Legislature authorizes purchase for emergency shelter

Following a 17-8 vote at the June legislative board meeting, the Dutchess County Legislature on June 13 authorized the allocation $3,100,000 of American Rescue Plan (ARP) funds to purchase 26 Oakley Street in the City of Poughkeepsie and help establish the emergency housing shelter set to be created there. The resolution establishing a Stakeholder Group was adopted unanimously.

After last month's legislative committee meeting, Chairman Gregg Pulver announced a 30-day postponement of consideration and the formation of a legislative work group that included several legislators and county officials to brainstorm a community input committee. That committee will consist of up to 11 members and intends to "ensure meaningful community input into the development and ongoing operations of the proposed emergency housing facility for individuals experiencing homelessness." The members will come from various backgrounds, and will include one county legislator, one representative of a local school, neighbors, business owners, a Poughkeepsie city councilperson, and a local faith leader.

With the commencement of work at Oakley Street, the Stakeholder Group brainstormed in the work group and enacted by the legislature is now free to commence its work as well. The group will review the Request for Proposal (RFP) for a vendor to work on the facility and will also have formal input on selecting a facility director.

Legislator Steve Caswell said, "The research and development of this is reassuring and we hope the Oakley Street facility will bear fruit

Local 'Farm-to-School' meals are building for the future

by Rich Thomaselli

Late last month, Larry Anthony, the director of food services for the Red Hook, Rhinebeck and Pine Plains school districts, tried a little experiment on students to which the respective schools were serving lunch.

Anthony sourced, prepared, and sampled several different foods to students, in order to promote the farm-to-school menus he will be offering as part of the lunch program in 2022-23.

It wasn't a blind taste test or anything; the students knew up front what they were being served, as exotic it might have sounded to some of them. The food, all from local companies and farms, included local fiddlehead ferns, blue oyster mushrooms, asparagus, wheat bread from Our Daily Bread in Chatham, Sfoglini whole wheat pasta, egg salad made with Feather Ridge Farm eggs, Slate Farm meatballs, Upstate yogurt, and Hudson Valley Fresh milk.

The samples were a taste of the kinds of seasonal menu items that will be part of the school lunch menu next year.

Wait, what?

Asparagus?

"The kids loved it," Anthony enthusiastically told the Northern Dutchess News. "The feedback was tremendous. They all loved the asparagus. It's just simply roasted with some olive oil, salt and pepper, and sprinkled with some parmesan. It's something they recognized anyway."

It's all part of a new state program called the "Thirty Percent Initiative." New York State will give schools another 19 cents per meal, in addition to the six cents it already receives, for every lunch the school sells that has at least 30 percent of New York-based products.

Anthony said that based on current numbers, and the additional 19 cents per meal the district could gain by fully committing to the Thirty Percent Initiative, Red Hook could stand to gain another $40,000 per year, while Rhinebeck and Pine Plains could gain another $25,000-$28,000.

It was a pre-pandemic program that got put on the back burner, but is now revived – a program that Anthony strongly

Hyde Park brew pub closes

by Kate Goldsmith

HYDE PARK--A pioneer of the Hudson Valley brewery/restaurant scene closed its doors for the last time this past Saturday.

Tony LoBianco and his children, Angela and Joey, opened the Hyde Park Brewing Company in 1996 on Route 9 across from the Franklin D. Roosevelt Presidential Library and Museum, with FDR himself pictured in the logo. It didn't take long for the brewery and restaurant to establish itself as a destination for locals and visitors alike to enjoy hand-crafted beer produced on site, a meal highlighting local, seasonal ingredients, live music and even a tour of the brewery.

Hyde Park Brewing Company owners cited the pandemic for the decision to close.

"When the doors first opened in 1996 we never imagined what it would grow into today!" states a post on the Hyde Park Brewing Company's Facebook page. "The people we have met, the families we have served and the staff that have become family, together with our community support has kept us going."

"What was also unimaginable was the last two years," the post continued. "The business environment is a very different one and ... sadly, it was unsustainable."

Anyone holding a gift card for the establishment may redeem it through November at Rip Van Winkle Brewing Company in Catskill.

The Facebook post noted, "Our time in the Hyde Park community has been a wonderful journey. We have always been proud to provide friendly service and hospitality to our customers throughout the years. It was always about, 'Good Friends, Great Food and Exceptional BEER.'"

Joey LoBianco, who with sister Angela LoBianco Barone co-owned the brewery/restaurant and helped run it for 10 years, included his recollections in a separate post on the business' Facebook page.

"It was very difficult at first. Back then we had to convince people to try hand-crafted 'real' beer. After a year or so things started coming together ... The amazing thing I noticed about the brewpub was how much of a meeting place it became. People were getting attached to what we were doing. It was a social mecca for the community. The brewpub was different in that our patrons felt a sense of ownership to the beers and the place. It was magical in a sense."

The Hyde Park Brewing Company, a local institution since 1996, closed on June 18. The owners cited an unsustainable business environment brought on by the pandemic.

LoBianco recalled "friendships made in that building are still strong to this day. ... Many of you came in as teenagers with your parents and then had your first 'legal' beer in this building. I'm sure there's a few members of the local craft beer community that had their first beers, got ideas or were inspired in some way by HPBCo."

He told of introducing four couples who ended up getting married, and of helping two people propose.

In closing he thanked his sister, Angela, for "picking up the ball and running with it" and "for holding it together for so long."

He added, "Restaurants come and go, but the Hyde Park Brewing Company was a one of a kind place and will be remembered for a long time to come."

CORRECTION

There were errors in the article about redistricting that appeared in our June 15 papers. Assemblyman Jonathan Jacobson, the incumbent in AD104, is running unopposed for re-election.

Julie Shiroishi is the Democratic and Working Families Party candidate running against Republican Rob Rolison for the 39th Senate District. Neither candidate will have a primary.

Legislature authorizes purchase for emergency shelter

for the benefit of our homeless residents. The current arrangement for our homeless has issues and we will be glad to see the current PODS temporary housing system replaced by something better. I'm happy that our homeless residents will be getting the care they need, both for their own sake and for the sake of the surrounding community."

Democratic legislators said City residents have voiced their concerns regarding the County's proposed homeless shelter for this location. The City's 5th Ward is struggling with gun violence, crime, drug use, and high unemployment. After an initial 30-day delay of the vote, Democratic caucus members said they again asked for more time regarding the purchase of this facility, but were denied.

Minority Leader Yvette Valdés Smith said, "The Republican legislative caucus worked on the purchase and planning of this facility behind closed doors for the better part of two years. The Democratic caucus, the City of Poughkeepsie Common Council, and community residents only learned of the 26 Oakley St. location on March 3, 2022. The lack of transparency and honesty at play when real lives and vulnerable communities are at stake is shocking and abhorrent. This is bad government."

Assistant Minority Leader, Barrington R. Atkins, whose district includes the 5th Ward, stated, "The blatant disregard to hear community voices as well as elected officials and representatives of the people is a disgrace. This process has been complicated by the authoritarian approach we often see from Republican County Executive Marcus Molinaro's office. My Democratic colleagues and I have worked hard under difficult circumstances to make sure the needs of the Fifth Ward and the needs of the homeless in Dutchess County are considered in the Legislature's final plan but many issues still exist."

City of Poughkeepsie Legislator, Craig Brendli, said, "Controversial projects require transparency from the beginning; we did not have that. The City of Poughkeepsie has done its fair share. I feel that it is possible to find a place outside of a city neighborhood that works and has the potential to provide strong outcomes."

Legislature Chairman Gregg Pulver said, "This shelter was discussed during an hour-long presentation in March, and prior to that in the Legislature's February leadership meeting. The process has been very public. I think it's fair to say a three-month discussion on a project is plenty of time. Although county staff were studying the site well in advance, the Republican caucus has not been involved for two years, and no binding action regarding the Oakley Street site was taken until yesterday, June 13. Then, following debate, passed the purchase resolution with a 17-8 bipartisan (15 Republicans, 1 Democrat, 1 Conservative) vote.

"A formal public advisory committee - sponsored only by three Republicans - was also created by the Legislature, comprising up to 11 members, to give community input on the shelter and its ongoing operations. We want to continue to hear from the public and everyone wants to make this project successful."

AG James announces takedown of heroin and cocaine trafficking ring in the Hudson Valley

New York Attorney General Letitia James recently announced the takedown of a drug trafficking operation that flooded communities in the Hudson Valley and Capital Region with significant amounts of cocaine, heroin pills, methamphetamine pills, and artificial Xanax pills. As alleged in two indictments — unsealed in Ulster County Court on June 15 — 12 individuals trafficked more than one million dollars' worth of cocaine and thousands of pills throughout Ulster, Dutchess and Saratoga counties, and illegally possessed firearms, including assault weapons, and high-capacity magazines.

The investigation led to the recovery of: 11 kilograms of cocaine, with an approximate street value of $1.2 million; 15,000 methamphetamine pills, disguised as Adderall pills, with an approximate street value of $100,000; 5,000 artificial Xanax pills, with an approximate street value of $50,000; 750 heroin pills, disguised as oxycodone, with an approximate street value of $20,000; 39 firearms, including four assault weapons; 40 high-capacity magazines; hundreds of rounds of ammunition; and $120,000 in cash.

The takedown was the result of an 11-month joint-investigation led by the Office of the Attorney General's (OAG) Organized Crime Task Force (OCTF), the Ulster County Sheriff's Office (OCSO), and the Ulster Regional Gang Enforcement Narcotics Team, with support from the Ulster County District Attorney's Office, the Dutchess County Drug Task Force, the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office, and the New York State Police Special Investigations Unit.

The investigation — dubbed "Operation GTL" due to guns, trafficking of narcotics, and laundering of proceeds which the investigation revealed — included hundreds of hours of physical and covert surveillance, court-authorized wiretapping of cellular telephones, and review of phone records and law enforcement databases.

During electronic surveillance, the defendants and their co-conspirators frequently utilized coded and cryptic terminology in an attempt to disguise their illicit activities, such as referring to cocaine as "girl," "lady," or "white"; heroin pills as "blues," "blueberries," or "berries"; methamphetamine pills as "peaches" or "oranges"; and artificial Xanax pills as "greens," "green beans," or "beans."

Indictment One

As outlined in the first indictment, 11 defendants were charged for their roles in two conspiracies — one in which the defendants sold and possessed illegal pills disguised as pharmaceutical grade drugs and the other in which the defendants sold and possessed cocaine.

This indictment contains 275 counts for various felony narcotics offenses, including a charge against Pulichene for Operating as a Major Trafficker, which carries a maximum sentence of life in state prison, and various counts of Criminal Sale and Criminal Possession of a Controlled Substance (class A and B felonies), as well as Conspiracy to commit those crimes. Additionally, Pulichene, Alton Countryman, Banks, and Colon are charged with firearms offenses for some of the firearms that were seized.

Indictment Two

In the second Indictment, Robert Curry is charged with Criminal Possession of a Controlled Substance in the First Degree, a class A-I felony, and 3 counts associated with the possession of cocaine which occurred within the city of Kingston in Ulster County.

Those charged in the two indictments include:

Christopher Pulichene, 39, of New Paltz; Ralph Banks Jr., 50, of Saugerties; Thomas Colon, 60, of Saugerties; Alton Countryman, 35, of Kingston; Thekla Countryman, 35, of Kingston; Robert Curry, 42, of Albany; Kevin Drake Jr., 32, of Kingston; Julia Eaton, 34, of Gansevoort; Joshua Guldy, 21, of Kingston; Nicholas Lasusa, 31, of Saugerties; Zachary Vanvlack, 34, of Wappingers Falls;

Devyn Wolny, 24, of New Paltz.

The charges against the defendants are merely accusations and the defendants are presumed innocent unless and until proven guilty in a court of law.

"This investigation highlights the importance of ongoing collaboration between law enforcement agencies and using all available resources to hold offenders accountable," said Dutchess County Sheriff Kirk Imperati. "I want to thank all of the law enforcement partners for their hard work and dedication regarding this investigation to protect Dutchess County communities."

"Getting these drugs and weapons off the street and these heinous individuals behind bars is a tremendous step towards victory in our ongoing fight against opioids and gun violence," said Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro. "We are grateful to the brave men and women of law enforcement for their continued commitment to cracking down on drug and gun trafficking, especially our own Dutchess County Drug Task Force and the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office, and to Attorney General Letitia James for her efforts to prosecute the individuals who perpetrate these crimes. We will continue to stand together against those who would harm our community for their own gain."

believes in and endorses.

"Being that we're in such a rich fertile area for agriculture, there are a lot of farms providing a lot of good food. But it's always been tough to get the logistics and the infrastructure sorted out," he said. "And, to be honest, with the 'Thirty Percent Initiative' there are going to be more processes like separating all invoices and having an audit involved. That's not an appealing part of it, but it's well worth it."

Fortunately, this is all old hat for Anthony. He has been building the farm-to-school program and incorporating NYS foods into the lunch and breakfast menus in the districts for several years now. Not only is the food more nutritious and help the kids, it will support farms in the Hudson Valley and New York State.

To that end, the Red Hook, Rhinebeck and Pine Plains districts are partnering with Cornell Cooperative Extension and Katie Sheehan to implement the program.

"You know, we're just paving the way here. It's like clearing the land and building an infrastructure," said Anthony, who said that school districts in Beacon and Onteora are greatly interested in the program as well. "To me, I feel like the Wright Brothers. They saw the future. That's what this is all about."

Who are the real radicals?

To the editor:
When a copy of the draft of the Dobbs decision of the Supreme Court was leaked to Politico, what was Senator Schumer's response? Did he denounce the leaker and the unprecedented and illegitimate move to leak the document? Or, rather, did he blast the Court and attempt to push through the Senate a radical bill that was mostly theatre and doomed to failure from the start? Why is the Senator not standing up for the Court and protecting the third branch of the federal government? His position is without merit and again shows he needs to be shown the door in November. He needs to be replaced by Joe Pinion.

While Senator Schumer has shown his lack of concern for the Supreme Court and the Constitution, other nefarious actions have been taking place. A gunman was arrested in the area of Justice Kavanaugh's residence. Pregnancy centers in various parts of the country, including New York, have been firebombed. These actions should be a wake-up call that the rhetoric and illegal demonstrations following the illegitimate leak of the draft Dobbs decision has gone much too far. Have Democrat leaders condemned these actions?

But wait, there's more. The New York legislature wasn't satisfied that it legalized barbaric abortion procedures up to the point of birth, it decided it needed to harass and persecute pro-life crisis pregnancy centers, too. The Pregnancy Center Report Bill (Bill S.470-Hoylman/A.5499-Glick) empowers the Health Department "to request and obtain information about their affiliations, funding sources, services staff, and clients." Why this intrusion? Why this attempted harassment to take resources and direct them toward bureaucratic requests? Pregnancy centers are privately funded and provide services to women to meet their physical and emotional needs and positively impact the community. And, put another way, they are the alternative, they are the "choice."

The attack on pro-life pregnancy centers is unwarranted, without merit, and another attempt to put them out of business. For those who claim to support "choice," prove it.

Molinaro to host Town Hall on NYSEG proposed rate hike on June 27

As part of ongoing advocacy on behalf of Dutchess County residents, County Executive Marc Molinaro will host a Town Hall Forum with representatives from NYSEG on Monday, June 27, starting at 6 p.m. at the Beekman Town Hall, located at 4 Main St. in Poughquag to discuss New York State Electric & Gas' (NYSEG) rate increase proposal submitted to the New York State Public Service Commission last month.

NYSEG representatives will review the proposal, which would increase rates up to 22 percent starting in May 2023, if approved. Residents of the towns of Amenia, Beekman, Dover and Pawling, which NYSEG serves, are encouraged to attend to have their questions answered.

At the town hall, officials from NYSEG will outline the utility's rate increase request, as well as the differences between the taxes and fees associated with delivering the commodity. The discussion will be followed by a question-and-answer period for residents to share their input. Residents are invited to submit their questions in advance online.

Molinaro recently outlined his concerns regarding both NYSEG and Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. in a letter to Rory M. Christian, Chairman and CEO of the New York State Public Service Commission. The County Executive called on the Commission to suspend any rate increases until customer disputes are resolved, and a management and operations audit has been completed.

Residents wishing to voice their concerns to the State regarding their Central Hudson billing experience can do so online at <https://on.ny.gov/3IVI03a>.

RENEGADES ROUNDUP

Renegades win slugfest to climb back over .500

by Rich Thomaselli

A seven-run explosion in the 11th inning led the Hudson Valley Renegades to a wild 16-10 victory over the Greensboro Grasshoppers on Sunday afternoon at First National Bank Field.

The Renegades are now 32-31 overall with six wins in their last eight games.

The Renegades hit four home runs in the game, including two in the 11th, when they sent 10 batters to the plate en route to victory. Seven Hudson Valley pitchers combined for 18 strikeouts, tying a season-high.

A wacky game began with the Renegades taking a 2-0 lead in the top of the first on a two-run home run by Tyler Hardman off Domingo Gonzalez. Hardman would ultimately finish 3-for-5 with a home run, a double, two runs scored, three RBIs and a walk. The Gades tacked on two more in the fourth to take a 4-0 advantage.

Greensboro rallied to tie the game up against T.J. Sikkema, with Ernny Ordonez hitting a three-run home run to right to level the score in the fourth. Sikkema lasted 3.1 innings, allowing four runs (three earned) on four hits, one walk and one strikeout while throwing a career-high 58 pitches.

Hardman put the Renegades back in front with an RBI single in the top of the fifth, but the Grasshoppers rallied for three unearned runs in the bottom of the seventh to take a 7-5 lead.

Aaron Palensky led off the eighth with a solo home run to cut the deficit to 7-6, and with the Renegades down to their final strike in the top of the ninth, Hardman doubled and scored on a Spencer Henson single to tie the game.

In the 11th, Everson Pereira doubled to score Anthony Seigler to give the Renegades the lead, and then the flood gates opened. Cristian Perez and Aaron Palensky collected RBI singles, Carlos Narvaez hit a pinch-hit, two-run home run to right center, and Cooper Bowman also hit a two-run homer to put the Gades up 16-9.

Renegades games getting shorter, thanks to minor league experiment

by Rich Thomaselli

Steve Gliner was somewhere between flummoxed and perplexed and pleasantly surprised.

The Hudson Valley Renegades president was preparing for a post-game fireworks show at Dutchess Stadium during the team's last homestand following a Saturday night game against Jersey Shore.

First pitch for the game was 6:05 p.m. Last pitch of the game was 7:56 p.m.

Yep, that's right – one hour and 51 minutes from start to finish for a full nine-inning contest.

"I couldn't believe it," Gliner said. "We had to kill an hour before the fireworks started because it wasn't dark enough outside yet. We've never had to do that. Our games normally run about three hours, so 1:51 is insane. But the pitch clock has definitely made a difference."

What Gliner is referring to is one of several experiments taking place across minor league baseball this season, including for the Renegades, the county's High Class A affiliate of the New York Yankees.

In order to shorten the length of games, a pitch clock is being used to hurry pitchers along and prohibit hurlers from taking too long. At the Triple A level, minor leagues are using a pitch clock of 14 seconds between pitches with no runners, and 19 seconds with runners on base. At the Renegades' High-A level, pitchers are on a clock of 14 seconds with no runners and 18 seconds with runners on.

The goal is to monitor the results in the hopes of introducing it to Major League Baseball games as early as the 2023 season.

Has the fledgling program worked?

According to the Associated Press, pitch clocks have shaved 29 minutes off of the average previous time of minor league games that used to push three hours long.

Neither MLB officials nor television executives are too concerned about three-hour contests, but when pitchers sometimes take 30, 45, even 60 seconds between pitches, game times can push four hours. That's when the length of games becomes worrisome and executives believe fans lose interest, especially compared to faster action in basketball, hockey and football.

A competition committee in Major League Baseball was established to review the results. Baseball Commissioner Rob Manfred said the committee will meet for the first time this week.

"The pitch clock has definitely made an impact and definitely moved the game along," Gliner said. "From a timing perspective, a game that is 2:20 and 2:30 seems to be ideal. Baseball has looked for ways to make the game more fan-friendly, but you don't want to reinvent it too much."

GLINER'S KORNER

Growing up with baseball in the family – as Mets, Yankees fans

Every week, Hudson Valley Renegades President Steve Gliner sits down with reporter Rich Thomaselli to discuss the team in particular, and minor league baseball in general.

Happy Father's Day buddy!

Happy Father's Day to you too, my friend!

I was curious, on this particular day, did you get your love of baseball from your father? If I remember right, your dad is a big Mets fan.

Definitely from both my parents. Both big Mets fans. My whole family is Mets fans. Both my parents were brought up Yankees fans and they moved to Queens, Kew Gardens, right when Shea Stadium was being built. So they went to Shea because it was so convenient and they became Mets fans. I mean, back in those days, when the franchise first started, the Mets were so lovable back in the day (laughs).

Do you remember your first game?

Oh yeah. My mom, Marilyn, passed a couple of years ago and every year I post a picture of my Mom and I at Shea. My dad, Arnie, took the picture because, of course, he's a photographer. I think I was about 5 years old. I think my love of baseball started that day and I've just really loved baseball ever since. I have great memories of having catches with my dad and my brother (Barry) in the driveway.

Yet, you're a Yankees fan.

(laughs) Yeah, as I got older, into my teens and the Yankees got good in the 1970s, I became a Yankees fan. It's funny, Ross (Steve's son) asked me the other day who my all-time favorite player is, and I always say the same thing – Don Mattingly. My first job in baseball was with a Yankees affiliate and now it's come full circle. My mom used to say that when I was teenager, that I was going to work in baseball.

When I was at SUNY Albany I didn't know what I wanted to do. When I found out the Yankees had a team in Albany, I went down there and knocked on the door. The rest is history I guess. Although it's funny, my grandfather asked me what I would be doing and I told him I would be doing everything, pulling tarps, cleaning bathrooms, the whole bit. He was like, 'What? You have a college education!' I wish he was still here to see how it all turned out.

You still spend a lot of time with your father talking baseball.

Oh yeah, I'm taking him to the Mets game on Monday, so he'll be excited about that. He's been up here for six weeks. He just loves being at the ballpark. In our most recent homestand, he went to four of the six games at Dutchess Stadium. Baseball is his thing.

He worked for the Mets at their spring training site in St. Lucie (Fla.) for 17 years, operating the elevator at the ballpark there. He got close to many in the Mets family and they know him by name, especially (broadcasters) Gary (Thorn), Keith (Hernandez), Ron (Darling) and Howie (Rose). Every day they would stop by and say hello to Arnie.

'One-stop-shop' for veterans services could be a game-changer

We're so lucky to have so many different organizations here in the Hudson Valley, small and large, who support our veterans. As the co-founder of VetZero, I can certainly attest to that! We all work well together, but geographically we're all spread out across Dutchess County and beyond. That can make it difficult for our veterans who don't have a reliable source of transportation to get the specific help they need.

Think about it: right now, a veteran would have to travel down to Castle Point for health care, then visit the Dutchess County Division of Veterans Services office in downtown Poughkeepsie to get help on their benefits claims, then travel again to see the veteran counselors at MHA Dutchess Veterans Programs for their mental health needs, and so on. When you don't have your own car or you aren't able to drive yourself, it can be almost impossible for veterans to get all the assistance they need and deserve. There is the VetZero Heroes ride program for veterans, of course, but it couldn't possibly serve all our veterans at the same time.

Luckily, a possible solution to this dilemma doesn't seem so far away. Recently, I spoke with my friend Andrew O'Grady, CEO of Mental Health America (MHA) of Dutchess County, which of course oversees MHA Dutchess Veterans Programs, and he shared some very promising news.

"MHA received a donation of a medical arts building from an incredibly generous donor. Our plan is to make this facility into a veteran 'one-stop-shop' facility which will make it so much easier for our veterans in Dutchess to get all the assistance they need," Andrew told me. "Instead of having to go across town or across the county to visit different agencies, they would be able to simply go next door in the same building, saving time and energy."

The proposed facility is located right on Route 44 between Pleasant Valley and Poughkeepsie and will become the new home of MHA Dutchess Veterans Programs and its veteran counselors. I've seen the building myself and it is very impressive.

At this time, Andrew and his team at MHA are encouraging all local organizations who help veterans to consider moving into an office in the new facility.

"The rent will probably be much less than what they are paying now, and having as many organizations as possible under one roof makes it better for our veterans," Andrew said.

Andrew told me he hopes to have the new facility up and running by the end of this year, if not sooner. His goal is to invite the VA to add a satellite office at the new building; Adam Roche and his team at Dutchess County Veterans

MHA Dutchess plans to turn a former medical arts building on Route 44 into a 'one-stop-shop' facility where local veterans can get all the assistance they need in one place. Photo by Tom Zurhellen

Services have been invited as well.

If you are part of an organization in Dutchess County that has a passion for helping veterans, perhaps you should consider finding out more about becoming part of this promising project. You can reach Andrew and MHA Dutchess at (845) 473-2500 or info@mhadutchess.org.

As you can see, transportation is such an important issue for so many veterans today. I think this proposed new facility could really be a game-changer and make life a lot easier for our heroes. Thanks to Andrew O'Grady for sharing this exciting news, and also for his vision in putting the project together. When we work together, our veterans always benefit.

And thank you, for listening! See you next time!

A Navy veteran, Tom Zurhellen has been Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) in Poughkeepsie for the past three years. In the summer of 2019, he walked across America from Portland, Oregon, to Poughkeepsie to raise awareness on veteran suicide and veteran homelessness in our country. He continues to work with local veterans in need through the VetZero Project, in partnership with Hudson River Housing.

Second part of financial seminar series for veterans set June 29

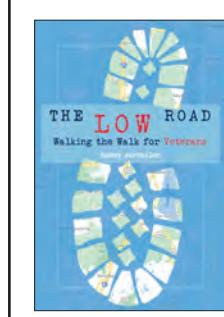

Dutchess County Comptroller Robin Lois continues her partnership with VetZero to provide local veterans with a free educational seminar series devoted to maintaining financial health, as well as utilizing veteran-specific government services. Part 1 was held in April 2022 in Poughkeepsie and was focused on general financial wellness. Part 2 of this series will be devoted to Cybersecurity and Fraud Prevention, a highly requested topic during the Part 1 session.

Part 2 will be held on Wednesday, June 29, from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Post 429 at 6331 Mill Street in Rhinebeck. The Comptroller's Office will be joined by Adam Roche, Director of Veterans Services, Acting Dutchess County Sheriff Kirk Imperati, and a representative from the New York State Comptroller's Office. The discussion will be led by Casandra Walker, Associate Director of Legislative Affairs from the Office of the New York State Attorney General.

Food will be provided by the generous members of the Rhinebeck American Legion Post 429. Veterans can request more information and/or RSVP by emailing comptroller@dutchessny.gov or calling 845-486-2050.

The 3rd and final seminar will be scheduled for early Fall 2022.

TAKE THE HIGH ROAD AND BUY 'THE LOW ROAD'!

Tom Zurhellen chronicles his 2019 VetZero Walk Across America in his new book, "The Low Road: Walking the Walk for Veterans." The Walk raised awareness of the plight of many veterans in our country, and called attention to the fact that, every day, 22 veterans take their own lives. Proceeds from "The Low Road" will go directly to help local veterans in need through the VetZero Project at Hudson River Housing. The book costs $22 and can only be purchased at www.hudsonriverhousing.org.

Electric & Gas Bill Relief Program approved by NY State Regulators

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. is implementing the Electric & Gas Bill Relief Program, approved by the New York State Public Service Commission on June 16, to assist low-income families and individuals throughout the state who experienced hardship during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Residential utility customers who receive income-qualified government assistance for utility bills and other expenses and have past-due balances for service through May 1, 2022, will have those balances forgiven through a bill credit. Customers who qualify for this program remain responsible for charges incurred after May 1. To qualify, customers must:

- Be enrolled in the utility bill discount program or Energy Affordability Program by December 31, 2022.

Or

- Have received benefits under New York State's Emergency Rental Assistance Program (ERAP) or the Home Energy Assistance Program - Regular Arrears Supplement in the prior heating season.

Customers already enrolled in the bill discount or Energy Affordability program or who have received ERAP or RAS benefits in the prior heating season will receive a bill credit automatically and do not need to take any action. Income-qualified customers not currently enrolled in a bill discount or Energy Affordability program may do so by December 31, 2022 to be eligible for the program.

Qualifying governmental assistance programs include: Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP), Lifeline Telephone Service Program (Lifeline), Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), Medicaid, Veterans Disability or Survivors Pension, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Federal Public Housing Assistance, Bureau of Indian Affairs General Assistance (if living on tribal lands), Head Start (if living on tribal lands), Tribal TANF (if living on tribal lands), Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (if living on tribal lands), Utility Guarantee / Direct Vendor programs, Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), Safety Net Assistance.

Funding for the statewide program is provided by $250 million in state assistance, allocated proportionately to each New York utility based on balances due for income qualified residential accounts, and a temporary surcharge on utility bills. For Central Hudson customers, the surcharge is estimated as approximately one-half percent on utility bills for a period of one year, included in Miscellaneous charges (MISC on the Central Hudson Bill) to assist low-income families served by Central Hudson, as approved and ordered by the state.

A partial bill forgiveness program is in development for all other residential and small commercial accounts affected by the COVID-19 pandemic by New York State, utilities and stakeholders. Details will be provided later in the year. For more information, visit CentralHudson.com.

Honor graduate Cosette Veeder-Shave to continue studies in graduate program

Cosette Veeder-Shave, a graduate of Franklin D. Roosevelt High School, recently graduated summa cum laude from University of Mary Washington (UMW) in Fredericksburg Virginia and will continue her education at the Cooperstown graduate program.

She was among the Writing Center consultants who wrote and distributed the weekly newsletter.

"I'm so proud of the impact it had on the UMW community," said Veeder-Shave, who is especially thankful for the support of Writing Center Director Gwen Hale, who passed away last fall. "From people like her, I learned the importance of lifting up everyone around me."

At UMW, Veeder-Shave paid it forward, serving in leadership roles in DiversAbility and PRISM, becoming a peer mentor for the RISE and First-Year Seminar (FSEM) programs, and joining the Campus Christian Community ministry team. She also earned the title of lead consultant in the Writing Center, helping UMW students perfect their papers and projects.

A historic preservation major, she recently received the department's Prince B. Woodard Award and has served as the club secretary. She has put her knowledge to work in a year-long independent study with Professor Christine Henry, researching the preservation of lesbian bars across the country, and volunteering at a museum in New Paltz.

Cosette Veeder-Shave of Hyde Park recently graduated from University of Mary Washington and will continue her education at the Cooperstown graduate program.

Veeder-Shave will join a UMW Historic Preservation in Paris trip, originally postponed due to COVID. Then, she'll begin a master's degree in museum studies – which was also her minor – in the Cooperstown Graduate Program at SUNY Oneonta.

PLAY Airlines launches at Stewart Airport

Stewart International Airport in nearby Orange County has added a third airline.

In addition to domestic airlines Frontier and Allegiant, Stewart has introduced a new low-budget carrier PLAY Airlines to the fold, with the first flight having left on Thursday, June 9.

PLAY is the first international airline at Stewart since 2019 and follows service rollouts in Baltimore/Washington D.C. and Boston this spring. PLAY only flies directly from Stewart to Reykjavík, Iceland, but from there, the airline connects to 22 destinations in Europe.

"Today's flight from New York comes less than one year after PLAY's very first flight from Iceland in 2021. Despite a challenging travel market, PLAY has still grown and established itself in Europe and the United States," PLAY CEO Birgir Jónsson said in a statement. "We flew more than 100,000 passengers in our first seven months of operations, and now with flights from Boston, Baltimore/Washington D.C., and New York, PLAY expects to serve more than 1 million passengers in our second year of operations. New York is an important market for both American and European travelers, and SWF airport is an exciting opportunity for us to restore international travel in the Hudson Valley area."

'Music on Market' returns to Rhinebeck Village

The Rhinebeck Area Chamber of Commerce kicked off its third "Music on Market" live music series on June 10. Presented throughout summer and fall, the series provides light musical interludes while visitors and the community enjoy shopping, dining and strolling through Rhinebeck's bustling village. Situated in the Rhinebeck Bank plaza in the center of Market Street - the main thoroughfare in town - the series features an array of local musicians performing on select weekends through October.

The full schedule is as follows, with all Friday evenings from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and all Saturday performances from 1 to 3 p.m.: Sat. June 25, Fri. July 8, Sat. July 23, Fri. Aug 5, Sat. Aug. 20, Fri. Sept. 2, Sat. Sept. 17, Fri. Sept. 30 and Sat. Oct. 15. Some musical artists participating include: Blue Gardenia, Boosa Blue, Steven Pague and Chris Davison & Chuck Jacobs of Delta Blues and Beyond.

What began as a way to provide a sense of art and music to the community during the height of the pandemic in 2020 has now evolved as a signature program from the Chamber. Offering music for anyone to enjoy outdoors, combined with putting a spotlight on local musicians, has created a sense of delight and unity during Rhinebeck's busiest season. The series is the brainchild of Carolyn Bernitt, the Chamber's Executive Director.

The performances are free to enjoy. To help cover musician and ancillary costs, the Chamber is soliciting sponsors for the series. Local business (and even individuals) are welcomed to support the series by way of sponsorships, where they can help subsidize the program and gain promotional exposure at the same time. To learn more, email rhinebeckchamber@gmail.com, call (845) 876-5904, visit the Chamber's facebook page @rhinebeck or website: rhinebeckchamber.com.

Strange Brews

An intrepid traveler recalls some memorable beverages.

On the first day of summer, our thoughts turn to cool drinks – lemonade, iced tea, absinthe – wait a minute – absinthe? I can't help but recollect some of the strange brews I've imbibed over the years:

Coca Tea (Cuzco, Peru) – At the Inka Grill overlooking the historic Plaza de Armas, Sue, daughter Becky and I would relax with cups of coca tea, resting up for our three-day hike to the ruins of Machu Picchu. The tea bags were filled with shredded coca leaves, the same plant used to produce cocaine. After drinking about 20 cups of this tea, I started doing the math, finally figuring out it would take about 2,500 cups of the tea to – well, you get the picture. Later on, in a smokey cafe, I partook of a foul-tasting concoction called Chicha, which I found out was made from fermented human spit.

Ba Ba Ba (Saigon, Vietnam) – We hired a guide and a driver for our two-week sojourn in Vietnam. The guide, Hung, had never met an American before (this was 1995). He assumed that, like the Taiwanese and Japanese tourists, all we wanted to do was visit temples. After about 25 temples I explained to Hung that I'm not all that religious. "One more temple!" he implored. As we were waiting in line, a young Vietnamese girl came along with a cooler of Ba Ba Ba (333) beer.

"One dollar," she said, pressing the can to my cheek to show me it was cold. I handed her a dollar, cracked open the can, turned to Hung and exclaimed, "Now that's my kind of religion!" That evening, I talked Hung and our driver into visiting an American-style pub where we downed shots of a drink called the B-52.

Coffee (Adama, Ethiopia) – Sue and I have toured coffee farms in Panama, Costa Rica, Colombia and Ethiopia. We were treated to the exceptional Ethiopian Arabica coffee at our visit to Syngenta Flower Farm in the Rift Valley. Everywhere in Ethiopia, coffee is served with a side dish of popcorn! In the middle of our lunch, a flock of ravens swooped down on the patio and ate all the popcorn.

Vino Tinto (Seville, Spain) – I'm not much of a wine drinker, except at art galleries, where it's the only drink available (I guess that's to get you in the mood to buy the paintings). In Seville, we joined a bunch of Spanish kids getting drunk in a park, on a combination of Vino Tinto – a cheap red wine – and Pepsi Cola. It's the most horrible concoction I've ever tasted. But Sue liked it.

Pombe (Lusaka, Zambia) – There are no tourists in Zambia. I inquired at a tourist agency about a trip to see wildlife, and the agent looked confused. "Don't you sell tickets for wildlife safaris?" I asked. He replied, "The only tickets we sell are plane tickets for people who want to get out of here." Eventually, Sue and I hooked up with a guy named Benson, who took us around town (where I famously had a meal of roasted mice). Somewhere along the way I started drinking Pombe – an alcoholic beverage made from millet. It looks like milk and tastes like gasoline. I must have drunk too much, because later on, when Benson showed up to take us to a local concert, he asked, "Where's Mark?" "In the bathroom throwing up. He drank too much Pombe," replied Sue. At that point Benson delivered this famous line which we still laugh at today: "You couldn't restrain him?"

Absinthe (Madrid, Spain) – Sue was game to go on a search for traditional Absinthe, the supposedly hallucinogenic beverage made from the herb artemesia (wormwood). Prowling through the back alleys south of the Plaza Mayor, we uncovered a dusty bottle high up on a shelf in a rustic saloon. Maybe Ernest Hemingway or Pablo Picasso had taken a dram from that very flask. It could have been a hallucination, but after we got robbed a few hours later, I swore I saw Karl Malden pop up and say, "Don't leave home without your American

Women-led production of Molière tragi-comedy to open Bard SummerScape

The Fisher Center will present a bold, gender-reframed, era-transcending vision of Molière's 1665 tragicomedy "Dom Juan" to open the 2022 Bard SummerScape season. The production makes its world premiere at the Fisher Center's LUMA Theater from June 23 to July 17, marking this year's global celebrations of Molière's 400th anniversary.

"Dom Juan" was conceived and directed by Ashley Tata, who also directs, with a new translation from NYU Professor of French Literature and theater scholar Sylvaine Guyot and Fisher Center Artistic Director Gideon Lester. Re-imagining both the titular libertine (Amelia Workman, Fefu and Her Friends at TFANA) and Sganarelle (Gossip Girl's Zuzanna Szadkowski), Dom Juan's assistant and sidekick, as women, Tata recasts this subversive, hilarious, and incisive work in a contemporary light—creating a Dom Juan for the 21st century.

Molière's portrait of the libertine Dom Juan combines slapstick comedy with the taut psychology of a thriller. With this production, Tata—currently serving as Visiting Artist-in-Residence in Theater and Performance at Bard College—becomes one of the first women directors ever to tackle the Molière classic. Setting his story in a fantasy world where 17th-century France meets late-1970s America (right after the passing of Roe v. Wade—and reverberating in a moment when Roe v. Wade is likely to be overturned), her production asks: what is it for a woman to be a libertine? With this glittering and ferocious interpretation of Molière's study of lust and power, Tata freshly examines class, faith, gender, and the individual's responsibility to society.

Performances of "Dom Juan" take place June 23-25, & 30, July 1, 3, 7-9, 14, & 15 at 7:30 p.m.; July 2 at 7 p.m.; June 26, 29, July 6, 9, 10, 13, 16, & 17 at 2 p.m.; and July 2 at 1 p.m. in the LUMA Theater at the Fisher Center (Manor Avenue, Annandale-on-Hudson). There will be an opening night reception for members, Saturday, July 2; a post-performance conversation Sunday, July 10, following the matinee performance; and a pre-performance conversation Wednesday, July 13.

Tickets, starting at $25 ($5 for Bard students), can be purchased at fishercenter.bard.edu or (845) 758-7900.

Mardelle A. Sweet

HYDE PARK – Mardelle A. Sweet, 79, a long-time resident of Hyde Park, passed away peacefully on Sunday, June 12, 2022, at Vassar Brothers Medical Center. She was affectionately known as Mardi. Born February 25, 1943, in Racine, Wisconsin, she was the daughter of Elwood W. and Anna E. Goetsch Siewert. She moved to Hyde Park as a young girl when her father was transferred to the Western Printing Plant in Poughkeepsie from Wisconsin. Mardi was a member of the United Methodist Church of Hyde Park and former driver for Meals on Wheels of Greater Hyde Park. Mardelle worked for many years in the transportation department of the Hyde Park Central School District working her way up from a school bus driver to a role in the office. She spent much of her working life at the "bus compound". In her retirement years, she helped her son, Rob, out in the office of their family business, Sweet's Funeral Home. She was always willing to stay late and do whatever she could to help. Her work ethic was unmatched. Trained as a beautician after graduating from Roosevelt High School in Hyde Park, she did hair for many years "on the side" for her loyal clientele. When her children were younger, she helped coach softball and was active in Hyde Park Little League. In her younger years, she could often be found on nice days riding her motorcycle or at the bowling alley. She inherited a lifelong love for bowling from her parents and she bowled in many local leagues over the years and was a member of the NYS Women's 600 and 700 club. She was an officer with the former Poughkeepsie Women's Bowling Association (PWBA) and when the PWBA joined with the Dutchess Putnam Counties Bowling Association to form the Hudson Valley USBC, she served as their Vice-President. While a member of the PWBA, she helped coordinate several bowling tournaments, her favorite was the Queen's Tournament. She was inducted into the PWBA Hall of Fame in 2004 for outstanding achievement, was active with the New York State USBC, and served as a delegate for the Women's International Bowling Congress (WIBC). After her health no longer allowed her to bowl, she took pride in watching her grandson bowl for his high school team. In recent years, she moved back to Hyde Park from The Commons at Cedar in Poughkeepsie. Mardi really enjoyed the sense of community at The Commons, and she proudly served on the board there and could often be found working around the grounds. Anyone who knew Mardi, knew she loved a cold beer. Although she was limited as her health deteriorated, her kids snuck her a "cold one" from time to time. She loved her family and was proud of her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. She also loved her dogs; too numerous to name over the years. Survivors include her six children, Terri-Anne Sweet (Natasha Wilson), of Troy, NY, Deborah Davidson (James), of Triangle, VA, Dana Kleinhans (Jim), of Hyde Park, Deanne Sweet (John Chappell), of Prosperity, SC, and Richard Sweet, and Robert Sweet (Eileen Miller), both of Hyde Park; seven grandchildren, Bryanna, Mary-Kate, Matthew, Danielle, Blake, Heather, and James; two great-grandchildren, Kida and Leo; and several nieces and nephews. In addition to her parents, she was predeceased by her two brothers, William and Ronald Siewert; and longtime companion, Leo Clark. The Sweet family would like to thank all of Mardi's caregivers for their compassionate care, which allowed us to keep her at home for as long as we did. Calling hours will be from 4 to 7 PM, Friday, June 17th at Sweet's Funeral Home, Rte. 9, Hyde Park. Funeral services were held Saturday June 18th at the United Methodist Church of Hyde Park, Corner of Rte. 9 & Church St., Hyde Park. Rev. Kregg Gabor will officiate. Burial followed in Union Cemetery of Hyde Park. Mardi's family respectfully requests memorial donations to Meals on Wheels of Greater Hyde Park, c/o 1 Church St., Hyde Park, NY 12538 (www.mealsongwheelsofhp.org) or the Hudson Valley Hospice Foundation, 80 Washington St., Suite 204, Poughkeepsie, NY 12601. (www.hvhospice.org). To send an online condolence, or for directions, please visit Mardi's obituary page at www.sweetsfuneralhome.com.

In an evening of toasts, camaraderie and heartfelt reflections, the caregivers and staff of Northern Dutchess Hospital were recognized at its Starlight Ball on Saturday, June 11, at the Dutchess County Fairgrounds.

"You are at the very heart of our community, and no truer words could be spoken: Nobody does it better than you," said Hospital President Denise George, in reference to the James Bond-themed affair.

During the program, hospital leaders also announced plans for a $2.2 million Emergency Department expansion to ensure exceptional emergency services continue.

"Our Emergency Department was the pandemic gateway," said Dr. Andrew Wilson, Northern Dutchess Hospital's vice president of medical affairs and an emergency medicine physician. "Our staff, resources and capacity were pushed beyond their limits day in and day out. The pandemic and community needs have made it clear: We need to expand."

About 300 people attended the 21st annual Starlight Ball, with 100 tickets donated to caregivers by generous sponsors from the community, medical staff and others. Organized by the hospital's foundation, this year's gala goal was for staff to attend at no cost and be recognized for helping the community through the COVID-19 pandemic.

"Our patients needed us," Starlight Ball Co-Chair Dr. Wilson said. "Their families were trusting us, and we were called to act, adapt and help save as many of those precious lives we could."

Starlight Ball Co-Chair Pamela Rhodes, hospital vice president of patient services and chief nursing officer, expressed "tremendous appreciation" for the doctors, nurses and support staff.

"You were working in unfamiliar areas with a common goal to care for and support critical patients during an unprecedented time. Through all the hardship, I witnessed your extraordinary collaboration."
