Music, dancing on the big screen September 17

By Kristine Coulter

Earlier this summer, in June to be exact, dancers took to the Walkway Over the Hudson in Poughkeepsie to perform. As a result, "The Bridge Music Dance Project," a film about the dancers' performances, was born. During that night of dancing and filming, sounds from the Mid-Hudson Bridge, by local resident Joseph Bertolozzi was used.

"When one creates public art, the hope is that the public will actually engage with it. When Bridge Music first came out it was new and garnered enormous global press. So, then what? Well, for the past 13 years Bridge Music has routinely been featured in Hudson Valley hiking guides, has consistent 4-5 ratings on Google Maps, and was just awarded the 2022 Dutchess County Executive's Arts Award for Art in Public Places, so I guess it has made a durable impact," said Bertolozzi.

Bertolozzi and Livia Vanaver, who is the founder and artistic director of The Vanaver Caravan, announced "The Bridge Music Dance Project" will premiere on September 17th at Story Screen Theater, 445 Main Street, in Beacon. Two screenings are scheduled, one for 6 p.m. and the other for 9 p.m.

At the premiere, there will be a pre-show, multimedia presentation by Bertolozzi in which he outlines the origins of Bridge Music. Then following the film, a question-and-answer session will be held with Bertolozzi, Vanaver and Jesse Brown, the filmmaker. Bertolozzi remarked, "Come meet the artists!"

The film, said Bertolozzi, "shows the complete performance as it happened live, but from the vantage point of a 5-camera shoot, so even if you attended the live event, this film provides new viewing angles."

Vanaver said in a press release, "Joseph and I have been dreaming of this event ever since the Bridge Music installation went live in 2009." Vanaver was responsible for organizing 12 choreographers. These Hudson Valley choreographers chose a section of music to create their dances, which used their own style and their own dancers, according to the press release.

Brown said in the release, "Anytime you're dealing with live action, there's no opportunity for a reshoot so we knew we wanted to have enough coverage to make sure we got all of the elements. Add to that the fact that we are shooting on a public walkway on a scorching hot day, there was a lot to take into account. We also knew how much work went into the entire production from everyone involved. We wanted to be able to honor that with a beautiful documentation of it."

Ready to celebrate 10th annual 'Catoberfest'

By Kristine Coulter

Celebrate "Catoberfest X" on September 18 and help raise funds for cats and kittens at Mid Hudson Animal Aid (MHAA) in Beacon. The 10th annual event will be held at Hudson Valley Brewery, 7 East Main St. in Beacon from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. The event is free. For more information, visit <http://catoberfest.brownpapertickets.com>.

"This is the 10th year. It's going to be great," said Ira Chavis, who is with MHAA and organizer of Catoberfest.

MHAA is a no-kill, free-range cat sanctuary on Simmons Lane in Beacon. The Catoberfest event will be held outside and in a socially distant space. It will be held rain or shine. Chavis said the shelter currently has approximately 80 cats and kittens. MHAA likes to place the kittens in foster homes to teach the kittens sociability skills.

The Hudson Valley Brewery and Groundlings Pizza will be providing a donation for each beer or pizza sold during Catoberfest.

"We have a lot of great musicians," said Chavis.

There will be live music featuring local Beacon favorites, said Chavis, including Stephen Clair, Tony DePaolo, The Black Coffee Blues Ensemble, The Costellos, and Mark Westin. The Stately DJ Wayne Manor and DJ Hardly Quinn will be spinning tunes all through Catoberfest.

On the guest list are a few animals, which will be Millie the Therapy Cat and her brother, Max, and "Bea" The Beacon Chicken.

Attendees can also take part in raffles

"People want to be here every year," said Chavis. "Everyone likes it. They keep on coming back."

Middlehope Veterinary Hospital, DocuWare, and Hudson Valley Brewery are among Catoberfest X's sponsors.

Best of Beacon 5K Run/Walk to bring attention to Center for Prevention of Child Abuse

By Kristine Coulter

The Best of Beacon 5KRun/Walk will take place Sept. 18. The start time is 9 a.m. The Walk is part of The Center for Prevention of Child Abuse Poughkeepsie (CPCA), which spans from Sept. 16-18.

"The One Too Many 5K is a fun and active way for families to participate in something together. It promotes healthy living while supporting a good cause---preventing and ending child abuse," remarked Kate Guinan, the marketing associate for CPCA.

Guinan said, "The event helps increase awareness about our work. Last year we had over 250 participants and each year the event grows. Right now, we have over 35 teams in friendly competition to see who can raise the most money. By reaching out to family and friends to register and participate, new people that may be unfamiliar with our organization are learning about our programs and services that help keep kids safe."

Last year, Guinan explained, at "the T-shirt pickup event, a teacher that was driving by stopped her car to find out what we were doing. After explaining the event to her, she immediately signed up and then got her mother to sign up. This year, she has continued to support the event and has reached out to more friends and colleagues to create a team. Many participants share photos from their walk/run on social media. We love seeing all the smiling faces of children and families of all ages from all over the Hudson Valley and beyond."

Caitlin McVicker, who is a local insurance agent for State Farm in Beacon, said, "I hope to bring State Farm's well-known tagline "Like a Good Neighbor, State Farm is There" to a local presence - making my agency the good neighbor here in Beacon and Dutchess County. We can't help prevent the unexpected from happening, but we help you protect your most valuable assets from life's unexpected moments. We believe the most valuable asset any of us have is each other. We consider our agency a family - a family that looks out for each other and supports one another through good and bad times. We are always looking to align ourselves with other organizations that share that mission and serve our community. The CPCA is one of many we feel strongly about always keeping in our ‘family’.”

McVicker opened her agency’s doors in April of 2021, in the midst of the pandemic. During that time, she heard about CPCA and its mission.

“I heard about the CPCA through another local networking group I am a part of, NAPMW of the Hudson Valley (National Association of the Professional Mortgage Women). The NAPMW of the Hudson Valley hosts a teddy bear drive every December for the CPCA – members bring teddy bears/stuffed animals that are donated to the CPCA. Every child that enters the CPCA gets to pick a stuffed animal from the collection to keep with them. This small stuffed animal is a token of a brighter future, never feeling alone and leaving behind their life with abuse. This gesture caught my attention and after hearing Kimberly Haight from the CPCA speak and share some of the most intimate, heart wrenching realities of what the CPCA does day in and day out – I wanted to do whatever I could to be more involved in supporting the CPCA and its mission,” remarked McVicker, who will have information about her agency during the event for attendees to peruse.

“The One Too Many 5K is a fun and active way for families to participate in something together. It promotes healthy living while supporting a good cause---preventing and ending child abuse,” said Guinan.

Joe Schuka, funeral director with Libby Funeral Home & Cremation Services in Beacon, said participants will receive a map of the route and told to use public sidewalks and obey traffic rules at road crossings.

“We [at Libby Funeral Home] participate with CPCA because we strongly support their mission of helping children who suffer and are victims of abuse. It’s just so sad to hear of the countless situations that their professionals walk into day-in and day-out. And it’s amazing what the work that they’re able to do for the children, the families; especially being able to educate the parent(s) about basic childcare necessities,” said Schuka.

Guinan noted, “Registrants can participate virtually wherever they choose or they can meet up with us at one of our in-person events listed below.”

-Battle of the Badges + Kids Fun Run - Saturday, September 17 at 9 a.m. at the Morgan Lake entrance of the Dutchess Rail Trail.

“We are encouraging our community to come out and cheer on or join in with the Town of Poughkeepsie PBA and Arlington Professional Firefighters as they compete to see who is the fastest. There will also be a Kids Fun Run with Fit4Mom where kids will do a scavenger hunt to find the 5 Kangaroos,” said Guinan.

“If people cannot partake in the in-person events, they can still participate virtually by completing a 5K anyway they’d like (hike, bike, swim, etc.). If people choose to register and participate virtually, they can post to social media using the hashtag #OneTooManyCPCA5K or sending their photos to kguinan@thecpca.org for a chance to win prizes,” explained Guinan.

Local residents in London when Queen Elizabeth II’s death announced

Maryann VonEgypt and her daughter, Sarah, arrived in London early in the morning on September 1. Sarah is in England for a year and will be attending The Royal Academy of Music for her master’s degree. She is studying musical theatre, said Maryann.

On September 8, it was announced that Queen Elizabeth II’s seven-decade reign as monarch of the United Kingdom ended with her death. She was 96 years old.

“It’s very emotional and somber around here. I witnessed people crying at Buckingham Palace and [during] the gun salute,” the East Fishkill resident remarked via email. “Sarah went immediately upon hearing of the Queen’s passing to Buckingham Palace, and she was overcome with emotions. She has been fascinated with the Royal Family since her early teens. She loves watching “The Crown” and has great conversations with her aunt about it.”

Queen Elizabeth II became queen at the age of 25 in 1952. She was in Africa when she was informed of the death of her father, King George VI, by her husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

“In speaking with some locals, even my Uber driver this morning, the Queen is all they know, and the prime minister is only a few days appointed. So, there is definitely some uncertainty going on,” remarked Maryann.

Liz Truss, the new prime minister of the U.K., met with Queen Elizabeth on September 6. Truss took the oath of office at Balmoral Castle in Scotland, where the Queen was staying.

On September 10, King Charles III was formally confirmed as the head of the British monarchy and held his first audience with Truss at Buckingham Palace.

Dutchess County resident Sarah VonEgypt is attending The Royal Academy of Music in London.

“I never thought that I would have been in London for the Queen’s passing. I was just taking my daughter to school and exploring London with her before she started classes. It’s definitely something that I will never forget,” said Maryann, who returned to America earlier this week.

The Queen’s funeral is scheduled for September 19.

Annual fundraiser for ‘a gem in the area’ hospital set Sept. 18

By Kristine Coulter

The Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital’s 18th Annual Go the Distance Walk and Family Fun Day is set for September 18. Attendees will be in for a day of fun-filled activities to support pediatric care in the Hudson Valley. The day’s activities begin at 9:30 a.m. with a one-mile walk around the Westchester Medical Center campus stepping off at 11 a.m. This event is Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital’s largest annual fundraiser.

Four former patients will be ambassadors of the event. One of the ambassadors is eight-year-old Trevor Roberts. Trevor and his family live in Stormville.

Trevor has been in the care of doctors, nurses and staff of Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital since he was an infant.

Brett Roberts, Trevor’s father, recently recalled during a phone interview how Trevor was born prematurely, at 35 weeks old.

Brett said that Trevor was transferred from another Westchester-based hospital, where he was born, to Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital’s Regional Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU).

“He was admitted to the NICU immediately,” said Brett.

According to information from Maria Fareri, at seven days old, Trevor was in of abdominal surgery.

Brett said it was “literally a life-saving operation.”

At age one, Trevor “was diagnosed with retinoblastoma (eye cancer) in his left eye.

Trevor continues to have follow-up care with the doctors at Maria Fareri. He recently had a check-up and “he’s been status quo,” said Brett. After his ophthalmologic surgery, Trevor has been in remission ever since, according to hospital information.

“To treat the worst, you need the best,” said Brett. “It takes a special group of doctors, nurses, administrators, and support staff, and that is what is provided” at Maria Fareri.

This will be Trevor’s first year as ambassador for this event, noted his father. Trevor has been an ambassador for the hospital before during other events, said Brett.

Participating in events like this and seeing Trevor as an ambassador, Brett said, “It is a reality check, not only for myself and his mother, but for Trevor. You see how [the children] deal with challenges they’re dealt.”

Asked why others should come and support the event, Brett replied, “Get out there and support children and their families and raise funds for the hospital and services they offer.” Brett thanked all involved with the event.

As Brett said, Maria Fareri is “a gem in the area.”

“One hopes to never need the services” but if one does, be glad it is there.

Chase Pultz and his family will be participating in this year’s event as well. It was in June that Chase was hospitalized after a sinus infection. The sinus infection became so severe that his head became clogged because the drainage had nowhere to go and took over everything.

Dr. Jared Pisapia, a pediatric neurosurgeon at Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital, collaborated with Dr. Lianne DeSerres, a pediatric otolaryngologist at Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital, for Chase’s initial surgery.

“Chase is a very brave young man. His family was a constant source of support and never left his bedside. I and the rest of his care team at Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital are so pleased to see that he has made a wonderful neurologic recovery,” stated Dr. Pisapia.

It was noted that Dr. Sheila Nolan, Chief of Pediatric Infectious Diseases at Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital, also played a key role in Chase’s care.

Jeanine Geiser, Chase’s mother, said, “We are walking in the race to support a cause and Maria Fareri Child Life Services to help other children in need. Child Life Services was with us the entire time looking out for Chase and our family.”

Maria Fareri Children’s Hospital and its advanced pediatric services care for more than 30,000 seriously ill and injured children each year, according to hospital information.

For more information, visit <https://wmcbig5races.com/walk-details/>.

Registration is from 9:30 a.m. - 11 a.m. There will be family activities from 9:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

The hospital is located at 100 Woods Road in Valhalla, Westchester County.

Letter writer supports Shiroishi for 39th Senate District

To the Editor:

I am supporting Julie Shiroishi to become my NYS Senator in the 39th District. Julie is experienced, passionate, hard-working, smart, and savvy when it comes to politics. Julie is authentically a "people person."

When the 39th Senate District came about due to redistricting, Julie encouraged James Skoufis to run. With all due respect, James had other ideas. Then 19 children were murdered in Uvalde, Texas. Within a day, Julie told me that she could not "not run." In addition to having two sons in Beacon public schools, Julie told me with a lot of emotion she just had to step up, and that she had to be the change she wanted to see. And just like it took courage for Pat Ryan to run in the Special Election, Julie mustered courage to take on another "good ole boy" on November 8. Just like that!

Julie has been chief of staff to Assemblyman Jonathan Jacobson for several years. She already knows the inner workings of Albany. If you don't know this, whenever an Assembly person or Senator cannot meet with her constituents, it is the chief of staff's job to do so. In January, Julie took over as the Dutchess County Democratic chair. Having attended many political events with Julie, it was always obvious that she felt confident and comfortable in that setting.

And now the main reason I'm behind Julie. Because she's the real deal. Sure, Julie cares about her kids and her husband and her town. But she cares about yours, too. She's a Dem who wants everyone to have a better life – and that means EVERYONE!

21st anniversary, 'journey into adulthood'

To the Editor:

A twenty-one-year anniversary on 9/11/2022 metaphorically and symbolically represents a journey into adulthood.

Now many of us have grown up under the shadow of 9/11. Hopefully those old enough to have witnessed 9/11 can "step up" and meet the many challenges we have both external and internal ones. Certainly, the internal political and environmental challenges to our nation may not have been anticipated decades ago.

Ameliorating them is the least we can do for the younger generation that is not old enough to remember that day of tragedy twenty-one years ago.

Gliner named to new role; Jeffers, Betkowski promoted

By Rich Thomaselli

Steve Gliner, as much a part of the footprint of the Hudson Valley Renegades minor league baseball team as any person after two stints in the area, has stepped down as the team’s President and General Manager to pursue a new role with Diamond Baseball Holdings (DBH), the Renegades’ ownership group.

Gliner will serve as a consultant to DBH, focusing on the major projects that the Renegades will have to complete as part of the new Major League Baseball standards for minor league teams.

The Renegades are the High Class A farm team of the New York Yankees.

Renegades current Vice President and Assistant General Manager Tyson Jeffers has been elevated to General Manager, and Director of Corporate Partnerships. Zach Betkowski becomes the Renegades new Assistant General Manager.

“One of our core missions at DBH is to identify talent and promote those within the organization to roles which can positively impact each club,” said Peter Freund, CEO of

Diamond Baseball Holdings. “We are thrilled to elevate two rising stars in Tyson Jeffers to GM and Zach Betkowski to AGM to run the Renegades and continue to build on Steve’s incredible legacy in MiLB.”

Gliner expounded on his decision in his weekly Q&A, Gliner’s Korner (see separate story).

Jeffers, a Mississippi native, began his career in minor league baseball 10 years ago in St. Paul, MN with the St. Paul Saints, current Triple-A affiliate of the Minnesota Twins. In his seven years with the Saints, Jeffers worked his way through the ranks starting as a ticket and corporate sales executive before becoming the Ticket Sales Manager, and eventually, the Director of Corporate Partnerships.

In 2015, Jeffers was part of opening a $63 million, state-of-the-art ballpark stadium, CHS Field, leading to record setting sales and attendance numbers for the organization. In early 2020, Jefferson

ROUNDUP

Renegades suffer tough week, fail to make playoffs

By Rich Thomaselli

One team just got hotter down the stretch.

That's what prevented the Hudson Valley Renegades minor league baseball team from making another appearance in the playoffs.

The Renegades played well down the stretch, but the Brooklyn Cyclones played better.

The Cyclones won for the 15th time in 18 games this past Friday and, coupled with the Renegades' 5-4 loss to the Wilmington Blue Rocks, the victory eliminated Hudson Valley from playoff contention on the season's final weekend.

Brooklyn captured the South Atlantic League's North Division second-half title by two-and-a-half games over the Renegades. The regular season ended on Saturday for all intents and purposes as the Renegades' final game of the year on Sunday was rained out.

On Saturday, the Renegades made a spirited effort and rallied for four runs in the top of the second inning against Blue Rocks pitcher Michael Cuevas to take an early lead. Carlos Narvaez doubled and scored on a Ben Cowles triple. Aldenis Sanchez followed with an RBI double, and two batters later, Jasson Dominguez clobbered a two-run home run to make it 4-0 Hudson Valley.

Dominguez finished 2-for-4 with a home run, two RBIs and a run scored. The round tripper was his fourth with Hudson Valley, and his 13th overall on the season.

The Blue Rocks responded with two runs in the bottom of the second off Blane Abeyta. With one out and the bases loaded, Ricardo Mendez hit a ground ball to first that went off the glove of T.J. Rumfield, scoring Leandro Emiliani. A Cole Daily sacrifice fly plated Onix Vega to cut the lead to 4-2.

Wilmington took the lead in the bottom of the fourth when Viandel Pena lined a two-run triple to right off Abeyta (5-8) to tie the game at 4-4. Trevor Holloway came in and uncorked a wild pitch to plate Pena with the go-ahead run.

After walking the first two batters he faced, Holloway retired the last seven batters he faced in 2.1 innings. He combined with Nelson Alvarez to set down 13 of the final 14 Blue Rocks hitters of the game.

Hudson Valley threatened in the sixth, putting runners on first and third with one out against Jack Sinclair, but could not score. Sinclair (2-1) tossed 2.2 scoreless innings in relief to pick up the win.

In the ninth, Amos Willingham struck out three and worked around a two out single to earn his third save of the season.

GLINER'S KORNER!

Reflecting on past and looking to the future

Every week, Hudson Valley Renegades President Steve Gliner sits down with reporter Rich Thomaselli to discuss the team in particular, and minor league baseball in general.

So, take us behind the scenes of your decision to step down from the Renegades and join the ownership group (see separate story).

About six weeks ago, I asked to speak with Peter (the CEO of the Diamond Baseball Holdings, owners of the Renegades) and really there's a few things that went into the whole end result. After 35 summers of living off a pocket schedule, I decided it would be nice to stay in the game and not be involved in the day-to-day. I came back here as Renegades President and 38 home games, then added the General Manager title and 66 home games. It was that, timed with the fact that we have two very deserving individuals on our staff ready for advancement. In my career, I had people look out for me – Rip Rowan in Albany and Skip Weisman here. I look at the big picture and remember who took care of me and I want to do that for others and help them grow into their careers. (New Hudson Valley GM) Tyson Jeffers has been preparing for this for a long time. It's very similar to me; I was in baseball for 10 years before becoming a general manager.

You'll be staying in the Hudson Valley and overseeing the projects that need to be completed over the next two years at Dutchess Stadium. Tell us where that stands.

Well we are re-doing the clubhouse (to comply with Major League Baseball standards). The first phase of the project our organization starts basically in the next few weeks. I was part of a major project in Fort Myers where we basically took the stadium down to the studs. We're going to turn over the clubhouse to the visiting team and we will be in a temporary facility. The outfield wall is next, so we will put padding on that. Both bullpens will be moved off the field and into a new facility, and we will enclose the batting cage.

Was it important to you to remain here in the Hudson Valley?

Yes, it was important to have everything in line. I mean, it could have been done remotely, but it would have involved a lot of travel. And it also helps to be here for the transition of leadership. I told them I am here as often as they need me or as little as they need me. Personally, I mean, my goodness, I leaned on Skip every day after becoming GM. But Tyson and I have worked side by side for two plus years and I knew what his career aspirations are. I've always considered myself a mentor and a teacher as well.

Will you have other responsibilities with Diamond Baseball Holdings besides the Renegades?

Not initially. I'm really going to focus on this project because it needs the full attention. We'll see as what happens as DBH grows and if any other opportunities come up.

New roles for Renegades leadership accepted the position of Vice President and Assistant General Manager for the Renegades, which he has held since March 2020.

"Since starting with the Renegades, Steve has been my biggest cheerleader and mentor," said Jeffers. "He has humbly given me the space to fail, succeed, and grow, and without his guidance and leadership I would not be ready to take on this responsibility. It is an honor and a blessing to be handed the reigns from such an amazing person and to such an amazing organization. Our team is made up of some of the most talented individuals in the industry, and I am excited to see what we can do to better our facility, increase the FUN, and most importantly, positively impact the communities we serve."

Betkowski, a New York native, began his baseball career in 2014 and spent his nine-year career with the Cortland Crush, Vermont Lake Monsters, and Lehigh Valley IronPigs prior to the Renegades. During his time with Lehigh Valley, the team was recognized multiple times for industry excellence, receiving numerous Golden Bobblehead Awards, as well as the Larry MacPhail Award in 2019, awarded to the top promotional team in all of Minor League Baseball.

Gliner has had two stints with the Renegades throughout his 35 seasons in minor league baseball. He was part of the initial Renegades staff that started the team in January 1994. He became the Renegades Vice President/General Manager in October 1998 and was elevated to President/General Manager in September 2001. He remained in that role until he departed in September 2003 for the same role with the Fort Myers Miracle in the Florida State League, where he was also the Spring Training Coordinator for the Minnesota Twins.

In 2014 and 2015, he helped to oversee a complete renovation of Hammond Stadium at the CenturyLink Sports Complex. After 13 seasons in Fort Myers, Gliner returned to the Renegades in January 2017 as Team President and became President/General Manager in October 2018.

Gliner begins his new role with Diamond Baseball Holdings as a consultant to the Renegades, focusing on significant construction projects that will be taking place at Dutchess Stadium over the next two years. Among numerous accolades, Gliner was elected to the Florida State League Hall of Fame in 2019.

Hudson Valley Shakespeare Festival reveals new open-air theater design

An image reveals the new open-air theater design for the Hudson Valley Shakespeare Festival.

-Courtesy image by Studio Gang

The Hudson Valley Shakespeare Festival (HVSF) revealed images of the new open-air theater design for its permanent home in Garrison. The design concept has been submitted to the Philipstown Planning Board as part of the launch of the next phase of its environmental review process.

As an alternative to the Festival’s existing white fabric tent, the new design consists of an open-air theater constructed using a palette of natural materials with the textures and muted colors of stone, slate and wood. Designed with sensitivity to the preservation of the area’s scenic views, the proposed structure presents a thin ground-hugging profile and uses a floating timber framed roof whose shallow horizontal curves echo the ridge lines behind and around it.

HVSF’s new home would be the first Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Platinum purpose-built theater in the country. Solar panels, rainwater capture, reduced embedded carbon and other design elements are designed to minimize climate impacts and better protect the theater from extreme weather and wear. The theater would sit in the midst of year-round vegetative screening and meadows ecologically restored from their long-time prior use as a golf course. The platinum designation is the highest level of LEED certification and shows HVSF’s strong commitment to sustainability.

In the filings made with the Planning Board, HVSF also proposed eliminating the new entrance to Snake Hill Road and bridge that would have been required as a consequence of the new entrance. The Festival’s experience performing on the site this summer confirmed that the existing entrance on Snake Hill Road was sufficient and safe operating on a one-way only basis. “The bridge would have been a major expense for the Festival, and we are greatly relieved that it appears to be unnecessary,” said Davis McCallum, artistic director of HVSF.

Our audiences this summer loved our new home,” said McCallum. “We operated without any of the impacts or problems that some had feared. And now, with our new theater design, our project more fully reflects the unique character of this extraordinary place and extends the deep tradition of environmentalism in the Hudson Highlands. Philipstown has been our home for over three decades, and we are grateful for the broad and strong support of the community as we advance to the next stage of the SEQRA review process.”

All for One to host gala set for September 18

All for One will host its inaugural gala on September 18 at Holiday Inn on South Road in Poughkeepsie.

All for One, www.allforoneunited.com, started as a seed of solidarity that grew into a plant that has now established roots as a 501 C (3) non-profit organization. The All for One Team initiated this effort in 2016.

It happened with the support and collective action of compassionate and civic leaders standing together for solidarity, peace, tolerance, love and kindness. During the COVID-19 pandemic, All for One held food drives to support food insecurity for two years, helping with refugee resettlement, and local people in need. All for One also works on global health issues and humanitarian causes.

Any added donations / proceeds go to support All for One, One for All humanitarian programs Award-Winning author and historian Jill Lepore will deliver a lecture titled “Making Amends: Rewriting the U.S. Constitution” on Sept. 22 at 7 p.m. in the James and Betty Hall Theatre on Dutchess Community College’s Poughkeepsie campus. The lecture is the fourth event in the Dr. D. David Conklin Distinguished Lecture Series, established by the DCC Foundation to recognize the College’s fourth president, who retired in 2014.

Lepore is the David Woods Kemper Professor of American History and Affiliate Professor of Law at Harvard University and a staff writer at The New Yorker. Lepore’s essays and reviews have appeared in The New York Times, Times Literary Supplement, Foreign Affairs, Yale Law Journal, American Scholar, and American Quarterly; her works have been widely translated and anthologized.

Lepore’s books have been described as lively, funny and intellectually rigorous. Lepore’s most recent book “If/Then:” explores how the Simulmatics Corporation developed manipulative computer technology to try to predict human behavior and win elections during the Cold War.

This is a free community event. For more information, call the DCC Foundation at 845-431-8400. Please request sign language interpreting services or other special accommodations at least two weeks prior to the event by contacting Linda Bertolozzi at 845-431-8058 or bertoloz@suny dutchess.edu.
