation of classical musicians, young string players and pianists performing works by Beethoven, Dvorak, Piazzolla, Schumann, and Shostakovich. Their energy and passion for the music is always exciting as they bring together everything that they've worked on during their time with the Lyra Music Young Artist Performance Program which runs concurrently with the Lyra Music Festival."

According to Odo, Lyra Festival audiences can also go behind-the-scenes, attending masterclasses to hear performances by participants with the Lyra Music Young Artist Performance Program and to watch Lyra Music's Guest Artists-in-Residence in action as they work with these outstanding young musicians. Audiences are invited to meet the musicians and to learn more about the musical process as Lyra Music's Guest Artists share their personal insights and inspiration with the students and the public.

Beacon is not the only Hudson Valley location where Lyra Music outreach concerts take place. They will also be in Cornwall-on-Hudson, Garrison, Milton, New Paltz, and New Windsor. "These free events will be performed by Lyra Music faculty, staff, and students; many will be outdoors making them perfect for a gathering of friends, a date-night picnic, or a relaxing family event," said Odo.

Meet BHS Class of 2022's valedictorian and salutatorian

By Kristine Coulter

Madeline Bobnick and Emma Sandison are valedictorian and salutatorian of the Beacon High School (BHS) Class of 2022.

"When I was told I was the valedictorian of BHS, I felt extremely grateful that all of my hard work had been recognized," said Madeline.

Emma remarked, "When I was told I was the salutatorian, I was immediately excited and proud. It was an extremely rewarding feeling knowing that all my hard work had paid off."

Now with their high school days coming to a close, and graduation almost here, what will they miss about BHS and their time there?

"I will miss many aspects of my high school experience. I will miss participating in various athletic activities and academic clubs. I will miss my friends, BHS pep rallies, and the school spirit that is so pervasive throughout the halls and in the bleachers," said Madeline.

Emma replied to that question, "I think I will miss my friends and teachers more than anything else. I made a lot of amazing friends and had some incredible teachers who are all going to be hard to say goodbye to."

Madeline will be attending Northeastern University in the fall, majoring in biochemistry.

"I will be attending Binghamton University in the fall. My major is currently undeclared, but I might pursue health sciences," said Emma.

While college life will be here soon, Madeline noted the impact made on her by those who teach at BHS and the Beacon community.

“What will make graduating the most difficult is leaving the Beacon community. I have always said that each and every one of my teachers has truly cared about me, first as a person and then as a student. I can honestly extend that statement to encompass administrators, guidance counselors, athletic department members, security guards, food service personnel, school nurses, and custodians. The relationships I have forged with others throughout my time here have been invaluable, and my accomplishments are just as much credit to the hard work and dedication of the Beacon staff, as they are to me,” noted Madeline.

For students who will be entering Beacon High School in September, Emma said, “My advice for students who will be starting high school in September would be to work hard, but also enjoy your time in high school and have fun.”

Madeline advised students who will be starting high school in the new school year to “[m]ake the most of every opportunity presented and resist the temptation to take the easy way out, because real growth happens when you fail. Education is a choice that requires diligence and sacrifice, but the reward is an investment in yourself. Always work hard, and remember to appreciate everything that makes life worth living.”

Electric & Gas Bill Relief Program approved by NY State Regulators

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. is implementing the Electric & Gas Bill Relief Program, approved by the New York State Public Service Commission on June 16, to assist low-income families and individuals throughout the state who experienced hardship during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Residential utility customers who receive income-qualified government assistance for utility bills and other expenses and have past-due balances for service through May 1, 2022, will have those balances forgiven through a bill credit. Customers who qualify for this program remain responsible for charges incurred after May 1. To qualify, customers must:

- Be enrolled in the utility bill discount program or Energy Affordability Program by December 31, 2022.

- Or
- Have received benefits under New York State’s Emergency Rental Assistance Program (ERAP) or the Home Energy Assistance Program - Regular Arrears Supplement in the prior heating season.

Customers already enrolled in the bill discount or Energy Affordability program or who have received ERAP or RAS benefits in the prior heating season will receive a bill credit automatically and do not need to take any action. Income-qualified customers not currently enrolled in a bill discount or Energy Affordability program may do so by December 31, 2022 to be eligible for the program.

Qualifying governmental assistance programs include: Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP), Lifeline Telephone Service Program (Lifeline), Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), Medicaid, Veterans Disability or Survivors Pension, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Federal Public Housing Assistance, Bureau of Indian Affairs General Assistance (if living on tribal lands), Head Start (if living on tribal lands), Tribal TANF (if living on tribal lands), Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (if living on tribal lands), Utility Guarantee / Direct Vendor programs, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), Safety Net Assistance.

Funding for the statewide program is provided by $250 million in state assistance, allocated proportionately to each New York utility based on balances due for income qualified residential accounts, and a temporary surcharge on utility bills. For Central Hudson customers, the surcharge is estimated as approximately one-half percent on utility bills for a period of one year, included in Miscellaneous charges (MISC on the Central Hudson Bill) to assist low-income families served by Central Hudson, as approved and ordered by the state.

A partial bill forgiveness program is in development for all other residential and small commercial accounts affected by the COVID-19 pandemic by New York State, utilities and stakeholders. Details will be provided later in the year.

Inaugural Community Day for Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail June 25

By Kristine Coulter

The Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail (HHFT) Inaugural Community Day is set for June 25. The event will take place from 1 – 4 p.m. The rain date is June 26.

“People can expect a fun, free community event with music, hands-on art and nature projects, and free ice cream and other refreshments. Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail staff will be there to talk with the public about the project,” said Derin Tanyol, project associate for Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail.

The event is taking place at the former Dutchess Manor catering facility, 263 Route 9D, in Fishkill.

“HHFT purchased the building in late 2020 with the goal of restoring it and appointing it as the Visitor Center for the Fjord Trail. These changes will take place in 2023–2025. Right now, the building is the same—except Beaconites who know the building by way of the large burgundy “Dutchess Manor” sign on the road should be aware that the sign has been removed. We’ll have lots of balloons and other signage on Community Day so people won’t miss it,” noted Tanyol.

As for what one can do once at the free admission event, there will be the following:

- Live music by Philipstown’s own Hudson Lovell
- A collaborative art-making experience with HeARTful Yoga by Dani (aka Cold Spring’s Dani Locastro)
- Free ice cream from Nelsonville’s Homestyle Creamery
- Family-friendly activities:
  - Bee B&B: Celebrate National Pollinator Week with Park Director Drew Polinsky, who created a special activity where families can help build and decorate their own Bee B&B
  - Kites: build, decorate, and fly a kite on the big open lawn at Dutchess Manor, where HHFT will eventually have our home base.

The Trail, said Tanyol, “will be a 7.5-mile linear park along the Hudson River, inviting people of all ages and abilities to immerse themselves in nature and the renowned beauty of the Hudson Highlands. The Fjord Trail will serve as the gateway to some of the most breathtaking and popular day hikes in the United States, including Breakneck Ridge, Mount Taurus, and Little Stony Point.” The trail began as a grassroots community project years ago, when residents of Cold Spring and Philipstown began discussing solutions to visitor safety and congestion at nearby Breakneck Ridge, remarked Tanyol. “The primary challenge was to create a safe pedestrian route for the growing number of hikers flocking to the spectacular trails of the Hudson Highlands. Heavy pedestrian use of State Route 9D, a 55 mph highway, was seen by concerned neighbors as an accident waiting to happen,” said Tanyol.

Construction in the Breakneck area will begin late in 2022, where HHFT will create an off-road connector trail between the Metro-North Breakneck station and a safer, relocated trailhead, according to Tanyol.

“This phase of the project is called the Breakneck Connector and will also include improved, rationalized parking, signalized crosswalks, restrooms and garbage facilities, and a bridge over the railroad tracks which will take visitors to the river’s edge and the eventual Shoreline Trail (Phase 2 of the Fjord Trail project). The Fjord Trail will also include forest and marsh walks. Completion of the Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail is projected for 2027,” she said.

For those who want to attend, RSVP by filling out the form at: <https://hhft.org/experience/hhft-community-day/>.

More information can be found at hhft.org. One can also check Instagram, @fjord_trail, where an “Ask Us” campaign answers some of the basic questions about the Fjord Trail.

Legislature authorizes purchase for emergency shelter

Assistant Minority Leader, Barrington R. Atkins, whose district includes the 5th Ward, stated, “The blatant disregard to hear community voices as well as elected officials and representatives of the people is a disgrace. This process has been complicated by the authoritarian approach we often see from Republican County Executive Marcus Molinaro’s office. My Democratic colleagues and I have worked hard under difficult circumstances to make sure the needs of the Fifth Ward and the needs of the homeless in Dutchess County are considered in the Legislature’s final plan but many issues still exist.”

City of Poughkeepsie Legislator, Craig Brendli, said, “Controversial projects require transparency from the beginning; we did not have that. The City of Poughkeepsie has done its fair share. I feel that it is possible to find a place outside of a city neighborhood that works and has the potential to provide strong outcomes.”

Legislature Chairman Gregg Pulver said, “This shelter was discussed during an hour-long presentation in March, and prior to that in the Legislature’s February leadership meeting. The process has been very public. I think it’s fair to say a three-month discussion on a project is plenty of time. Although county staff were studying the site well in advance, the Republican caucus has not been involved for two years, and no binding action regarding the Oakley Street site was taken until yesterday, June 13. Then, following debate, passed the purchase resolution with a 17-8 bipartisan (15 Republicans, 1 Democrat, 1 Conservative) vote.

“A formal public advisory committee - sponsored only by three Republicans - was also created by the Legislature, comprising up to 11 members, to give community input on the shelter and its ongoing operations. We want to continue to hear from the public and everyone wants to make this project successful.”

Lyra Music Festival coming to Hudson Valley

According to Odo, "Lyra Music's co-founder and artistic director, Akiko Sasaki is a resident of Beacon and as we considered how to move forward after the pandemic, she was excited about the idea of bringing Lyra home. Beacon has such a vibrant music and arts scene and, as home to the Howland Chamber Music Circle, where Akiko is also the Music Director, is a community that warmly welcomes and supports classical music."

Guest artists joining us this summer will be the Horszowski Trio, Jesse Mills, violin, Ole Akahoshi, cello, and Rieko Aizawa, piano performing works by Bernstein, Mendelssohn, and Smetana. Jesse is well-known locally as the 1999 winner of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic String Competition, said Odo. Also The Horszowski Trio will perform.

"During our second week, we are thrilled to present cellist Estelle Choi, pianist Henry Kramer, and violinist Kristin Lee who will be performing works by Barber, Debussy, and Schubert. Estelle Choi is a founding member of the Calidore String Quartet which was the grand prize winner of the 2016 M-Prize International Chamber Music Competition, an Avery Fisher Career Grant winner, and member of the Chamber Society of Lincoln Center," said Odo.

"Music was an essential part of my childhood because my mother was an opera singer (she was the founding member of Seoul City Opera in South Korea)," Kristin Lee told the Beacon Free Press through an email. Lee played the piano and violin as a child in Korea. It was when her family moved to the United States, Lee had to put a pause on the piano. The reason? Lee said "because the whole family thought we would move back after one year of my father's work in the states ([A] [p]iano isn't the most transportable instrument when you are flying across the ocean..) Many decades later, here I am playing the violin for my life and I can't be more grateful!"

This will not be the first time Lee will be participating in a Lyra Festival. She previously performed in the 2018 Lyra Festival.

"Lyra Music is a non-profit organization, proceeds from ticket sales make it possible to continue bringing the highest caliber musicians to perform for Lyra Music audiences and to work with Lyra Music students. Gifts and grants made to Lyra Music support student scholarships and financial aid, sponsor performance and academic facilities, educational initiatives, free outreach concerts and programs open to the community," said Odo. "Every gift makes a tremendous impact as we work to enhance the lives of young musicians and enrich the community through classical music."

To make a gift please find us online at lyramusic.org.

Lee noted, "As we are living in the times where the world has dealt with so much turmoil, I hope you can all join us to find healing and beauty through live music! I hope to see you all there!"

DISPATCHES FROM THE VFW

by Tom Zurhellen

'One-stop-shop' for veterans services could be a game-changer

We're so lucky to have so many different organizations here in the Hudson Valley, small and large, who support our veterans. As the co-founder of VetZero, I can certainly attest to that! We all work well together, but geographically we're all spread out across Dutchess County and beyond. That can make it difficult for our veterans who don't have a reliable source of transportation to get the specific help they need.

Think about it: right now, a veteran would have to travel down to Castle Point for health care, then visit the Dutchess County Division of Veterans Services office in downtown Poughkeepsie to get help on their benefits claims, then travel again to see the veteran counselors at MHA Dutchess Veterans Programs for their mental health needs, and so on. When you don't have your own car or you aren't able to drive yourself, it can be almost impossible for veterans to get all the assistance they need and deserve. There is the VetZero Heroes ride program for veterans, of course, but it couldn't possibly serve all our veterans at the same time.

Luckily, a possible solution to this dilemma doesn't seem so far away. Recently, I spoke with my friend Andrew O'Grady, CEO of Mental Health America (MHA) of Dutchess County, which of course oversees MHA Dutchess Veterans Programs, and he shared some very promising news.

"MHA received a donation of a medical arts building from an incredibly generous donor. Our plan is to make this facility into a veteran 'one-stop-shop' facility which will make it so much easier for our veterans in Dutchess to get all the assistance they need," Andrew told me.

"Instead of having to go across town or across the county to visit different agencies, they would be able to simply go next door in the same building, saving time and energy."

The proposed facility is located right on Route 44 between Pleasant Valley and Poughkeepsie and will become the new home of MHA Dutchess Veterans Programs and its veteran counselors. I've seen the building myself and it is very impressive.

At this time, Andrew and his team at MHA are encouraging all local organizations who help veterans to consider moving into an office in the new facility.

"The rent will probably be much less than what they are paying now, and having as many organizations as possible under one roof makes it better for our veterans," Andrew said.

Andrew told me he hopes to have the new facility up and running by the end of this year, if not sooner. His goal is to invite the VA to add a satellite office at the new building; Adam Roche and his team at Dutchess County Veterans Services have been invited as well.

If you are part of an organization in Dutchess County that has a passion for helping veterans, perhaps you should consider finding out more about becoming part of this promising project. One can reach Andrew and MHA Dutchess at 845-473-2500 or info@mhadutchess.org.

As you can see, transportation is such an important issue for so many veterans today. I think this proposed new facility could really be a game-changer and make life a lot easier for our heroes. Thanks to MHA Dutchess plans to turn a former medical arts building on Route 44 into a 'one-stop-shop' facility where local veterans can get all the assistance they need in one place.

Andrew O'Grady for sharing this exciting news, and also for his vision in putting the project together. When we work together, our veterans always benefit.

And thank you, for listening! See you next time!

A Navy veteran, Tom Zurhellen has been Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) in Poughkeepsie for the past three years. In the summer of 2019, he walked across America from Portland, Oregon, to Poughkeepsie to raise awareness on veteran suicide and veteran homelessness in our country. He continues to work with local veterans in need through the VetZero Project, in partnership with Hudson River Housing.

Renegades win slugfest to climb back over .500

By Rich Thomaselli

A seven-run explosion in the 11th inning led the Hudson Valley Renegades to a wild 16-10 victory over the Greensboro Grasshoppers on Sunday afternoon at First National Bank Field.

The Renegades are now 32-31 overall with six wins in their last eight games.

The Renegades hit four home runs in the game, including two in the 11th, when they sent 10 batters to the plate en route to victory. Seven Hudson Valley pitchers combined for 18 strikeouts, tying a season-high.

A wacky game began with the Renegades taking a 2-0 lead in the top of the first on a two-run home run by Tyler Hardman off Domingo Gonzalez. Hardman would ultimately finish 3-for-5 with a home run, a double, two runs scored, three RBIs and a walk. The Gades tacked on two more in the fourth to take a 4-0 advantage.

Greensboro rallied to tie the game up against T.J. Sikkema, with Emny Ordonez hitting a three-run home run to right to level the score in the fourth. Sikkema lasted 3.1 innings, allowing four runs (three earned) on four hits, one walk and one strikeout while throwing a career-high 58 pitches.

Hardman put the Renegades back in front with an RBI single in the top of the fifth, but the Grasshoppers rallied for three unearned runs in the bottom of the seventh to take a 7-5 lead.

Aaron Palensky led off the eighth with a solo home run to cut the deficit to 7-6, and with the Renegades down to their final strike in the top of the ninth, Hardman doubled and scored on a Spencer Henson single to tie the game.

In the 10th, Pat DeMarco drove in Cristian Perez with the go-ahead run and scored when Eduardo Torrealba reached on an error to put Hudson Valley in front 9-7. However, Ordonez hit a game-tying two-run homer off Miller in the bottom of the 10th to tie the game again.

In the 11th, Everson Pereira doubled to score Anthony Seigler to give the Renegades the lead, and then the flood gates opened. Cristian Perez and Aaron Palensky collected RBI singles, Carlos Narvaez hit a pinch-hit, two-run home run to right center, and Cooper Bowman also hit a two-run homer to put the Gades up 16-9.

Renegades games getting shorter, thanks to minor league experiment

By Rich Thomaselli

Steve Gliner was somewhere between flummoxed and perplexed and pleasantly surprised.

The Hudson Valley Renegades president was preparing for a post-game fireworks show at Dutchess Stadium during the team's last homestand following a Saturday night game against Jersey Shore.

First pitch for the game was 6:05 p.m.

Last pitch of the game was 7:56 p.m.

Yep, that's right – one hour and 51 minutes from start to finish for a full nine-inning contest.

"I couldn't believe it," Gliner said. "We had to kill an hour before the fireworks started because it wasn't dark enough outside yet. We've never had to do that. Our games normally run about three hours, so 1:51 is insane. But the pitch clock has definitely made a difference."

What Gliner is referring to is one of several experiments taking place across minor league baseball this season, including for the Renegades, the county's High Class A affiliate of the New York Yankees.

In order to shorten the length of games, a pitch clock is being used to hurry pitchers along and prohibit hurlers from taking too long. At the Triple A level, minor leagues are using a pitch clock of 14 seconds between pitches with no runners, and 19 seconds with runners on base. At the Renegades' High-A level, pitchers are on a clock of 14 seconds with no runners and 18 seconds with runners on.

The goal is to monitor the results in the hopes of introducing it to Major League Baseball games as early as the 2023 season.

Has the fledgling program worked?

According to the Associated Press, pitch clocks have shaved 29 minutes off of the average previous time of minor league games that used to push three hours long.

Neither MLB officials nor television executives are too concerned about three-hour contests, but when pitchers sometimes take 30, 45, even 60 seconds between pitches, game times can push four hours. That's when the length of games becomes worrisome and executives believe fans lose interest, especially compared to faster action in basketball, hockey and football.

A competition committee in Major League Baseball was established to review the results. Baseball Commissioner Rob Manfred said the committee will meet for the first time this week.

"The pitch clock has definitely made an impact and definitely moved the game along," Gliner said. "From a timing perspective, a game that is 2:20 and 2:30 seems to be ideal. Baseball has looked for ways to make the game more fan-friendly, but you don't want to reinvent it too much."

GLINER'S KORNER!

Growing up with baseball in the family - as Mets, Yankees fans

Every week, Hudson Valley Renegades President Steve Gliner sits down with reporter Rich Thomaselli to discuss the team in particular, and minor league baseball in general.

Happy Father's Day buddy!

Happy Father's Day to you too my friend!

I was curious, on this particular day, did you get your love of baseball from your father? If I remember right, your dad is a big Mets fan.

Definitely from both my parents. Both big Mets fans. My whole family is Mets fans. Both my parents were brought up Yankees fans and they moved to Queens, Kew Gardens, right when Shea Stadium was being built. So they went to Shea because it was so convenient and they became Mets fans. I mean, back in those days, when the franchise first started, the Mets were so lovable back in the day (laughs).

Do you remember your first game?

Oh yeah. My mom, Marilyn, passed a couple of years ago and every year I post a picture of my Mom and I at Shea. My dad, Arnie, took the picture because, of course, he's a photographer. I think I was about five years old. I think my love of baseball started that day and I've just really loved baseball ever since. I have great memories of having catches with my dad and my brother (Barry) in the driveway.

Yet, you're a Yankees fan.

(laughs) Yeah, as I got older, into my teens and the Yankees got good in the 1970s, I became a Yankees fan. It's funny, Ross (Steve's son) asked me the other day who my all-time favorite player is and I always say the same thing – Don Mattingly. My first job in baseball was with a Yankees affiliate and now it's come full circle. My mom used to say that when I was teenager, that I was going to work in baseball.

Steve Gliner's dad, Arnie, worked for the Mets at their spring training site in Port St. Lucie, Fla. for 17 years, operating the elevator there.

When I was at SUNY Albany I didn't know what I wanted to do. When I found out the Yankees had a team in Albany, I went down there and knocked on the door. The rest is history I guess. Although it's funny, my grandfather asked me what I would be doing and I told him I would be doing everything, pulling tarps, cleaning bathrooms, the whole bit. He was like, 'What? You have a college education!' I wish he was still here to see how it all turned out.

You still spend a lot of time with your father talking baseball.

Oh yeah, I'm taking him to the Mets game on Monday so he'll be excited about that. He's been up here for six weeks. He just loves being at the ballpark. In our most recent homestand, he went to four of the six games at Dutchess Stadium. Baseball is his thing.

He worked for the Mets at their spring training site in St. Lucie (Fla.) for 17 years, operating the elevator at the ballpark there. He got close to many in the Mets family and they know him by name, especially (broadcasters) Gary (Thorn), Keith (Hernandez), Ron (Darling) and Howie (Rose). Every day they would stop by and say hello to Arnie.

Arlington High School students win ‘Be Tick Free’ contest held by Tick Task Force

As part of Tick-borne Disease Awareness, the Dutchess County Tick Task Force, together with the Department of Behavioral and Community Health, hosted the 2022 “Be Tick Free!” Media Contest, open to middle and high-school students. The goal of the contest was for students to learn the dangers of Lyme and other tick-borne diseases and create a 30 or 60 second live action or computer animated public service announcement on how to prevent tick borne disease.

Donna Bolner, Legislator from District 13 and Chair of the Tick Task Force, stated, “the media contest allowed young people to experience the positive impact of becoming educators in protecting their local community from ticks and tick-borne disease.”

Arlington High School students, Emma Boyd was awarded 1st place and Jack Williams, Jacob Gomez, and Robert Yoli were awarded 2nd place and each were presented with a gift certificate courtesy of the Dutchess County Tick Task Force. To view the winning videos and find out how to “Be Tick Free!” please visit: <https://youtu.be/kolw3SVZgh8>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Ma08Aazr-KY>

Bolner and the Tick Task Force are committed to efforts in prevention and education regarding negative effects of the tick population. The mission of the Tick Task Force is to develop long term goals and make recommendations to the Legislature in the efforts of understanding and safely controlling ticks and reducing Lyme Disease and other tick-borne diseases.

“It is important to remain diligent in doing tick checks during every season. Ticks don’t just carry Lyme Disease, albeit that is the most common tick-borne disease, but there are many others including Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, Ehrlichiosis, and Babesiosis. If you, or someone you know, were bit by a tick and show symptoms of illness – see your doctor immediately,” concluded Bolner.

Pride worship service at First Presbyterian Church in Beacon June 26

An inclusive Pride worship service led by the Rev. Erik Simon will be held at the First Presbyterian Church of Beacon, 50 Liberty St., on Sunday, June 26 at 10a.m. First Presbyterian welcomes anyone and everyone to worship every Sunday but is especially reaching out to those who may have felt unwelcome in church. In 2018, the 223rd General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church (P.C.U.S.A.) voted unanimously to pass the following overture: The Presbyterian Church apologizes for the church’s previous unwelcoming stance on LGBTQ parishioners, celebrates LGBTQ church pioneers, and states the church will welcome, lift up, and fight for the human rights of all people created in the eyes of God.

County accepting applications for Historical Sites & Museum Infrastructure grant program

Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro announced applications are now being accepted for the County's Agency Partner Grant: Historical Sites & Museum Infrastructure grant program, which addresses critical capital and operating funding gaps that impact the preservation of local historic and cultural institutions.

Capital infrastructure projects are limited to facilities owned by a non-profit, and the facility must be a separate structure; funds cannot be used for improvements to a room used for or by historical societies within a facility owned by another entity. All eligible Dutchess County historical societies or museums, however, can apply for operating infrastructure funds.

The total allocation for this one-time initiative is $200,000, with grants available between $5,000 and $30,000 per institution. Applications for these grants are being accepted through an online portal, and the deadline to apply is Wednesday, July 20th at 4 p.m. Application guidance and instructions are available on the Department of History's website.

County Executive Molinaro said, "Tourism has long been an economic engine for Dutchess County, and our unique historic sites, museums and cultural centers are attractions that engage both residents and visitors. Our investment in these diverse institutions will not only ensure the history of our heritage remains intact, but also that future guests – be they visitors from around the corner or around the globe – can learn the Dutchess County story."

Historic sites and museums that are run as non-profits typically rely heavily on membership dues and donations for revenue resulting in revenue streams that are small and unpredictable. The cost for annual maintenance of aging historic sites is significant, and additional upgrades to bring sites up to current accessibility standards create an additional burden on budgets.

Operating infrastructure costs are necessary to provide for the maintenance of artifacts, the provision of programming and the collection of oral histories. These operating costs can be significant and are integral to providing visitors with a full educational experience yet historic sites and museums struggle to fund these efforts.

County Historian Will Tatum said, "Dutchess County's rich heritage is well documented in countless museums and historical sites throughout our community, and these assets are troves of knowledge for residents and visitors alike who wish to gain a greater understanding of our unique history. These invaluable resources, though, require upkeep that can often be a financial hardship. Dutchess County is proud to offer this grant opportunity to protect these vital repositories so their information can be preserved for future generations."

A capital infrastructure project helps maintain or improve an organization's assets, such as a renovation, replacement, or expansion of an existing facility. Targeted investments include renovations or expansions of existing space used for direct programming, as well as investments in the organization's overall facilities to ensure the health and safety of its visitors. Examples include:

- General capital infrastructure to facilities, including physical structures (roof, windows, doors, etc.), HVAC, plumbing, electrical, security, furniture, fixtures and equipment.

- Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) Improvements to promote accessibility and communication to ensure those with disabilities have an equal opportunity to participate in a specific activity.

Operating infrastructure funding supports the necessary tools, networks and systems that ensure the organization's mission is protected and strengthened, including activities that reinforce the organization's capacity and compliance with existing legal, regulatory and financial reporting requirements. Examples include:

- Equipment, supplies, or other one-time expenses (e.g., projectors, microphones, scanners, speaker systems, computers, e-books, pop-up event/program, display cases, signage boards, etc.) purchased within the term of the agreement.

- Information technology upgrades (e.g., phone systems, websites, accounting, donor development, case management software, replacement of antiquated computers and other related hardware, etc.)

Ineligible expenses include ongoing operating expenses, ongoing program expenses, restoring fund balance or reserve accounts and fundraising.

Legislator Steve Caswell said, "Residents of every age can learn about how Dutchess County came to be at our varied museums and historic sites. I'm proud to have proposed this great use of County resources to ensure all who are interested in learning about Dutchess County's history can do so, and I thank my legislative colleagues who supported this initiative."

All applications will be reviewed for eligibility by the Dutchess County Department of Planning and Development with final funding approval recommendations made by the County Executive. Grant awards will be announced in September 2022.

Legislator Joseph D. Cavaccini said, "Our residents and visitors can glean so much about our county by studying its history, and I'm pleased to support this grant opportunity to assure these vital resources can continue to operate without interruption to the benefit of so many who use them."

Strange Brews

An intrepid traveler recalls some memorable beverages

On the first day of summer, our thoughts turn to cool drinks – lemonade, iced tea, absinthe – wait a minute – absinthe? I can't help but recollect some of the strange brews I've imbibed over the years:

Coca Tea (Cuzco, Peru) – At the Inka Grill overlooking the historic Plaza de Armas, Sue, daughter Becky and I would relax with cups of coca tea, resting up for our three-day hike to the ruins of Machu Picchu. The tea bags were filled with shredded coca leaves, the same plant used to produce cocaine. After drinking about 20 cups of this tea, I started doing the math, finally figuring out it would take about 2,500 cups of the tea to – well, you get the picture. Later on, in a smokey cafe, I partook of a foul-tasting concoction called Chicha, which I found out was made from fermented human spit.

Ba Ba Ba (Saigon, Vietnam) – We hired a guide and a driver for our two-week sojourn in Vietnam. The guide, Hung, had never met an American before (this was 1995). He assumed that, like the Taiwanese and Japanese tourists, all we wanted to do was visit temples. After about 25 temples I explained to Hung that I'm not all that religious. "One more temple!" he implored. As we were waiting in line, a young Vietnamese girl came along with a cooler of Ba Ba Ba (333) beer.

"One dollar," she said, pressing the can to my cheek to show me it was cold. I handed her a dollar, cracked open the can, turned to Hung and exclaimed, "Now that's my kind of religion!" That evening, I talked Hung and our driver into visiting an American-style pub where we downed shots of a drink called the B-52.

Coffee (Adama, Ethiopia) – Sue and I have toured coffee farms in Panama, Costa Rica, Colombia and Ethiopia. We were treated to the exceptional Ethiopian Arabica coffee at our visit to Syngenta Flower Farm in the Rift Valley. Everywhere in Ethiopia, coffee is served with a side dish of popcorn! In the middle of our lunch, a flock of ravens swooped down on the patio and ate all the popcorn.

Vino Tinto (Seville, Spain) – I'm not much of a wine drinker, except at art galleries, where it's the only drink available (I guess that's to get you in the mood to buy the paintings). In Seville, we joined a bunch of Spanish kids getting drunk in a park, on a combination of Vino Tinto – a cheap red wine – and Pepsi Cola. It's the most horrible concoction I've ever tasted. But Sue liked it.

Pombe (Lusaka, Zambia) – There are no tourists in Zambia. I inquired at a tourist agency about a trip to see wildlife, and the agent looked confused. "Don't you sell tickets for wildlife safaris?" I asked. He replied, "The only tickets we sell are plane tickets for people who want to get out of here." Eventually, Sue and I hooked up with a guy named Benson, who took us around town (where I famously had a meal of roasted mice). Somewhere along the way I started drinking Pombe – an alcoholic beverage made from millet. It looks like milk and tastes like gasoline. I must have drunk too much, because later on, when Benson showed up to take us to a local concert, he asked, "Where's Mark?" "In the bathroom throwing up. He drank too much Pombe," replied Sue. At that point Benson delivered this famous line which we still laugh at today: "You couldn't restrain him?"

Absinthe (Madrid, Spain) – Sue was game to go on a search for traditional Absinthe, the supposedly hallucinogenic beverage made from the herb artemesia (wormwood). Prowling through the back alleys south of the Plaza Mayor, we uncovered a dusty bottle high up on a shelf in a rustic saloon. Maybe Ernest Hemingway or Pablo Picasso had taken a dram from that very flask. It could have been a hallucination, but after we got robbed a few hours later, I swore I saw Karl Malden pop up and say, "Don't leave home without your American Express Travelers Checks."
