by Kate Goldsmith

On June 20, a fully loaded tractor trailer crashed into Junior's Lounge on Salt Point Turnpike, killing the driver of the truck and destroying the popular bar.

According to the Town of Hyde Park Police Department, the lead agency, Dutchess County 911 dispatched Hyde Park Police to the scene around 10:41 a.m. on June 20 for a report of a two-car auto accident with a partial building collapse. Patrols found a 2020 Peterbilt tractor operated by Craig Allen Dickson, 33, of Hopewell Junction.

The tractor, which had been pulling a fully loaded dump trailer, was partially through Junior's Lounge. The report stated that the building was heavily damaged and was being held up by the dump trailer.

The owner of Junior's Lounge, Louis C. Rossi, was inside the bar when it was struck. There was an upstairs tenant, Sarah Dempsey, sleeping in the front apartment. The crash caused her to be carried out of the building along with her bed, coming to a final rest on the top of the tractor trailer. Rescuers found her in rubble on top of the truck. She was transported to MidHudson Regional Hospital and treated for minor injuries.

The police report acknowledged that the events leading up to the crash are still being investigated, but investigators believe the driver of the tractor trailer was involved in a crash in the City of Poughkeepsie, at the intersection of Weed Street and Smith Street. The tractor trailer left the scene of that auto accident and continued east from Smith Street to Salt Point Turnpike. Witnesses reported the tractor trailer was driving erratically and went into the

More than 50 groups and organizations are slated to take part in Hyde Park's Independence Day Parade on Monday, July 4. This year's theme is "Keeping Hyde Park Beautiful," celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Hyde Park Visual Environment Committee (HPVEC). The parade steps off at 10 a.m. from Roosevelt Cinemas on Route 9 in Hyde Park and proceeds north to Town Hall.

The HPVEC will serve as the grand marshals. Committee Chairperson Cathy Lane said, "We'll be carrying a banner and hope to have a car behind us [displaying the HPVEC logo]."

Instead of tossing candy to spectators,

"We're going to be giving out seed balls of asclepias tuberosa [a species of milkweed known as 'butterfly weed'] ... it's better behaved in a garden bed," Lane said. "You can plant them now, [but] they won't bloom the first year."

Clinton summer exhibit to feature farm life from 1890 to 1920

“Farm Life in Clinton: 1890-1920” is the title and theme for this year’s annual summer exhibit by the Clinton Historical Society.

The exhibit is free and will be open for viewing at the 1777 Creek Meeting House at 2433 Salt Point Turnpike, Clinton Corners on Saturdays and Sundays in July from 1 to 4 p.m. For information, contact Craig Marshall at craigmarshall266@aol.com.

The exhibit features a look at farming and farm family life in Clinton and Dutchess County before the advent of electricity and tractors. The strict nature-driven schedule of the farmer, the work of the farm wife and business partner, the education of the children, and the social life of the family are described in text and vintage photos.

A local 4-H Club will be giving a goat milking demonstration on Sunday July 10, and a kids’ cow-milking contest is being scheduled.

“Our goal is to celebrate farming as our Clinton heritage and educate adults and kids on how challenging farm life was during this period, said Marshall, Town of Clinton Historian. “Some topics covered include the farmer’s 12 month calendar, family social life, kids’ education in 1-room schools, and the role of general stores, peddlers, and mail order.”

The purpose of this effort is to benefit our town residents, visitors, and all future generations.

westbound lane of traffic several times on Salt Point Turnpike.

Just west of Junior’s Lounge, the tractor trailer was involved in a collision with a 2021 Toyota Highlander operated by Kimberly C. Glatz of Hyde Park. The impact caused the Toyota to overturn and came to rest on the south shoulder of the roadway. According to the report, the Peterbilt appears to have over-corrected or was deflected from that crash and went off the south shoulder of the roadway and struck the building before coming to rest partially through the building.

Glatz was extricated from the vehicle and transported to Vassar Brothers Medical Center for evaluation. She did not suffer any major injuries.

Dickson, the driver of the tractor trailer, was pronounced deceased at the scene by the Dutchess County Medical Examiner’s Officer.

The building was deemed to be unsafe by the Town of Hyde Park Building Department and was torn down by Amity Construction.

This incident is still actively being investigated by the Hyde Park Police Department, New York State Police Commercial Vehicle Unit, and the New York State Police Accident Reconstruction Investigators.

Anyone who has any other information or may have witnessed any erratic operation is asked to call the Hyde Park Police Department at (845) 229-9340.

The Hyde Park Police Department was assisted by the NYS Police Patrol, Bureau of Investigation, Forensic Investigation Unit, and Accident Reconstruction Unit; Dutchess County Sheriff’s Office; Roosevelt Fire District; Arlington, LaGrange and City of Poughkeepsie Technical Rescue Team for building collapse special operations; Pleasant Valley Fire District; East Clinton Fire District’s Rehab Unit; Northern Dutchess Paramedics EMS; Mobile Life Support; Empress Ambulance; Town of Hyde Park Building Department; Dutchess County Department of Emergency Response; Central Hudson; Brandl’s Towing; Jim’s Auto Body; Al’s Garage; Amity Construction; and Thomas Gleason Inc.

“First and foremost, I want to express our deepest condolences to the family and friends of Craig Allen Dickson.

“To all of our beloved family and friends, you have given us the most memorable 41 years. I am sincerely humbled by the outpouring of love and support that we have all received. Junior’s has always held a special place in my heart, and I am completely taken aback seeing how special it is to all of you as well.

“We are so often caught up in our destination that we forget to appreciate the journey, especially the amazing people we meet along the way. Junior’s has given me the opportunity to meet some truly wonderful people.

“Since our yesterdays are gone and our tomorrows are never promised, today I want to thank all of our incredible family, friends, staff and customers, both past and present, for being a part of this journey. Looking forward to the future ... I’ll meet you there!”

Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro said, “Our prayers are with the family and loved ones of the driver who perished in the accident. We are grateful to all of the emergency responders from multiple fire, EMS and police agencies who responded to the scene, safely clearing the building of occupants and shoring it up from further collapse as they worked to extricate the driver. Dutchess County Emergency Response field communication vehicle was deployed as a command post and our Fire Coordinator team, EMS Coordinator, and Logistics Coordinator were on scene to assist with securing mutual aid and supplies and operating a firefighter rehab site to avoid heat sickness and dehydration.

“We are again reminded of the importance of the ‘helpers’ throughout our community – those who make it their life’s work to run towards danger and assist those in need, and we are grateful to them.”

Community gardening workshops set at Stanford Rec

Members of the newly formed Stanford Community Garden will hold workshops on July 1 and 8, starting at 1:30 p.m. The workshops will take place at the Stanford Recreation Park Pavilion, located off Creamery Road.

This is a community event where the volunteers of the Stanford Community Garden at the Rec will demonstrate how a community garden is built, first by sharing their general knowledge and experience working on gardens—both privately and publicly owned—and then by sharing specific techniques for building and planting raised beds.

The July 1 workshop will focus on the earliest stages of planning a garden using raised beds to grow vegetables, herbs and flowers. The July 8 workshop will focus on planting a newly built garden of raised beds, suggesting the types of plants that will do well in each of the growing seasons.

Both workshops will be an opportunity for those who already have experience creating a garden of raised beds to tell their own stories, to share their own successes, secrets, and struggles with their fellow gardeners. It will also be a wonderful opportunity to introduce children of all ages who haven't yet had the pleasure of working in a garden to the joys of cultivating the land, proving that it is a recreation that can be enjoyed by all.

received from Dutchess County to install a sensory pollinator demonstration garden at Staatsburg Library that will include activities to nurture the sensory needs of children with special needs.

Incorporated in 1972, the organization's mission included increasing residential involvement in the local planning process and creating a defined vision for Hyde Park's future development. While the most "visual" sign of its impact in the community can be seen in spring when the daffodils bloom, and in the restoration of stonewalls along the town's commercial corridors, the HPVEC also focuses on architectural and historic neighborhood preservation, overall beautification, commercial and suburban development (including their affects on ground water) and commercial signage ordinances.

Hyde Park Recreation Leader Teresa Gasparini said there will be floats from the Dutchess County SPCA, Rondout Savings Bank (also the parade sponsor), Boy Scout Troop 37, Knights of Columbus and New Deal Creative Arts Center, among others.

There will be performances by Dance Works Too, Leclerc's Martial Arts, Patriots Fife & Drum Corps and Saints of Swing.

"Brandl's will be there with their spectacle [of linked trucks] but will also bring a band on a flatbed truck," Gasparini said. "There's a lot of music this year, more than usual."

Multiple fire departments will also be in the parade, including Roosevelt, Hyde Park and Pleasant Valley.

"[The parade is] stocked with the best of the best!" she said.

Jean Anthony Epting, Volunteer Manager at Dutchess County SPCA, said, "We will have our Humane Law Enforcement Vehicle pulling a 20-foot trailer that will be decorated according to this year's theme. ... Weather permitting, we will have a dog on the float with a swimming pool, along with an abundance of fresh greenery mixed with some artificial flower displays. Large paintings of some of our shelter animals will also be displayed."

DCSPCA staff and volunteers will continue the floral theme by wearing flower prints, as well as flower crowns or hats with flowers.

"To keep 'Hyde Park Beautiful,' we will be sharing rolls of 'dog waste bags' with people along the route to help ensure people pick up after their pets," Anthony Epting added.

Trophies will be awarded at Town Hall at the conclusion of the parade. There are first-, second- and third-place trophies in the categories of Community Float, Commercial Float, Marching Unit, Fire Department and Performance.

After the parade, there is "usually a nice little gathering, people just hanging out," Gasparini said. "[Town of Hyde Park Historical Society President] Carney Rhinevault might be there cooling everyone off with his hose if it's a hot day." She recalled marching in the parade a few years back, on a particularly sweltering day, and Rhinevault – who lives near Town Hall – provided much-needed relief with a spray hose.

In addition to thanking Rondout Savings Bank for sponsoring the parade, Gasparini acknowledged the town's Recreation Commission for volunteering at so many community events, including the Independence Day Parade.

"They just donate so much time to their community," she said. "They live and work in the community."

Gasparini noted the excitement she sees in people attending Hyde Park Rec events lately.

"Everyone is so happy to be back out. People are joyful," she said.

County offers grant opportunities for historical sites, societies and museums to cover capital and funding gaps

Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro announced applications are now being accepted for the County's Agency Partner Grant: Historical Sites, Societies & Museums Infrastructure grant program, which addresses critical capital and operating funding gaps that impact the preservation of local historic and cultural institutions.

Capital infrastructure projects are limited to facilities owned by a non-profit, and the facility must be a separate structure; funds cannot be used for improvements to a room used for or by historical societies within a facility owned by another entity. All eligible Dutchess County historical societies or museums, however, can apply for operating infrastructure funds.

The total allocation for this one-time initiative is $200,000, with grants available between $5,000 and $30,000 per institution. Applications for these grants are being accepted through an online portal, and the deadline to apply is Wednesday, July 20, at 4 p.m. Application guidance and instructions are available on the Department of History's website.

Historic sites and museums that are run as non-profits typically rely heavily on membership dues and donations for revenue resulting in revenue streams that are small and unpredictable. The cost for annual maintenance of aging historic sites is significant, and additional upgrades to bring sites up to current accessibility standards create an additional burden on budgets.

Operating infrastructure costs are necessary to provide for the maintenance of artifacts, the provision of programming and the collection of oral histories. These operating costs can be significant and are integral to providing visitors with a full educational experience yet historic sites and museums struggle to fund these efforts.

County Historian Will Tatum said, "Dutchess County's rich heritage is well documented in countless museums and historical sites throughout our community, and these assets are troves of knowledge for residents and visitors alike who wish to gain a greater understanding of our unique history. These invaluable resources, though, require upkeep that can often be a financial hardship. Dutchess County is proud to offer this grant opportunity to protect these vital repositories so their information can be preserved for future generations."

A capital infrastructure project helps maintain or improve an organization's assets, such as a renovation, replacement, or expansion of an existing facility. Targeted investments include renovations or expansions of existing space used for direct programming, as well as investments in the organization's overall facilities to ensure the health and safety of its visitors. Examples include:

- General capital infrastructure to facilities, including physical structures (roof, windows, doors, etc.), HVAC, plumbing, electrical, security, furniture, fixtures and equipment.

- Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) Improvements to promote accessibility and communication to ensure those with disabilities have an equal opportunity to participate in a specific activity.

Operating infrastructure funding supports the necessary tools, networks and systems that ensure the organization's mission is protected and strengthened, including activities that reinforce the organization's capacity and compliance with existing legal, regulatory and financial reporting requirements. Examples include:

- Equipment, supplies, or other one-time expenses (e.g., projectors, microphones, scanners, speaker systems, computers, e-books, pop-up event/program, display cases, signage boards, etc.) purchased within the term of the agreement.

- Information technology upgrades (e.g., phone systems, websites, accounting, donor development, case management software, replacement of antiquated computers and other related hardware, etc.)

Ineligible expenses include ongoing operating expenses, ongoing program expenses, restoring fund balance or reserve accounts and fundraising.

All applications will be reviewed for eligibility by the Dutchess County Department of Planning and Development with final funding approval recommendations made by the County Executive. Grant awards will be announced in September 2022.

In December 2021, County Executive Molinaro announced $1.5 million in Agency Partner Grant awards to fund 34 programs in 2022, with a focus on youth development, homelessness prevention, workforce development, mental health and wellness, and literacy programs, among other critical needs.

Wagaman perseveres at first base for Renegades

by Rich Thomaselli

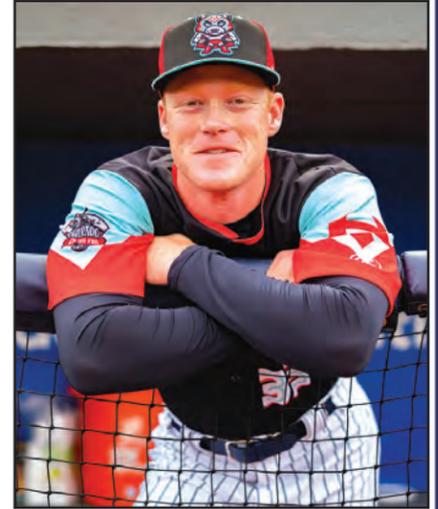

Call it limbo, or purgatory, or whatever you want.

No matter what, Eric Wagaman didn't like it. Having played last year with the Hudson Valley Renegades minor league baseball team, the High Class A affiliate of the New York Yankees, Wagaman found out in spring training that he was assigned to Double-A Somerset (N.J.).

When he arrived, he found out he wasn't exactly "assigned."

Instead, Wagaman was placed on what is known as the Development List, a new wrinkle in minor league baseball. On one hand, the parent club still thinks enough of you not to give you an outright release. On the other hand, you're relegated to inactive duty and can't appear in games.

The Mission Viejo, Calif. native, the Yankees' 13th round draft pick in 2017, admittedly was upset. His exact phrasing, as recounted by MyCentralJersey.com, which covers Somerset, was: "This sucks."

But after almost three weeks on the Development List, and making the most of it

Renegades struggle to start second half of season

by Rich Thomaselli

The Hudson Valley Renegades have had a tough start to the second half of the South Atlantic League minor league baseball season, dropping their third consecutive game on Sunday, 4-1, to the Winston-Salem Dash at Truist Stadium.

The Renegades finished their 12-game road trip by falling back under .500 overall at 34-35 and are now 0-3 in the second half of the season. After the first 66 games of the year, the division winners automatically qualify for the playoffs and the teams re-set their records back to 0-0, with the hopes that those who struggled will rebound.

Hudson Valley was set to return home on Tuesday to face the Brooklyn

Cyclones to begin a six-game series.

In Winston-Salem, T.J. Sikkema allowed a run in the bottom of the first inning on an RBI single by Oscar Colas to give Winston-Salem a 1-0 lead. That was the only run allowed by the left-hander on the day in a career-high 3.2 innings.

The Renegades tied the score in the top of the third when Everson Pereira blasted a solo home run to center off Andrew Dalquist. The round tripper was Pereira's seventh of the season and 21st in a Renegades uniform – one shy of Dan Grummitt's career franchise record of 22.

Leif Strom backed up Sikkema with 2.1 scoreless innings out of the bullpen, but in the bottom of the seventh the Dash took the lead against Nelvin Correa (0-2). Ben Norman singled and advanced to second on a wild pitch before scoring on a Duke Ellis single.

In the bottom of the eighth, Winston-Salem tacked on two insurance runs off Nelson Alvarez to expand its lead to 4-1.

Vince Vannelle set the Gades down 1-2-3 in the ninth to earn his fourth save of the year.

Aaron Palensky finished 2-for-3 with a double, and had five hits in the last two games of the series with the Dash. On the road trip, Palensky hit .370 (10-for-27) with three home runs and five RBIs. Palensky finished 3-for-4 with a home run and an RBI in a 6-3 loss to Winston-Salem on Saturday night.

Everson Pereira blasted a solo home run to centerfield during the Renegades loss to Winston-Salem on Sunday. The round-tripper was Pereira's seventh of the season and 21st in a Renegades uniform – one shy of Dan Grummitt's career franchise record of 22. Photo by Dave Janosz

Preparing for the second half and fan attractions

Every week, Hudson Valley Renegades President Steve Gliner sits down with reporter Rich Thomaselli to discuss the team in particular, and minor league baseball in general.

Your thoughts now that the first half of the season is over (the Renegades finished 34-32 in the first 66 games; teams re-set their records to 0-0 for the next 66).

I thought we played pretty well. We had a little bit of a rough spell for a bit there, but we finished well. We played real well at home and we're looking forward to the re-set and see what that brings. Hopefully Aberdeen isn't as hot in the second half (Aberdeen won the South Atlantic League's North Division in the first half and qualified for the playoffs).

How about on the business end?

From the business side of things, the weather is better, the fans are more familiar with when and how often we play as a High Class A team now, and we have a good schedule coming up. Just this week we have three big fireworks show, including our biggest of the year on Sunday (July 3).

Halfway through this season, what is the update on the work that has to be done to Dutchess Stadium?

From a fan perspective, everything is in place. There's nothing to do this season. The player amenity upgrades that need to be happening will start in 2023. The existing clubhouse will be renovated, bullpens will be moved off the field, and the outfield wall is coming down (and will be padded). The batter's eye in centerfield needs to be resized. The current requirements say it needs to be 60 feet high and 30 feet across. The current clubhouse will become the permanent visitors' clubhouse, and the Renegades will get a new clubhouse by 2024.

Wow, that's a lot of work. Do you remember that first season in 1994 and what that clubhouse looked like? I'll forego my comments.

(Laughs) I sure do, it wasn't much to look at. It was all trailers, but of course it was necessitated by the short turnaround to build the stadium. It took a few years before everything was completed down there. I remember it well, but it served its purpose. Everybody was patient with it. It was a good temporary fix.

Can you imagine trying to build that stadium today, having a final vote by the County Legislature in late March/early April and getting the thing built by mid-June to start that first season?

It wouldn't happen today. You can't even get construction materials right now in 71 days, let alone what was built back then. Anybody I tell about the vote to opening day timeline to get it built, people are fascinated. If you remember we didn't have a front gate. We had the seating bowl, the field and the bathrooms. It was pretty amazing. To this day, I look back at how that all came together and I am still amazed.

with extra batting practice and longer workouts, the Yankees kept their faith in Wagaman and assigned him back to Hudson Valley.

While he has struggled to hit consistently, with a .239 mark, the youngster has flashed his power. As of Sunday, June 26, Wagaman had eight home runs, 19 RBI and a respectable OPS (on-base percentage plus slugging percentage) of .828.

"I was pretty upset at first," Wagaman told MyCentralJersey. "I mean, I was pretty upset the whole time. But, at the same time, I can't just like stop playing or stop trying to get better. I can't just sit here and do nothing. He called me in and was like, 'This sucks, but this is how it's going to be right now, just try and keep your head up and wait for your turn.'"

The Yankees, and the Renegades, are pleased that Wagaman didn't throw in the towel mentally after the disappointing news.

"I've known 'Wags' now for a while, he's been in the organization for some time, and he's just a fantastic dude," Hudson Valley manager Tyson Blaser told the website. "Good attitude, and he's ready to go at any point. He was excited to actually be down here. We had a conversation, and he was like, 'Hey, I'm excited to be here and to be able to play.' He's getting that opportunity, he's putting good at-bats together for us, and he's a veteran guy, so he's out here and he knows the role. He's setting a good example for some of these younger guys."

Field Day returns to CLS in Rhinebeck

Each year, the Physical Education Department at Chancellor Livingston Elementary School in Rhinebeck is in charge of planning, organizing, and running the annual Field Day. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, they were unable to have the event the past two school years. This year, they brought it back better than ever. They held a K-5 Field Day so that the whole school student body could experience the epic day at the same time.

They added a Rhinebeck community feel to the day by inviting the Rhinebeck Police Department and Fire Department to participate in the fun. They also collaborated with the Rhinebeck PTSO parent organization to pull it all off. The students participated in the following Field Day events: Inflatable single water slide, inflatable dual water slide, inflatable water slip-n-slide, inflatable obstacle course, water blasters zone, balancing relay races, wacky relays, water balloon toss, storyteller, community medicine, and fire truck.

The philosophy is to provide the students with numerous opportunities to experience ways to have fun while being physically active. Even though a lot of work goes into having such a big event, the smiles on the faces of the students make it totally worthwhile. Courtesy photos

The City of Poughkeepsie unites to create 'Ella the Ungovernable'

"Ella The Ungovernable," a play about 15-year-old Ella Fitzgerald's incarceration and eventual escape from The NY Training School For Girls in Hudson in 1933, will debut in December in Poughkeepsie.

Poughkeepsie Rising recently announced that it has received $50,000 of ARPA (American Rescue Plan Act) funding from the City of Poughkeepsie toward a professional community theater production of "Ella the Ungovernable," a new play by Dutchess County resident David McDonald. The play follows the life of Ella Fitzgerald from poverty and incarceration in a notorious Hudson reform school to her triumphant first appearance at the Apollo Theater in 1934. The story of "Ella the Ungovernable" is that of never, ever, giving up, no matter what the odds. The play provides hope and encouragement to a public demoralized by pandemics, politics and school shootings. The concept behind the play is that of creating consciousness by creating community consciousness, empowering communities through an act of group creativity.

"I was interested in the idea of creating something beautiful within a community that would resonate outwards and create a shining light for the rest of America to see," says playwright David McDonald. "Poughkeepsie will be at the forefront of that."

One of the main priorities of the production from its inception was that of inclusion.

"It was our goal from the beginning of this production to create a project that would involve and welcome every individual and civic organization that wanted to be involved," says the play's producer, Nicole "Sui" McArthur of The Living History Theater. "We have been delighted to see that people instantly 'got' what we were endeavoring to accomplish and wanted to be a part of it!"

Starting from a core group of four, the leadership team of the project has grown to include many of the bright lights of Poughkeepsie's civic life. Some of the play's local allies include: Tim McQueen of IllHarmonics; Chris Burney of New York Stage and Film; L'Quette Taylor, Community Matters 2; Talent Davis of MASS Design Group; Melaine Rottkamp

Deer in the headlights

Pop's powers of persuasion are second to none.

My father can be very persuasive. He has a certain charisma about him. I call it the deer in the headlights syndrome, whereby he is the headlights and you are the deer. One time in particular, his powers of suggestion were in full display.

My parents have three apartment buildings on the property that we live on. The basement apartments are half underground and there were always problems with flooding and mildew. Pop decided that the foundation drains needed to be replaced and we were going to do it ourselves over our summer break. By we, I mean my brother Vinny and me.

Over the course of a week, Pop poked and prodded around the apartments. When he was done, he explained to Vinny and me what we were going to do. We were going to rent a backhoe, dig out the area next to the apartments, seal the exterior walls, lay in new perforated pipes, pour gravel on top of the pipes, spread new topsoil over the top of the gravel and plant new grass seed. Three buildings, should take us a week.

As he spoke to us, he looked us in the eyes and almost hypnotically. We believed we could do exactly what he was telling us.

Piece of cake. Oh, did I mention that I was 20 and Vinny was 17?

So we started on a Monday. The backhoe arrived. I had first crack at learning how to use it. Yup, you guessed it. I never used a backhoe in my life. I got on and started playing with the controls. It was like a yellow, mechanical bull of death. After about half-hour of playing, I finally got it so I didn't quite kill myself. Yup, this was going to be great.

I approached the first building, riding the yellow, mechanical bull of death. I sank the teeth of the backhoe into the ground and started to dig. Though it took me longer than it should have, I got the first trench dug out in about two hours. Meanwhile, Vinny started laying the pipe, while I started digging the trench on the other side of the building with the yellow, mechanical bull of death. Slowly, Vinny and I worked our way around the building, laying pipe, filling in with gravel, spreading top soil and planting seed. At the end of the second day we finished the first building.

Pop came to inspect our work and told us he was pleased.

Day three began with rain. Pop told us to try to work through the rain, but the backhoe was slipping and sliding in the mud and we were having trouble keeping the trench from caving in. Slowly, methodically we made our way around the building until ... I dug in too deep and found the water main. Suddenly, thousands of gallons of water started pouring out of the hole. I don't know how I figured it out, but I managed to find the shut off and get the water turned off.

I called the restaurant and spoke to Pop, who was not too happy. He came home to see what was going on. We carefully dug out the pipe, and luckily I only shifted the pipe at the joint. All we had to do was realign the pipe and screw it back together.

At this point the rain was coming down in buckets and there was thunder and lightning. Pop told me to get in the hole and get the pipe put back together because the apartments were without water. The deer looked right into the headlights and got into the hole.

Suddenly, as I was putting the pipe back together, my hair stood up, I felt a tremendous jolt, saw a flash of light, heard a loud crack and boom and felt what I thought was a giant hammer across my hands. When I came to, my father was screaming at me "Luigi!!! Luigi!!! Say something!!! You OK?!!!"

Again the deer looked into the headlights. I nodded my head and said I was OK. I looked at my hands and saw a burn mark in my palm and on the back of my hands. Pop said I had been blown out of the pit by a bolt of lightning.

I was in a bit of a fog. Everything was moving slowly. Pop kept asking me if I was OK. Slowly my wits came back and finally I told Pop I was good. He asked if I was sure.

Again the deer looked into the headlights. I nodded my head and said I was OK. Pop looked me in the eyes and said, "OK, get back in the hole and finish the job."

As I said, Pop was very persuasive. So ... the deer looked into the headlights and ... I got back into the hole and finished the job. Did I mention it was my birthday? July 26th.

That night Mom made Vinny and me grilled chicken with lemon and mint with this pasta that was better than anything I had ever eaten. Maybe it was the hard work or maybe it was the deer in the headlights, but that was probably the best meal I ever had.

Each column of 9 numbers must include all digits 1 through 9 in any order.

Each 3 by 3 subsection of the 9 by 9 square must include all digits 1 through 9.

The heavy lines indicate areas, called cages, from one to five squares in size. Fill each cage with unique digits, counting up from 1. So for example a 2-square cage contains the numbers 1 and 2; and a 5-square cage contains the numbers from 1 to 5. From very small to very large - All part of Dutchess history

by Bill Jeffway

Among tens of thousands of items in the Dutchess County Historical Society's Collections, we examine two items at the opposite end of the spectrum in terms of size.

Among the smallest items is the one quarter of an inch wide piece of Italian glass shown in an accompanying photo, set in a ring. We know from a handwritten note that accompanied the 1962 gift to the historical society, that the small piece of glass was purchased in Venice in 1886 at the world-renowned glass center of Murano, likely by a member of the Storm or Van Wyck family of Dutchess County. It was embedded into a ring shortly after that in London.

The item is a gift of Mrs. William D. Rees whose Storm and Van Wyck ancestors settled in southern Dutchess County in the 18th century. Rees's collections gift included many items related to European travel. Other items include an 1849 passport of Cornelius Storm, and a book purchased in London more precisely around the time the glass was bought and embedded in a ring in 1886.

Called a Murrine, the glass is made from the tiniest of threads or straws of colored glass, assembled into a cane while molten hot. The glass is then sliced into small segments such as is shown here. The ring is designed so that you can look through the glass from either direction and see the image. The process is estimated to have originated 6,000 years ago in the Middle East.

Given the subject depicted, and the quality of the glassmaking (a crack developed later, perhaps in the setting of the glass in a ring), we know the piece was made by Jocomo Franchini in the 1870s. He was considered a master of this art who had revived the process after going dormant. He frequently depicted well known individuals involved in the Risorgimento, or Italian "rising," the movement for Italian unification that resulted in the establishment of the Kingdom of Italy in 1861. Here he depicts a political leader of what was a larger movement of identity and culture, the statesman Count Cavour.

Franchini had an unfortunate later life as he was committed to (what was called in those days) an asylum for the insane. His constant work on the tiniest threads of glass is frequently described as the reason for his breakdown. Franchini was the son of renowned glassmaker Giovanni Battista Franchini, who also focused on tiny craftsmanship.

Structural beam

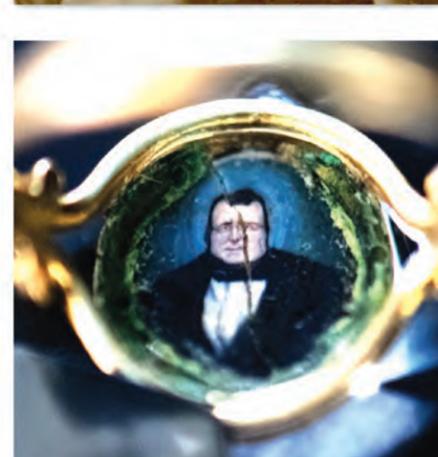

By contrast, among the largest items, we find a four-foot segment of a structural beam from the 18th century home of Henry Livingston, a home that was located along the Hudson River near the rural cemetery.

During the Revolutionary War, Dutchess County and the Hudson River were a major focus. George Washington called West Point, just to the south of the county on the river, the "key to the North American continent." The British saw a major strategic advantage in splitting New England from New York and the rest of the states. They were secure in Canada because it was a British colony. They had captured and occupied New York City. So, the goal was to approach from the north and south, meet in the middle, and occupy the river.

In a July 16, 1777 letter in our archives, we see that Henry Livingston wrote to a relative saying quite confidently that the British would never dare such a risky venture as coming up the river from the south as it would be "madness." It turns out Mr. Livingston was not a good forecaster.

The descent from the north failed. But a tactical move to burn Kingston, then the state capital, and create as much havoc as possible on the way up and upon their return, was successful just a few months after that letter was written. In October of 1777, the British Navy managed to break through the chain across the Hudson at West Point and wreak havoc going as far as Red Hook.

They tried to burn as many homes, barns, ships, and stores of those not loyal to the King as possible, by coming on shore with torches. The burning of a barn in October would have been particularly costly because it contained the entire harvest of the prior year. It was not so much the barn, but its contents, that cost the patriots so dearly.

The British also lobbed cannonballs from afar. Henry Livingston was not spared. He kept the hole where the cannonball entered his home intentionally visible to visitors. A photograph of the patched area of the wall of his house facing the river was featured in the 1919 DCHS Yearbook. A four-foot section of the beam was removed when the house was demolished in the early 20th century and given to DCHS.

The cannonball has ended up at the George Washington Headquarters Museum in Newburgh. We have been in touch with them to potentially arrange a reunion of the cannonball and the structural beam for the 250th anniversary of the American revolution in 2026. Stay tuned!

Bill Jeffway is the Executive Director of the Dutchess County Historical Society and can be reached at bill.jeffway@dchsn.org or (845) 293-7711.

The 18th-century Henry Livingston house was one of many that was hit by a cannonball from British ships as they sailed up and returned down the Hudson River in October 1777. They successfully burned Kingston, then the New York State capital. 'Ella the Ungovernable' of Dutchess County Tourism; Ondie James of Majesty 6:33 Productions; Stacey Bottoms of Beulah Baptist Church; Liz Dahmen of Hudson Valley Performing Arts Laboratory; Celebrating The African Spirit; Family Services Inc.; Kollabo Kingdom; Poughkeepsie Youth Theater; United Universalist Fellowship; Planet of People (POP) Radio; Willis Williams and Jacinta Kroner of 2B Scene; Aleria from The Art Effect and many others.

The intention from the beginning was not merely to do the play over the course of a few weekends in December, but to create a sustainable, permanent production and production entity in Poughkeepsie.

"It is our hope to create a permanent cast and home for 'Ella the Ungovernable' in Poughkeepsie, and if it is as much of a hit as we think it can be, even put together a Poughkeepsie-based touring production," says McArthur. "Our hope, ultimately, is to establish a permanent theater company in Poughkeepsie and employ and train generations of Poughkeepsians."

With this in mind, the group formed the new nonprofit, Poughkeepsie Rising, a performing arts movement, whose goals combine engagement and opportunity for Poughkeepsie Youth with the City's economic revival and cultural renaissance. "Ella" is the first of a proposed series of productions which will provide sustainable and long-term employment for the youth of Poughkeepsie on-stage, backstage, in management, marketing and more.

The Poughkeepsie Rising organization consists of Ondie James, president; David McDonald, vice president; Jasmine Garvin, vice president; Gully Stanford, treasurer; and new board member, Tim McQueen, from Ill Harmonic.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF HOW IT ALL CAME ABOUT

Playwright David McDonald originally approached Jeffrey Aman, Chair of The Poughkeepsie Public Arts Commission (PPAC) this past November, with the idea of using the play as a vehicle of community building and empowerment. As it turns out, the Public Arts Commission had harbored a vision of turning Poughkeepsie into a cultural destination based on the performing arts, and "Ella the Ungovernable" turned out to be the perfect vehicle to test that concept.

"We were all aware of the fact that 'Hamilton' had started out at The Powerhouse at Vassar a decade ago before moving down to the city a decade ago," recalls Aman. "But what if...just what if...we were able to create a theatrical juggernaut like that here in Poughkeepsie and keep it in Poughkeepsie? That idea was intriguing to us."

In April, Aman arranged for the "Ella" team to brief a meeting of the Public Arts Commission which enthusiastically endorsed the project. Strong support from city leaders came quickly, followed by support from the City's American Rescue Plan Task Force, which approved the award.

"The city's expanding support of the arts is an integral piece of our post-pandemic economic recovery," said Mayor Rob Rolison. "The pre-production excitement in the community is contagious, too, as the team-building and community engagement around the production is under way."

"It's rare to see a project like this that just everybody loves," says Poughkeepsie City Administrator Marc Nelson. "It's wonderful when we can get together as a community and build something together that is beautiful and positive and will benefit everybody, especially our kids."

Anyone interested in participating in the production may contact Sui the Producer at etuplaypok@gmail.com or connect via website/facebook/instagram. Visit ellatheungovernable.com for more details.

William G. Franks

William George Franks, 90, of Amenia, NY passed away on June 20, 2022 at home following a six-month illness. He was born in Sayre, PA on December 6, 1931 to the late Florence Van Horn and Paul M. Frank, Sr. On June 27, 1959, he married Barbara Ann Draper at the Athens Methodist Church in Athens PA. They would have celebrated their 63rd wedding anniversary on June 27th this year. Their honeymoon was a trip to Canada, the first of many. Bill was a graduate of what was then Sayre High School Class of '51. He was an All Star, All Valley Athlete in all sports, keeping in touch with coaches Weiss, Ksionzak, and Thoren until their deaths. He especially enjoyed remembering and retelling of the All-American East/West game in Tennessee as well as his prized photo with Miss Tennessee presenting him with a watch. He earned a full football scholarship to St. Bonaventure and graduated in 1955. Speaking of football, he also played for some time with the Pennsylvania Green Shamrocks semi-pro football team. Unable to find local work, he went to work at Wassaic State School, Wassaic, N.Y (now Taconic DDSO) starting as a Physical Education teacher and ending as a supervisor. While working at Wassaic, he furthered his education in Albany, NY at SUNY New Paltz, NY. He had some special students who participated in Special Olympics in California, Chicago and Boston (twice) proudly bringing back medals each time. Bill loved all sports and followed his teams - PSU football, Giants and Yankees. His children learned early not to plan anything during times of PSU football or U Conn girls' basketball. "Quiet" was of the essence! For many years, he and his nephew

Paul were able to have reserved seats for PSU football and introduced many family and friends to a group from Southern PA and tailgated with them for years. Bill enjoyed travel. He had great memories of going with different friends to Europe, Iceland, Australia, Fiji, Ireland and New Zealand along with many trips throughout the states. He enjoyed every trip but especially Alaska (3) and Hawaii (2). He grew to like bus trips with Wayne and Nan Lowery as well as groups from Marilyn's Lakeview Travel of Pultney, NY having many adventures while meeting lots of interesting people. Bill was an avid hunter and fisherman going out for the last time in November before turning 90. Bill was meticulous about his lawn, hedge and garden. He took care of Barb's flower beds after her knee surgeries, moaning every time more bulbs arrived. Bill was a loving husband and involved parent with all the children's activities and school. He always wanted to be involved in "back in PA." Bill was an active member of the Episcopal Church in Dover Plains, NY and then Christ Church Episcopal in Sharon, CT, joining the Altar Guild with his friend Rick since they were always assisting their wives. Bill remained a faithful member until this year. Bill's friends and family will miss his smiling face, sense of humor and loving support. We are grateful to have such an abundance of memories of a great guy. He is survived by wife, Barbara (Draper), daughters, Nancy A. Franks of Northville, NY, Mary Beth Franks-Begor and husband Scott of Dover Plains, NY and daughter-in-law, Evelyn A. Franks of Poughkeepsie, NY; sisters, Florence (Joyce) Millage of Waverly, NY, and Mary Jeanne Chacona of Sayre, PA, sister-in-law Marguerite Franks of Waverly, NY and many nieces and nephews. He will be missed by grandchildren, Preston T. Vincent, and fiancée, Jessica, Cayleigh A. Vincent and fiancé, Ryan Potter, Andrew N. Franks, Ethan T. Franks, Tara A. Begor, Justin Begor and children. Dearly loved are great grandsons, Colton and Braxton Potter who have just been joined by brother, Weston. Bill was predeceased by brothers, Paul M. Franks Jr. and Robert E. Franks; a daughter Mary Jean Franks, and son, Brian W. Franks. Visitation was held on June 27 at the Hufcut Funeral Home, Dover Plains, NY. A Funeral Service took place on June 28 at Christ Church Episcopal, Sharon, CT. Memorials may be made to Christ Church Episcopal, 9 South Main Street, Sharon, Ct. 06069 or ALSAC/St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, Tennessee 38105. David M. Goerlitz

David M. Goerlitz, 83, of Hyde Park, passed on Friday, June 17, 2022, at home with his family by his side. Born April 25, 1939, in Mt. Vernon, he was the son of the late John Goerlitz and Grace Lane Goerlitz. David proudly served his country in the United States Army from 1959 to 1962, and served in the Army Reserves until 1965. Returning home from the Army, Dave began his career working in the banking industry in New York City, and worked for different affiliates of Irving Trust Company over many years. He later retired from The National Bank of Cossackie as VP of Operations in 2001. He met the love of his life at work and married the former Helen E. Hawrey, in Brooklyn, on October 12, 1963. They celebrated 58 years of marriage this past year. His wife survives at home. In his younger years David was a member of De Molay International and Kiwanis of Yonkers. Later when he moved to Hyde Park he became a member of the Lions Club and enjoyed cooking in their booth at the Dutchess County fair. He was an avid hunter his whole life, a NASCAR fan, and enjoyed puzzles of any kind. He faithfully tuned in to Jeopardy and Wheel of Fortune each evening and even in his last days was still belting out the answers as he watched his two favorite game shows. David was one of the founding members of Kensington Village Association where he served on the board as president for many years. After resigning, he was asked to remain involved as a lifetime advisory member. In addition to his wife, he is survived by his two daughters, Kristin Biskup, and her husband Thomas, and Lauren VanSteenburgh, his three beloved grandchildren, Thomas Biskup, Colleen Biskup, and Emma VanSteenburgh. Along with his parents, his brother Donald Goerlitz, also predeceased him. The Goerlitz family would like to thank David's doctors and medical staff who cared for him for many years, especially Dr. Cho, Dr. Collins, and Dr. Solliday. In keeping with his wishes cremation has taken place and burial of his remains will be private and at the convenience of the family. David's family respectfully requests memorial donations to Hudson Valley Hospice Foundation, 80 Washington Street, Suite 204, Poughkeepsie, NY 12601, (www.hvhospice.org) or the American Lung Association, 21 West 38th Street 3rd Floor, New York, NY 10018, (www.lung.org) Arrangements are under the direction of Sweet's Funeral Home, Inc., Rte. 9, Hyde Park. Mary Margaret Russo

Mary M. Russo, 88, of Rhinebeck NY, died peacefully in her sleep at her home on June 24, 2022. Born July 2, 1933, Midge was the daughter of John and Mary Hart Myler. Along with her older brother, Charlie, she grew up in Ottawa, IL and was nicknamed "Midge" by her father for her petite stature. Sadly, Midge lost both her beloved parents by the time she was 21. Midge graduated from St. Mary's College in 1954 with a BA in English/Journalism. After graduation, she worked as a newspaper reporter at LaSalle News Tribune in Ottawa, a notable accomplishment given there weren't many women in this traditionally male-dominated field. As a small-town reporter, Midge was also the editor and photographer for her stories. Midge had a great sense of adventure, with one of her fondest memories being an epic trip to Europe with her best friend, Joan Rossi. Midge met her future husband, Rocco Russo, at a square dance in Streator, IL. He was conspicuously dressed in his "southern gentleman" attire, wearing dress pants and a white shirt instead of western wear. Midge and Rocco married on June 20, 1959 at St. Patrick's Church in Ottawa, IL, and enjoyed 42 years of marriage. The strength of their genuine devotion and commitment to one another was a gift to all who knew and loved them. Midge was a dedicated and caring mother of six. She and Rocco raised a loving, close-knit family whose devotion to one another continues to this day. She demonstrated unconditional love to her family in both large and small ways: as a tireless volunteer, chauffeur, homework tutor, chef and "project manager." Midge made daily life, birthdays and holidays (Christmas being her favorite) very special, creating lasting memories for her six children. She was a voracious reader, often getting lost for hours in whatever book she might be reading. In addition to her love for reading, Midge passed along her love for learning, her curiosity and her inquisitiveness to her children and grandchildren Midge returned to work at the Greenwich CT library when her youngest child reached high school. When Midge and Rocco moved to Virginia Beach in 1988, she worked for many years at the US Court Library in Norfolk before her retirement. Midge and Rocco moved 10 times together, including Jacksonville FL, Winona MN, St. Paul MN, Naperville IL, Temple Terrace FL, Stamford CT, and Virginia Beach VA. After Rocco passed away, Midge settled in Rhinebeck, NY, where she remained until her passing. Midge is survived by her 6 children: Chuck (Patti), Mary Jo Henke (Ed), John (Marci), Tom (Diane), Pat (Joan) and Anthony (Carole), and 18 grandchildren. She was predeceased by her husband, Rocco in 2001. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to FrancisHouseChicago.com or Wilderstein.org. Calling hours were held on June 28 at the Dapson-Chestney Funeral Home, Rhinebeck. A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated on June 29 at the Good Shepherd Church, 3 Msgr. Joy Plaza, Rhinebeck. Interment will be in St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery, Norfolk, Virginia. To sign the online register please visit dapsonchestney.com
