HV Community BSA Band seeks new musicians

By Kristine Coulter

The Hudson Valley BSA Community Band is recruiting musicians.

Althea Richards, who heads the band with her husband Vincent Richards, said "We accept concert band musicians from age 13 through adulthood that read NYSMA level 2 and enjoy playing and rehearsing marches, Broadway shows, and the whole realm of concert and classical music."

The band is chartered to the Greater Hudson Valley BSA Council as Venture Crew 3609 the Hudson Valley Council BSA Community Band, explained Althea.

Vincent Richards is the bandmaster. Althea Richards is the band manager. The band conductor is Chuck Haussermann.

"The band was originally started in 1999 with five members as Explorer Post 2609 sponsored by the Wappinger Elks Lodge #2609. In Boy Scouting, Explorers were allowed to allow girls in their units and so, we eventually got girl members in the band from John Jay High School and from Ketcham High School. I took The Dutchess County BSA Band to Canada twice once to celebrate the 225th Anniversary of the Lundy Lane Presbyterian Church, and the second time as a GoodWill Concert tour and premiered Captain Ken Force's new march that he wrote in response to the bombing of the Twin Towers called "Heroes of New York," explained Althea.

"Ken Force was the Music Director of Kings Point Academy and Commander of the 319th Army Statue of Liberty Band, Fort Totten, New York. The band also went to Washington D.C. on tour with our youth officers laying a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier provided by Bill and Helen Parsons," said Vincent. Bill Parsons was an employee of Southern Dutchess News who was responsible for getting the statue at Schlathaus Park in Wappinger.

"The band also did rubbings of the sons of Gold Star Mothers at the Vietnam Wall," he said.

"Today the band has 38 playing musicians, at one time the band had 60 musicians and had the ability to be split in half to form two separate bands to play two different ceremonies at the same time," explained Althea. "To join the band, musicians need to come to one of our weekly rehearsals as a guest musician, speak with some of our musicians, sit in with the band and see if the music is at the level they can play or can grow into playing, fill out the join Scouting forms, if an adult, take the Youth Protection Form."

So, what does one need to do now to join the band?

Spirit of Beacon Day preparations underway for September

By Goldee Greene

Beaconites and fans of Beacon from all over this region are gearing up for the annual Spirit of Beacon Day now in its 46th year, with the mission of connecting the youth with the community and services provided therein. This year's theme is "Level Up." Committee member and Secretary Jeana Pearl Fletcher conceptualized the theme. "Level Up is a pump-up message to challenge myself with something new, like a goal or event, and embrace lessons learned. It can be a collective practice too!" she said.

"To me, 'Level Up' means elevating everyday efforts to strengthen the future for our youth," added Committee member Junior Zayed Dabashi.

The neighborhood celebration is set for Sunday, September 24, from 11 a.m. -4 p.m. on Main Street. The rain date is Sunday, October 1. But rain or shine, it is planned to proceed, due to vendor, entertainment, and City of Beacon municipal department schedules. As always, volunteers are needed, and can sign up at the Spirit of Beacon website.

Education plays vital role in Youth Livestock Sale

By Curtis Schmidt

The 4-H and Future Farmers of America (FFA) youth who take part in the annual Livestock Sale at the Dutchess County Fair are extremely knowledgeable about the animals they present.

Members like Lyris Pennock, Elizabeth and Tessa Mashburn, Haley McCord, James Roush and Elianna Fell invite everyone to attend the Pre-Sale Reception at the Livestock Show Arena from 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Aug 26, to listen and learn about the animals and then attend the 4 p.m. sale and make bids and purchases that help the youth in their future educational pursuits.

Many individuals in the local business communities appreciate the efforts of the youngsters and have become "regulars" at the sale.

One such person is Richard Ross and his family from Rhinebeck Dental.

"I have always appreciated the dedication and hard work that kids put into 4-H and FFA. I do not have any experience in livestock or agriculture," he said. "It's nice to come out during Fair week and see all of these kids' hard work come to fruition. I have been attending the auction for about five years and will continue to support the kids."

He added, "I really appreciate the hard work of the kids. Many life lessons are gained in parenting livestock."

And now, let's hear from the youth as they inform all about their animals.

• Hello! My name is Lyris Pennock and I am the Youth Representative for Poultry. I am raising Heritage Barred Rock Chickens and Heritage Bourbon Red Turkeys this year for the

"If a person does join the band, they will be lent a band folder with all the music that they will be playing. Music will be able to be taken home after a commitment that they will join the band and will be expected to keep the folder in good condition. If a musician joins the band, he or she will be playing marches, Broadway show pieces, ceremonial music, popular music, classical, and music of the concert band repertoire."

"There is no cost or dues to join or sit in with the band. We encourage musicians to come enjoy, listen, and enjoy the comradeship of playing in an established concert band."

Joanne is one of the band members who joined when she was in 8th grade. "I left the band when I lived out of state, but I joined the band again when I returned to the area." Joanne has been with the band for approximately 10 years. "It feels like home," Joanne, who plays the cymbals, remarked. Joanne also does vocals for the patriotic songs during the band's performances.

Asked why one should join the band, Joanne replied, "The HVCB is a group like I have never seen elsewhere. It's welcoming, full of laughter and support and a true community. We share victories together and most importantly our love for music."

Joanne concluded, "I know when my daughter sees me sing the National Anthem on September 11th or in front of veterans on Memorial Day she learns the power of music and community involvement. What more could you want from a weekly band rehearsal?"

The band meets every Sunday night unless a concert is scheduled for that day or night or canceled. The band meets at the East Fishkill Community Center, 890 Route 82, in East Fishkill, from 6:30-8:30 p.m.

Spirit of Beacon Day preparations underway for September

"The Spirit of Beacon Day reaches beyond a mere street fair. It focuses on welcoming young people of all cultures and backgrounds to the community" said Committee President Katie Hellmuth.

"The Spirit of Beacon Day was formed from the need to respond to racial tensions, in 1977," said Hellmuth. "Embracing this history, and recognizing current issues has guided Beacon generations toward 'Leveling Up' to ensure comfort and safety for everyone."

This year on the sidewalk, there will be a rich array of food vendors. "The people have asked for more street food, so we dedicated a few spots to Beacon businesses to fill. Look for Beacon Boi/Paul Yeaple's hot dogs, Tommy's Empanadas, and of course, St. Rocco's savory sandwiches as well as the Sons of Daughters of Italy's yummy zeppoles, and Italian ices.

Also, the Spirit Committee encourages people to patronize Main Street eateries, in the heart of Beacon. "The restaurants depend on this foot traffic. Please order take-out or dine-in also on this day," said Hellmuth.

The show-stopping Spirit of Beacon Parade takes place on Main Street 1-2 p.m., from Bank Square, to the Howland Cultural Center. Beacon City School District schools are beginning to plan their productions. The Marching Cobras of Cobra Performing Arts, and the Amerscot Highland Pipe Band, are returning this year. Two main stages on Veterans Place and Cross Street will showcase local bands.

"A huge thanks to our sponsors like Key Food, The Station, Rabe & Co., Last Outpost and others who make this all possible. We could not book the bands, or reserve the public toilets without them," acknowledged Hellmuth.

Over forty community service organizations have signed up so far (still room for more!), including Patriot Swim Team/M2O Team, Prison Rides, Salem Tabernacle, Hudson River Sloop Clearwater, Family Transformation Church, Howland Public Library, Beacon City Council, Animal Rescue Foundation, Beacon Climate Action Now, and Tioronda Garden Club, among others.

Also, young, local dancers are on the roster. "We've taken part since the first Spirit of Beacon Day," said Angela Yanarella, owner of Yanarella School of Dance, which has been on Main Street for 66 years. All ten teachers are alumni of the studio, which offers jazz, contemporary, hip-hop, and more. "This is another way of sharing our love for dance with the community. Support from parents of former students also adds to the enthusiasm."

To get the Spirit of Beacon buzz going,

The Spirit of Beacon Day parade will take place on Main Street on September 24. Bagpipers participate in a previous year's event.

the Committee urges Beaconites to order its colorful shirts and hats and from the website, then posting pix on Instagram, using the #spiritofbeacon hashtag. "We want to know where these shirts have been worn," said Hellmuth. "So far, they have been to Rome, Italy and Charleston, South Carolina and other cities. Show us how you travel with your spirit! Even just to your friend's home next door."

Education plays vital role in Youth Livestock Sale

Dutchess County Fair's Youth Livestock Sale. Chicken is one of the most popular meat sources in America because it is high in protein, low in fat, and very versatile to cook. There's nothing better sitting down to a meal with a 4-H raised chicken or turkey as the centerpiece.

• My name is Elizabeth Mashburn and I am the Youth Representative for the species of Meat Goat. Although Chevron is not as common as in Europe, it's still imported to the United States by the billions. There's a growing demand, even locally. Luckily, the 4-H Meat Goat program has grown and there will be more opportunities for buyers than in the past. Hope to see you there!

• Hi, I'm Tessa Mashburn, the Youth Representative for Rabbits. Rabbit meat offers a generous amount of vitamins, minerals, protein and omegas. Their fur is exquisite and so is their pooh as fertilizer for gardening. It may be lovely to eat braised rabbit at a fancy French restaurant, rabbit tacos from a chic food truck or you can support local youth at our sale with our homegrown offerings.

• My name is Haley McCord and I am the Youth Representative for lambs. This year I will be raising two lambs to be sold in the sale. My family raises homegrown market lambs for production in agriculture. Making connections with buyers about how I raise my lambs and even helping to educate others who may want to know more about lamb meat production is my goal!

• My name is James Roush and I am a member of the 4-H Beef Club, Here Comes the Beef, as well as being the Youth Representative for Beef Cattle. Beef is an excellent source of protein and supplies 10 essential nutrients including B-vitamins, zinc and iron that support a healthy lifestyle!

• My name is Elianna Fell and I am Youth Representative for hogs. I have been raising three hogs since March. Hogs are really fun to take care of and raise, growing a bond with them and getting them to trust you over the time spent with them. You can make a lot of different types of meals with pork, cooking it whatever way you want. Pork is really tasty!

William Kent Inc. is again the Auctioneer for the sale, with Josh Kent in charge. Pictures and videos are available to view on-line starting at williamkentinc.com/online-auction.

Youth representing both 4-H and FFA (Future Farmers of America) have entered animals in the sale. This year's sale entries include beef, hogs, lambs, goats, rabbits, chickens, turkeys and heritage breed chickens and turkeys.

"Watching the youth interact with potential buyers and seeing the community support of the Dutchess County Youth Livestock is one of the highlights of Fair week. It is amazing to see so many people and companies, both new and longtime supporters of our youngest members of the agriculture community," said Michelle Hicks, chairperson of the Livestock Sale Committee.

DC Firefighting Museum to have display at Fair

The Dutchess County Firefighting Museum will again have a historic display at the Dutchess County Fair. This year they will have a Millerton Fire Department 1892 Hose Cart, pictured above, Pine Plains Fire Department 1899 Ladder truck, Rhinebeck's 1859 Hand Pumper (Old Pokie). The Texaco 1955 2nd edition pumper that served the Texaco research center in Beacon will also be included, plus many other artifacts that go back to early 1900s. So be sure to stop by and say hello.

Donkey & Mule Show new at the Dutchess County Fair

Donkeys, the long-eared and lovable cousin of the horse, have become increasingly popular in recent years. In recognition, the Dutchess County Fair is pleased to host its first-ever Donkey & Mule Show as part of this year's Fair on Friday, Aug. 25, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This show is both a competitive event for regional owners of donkeys and mules (a donkey-horse hybrid) and a fun, interactive, and educational opportunity for fair-goers to experience these amazing animals who have played such an important role in human history.

Did you know that donkey breeds can range in size from smaller than some dogs to as large as a horse? That they sport a wide variety of fur colors and markings? And that donkeys have a keen intelligence and are capable of doing everything a horse can?

The day-long schedule of over 30 events ranges from showcasing best-of-breed to demonstrating donkeys' great usefulness in activities such as riding and driving. The obstacle course and standing high jump are exciting crowd favorites. There are also just plain fun events like the creative and comic costume class and the human braying contest, open to fair-goers of all ages who want to take a crack at imitating the famous donkey "hee-haw."

You will come to appreciate the gentle and thoughtful nature of these animals along with their strength and hardiness, a combination that has made the donkey one of mankind's most important and cherished domestic partners.

This show is being organized and run by Donkey Park, a local nonprofit whose mission is to enrich the lives of donkeys and the human communities with which they interact, and to demonstrate the value of the donkey in our modern world.

Safety above partnership is needed in NYS Senate

To the Editor:

As a parent and community member, public safety is personal to me. I want to know that the streets my kids walk on are protected, and that our neighborhood is secure. I understand that the surest way to reduce crime is by investing in proactive measures that target the source and stop illegal activity before it can even start. That means getting guns off of our streets and out of the wrong hands, promoting school safety and cracking down on illicit markets and drug trafficking. It also includes taking steps to end hate crimes once and for all, and giving law enforcement the tools they need to do their jobs.

The New York State Senate Democrats have advanced measures that address all of these issues. Yet our State Senator, Rob Rolison, has voted against each one of them. He rejected millions of dollars in the State Budget for evidence-based gun violence reduction programs and funding to prevent hate crimes. He voted against a bill that would allow cops to seize firearms during domestic violence calls, and even turned his back on measures that would crack down on illegal pot shops. Rob Rolison claims to stand for law and order, but his voting record proves otherwise. Hudson Valley families deserve a Senator who puts safety above partisanship, and doesn't play politics with our lives. We can't afford Rob Rolison's reckless votes in Albany.

Remembering a fellow Beaconite

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to remember my longtime friend Jimmy Pagliaro. The family gathered at the ambulance corps for a service to remember him on July 22nd. I wanted to say that he was involved in the community, such as with softball. I remember telling a priest one time, I said, 'Father, why is heaven like baseball?' He said, 'I don't know why? Is that because everyone is trying to get home?'

If I know one thing at all, is that Jimmy is there. I don't want to leave out that he was a good family man, as well as an uncle, friend, neighbor. So, I will leave with these words:

Until We Meet Again

I am writing this from heaven, where I dwell with God above.
I am resting with the angels,
who surround me now with love.
Although I may seem far away
we will never truly part.
For part of me lives on forever
there within your heart.

So, remember keep the faith,
be courageous and be strong.
Think of me with a smile,
And when you hear a heartfelt song
as life's beautiful journey continues, may you remember now and then.

I will love and protect you always,
until we meet again.

Rolison applauds Hochul for signing Save the Hudson Bill

State Senator Rob Rolison (R-39th District) issued the following statement on August 18 after Governor Kathy Hochul signed S. 6893, also known as the "Save the Hudson" bill, into law. Rolison co-sponsored the legislation which unanimously passed the Senate in June.

"Today is a victory for the more than 100,000 people who derive their drinking water from the Hudson and the countless others who use the river as a resource for recreation and outdoor activities. This was the right move by Governor Hochul. Not only does the law prohibit the scheduled radioactive-water discharge in late September or early October, it also protects our river town residents from future harm associated with possible contamination. Bipartisan common sense and evidence-based conservation won today," said Rolison.

What makes something historic?

Lou Hobson and the historic family business

By Bill Jeffway

How do you know if a building is historic? Or the actions of persons and families?

There is an easy answer in the form of a question: "Is it worth remembering?" Are there stories, lessons and insights that perhaps reflect a particular common, classic feature of the period that is of interest? Can we learn something to aspire to, or avoid? Connecting a point in the past with the present can give an indication of a future trajectory.

This is a particularly good question as the Dutchess County Historical Society moves for the first time in 50 years from the 1765 stone house built by Udney Hay in Poughkeepsie into a building built for a business in the 1950s by George Louis (known as "Lou") Hobson.

The power of local history was best described at a DCHS membership meeting in 1927 at Amenia's Troutbeck when Lewis Mumford said, "Because local history is relatively accessible and immediate, because it deals with the concrete and the commonplace, it is necessary to vitalize the teaching of general history. The things that we can see and touch are those that awaken our imagination."

Hobson family memories

Here's why we think the story of Lou and Beatrice (Jacoby) Hobson, and the building that housed the family business for over a half century a mile south of Rhinebeck Village center, is a story worth remembering.

We are just a few years away from the 100th anniversary of Lou Hobson joining the Navy in 1926. From that point, you can trace a trajectory of his taking those skills, combined with good business sense, and the determination of he and his wife to have a close-knit family at home and in business, that resulted in three generations of successful local businesspersons.

Lou Hobson was born in Hyde Park in 1909 and grew up in a farming family. His father was the son of English and Irish immigrants. His mother was a Stoutenburgh, the earliest settlers of thousands of acres of land south of Crum Elbow Creek.

Too young to be involved in World War One, Lou joined the Navy in 1926 for what turned out to be seven years of service, during which time he became a radio specialist on US warships, like the USS Arkansas and USS Pittsburgh.

The 1930 census took note of which households had a radio, and Lou Hobson's widowed father was among the roughly one third of local households that did not yet have a radio. But that would soon change when Lou returned from the Navy in 1933.

Upon leaving the service in 1933, Lou attended Coyne Electrical School in Chicago. He returned to Rhinebeck at a time when most rural, local farms did not yet have electricity. He started a radio repair business out of a shed.

It was 1936 when Lou and Beatrice were married and wanted to start a family in Rhinebeck. They found themselves in the middle of a global economic depression, and did not know it at the time, but were just a few years away from World War Two. That is a tough environment in which to start a family.

The radio business was successful, and Lou then moved first to locations on East

Left: From left, building owner Elijah Bender, who recently hosted a lunch at Fosters that included three Hobson brothers Jim, Gary, and Dale Hobson, and third generation Steven Hobson. Inset: Lou Hobson during his naval service 1926 to 1933 where he gained experience in radio operation and repair that launched three generations of family-run local businesses.

Market Street, then just south of the ultimate site, before purchasing a large lot in a location he thought would see a good deal of business growth that ended up materializing north of the village.

He was obviously skilled because in World War II the family moved to New Jersey for several years so that Lou could work for the Navy as a civilian.

Lou and Beatrice had five sons: Donald W., James D. Gary W., and Glenn S. Hobson, and two daughters: Judith Grimes and Phyllis Heywood. Donald Hobson passed away in 2020 at the age of 83. All five sons worked in the business as salesmen and repairmen until 2013 when all but Dale retired. He continues with his own business, Hobson Appliance Service, LLC. Glenn's son Steven Hobson owns and operates Hobsons Window, Inc. in Red Hook.

Reflecting their orientation to new and emerging technology, the Hobson store phone number in the 1940s was a spoken request to an operator for "Rhinebeck 1." This evolved to the spoken "TRinity 6-3102" in the 1950s. Still used at Hobson Appliance Service today, the addition of an area code and the conversion of "TR6" to "876" gives us the more familiar 845-867-3102.

This is the story of the parallel growth of a family and business that continues today. Starting during a global economic depression, and interrupted by war, each generation embraced what at the time was a radical, emerging technology. In the 1930s the fact that someone got a radio was worthy of a newspaper notice!

Today, our "rural broadband" programs echo the "rural electrification" programs of a century ago. Today, we install solar panels to generate electricity locally the way "Delco-Light" power packs (gasoline powered generators) were installed a century ago.

What will be the equivalent in a century?

Keenan's unselfish approach provides role model for team

By Rich Thomaselli

As the high school football season begins, it is the fourth season for the return of head coach Sean Keenan to his alma mater, Our Lady of Lourdes.

It is also the third anniversary of Keenan doing something highly improbable and certainly unselfish.

He donated one of his kidneys to a man he never met before.

The man, Emiliano Guerriero, owns a pizzeria in Poughkeepsie. He is the brother of one of Keenan's former teaching colleagues at Gayhead Elementary School in East Fishkill. When Keenan heard about his flight and heard that he was one of nearly 100,000 people on the waiting list across the country, he did six months worth of testing to determine if he was a match.

He was a perfect match. "It was the right thing to do," he said. "That's how we were raised."

Neither man has had any complications from the surgery and Keenan actually prefers to talk about his team and football. Remember, this is the same man who actually stopped practice one day and took his entire Millbrook football team and loaded them onto busses to a short ride for a September 11th memorial

The unselfishness, and the concept of relying on your fellow man, spills down to his team.

"He leads by example," says longtime friend and assistant coach Jim Fedigan, "however unspoken it might be."

Keenan and Fedigan were teammates at both Our Lady of Lourdes and Marist College going back more than 40 years now. They are more like brothers, even though Keenan has three actual blood brothers.

Fedigan knew about the kidney donation long before anybody else did. In fact, word only leaked after Keenan came home from the hospital.

"It didn't surprise me," Fedigan said. "Nothing he does ever faces me."

As the new season dawns, Keenan will be going after his fourth sectional championship. He won a pair of Section 9, Class C championships in his 15 years as the head coach at Millbrook. He won a Section 9, Class A championship last year with OLL, stunning multi-time state champion Cornwall in the process.

'Phase Two' renovations begin at Heritage Financial Park

By Rich Thomaselli

The evolution of Heritage Financial Park, formerly Dutchess Stadium, home of the Hudson Valley Renegades, continues.

What the team is calling "Phase Two" of the major renovations to the facility, as per the Collective Bargaining Agreement with Major League Baseball, is underway.

The construction, notably a new clubhouse down the left field line and an events facility, is being funded by Dutchess County Government, the Renegades, and franchise owner Diamond Baseball Holding. The events facility can be rented out.

All construction is slated to be completed by opening day of April, 2024.

The goal is to turn the stadium into a multi-use venue for the Hudson Valley.

"The best way to describe this project is dynamic. The project will deliver player and staff accommodations along with expanding the experience that we are able to provide our fans on gameday, and it will grant us the opportunity to be open and welcoming to the communities we serve for 12 months a year," said Tyson Jeffers, General Manager of the Renegades, in a statement. "This project solidifies our goal of making Heritage Financial Park the premier sports and entertainment venue in the Hudson Valley."

Dutchess County Executive William F.X. O'Neil said, "For nearly three decades, Heritage Financial Park (formerly Dutchess Stadium from 1994 to 2023) has provided countless local families with wholesome entertainment and long-cherished memories. Even before the first pitch was ever thrown at the stadium, Dutchess County has invested in this gem of a County park to enhance the fan experience. This latest project continues our commitment to residents and visitors alike who enjoy this park and will do so for decades to come."

The centerpiece of the player-facing aspect of the project is a new home clubhouse located on the ground level of the new building. The clubhouse exceeds Major League Baseball's requirements and will provide a valuable facility for the New York Yankees to develop their current and future stars in the Hudson Valley, including current Yankees star Carlos Rodon's rehab start at the Fishkill ballpark in July.

As part of the new construction, the Renegades will have a weight room and enclosed batting tunnels. The clubhouse will be outfitted with brand-new lockers and a player lounge. There will also be dedicated locker room spaces for all field staff and private accommodations for female staff.

With the home clubhouse being constructed in left field, the Renegades will shift to the third base dugout coinciding with the opening of the building in 2024. Players will enter the field through an entrance tunnel into left field, near where the current visiting team bullpen is located. The visiting team will move into the right field clubhouse building, which currently houses just the Renegades.

The upper level of the new building will contain a new club level and event space which will be utilized both for games and events during the offseason.

For games, the Renegades will sell season-long memberships, group tickets, and a limited number of single-game tickets for the club. Inside, the club will feature a full-service kitchen and bar, climate-controlled indoor seating with TVs.

It will serve as another source of revenue for the team. It will be able to accommodate 200 people. The new space will be able to be rented out for weddings, baby showers, bar and batman's fist and other private catering events.

In addition to the clubhouse and club level, the construction project is adding several new, unique seating options including a rooftop bar that can hold up to 300 people.

In total, the expansion is expected to increase the capacity of Heritage Financial Park by approximately 1,000 people. The facility currently seats about 5,000 fans.

Renegades, Cyclones locked in tight 2nd-half division race

By Rich Thomaselli

Instead of coming home to start their penultimate regular season homestand, the Hudson Valley Renegades instead showed just how tight the race is in the North Division of the South Atlantic League.

Hudson Valley, the first half champion of the division, went on the road to play the likely second-half champion in Brooklyn. The Renegades won the season series with a 7-1 win on Sunday, but there are only four games separating the two teams from the top spot in the division.

Hudson Valley opened the series 1 ast Tuesday with a 4-2 victory at Maimonides Park.

The Renegades took an early lead in the top of the second when Ben Cowles laced an opposite-field home run off Robert Colina to put Hudson Valley in front 1-0. It was Cowles' 10th homerun of the season, the first time in his career that he reached double digits in home runs in a season.

Baron Stuart worked around traffic on the bases and did not allow a run throughout the first five innings thanks to his defense turning two double plays behind him. Stuart (2-1) allowed no runs on six hits while walking four and striking out one across 5.0-plus innings of work.

Hudson Valley added some insurance in the top of the sixth, when Anthony Hall led off with a double and scored on a two-run home run by Jesus Rodriguez. It was his first round-tripper with the Renegades and his seventh overall on the season. After Alexander Vargas and Antonio Gomez laced back-to-back singles to chase Colina (3-3) from the game, Joshua Cornielly allowed an RBI single to Cowles to grow the lead to 4-0.

Rodriguez is just one of many new faces who have been called up to the Renegades in roster moves in recent weeks.

On Wednesday, pitching was king again for Hudson Valley in a 7-1 victory. Three different pitchers combined to throw a one hitter, the team's third of the season.

Thursday night brought a nail-biting 6-5 victory for the Renegades. Hudson Valley led from start to finish, including 5-0 at one point, before having to hang on for the win.

Brooklyn finally got on the winning side of the scoreboard with an 8-5 win on Friday night. A five-run bottom of the eighth inning turned the trick for the Cyclones.

On Saturday night, Hudson Valley jumped ahead 3-0 but lost 8-5. Christopher Familia had a two-run home run for the Renegades in the second inning.

TYSON'S TIDBITS!

Selling the new 'event space' and discussing roster moves

Each week writer Rich Thomaselli and Hudson Valley General Manager Tyson Jeffers discuss the Renegades in particular and minor league baseball in general.

In your mind, what does the new facility with "Phase Two" and event space do for the franchise?

It's an impactful piece that's been missing. I mean, we've done a lot of transformative things to the ballpark this year. But yes, this can be a game-changer. I mean, to build a whole new structure? It's going to be a truly high-end experience for people on that club level.

You will now be competing with other event and catering sources across the county and beyond.

Well, they will definitely have an advantage on us (laughs). That would be like us asking them to come in and operate a baseball game. There will be lots of lessons for us to learn. We have to get people to learn how to make the right decisions and to sell that space, because it is a different space. There will be overlooking a professional ballpark. Not too many people can offer that. That will be pretty cool on its own. And there are plenty of baseball fans out there who maybe want a baseball-themed event. We might be behind the curve in terms of experience and what these other facilities can do but we definitely offer something different. So we'll try to use our unique niche in the market to sell that space.

Back to baseball. The team has had close to 40 roster moves this year. But that's not necessarily a higher number, is it?

Definitely not. Not at this level. It's really a testament to the Yankees who are willing to test their guys and move them around. I mean, Somerset (Class AA) won a championship last year and almost all of the guys were members of the Renegades. We've seen a couple of guys who came up from Tampa who are already gone. So like I've said in the past, we want them to have fun here but we also want them to move on.

The heavy lines indicate areas, called cages, from one to five squares in size. Fill each cage with unique digits, counting up from 1. So for example a 2-square cage contains the numbers 1 and 2; and a 5-square cage contains the numbers from 1 to 5. Adjacent (touching) squares, even ones that touch diagonally, may never contain the same number.
