Community Day

by Kate Goldsmith

Pine Plains has been celebrating its bicentennial throughout this year; and the festivities will culminate with the town's Community Day on Saturday, Sept. 9. A variety of free events will be offered throughout the day in the center of town, including music, games and programs. Food will be available.

The Little Nine Partners Historical Society will hold an Open House at Graham-Brush House (behind Peck's Market), one of the few surviving 18th-century log houses in the Hudson Valley. There will be guided tours ongoing from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and a sign unveiling at noon. The Bicentennial Time Capsule will be buried at 3 p.m. There will also be fiddle music and refreshments.

The Stissing Center will host some of the events, including a Storytime from 12:30 to 1 p.m. Talented storytellers will weave enchanting tales that will transport listeners to far-off lands and spark their creativity. Kids and adults alike are welcome to immerse themselves in the magic of storytelling.

The Hudson Valley Reptile & Rescue Show is set from 1 to 2 p.m. Are you fascinated by the incredible world of reptiles? You'll have a chance to get up-close and personal with these amazing creatures. Learn about their unique behaviors and habitats, as well as conservation efforts, while witnessing jaw-dropping demonstrations that will leave you in awe.

A Crafts Extravaganza will be held from 2 to 3 p.m. Craft enthusiasts are invited to unleash their artistic talents during the crafts extravaganza. Whether you're a seasoned crafter or just looking to try your hand at something new, these hands-on workshops will guide you through

Pleasant Valley Weekend promises to be 'bigger & better than ever'

By Jim Donick

The annual celebration of Pleasant Valley community spirit - Pleasant Valley Weekend - will fill the upcoming weekend, Sept. 8, 9 and 10, with food, music, dancing, a car show, a massive parade and exciting fireworks. The center of activity will be at Cady Field, however, there will be other activities throughout the town.

Event Chairman Terri McCormick and her team of volunteers have been working almost since last year's event to make the 2023 Pleasant Valley Weekend even bigger and better than ever.

"I'm very excited," she said. "We've brought back some favorite activities from previous years and we've added some new ones that people are going to love."

"PV Weekend is a time honored Pleasant Valley tradition," said Town Supervisor John DelVecchio. "It's run entirely by volunteers who do it out of their love for the town. I can't say enough about how much they give to the town and how grateful I am to them."

The weekend kicks off on Friday when Cady Field opens its gates. The field will be filled with inflatable attractions, as well as food stands, food tents, exhibits from local organizations and the traditional Pleasant Valley Rotary Club beer tent.

There will be Line Dancing in the Main Tent from 6-9:30 p.m. No experience is necessary.

Mark Ticcony's restored 1970 Dodge Challenger will be one of many exceptional cars on display at the 3rd Annual Jack Haverty's Classic Car show starting at 6 p.m. on Friday night. This year's Pleasant Valley Weekend will feature many fun-filled events to recognize the community working together. Courtesy photo

Classic Car Show

The evening will also see the 3rd Annual Jack Haverty's Classic Car show starting at 6 p.m.

An exceptional collection of classic cars, hot rods and custom cars will fill the parking area at Town Hall. One of the highlights expected is Mark Ticcony's very rare 1970 Dodge Challenger T/A, that he has owned for over 30 years.

"I traded a pickup truck for it back in 1990," he said. "I'd known the car for a long time and it was in original, unmoisted condition and running well. I drove it and enjoyed it, but wanted to really restore it to perfection. When COVID came along, I had the opportunity."

Mark works at Matt's Autobody in nearby Salt Point, one of the county's premier automotive repair and restoration shops.

"We did most of the work right in the shop," he said, "and the result is a prize winner."

The Challenger has its original 340 CID engine and it's fed through three two-barrel carburetors.

“The bottom of the car is as perfect as the top,” Ticcony said with a smile.

Saturday of PV Weekend is always packed with action.

Lions Club Bike Ride

“The Lions Club support of this ride for the last 37 years has given thousands of local people in Dutchess County the ability to enjoy the beauty of the Town of Pleasant Valley. There is no better way to experience the splendor of our community with family, while supporting a great cause,” said Fred Schaeffer, the ride originator, director and current Lions Club member.

The 10-mile ride starts at 1 p.m. from the ACME Store parking lot. Safety is of prime importance. Traffic control is supplied by the Pleasant Valley Fire Company and the Dutchess County Sheriff’s Department. Registration opens 30 minutes before the ride. The ride is open to individuals ages 8 and up. Children 8-11 years of age must be accompanied by an adult. Riders under 14 years old must wear helmets.

To register online, go to <https://tinyurl.com/PVLionsBikeRide>. Registration is $15 for the ride and an event T-shirt; $10 for the ride only. Interested participants can also register at the event.

Proceeds from the ride go to support local programs aiding the blind and visually handicapped. The Pleasant Valley Lions Club is a group of men and women who serve to make the community better.

Since this is a fundraiser, a $10 entry fee is required. Participants can also additionally gather pledges for their ride to help raise funds. Those who raise $100 or more will receive a $25 gift certificate to the Pleasant Valley Department Store. A $200 gift certificate donated by the Pleasant Valley Bike Shop will be raffled off after the ride.

Events continue throughout the day at Cady Field. This year there are even more food trucks than last year to tempt the hungry.

A Corn Hole Tournament will be held at 3 p.m., opened to all ages. A highlight of the afternoon will be an open mike Karaoke session in the main tent from 3-5 p.m.

Duck Derby

Throughout the weekend the Rotary Club will be selling tickets to sponsor a plastic duck for their annual Wappingers Creek Duck Derby taking place on the creek directly behind the beer tent. The ever popular race takes place on Sunday at 3 p.m. when the rubber ducks are turned loose upstream from the tent, with the duck making their way through the course ahead of all the others being declared “Wappingers Creek Duck Derby Champion for 2023.” The sponsor of the winning duck wins a purse of $500, second wins $200, and 3rd, 4th, and 5th place ducks win their sponsor (ticket holder) $50 each.

The evening concludes with a massive fireworks show at Cady Field.

“I’m really excited about the fireworks this year,” said McCormick. “We have managed to arrange a much longer show than in the past so it should be memorable.”

Sunday afternoon begins with the annual parade down Main Street at 1 p.m.

“This year’s parade will be bigger than ever,” said parade chairman Dave Kruger. “We’ve got 50 organizations taking part and we have several new bands that will be marching with us for the first time as well as a bagpiper.”

Parade honors Gary Veeder

The weekend parade is always used as an opportunity to honor a local citizen, who has given much to the town, as the Grand Marshal of the parade. This year the Grand Marshal will be Gary Veeder, a former Town Supervisor and lifelong supporter of all that is good about Pleasant Valley.

“Gary is just amazing,” said McCormick. “Whenever we get together his first question is always ‘what do you need done?’ and then he simply goes along and accomplishes what we need.”

“I can’t imagine a better person to honor than Gary,” added DelVecchio. “He is a committed and active member of this community and the town has counted on his energy and his wisdom for longer than I could guess. Gary’s heart is in Pleasant Valley and Pleasant Valley is in his heart.”

Gary and wife, Pam, will be riding in the parade together.

Also on Sunday afternoon from 1 to 6 p.m., there will be a lawn party at the Pleasant Valley Library. The library’s lawn is a perfect vantage point for watching the parade. The event will include raffles, coupons for the upcoming book sale and Marvel Action figures, compliments of ALA Tompkins TCG, for each child who stops by.

The food and events at Cady Field will continue through the day.

Fundraiser to celebrate Starr Library at 160

The Loewi-Lemberger Kaplan Family Fund, the Starr Library Board of Trustees, and Friends of Starr Library are sponsoring this year’s benefit event for Starr Library, “A Starry Night,” on Saturday, Sept. 30, from 6 to 9 p.m.

For the first time, the fundraiser will be held at the Dutchess County Fairgrounds Horticulture Building in Rhinebeck.

Come celebrate 160+ years of Starr Library. The event will feature live music by the Avila Ensemble, a silent auction, drinks, hors d’oeuvres and desserts by Dulce Cafe.

Cocktail attire is suggested.

Early bird tickets are available until Sept. 10 for $125 per person. Regular admission tickets after Sept. 10 will be $150, and tickets at the door will be $200.

There is general parking nearby plus ADA-accessible parking at the building. No need to keep track of a ticket, there will be a list of attendees at the door.

If you prefer not to use the online form for tickets or a donation, make your check payable to Starr Library, and send to 68 W. Market St., Rhinebeck, NY 12572. If you wish to donate items for the auction, please contact Erin Humbaugh at 614-571-0279.

Hope for America through tolerance and respect

To the editor:

I read the August 23-29 letter to the editor entitled, "Hope for America through cooperation and compromise."

It was thoughtful and thought provoking. However, it appeared to be somewhat disingenuous. I presume that the author was well-intentioned, but he presented a myopic thesis that demonstrated an absence of diversity and erudition.

At this time in American history, we need to be more tolerant with our rhetoric. As the author's quotee, Voltaire, has also said, "Tolerance is the consequence of humanity. We are all formed of frailty and error, let us pardon reciprocally, each other's folly."

I respectfully submit, that we should all be more prudent and accepting of diversity of thought, opinion and expression, which will eventually lead to a more positive, compassionate and enduring outcome - an outcome that can be enthusiastically embraced by all benevolent Americans.

Supporting Zurhellen for County Executive

To the editor:

I want to give my support to Tommy Zurhellen for the office of County Executive for Dutchess County.

I met him while teaching a class at Marist College. He was easily one of the most approachable and intelligent people I ever met.

His longtime support for veterans' issues was recently placed in the foreground of our collective consciousness with his courageous walk across America to highlight the tragic situation of too many members of our military who have found themselves homeless after years of service-to-country.

In addition, Tommy will work to make Dutchess County more affordable for working families and seniors so they can continue to live in their residences in the community we all call home.

Please vote for Tommy Zurhellen on Election Day!

New COVID-19 variant detected in NYC wastewater

by Kate Goldsmith

Last week, a new, closely monitored strain of COVID-19 was detected in New York City wastewater, according to the New York State Department of Health (NYS DOH), which conducts wastewater analysis across the state. Health officials say it's likely that the variant, BA.2.86, is circulating in the City.

Previous to its arrival in New York, BA.2.86 had been found in cases in Israel, Denmark, South Africa, Michigan and Virginia. It has been designated a Variant Under Monitoring (VUM) by the World Health Organization (WHO). It appears to be the most genetically different strain since the original Omicron variant, which is significant because mutations may allow the virus to evade prior immunity, the DOH said in a press release.

Reacting to reports of the new variant, along with an increase in reported cases and hospitalizations this summer, Gov. Kathy Hochul recently announced new steps the State of New York is taking to protect individuals from COVID-19.

"While New Yorkers might want to be done with COVID-19, COVID-19 isn't done with us," Hochul said. "...I strongly urge everyone to take appropriate precautions to protect themselves and their communities. To keep New Yorkers safe, my administration will continue to monitor this situation, share information on the new boosters as soon as it's available, and continue to make N-95 masks available statewide."

An updated COVID-19 vaccine tailored to guard against certain variants is expected to arrive in pharmacies and doctors' offices this Fall. Hochul encourages New Yorkers to monitor the CDC (<https://www.cdc.gov/>) and the DOH (<https://covid19vaccine.health.ny.gov/>) websites frequently for information on updated COVID-19 vaccine administration recommendations.

Hospitalizations low in Dutchess

In Dutchess County, the seven-day average of reported cases was up over 19 percent as of Aug. 28.

"As we've seen over the past few years, that while COVID is ever present, there are times when case numbers increase or spike. In recent weeks, there has been an increase in cases both nationally and locally," said Livia Santiago-Rosado, MD, FACEP, Commissioner of Dutchess County's Department of Behavioral and Community Health (DBCH). "Hospitalization numbers are a key indicator of the severity of cases. Fortunately, locally, hospitalizations remain low."

Dr. Santiago-Rosado said, "Data continues to be tracked by New York State Department of Health (NYS DOH) and we provide those links on our County website at www.dutchessny.gov/coronavirus. New York's main data page is:

<https://coronavirus.health.ny.gov/covid-19-data-new-york> which includes positive tests, by region and county, daily hospitalization and ICU totals, bed capacity, trend information, and much more."

The DOH recently contacted nursing home providers statewide to alert them of the increase in COVID-19 infections reported over the past several weeks, and to remind facilities of measures that can be taken to help reduce transmission among vulnerable populations.

As students begin to return to school for the next academic year, Hochul and DOH recommend that schools review current CDC school guidance for COVID-19 prevention and work with their local health department to implement effective and feasible public health measures.

"There has been no discussion of mask mandates from NYS DOH for schools or elsewhere," said Dr. Santiago-Rosado. "While some healthcare providers and facilities may opt to require masks in some circumstances, they are not mandated to do so. Schools will need to continue to report COVID cases for NYS DOH as they do with a full list of other communicable diseases."

If you have symptoms

All individuals who have symptoms of COVID-19 should immediately get tested. Symptoms can include fever or chills, cough, shortness of breath or difficulty breathing, fatigue, muscle or body aches, headache, new loss of taste or smell, sore throat, congestion or runny nose, nausea or vomiting, or diarrhea.

If a test is positive, consult a health care provider about treatment, as it's important to begin treatment soon after the onset of symptoms to ensure the utmost effectiveness. Individuals who do not have a regular health care provider can find locations for treatment at <https://covid-19-therapeutics-locator-dhhs.hub.arcgis.com/>.

Those with COVID-19 should follow CDC guidance to avoid transmitting it to others, including isolating for five days after the onset of symptoms, as well as masking and avoiding contact with those who may be at higher risk of negative outcomes.

At-home tests are available at many local pharmacies statewide, and New York continues to make high-quality N-95 masks and test kits available to state and county officials by request. Contact the Dutchess County Department of Behavioral and Community Health at (845) 486-3400 or healthinfo@dutchessny.gov for more information.

Individuals who have not yet been vaccinated or are behind on booster doses can find the current COVID-19 vaccine sites at <https://covid19vaccine.health.ny.gov/>.

Concert for Grandfathers of Grunge Rock set Oct. 1 at Heritage Financial Park

By Rich Thomaselli

Baseball might be coming to an end at Heritage Financial Park, but the facility in Wappingers Falls still has plenty on the schedule this year.

Start with a tribute to the Grandfathers of Grunge Rock.

The event will take place on Sunday, Oct. 1.

The first band will take the stage at 2 p.m., with gates at Heritage Financial Park opening at 1 p.m. Ticket pricing is $25 for a General Admission ticket.

The lineup for "A Tribute to the Godfathers of Grunge" is Black Daze, the Ultimate Soundgarden Tribute; Rooster, a Tribute to Alice In Chains; and Corduroy, the Pearl Jam experience

The show will open with Black Daze and Rooster each playing a 60-minute set, followed by a 90-minute set from Corduroy.

Concert-goers with a General Admission ticket will have access to enjoy the show from the field, as well as the seating bowl at Heritage Financial Park. The Rooster Coop V.I.P. ticket includes access to the Right Field Riviera to enjoy a buffet-style meal, one (1) adult beverage, spacious seating within the Riviera, a private bar, as well as field access. Suites will be available upon request.

Heritage Financial Park has hosted some of the most popular and in-demand acts in music since opening in 1994 as Dutchess Stadium. Previous artists who have played at the venue include Akon, Rihanna, Fat Joe, Counting Crows, Collective Soul, Wilco, Vanilla Ice, Coolio, Bob Dylan, Willie Nelson, Drake, Adam Lambert, and Def Leppard. That's not to mention that dozens of up and coming artists who have appeared at the K Fest Music Festival, which is returning next year.

RENEGADES ROUNDUP

Renegades are first-half champs, but fall to Blue Rocks to open series

By Rich Thomaselli

By now it's clear that the Hudson Valley Renegades will have to settle for being the first half champions of the North Division of the South Atlantic League. Because they are not winning the second half.

That much is clear after Hudson Valley dropped two of its first three games against the Wilmington Blue Rocks, including a 6-3 decision on Tuesday night at Frawley Stadium in the opener of the six-game series.

Heading into the weekend before the final series of the year at Heritage Financial Park begins Tuesday, Sept. 5, Hudson Valley was below the .500 mark for the second half of the season. The Blue Rocks scored all six runs in the first three innings against Justin Lange. After two walks and a fielder's choice began the first inning, Will Frizzell laced a double to right-center to score Viandel Pena and Yohandy Morales and give Wilmington a 2-0 lead. Lange (1-1) responded with a scoreless second before Wilmington plated four runs on four hits in the third. After Andrew Pinckney and Morales led off with back-to-back singles, Frizzell flew out to left field for the first out. Murphy Stehly then singled home Pinckney to make it 3-0 Blue Rocks. Daylen Lile tripled home a pair and Matt Suggs hit a sacrifice fly to score the final three runs of the inning and pad their advantage to 6-0 over Hudson Valley.

On Wednesday night, Aug. 30, the Renegades slugged their way to a 9-3 victory. Hudson Valley erupted for two runs on five hits in the second. Jake Bennett recorded the first two outs quickly before the next four batters singled with the last two hits from Cole Gabrielson and Rafael Flores scoring runs to place Hudson Valley ahead 2-0.

And on Thursday night, the final day of August, the Renegades lost 7-5. The Renegades offense threatened against Bryan Caceres in the top of the first inning. Anthony Hall, Jared Serna, and T.J. Rumfield strung together three straight singles to begin the contest before Caceres induced a double play and an inning-ending groundout to keep Hudson Valley off the board.

Wilmington took advantage and plated three runs in the bottom of the first against Yorlin Calderon. Daylen Lile walked and Andrew Pickney reached on an error, before Yohandy Morales laced a two-run double to center. Murphy Stehly later scored Morales on a fielder's choice to extend the Wilmington lead to 3-0. Only one of the three runs scored in the inning against Calderon were earned runs due to the error.

Hudson Valley responded with a three-run third against Caceres. Jared Wegner singled and advanced on a wild pitch from Caceres, before Hall drove him in to cut the Wilmington lead to 3-1. After Serna doubled to place runners on second and third, Rumfield plated them both with a two-run double to tie the game at 3-3.

Out of the bullpen, Luis Velasquez struck out four and allowed just one hit in 2.2 scoreless innings on Thursday. Photo by David Janosz

Taking a look back at the regular season with achievements and lessons learned

Editor's note: Each week writer Rich Thomaselli and Hudson Valley General Manager Tyson Jeffers discuss the Renegades in particular and minor league baseball in general.

With the last homestand this week, are there any memories from the season that stand out for you?

Yeah, I'm going to go all the way back to opening night. I think it was a monumental milestone for us. We're like the new Renegades in the Yankees era. We were able to show off our upgrades to the facility and at the same time show the community that we are here to stay. Our ownership and our organization are willing to invest in that. And to introduce Heritage Financial as our first naming rights partner was amazing.

Do you and the staff feel like you accomplished everything you wanted to do this year?

There are some things that I would like to have gotten to. I won't lie. If I say everything, it feels like we accomplished something, and we still have more to do. There's not enough hours in the day and not enough bandwidth with the staff to accomplish everything. But overall, we set some really lofty goals, and we were able to achieve them. We established a foundation to build on. I'm really happy with this progress our staff has made over the course of the season.

Are you the type of person that casts a critical eye on yourself? Overall, how do you feel like your first year as general manager went?

Yeah, I'm probably most critical of myself than I am with anybody else. I definitely learned some lessons this year. There's so much more for me to learn and experience. But the place is still standing, so I'll take that as a positive (laughs). The place didn't burn down and we're not going out of business. That's a pretty low bar, but I still feel like I did ok.

Feldman recognized for excellence in ‘The Best Lawyers in America’

Hudson Valley, NY law firm Feldman, Kleidman, Collins & Sappe LLP (FKC&S) has announced that Founding Partner Jeffrey M. Feldman has been selected by his peers for inclusion in the 30th Edition of “The Best Lawyers in America” in the areas of Medical Malpractice Law – Defendants and Personal Injury Litigation – Defendants in Fishkill, NY. Best Lawyers® employs a rigorous, peer-to-peer, industry-driven evaluation to determine its rankings and Feldman has been honored for 16 consecutive years.

“To be recognized among such talented professionals means the world to me, and I share this honor with my team,” said Feldman. “Everything we do for our clients and community is truly a collaborative effort.”

Last year, Feldman was named Best Lawyers® 2023 Medical Malpractice Law - Defendants “Lawyer of the Year” in White Plains, NY, which marked the third time he received a “Lawyer of the Year” distinction. Only a single lawyer in each practice area and community is honored with a “Lawyer of the Year” award, which is determined by peer review. Feldman was also recognized for professional excellence in the 29th Edition of “The Best Lawyers in America” in the areas of Medical Malpractice Law – Defendants and Personal Injury Litigation – Defendants in Fishkill, NY.

In the 2023 edition of U.S. News – Best Lawyers® “Best Law Firms”, FKC&S received a Tier 1 designation in the White Plains, NY metro area for Personal Injury Litigation-Defendants and a Tier 2 designation in the area of Medical Malpractice-Defendants. Successfully trying cases at all levels of state and federal courts throughout the Hudson Valley and Capital District for more than 37 years, the firm has been recognized by U.S. News – Best Lawyers® “Best Law Firms” since its

First Edition in 2010.

Designated as a New York State “Super Lawyer” every year since 2008, Feldman is a proud member of the New York State Bar Association, the American Bar Association, the Dutchess County Bar Association, the New York State Trial Lawyers Association, the American Association for Justice and the New York Medical Defense Bar Association. He has achieved an AV® rating with Martindale-Hubbell since 1992, placing him in the top three percent of attorneys nationwide.

In 2016, Feldman received the Dutchess County Regional Chamber of Commerce’s Headliner Award for Leadership in Business and Community, and he was honored by the Mid-Hudson Valley Chapter of the Association of Fundraising Professionals for Leadership in Corporate Philanthropy in 2019. He currently serves on the Board of Directors for Family Services Inc. and Hudson Valley Hospice, and supports numerous nonprofits with his colleagues at FKC&S each year.

Prostate Cancer Walk returns to Walkway on Sept. 10

Premier Cares Foundation invites the Hudson Valley Region to participate in the 14th annual Prostate Cancer Walk as it makes its return to the Walkway Over the Hudson. This family friendly, community event will take place on Sunday, September 10 from 9 a.m. until noon on the Highland side of the Walkway.

"September is Prostate Cancer Awareness Month, and there is an urgent need for prostate cancer support, education, advocacy, and awareness here in the Hudson Valley and across the country," said Dr. Evan Goldfischer, a urologist and President of the Premier Cares Foundation Board. "This year alone, nearly 250,000 men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer. With early detection, however, Prostate cancer is one of the most curable types of cancer when detected in the early stages." Executive Director, Gia McCormack added, "We couldn't be more excited to bring this event back to the Walkway Over the Hudson. This is the perfect place to bring Dutchess and Ulster County together for a cause that affects so many families. We look forward to seeing everyone there!"

Participants will enjoy complimentary refreshments from Salsa Fresca, Eastdale Bagels, Crafted Kup, Panera Bread, and Texas Roadhouse. Children and adults will be able to use the state-of-the-art daVinci surgical robot and meet many of the event's sponsors who will be on hand with displays and giveaways. The Vassar College Barefoot fireflies will perform their glow jams show, singer and actress Molly Renfroe Katz will sing the National Anthem, and K104FM will be playing today's hit music and spinning the wheel of prizes.

This event honors those who have battled prostate cancer, remembers the lives that have been lost, and encourages all men at risk for developing the disease to get screened. The funds raised from the Prostate Cancer Walk provide support, awareness, education, and financial support to those individuals in our community lacking sufficient funds to address significant urologic and digestive health issues. The NYS Bridge Authority will also be supporting this event by lighting the Mid-Hudson Bridge different shades of blue on the evening of Thursday, September 7.

Tickets to the 14th annual Prostate Cancer Walk are $25 per person and children under 10 are free. Advance registration is required. For more information and to register, visit premiercaresfoundation.org.

Upper Red Hook Church invites all to meet Ukrainian family, volunteers

Saint John's Reformed Church, at 126 Old Post Road in Upper Red Hook, invites the community to come and meet a family of Ukrainian refugees and the volunteer group that helped them travel to the United States, obtain English classes and employment and soon will help them move into their own apartment.

The event is set Sunday, Sept. 10, from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

The resettlement project does not have any religious affiliation and is volunteer driven, according to Kathryn Salensky, Esq. of the Ukrainian American Bar Association.

So far, the New York State Chapter has helped 200 refugee families. Many of the families helped consist of single parents, parents of children with disabilities and senior citizens who have lost their homes in Ukraine.

The organization seeks volunteers in the Red Hook community more than monetary donations.

North America for Ukraine (NA4U) is a sponsor-matching organization that focuses on safely matching displaced Ukrainians with sponsors in the US as part of the Uniting for Ukraine program (U4U). They offer hands-on support throughout the matching process, which sets it apart from other means of sponsor-matching, including Welcome.US and other social media groups. They prioritize families in the most dangerous areas and determine their eligibility for the program. They still have an urgent need for sponsors.

Their waiting list of Ukrainians is well over 10,000, and there is more than one way to sponsor. A hosting sponsor submits the paperwork and provides housing and support when the family first arrives. A paper sponsor simply submits the paperwork for those who want to join family or another host already here in the US. NA4U confirms that everyone has a viable host, so no one is left stranded when they arrive. They are adamant about making sure matches are safe, as well as protecting the integrity of the U4U program, so it is not compromised or prematurely revoked.

Me: POP!!!!

Pop: Whya you yelling?

Me: I'M OK! ITS JUST A LITTLE SORE! I CAN WORK!

Pop: OK ... Youa hungry? You want a little biscotti with some café?

Needless to say, I never went skiing again.

I found myself telling Marcanthony this story and he was cracking up because he realized the apple doesn't fall far from the tree. Anyway, enjoy this recipe for traditional Italian breakfast cookies. Ciao!

TRADITIONAL ITALIAN BREAKFAST COOKIES

Ingredients

2 eggs
1/2 cup vegetable oil
1/2 cup milk
2 pinches of salt
1 tsp. vanilla
5 cups flour
1/2 cup sugar
4 tsp. baking powder
1/2 cup granulated sugar

Preparation

Pre-heat oven to 350 degrees F. Line 2 baking sheets with parchment paper.

Mix together flour, salt and baking powder.

In a medium bowl, beat together egg and sugar until light and frothy (2-3 minutes). Add milk, oil and vanilla, beat well.

Add flour mixture a little at a time and mix with a wooden spoon (do not beat).

Remove to a lightly floured flat surface and knead gently until combined. Dough will be slightly sticky so don't over-flour.

Remove pieces of dough to form into oblong shapes about the size of your thumb. Roll each piece in granulated sugar and place on parchment paper lined baking sheets.

Bake for approximately 10-15 minutes. Let cool. Enjoy with espresso, cappuccino or coffee.

'Karaoke Killer' murder mystery set Sept. 9

The Two Of Us Productions, the award winning theater company based in Columbia County, will present "Karaoke Killer" in collaboration with the Claverack Library. This murder mystery thriller is being performed on Saturday, Sept. 9, in the Marilyn & Bob Laurie Gallery at the Claverack Library in Claverack. Doors open at 7 p.m., the show starts at 7:30 p.m., tickets are $5 at the door.

With "Karaoke Killer," the Claverack Library has become the latest stop on the National Karaoke Hall of Fame tour. Come on down to the infamous Pink Flamingo Nightclub, hosted by club owner and local impresario "Pinki" Zalossa and her ever popular bartender Jack Daniels. Celebrities of the karaoke universe are coming from far and wide for a stellar evening of singing to the best of karaoke's hits. Don't miss this great evening of music and mayhem.

A karaoke competition brings out the best and worst in people. The best can be something as simple as a gracious applause for the context winner. The worst? Well, let's just say that the contestants in this contest will do anything to win. A little nasty behavior -- doing things to sabotage each other's performance -- subtle but evil things -- WHY NOT! Undermine the success of others, deliberately plot someone's downfall, pay off a judge or two, or even commit MURDER!

Before the evening is over, someone else will be ruthlessly murdered, and it's up to the audience to solve the crime. Prizes will be awarded to the first people who correctly guess the murder and motive.

The Claverack Library is at 629 NY-23B in Claverack. Concessions will be available during intermission courtesy of Chatham Provisions.

SUDOKU

Sudoku requires no arithmetic skills. The object of the game is to fill all the blank squares with the correct numbers. Each row of 9 numbers must include all digits 1 through 9 in any order. Each column of 9 numbers must include all digits 1 through 9 in any order. Each 3 by 3 subsection of the 9 by 9 square must include all digits 1 through 9.

Suguru

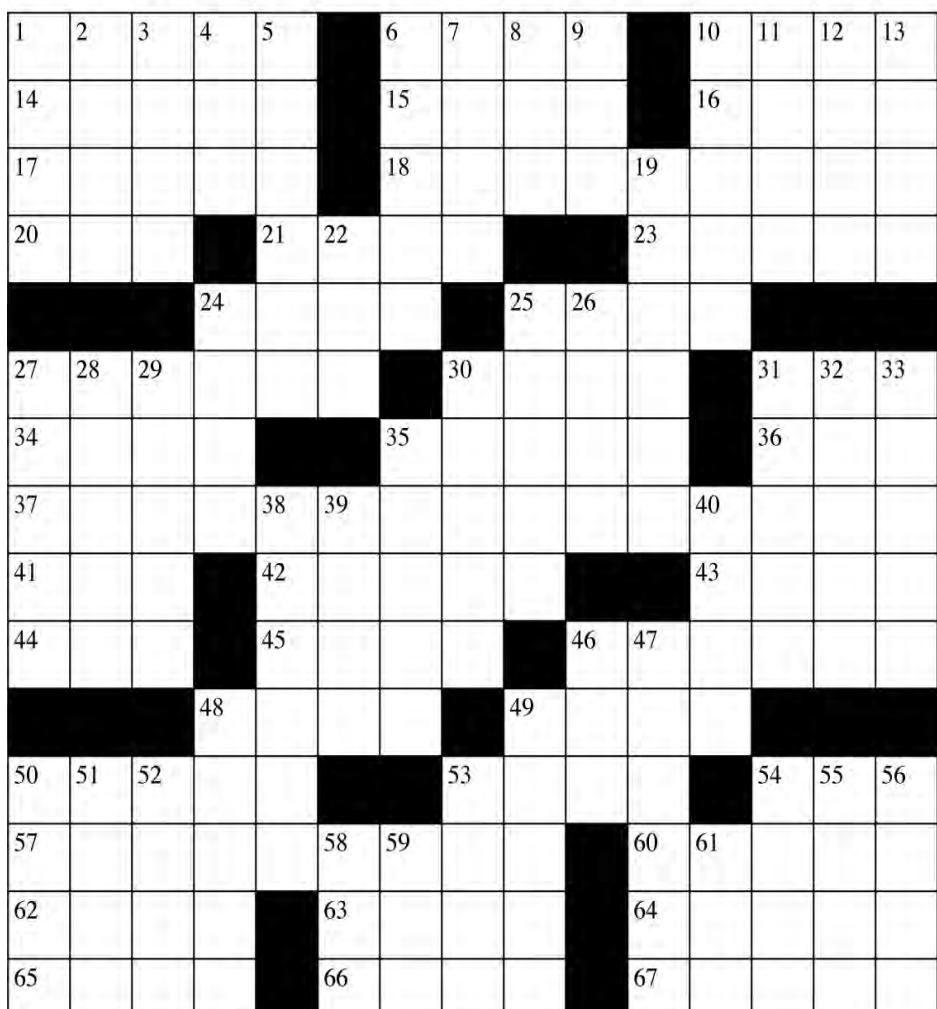

The heavy lines indicate areas, called cages, from one to five squares in size. Fill each cage with unique digits, counting up from 1. So for example a 2-square cage contains the numbers 1 and 2; and a 5-square cage contains the numbers from 1 to 5. Adjacent (touching) squares, even ones that touch diagonally, may never contain the same number.

DECODING DUTCHESS PAST

www.DCHSNY.org/ddp

By Will Tatum

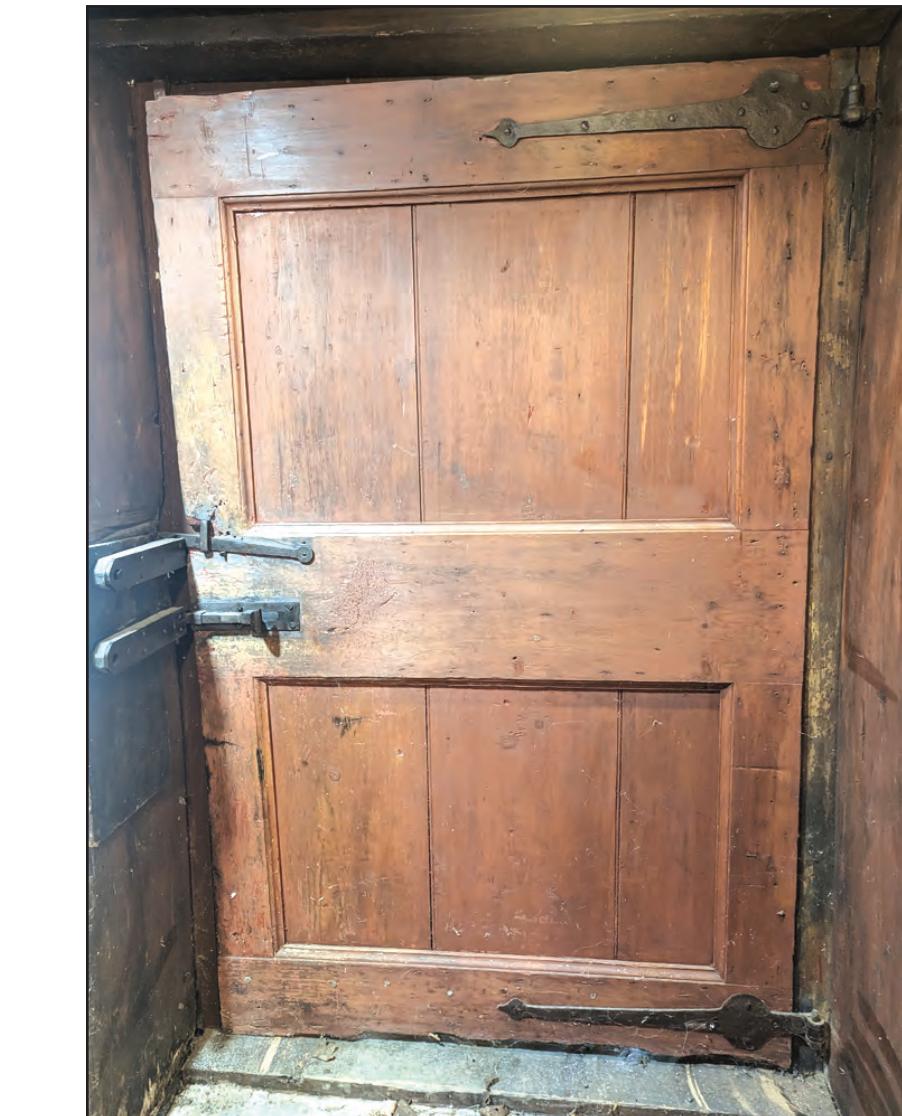

In 2005, Colombian singer and songwriter Shakira rocked the club dance scene with her new song based on a universal human truth: Hips don't lie. As strange as it may seem, there is a corollary to the pop sensation's song in the land of local history: Basements don't lie.

I first heard this statement from Town of Red Hook Historian and Old Window Whisperer Emily Major years ago when discussing the perpetual problem of dating houses. For those who may not yet be aware, house histories are one of the most sought-after forms of the local history product, second only to genealogies.

Decoding the human history encapsulated in the older residences throughout America, and particularly in Dutchess County, is a complicated task. With the county itself turning 340 on November 1st of this year (she doesn't look a day over 225), sifting through the myriad alterations, updates, and renovations that befall many older homes can be an arduous task. But just like hips on a dance floor, basements unconsciously reveal much of the hidden history in older structures.

For an easy example of the stories that basements reveal, we can turn to the hamlet of Upper Red Hook in the town of Red Hook, one of the oldest and least-altered rural communities in the county. At the intersection of what was once the Post Road and the Road to Salisbury, today's old Post Road North and Spring Lake Road, stands the Lyle House.

In a hamlet of old homes, it stands out, both because of its local perch high on the slope above the road and because of its gambrel roof, a classic old Dutch design. The current owner, Zachary

Basements don't lie – they are time capsules of history

Dutchess County Historian Will Tatum will present a program on "The Centrality of Basements as Paragons of Architectural Truth" in a presentation at the Clinton Historical Society on Friday, Sept. 8 at 7:30 p.m. and online at clintonhistoricalsociety.org.

Bayman, was kind enough to lead trustees from Historic Red Hook and myself on a tour of his beautiful home this past weekend. Other folks interested in enjoying their experience should keep their eyes open for the start of Historic Red Hook's annual online auction on November 1st: Zachary has kindly agreed to donate a house tour experience as one of the auction lots.

As one might expect from a home that has been around since approximately 1760 and is so renowned that it is featured in the 1930s Historic American Buildings Survey conducted by the federal government, the Lyle House has undergone some interior changes. Updates have included new finishes on several fireplaces, indoor plumbing, and the addition of a small chapel that now serves as the house's kitchen. If you want to know more about that chapel story, stay turned for the November auction. Since few people wish to live 1760s-style anymore, the updates do make sense, even though they serve to mask the exact age of the house's original construction. However, basements don't lie, so a trip down to the four-story house's lowest level was an eye-opening visit to a time almost three centuries gone.

Why don't basements lie? Emily Major could wax eloquent on that question and probably will if you join her and

Historian Klay to speak on impact of Grand Army of the Republic post

Meg Downey
North East Historical Society

Before Millerton's American Legion Post 178 was established in 1927, following the creation of the American Legion in 1919 after World War I, another organization helped local veterans, looked after their graves, and promoted civic and patriotic events. It was an outlying post of the Grand Army of the Republic that was created in 1887 and therefore served this community for half a century.

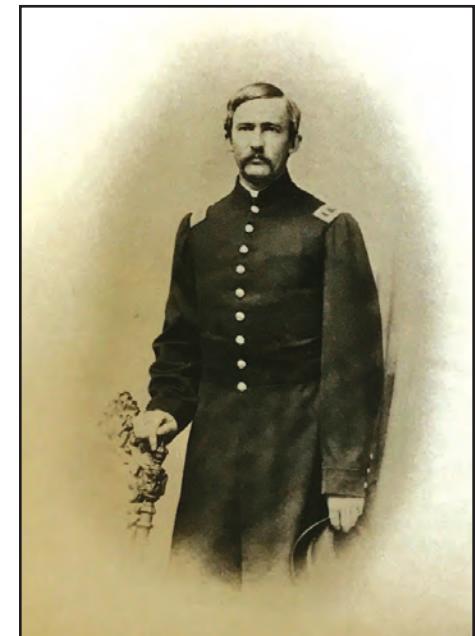

Legion Post 178 Historian Sean M. Klay will give a talk on Thursday, Sept. 14, titled, "Standing on the Shoulders of Those Who Came Before: The Lasting Legacy of Henry Gridley Post 617, Grand Army of the Republic." He will discuss the post, the Civil War officer it was named after, as well as contributions of other veterans of that war from Millerton and the Town of North East.

The event, which is sponsored by the North East Historical Society, will be at 7 p.m. at the NorthEast-Millerton Library Annex, 28 Century Boulevard in Millerton.

The Grand Army of the Republic was founded in 1866 in Decatur, Ill., in the aftermath of the Civil War as a fraternal organization of veterans who served in the Union Army, Union Navy and Marines. It eventually included hundreds of posts across the country, mostly in the North and West.

The GAR, as it was known, became one of the first significant organized groups to lobby Congress, fighting for regular pensions for veterans, promoting patriotic education, supporting voting rights for black veterans, and helping to establish Memorial Day, earlier known as Decoration Day, as a national holiday.

Though the Gridley Post is beyond modern memory, Klay said, "Still, our community is indebted to it, and what it started benefits our community even today."

David Ray

HYDE PARK - David Ray, 81, a lifelong Hyde Park resident, died at home on August 26, 2023. Born in Hudson, NY on December 3, 1941, he was the son of the late Clayton Peter Ray and Gertrude Pearl Ryan Ray. Dave was a graduate of F.D. Roosevelt High School and Fordham University.

Dave made his living as a pharmacist, starting at Molloy Pharmacy in Hyde Park. He also co-owned Copake Pharmacy then continued in the profession until retiring.

Dave was very active in his community. He was a former Commodore at Rogers Point Boat Club in Hyde Park, former Town of Hyde Park Councilmember for eight years, and former Board Member of the Town of Hyde Park Historical Society. He currently served on the Board of Trustees for the Hyde Park Free Library and was also involved with the Pharmacist Recovery Network.

Those who knew Dave well can attest to his offbeat sense of humor and his love for Hyde Park and its history. Dave was often the life of the party. He enjoyed socializing and meeting new people with a way of making a stranger feel like a friend. His colorful stories are legendary and have entertained many over the years. Dave was also an avid sports fan, especially of his Giants football & baseball.

On December 2, 1967, he married the former Joanne Elizabeth Senkier. Mrs. Ray predeceased him on July 16, 2011.

Dave is survived by his four children, Mark (Nat), Sean, Susan, and Patrick; three grandchildren, Casey (Casey), Chelsey, and Caytley and two great-grandchildren, Oliver and Amelia.

He is also survived by many nieces, nephews, and great nieces and nephews, whom he loved dearly.

In addition to his parents, he was predeceased by a sister, Charlotte, and two brothers, Ryan and William.

In keeping with his wishes, cremation has taken place.

Memorial calling hours were held on Friday, September 1st at Sweet's Funeral Home, Rte. 9, Hyde Park. A celebration of Dave's life took place. If you would like to make a donation in Dave's memory, please consider the Hyde Park Historical Society, PO Box 182, Hyde Park, NY 12538. (www.hydeparkhistoricalsociety1821.org).

Building Decarbonization Grants now available for municipalities, nonprofits

Partners for Climate Action (PCA), a local nonprofit, has announced a new grant program entitled "Building Decarbonization Grants" (BDG), which will assist municipalities and local nonprofits in the Hudson Valley that are reducing the carbon footprint of their buildings.

The Hudson Valley has some of the oldest building stock in the country, and the heating and cooling of buildings is the number one contributor of greenhouse gasses in NY State. Therefore, transitioning to renewable energy sources is crucial. Examples of this include municipalities and local nonprofits converting to heat pumps or geothermal, installing solar, upgrading to more green appliances, adding insulation, and switching out old windows. While there are state and federal programs to help with the costs of these upgrades, the pathway to securing these grants can be complicated...many of those come with hefty matches. Some of these grants from larger funders require engineering/design work, which costs money upfront. The new grant from Partners for Climate Action steps in to fill these gaps.

"We have been working closely with municipalities and non-profits through our other PCA programs, and we have been struck by how overwhelming the Federal and State grant processes are. Just the other day, a volunteer we work with in Columbia County said her village board won't be pursuing any of these types of climate change projects because they require matching funds," explained Vanessa Bertozzi, who co-directs the BDG program.

The applications opened on Sept. 5 and the deadline is November 21. Municipalities and local nonprofits from the counties of Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Putnam, Rensselaer, and Ulster are welcome to apply. Grants in the range of $5,000 - $100,000 will be distributed to selected applicants. Grantees will have a 1-year period to spend their grants.

"We feel the urgency of this moment and want to see climate action, so we're offering this helping hand," said Paige Ruane, co-director of the BDG and one of the founders of PCA. "In addition to the money, we are also trying to make this process more human." As part of the BDG program, Ruane says they will host guest speakers, lead field trips to inspiring projects, and offer office hours where accepted applicants can bring questions.

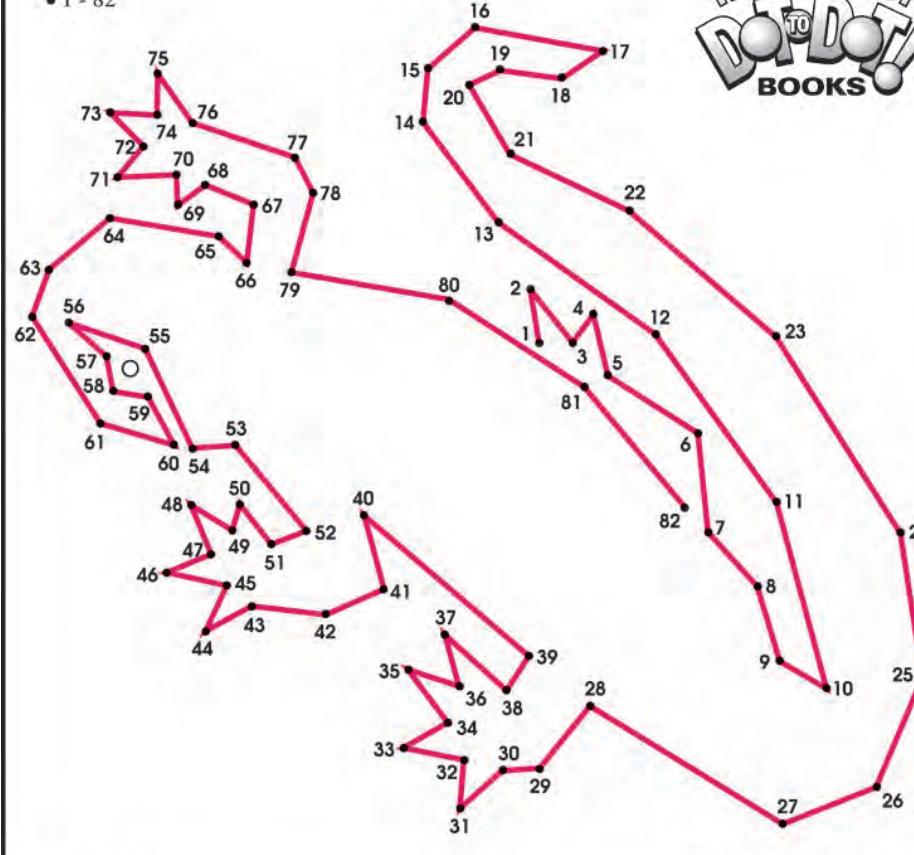

PCA has put together a grant selection committee and charged them with a goal of deploying 40% of the grant funds to disadvantaged communities.

Interested parties are encouraged to attend the optional info session or visit climateactionhv.org/decarb-grant for the application and more details.

Germantown Historian Tom Shannon at Quittner Antiques in Germantown on September 9th (check out @germantownhistory on Instagram for more details). Emily has crawled through more basements, attics, eaves, and every other odd space in century houses throughout the Hudson Valley than anyone I know.

The general idea seems to be that while people of every era will invest whatever they can in making their houses more comfortable or fashionable, that urge stops at the basement level. With the exception of modern finished basements (or Prohibition-era speakeasies), a homeowner does not usually bring guests to the house's lowest level. That's where you keep all of the unsightly stuff, like the foundation, the wall and floor framing that keeps the rest of the house standing, the mechanicals (furnace, central air conditioning if you are lucky), and all of those questionable yard sale buys and gifts from distant relations.

After a certain amount of time has passed, it is usually best not to mess around with the basement at all, for fear of altering the structural integrity of the rest of the house. At most, once the mechanicals are in and the boxes of questionable items are stuffed away, one might go down to add another lally column or flip the circuit breaker that tripped. Our natural reluctance to enter them turns basements into time capsules.

A trip down the narrow red stairs to the basement of the Lyle House is a walk through 260 years of history. Once down the stairs and standing on the finished floor (the project of a prior owner), a visitor can look up to see the massive framing joists that have held the building together since New York was a royal colony of the British Empire. Their size and finish is on par with the older timbers visible in Historic Red Hook's Elmendorph Inn. The floorboards visible between the framing members and floor joists are enviably wide and the saw marks upon them clearly demonstrate that these elements were the product of eighteenth-century saw pits rather than more modern circular cutters. Then there is the massive cooking hearth with the remains of the mouth of a beehive oven, which once provided bread for the residents.

That's right. In Dutchess County, it used to be fashionable to have your kitchen in the basement. But most tellingly of all are the two exterior doors. Aside from their massive size and their pintle-mounted pivots (which were pounded into the doorframe while almost red hot), there are the pancake hinges, which were a faux-pas on the architectural fashion front by 1780. But nobody of fashion would have entered the house through the basement, so the massive doors have hung in their original frames while successive generations of owners and occupants have enhanced the higher floors.

The centrality of basements as paragons of architectural truth will be a focal point of a presentation that I will deliver for the Clinton Historical Society on Friday, Sept. 8 at 7:30 p.m.

There is a house in the town that, for all intents and purposes, could pass as a 1920s colonial revival-influenced home, nestled along Meadowbrook Lane. A walk through its living space does turn up a few suggestions of an older vintage, but nothing truly irrefutable. Journey down to the basement, as every true student of old house lore must, and you quickly see a different view. Again, there are the framing timbers and floor joists: not nearly as massive as the 1760s Lyle House, but neither are they of the size and style of anything built since the 1860s. And then there is the basement door. It has the same style of old pancake hinges on a pintle mount as the Lyle House. Moreover, a past visitor, owner, or resident helpfully scrawled some graffiti on the door, as you can see in the image. Is there more evidence than this? Join us in person or by Zoom on September 8th to find out. Program details are available on the Clinton Historical Society's website at clintonhistoricalsociety.org.

The next time you read a house history, or talk to an architectural historian, perhaps you might consider seeing what either has to say about the building's basement. It might have something more to say about the house than you would otherwise think.

County Historian Will Tatum received his Ph.D. in History from Brown University in 2016. He has served as the Dutchess County Historian since October 2012.

COUNTY PLAYERS TO PRESENT 'CALENDAR GIRLS'

County Players, one of the longest running community theatre companies in the area is proud to present the adult comedy "Calendar Girls" by Tim Firth, based upon the Miramax motion picture by Juliette Towhidi and Tim Firth. This Main Stage production is directed by James Steinmeyer and opens Friday, September, and runs through September 23. Performances are scheduled for Fridays and Saturdays September 8, 9, 15, 16, 22, and 23 at 8pm, with matinees on Sunday, September 19, and Saturday, July 22 at 2pm. Performances will be held at the County Players Falls Theatre, 2681 W. Main Street in the Village of Wappingers Falls.

Based on the true story of 11 older women who posed nude for a calendar to longest-running money for the Leukemia Research Fund, "Calendar Girls" opened at the Chichester Festival Theatre and has since become the fastest-selling play in British theatre history.

The production features the local talents of Kit Colbourn, Donna Conway, Molly Gilman, Allison Lahikainen, Janet Nurie, Anna Marie Paolercio, Dylan Parkin, David Ringwood, Peggy Ringwood, Catherine Rush, Ruthie Turk, Erica Woolley, and Scott Woolley. Of this production director Steinmeyer says, "Quote John

Clark: "...the head (of the sunflower) tracks the journey of the sun across the sky. A satellite dish for sunshine. Sow these seeds on the hill and you'll see that wherever light is, no matter how weak, these flowers will find it. Which is such an admirable thing. And such a lesson in life." Adds Steinmeyer: "And perhaps a lesson for our time."

Please visit countyplayers.org/covid019-policy/ for up-to-date information on theater restrictions and protocols as COVID-19 restrictions and mandates are evolving daily. The box office will once again open for in-person ticket sales on performance days. Individual tickets are available online in advance of the performance dates.

Hudson Valley Credit Union sponsors County Players' 66th Season. This production of "Calendar Girls" is made possible by Gold Sponsor: Dutchess ProPrint; and Bronze Sponsors: Kathryn and Ralph Bowman and is produced by special arrangement with Concord Theatricals on behalf of Samuel French, Inc. concordtheatricals.com.
