County Legislature
unofficial results

Information provided by the Dutchess County Board of Elections

Compiled by Kate Goldsmith

While Republicans retain control of the County Legislature with 15 seats, unofficial election results indicate that the Democrats picked up two seats, bringing their total to 10. One of those appears to be the District 19 seat (North East, Stanford, Pine Plains and Milan) currently held by Legislative Chairman A. Gregg Pulver (R). Pulver trails challenger Chris Drago (D, WOR) by 60 votes.

Here are the unofficial results by district, as of Friday, Nov. 10:

DISTRICT 1 - Town of Poughkeepsie

Incumbent Democrat Giancarlo Llaverias trails Bob Gorman (R, C). Llaverias, who ran on the Democratic and WeAreTownofPok lines, received a total of 761 votes (48.47%). Gorman ran on the Republican and Conservative lines and received a total of 805 votes (51.27%). There were 4 write-in votes cast.

DISTRICT 2 - Pleasant Valley, Town of Poughkeepsie/LaGrange

There were two new candidates for this district. Republican Ryan Travelpiece leads Democrat Frank Mazzella by a count of 1,482 to 1,319. Travelpiece, running on the Republican and Conservative lines, received 52.83% of the vote; Mazzella ran on the Democratic and Working Families lines and received 47.03% of the vote. Four write-in votes were also cast.

Serino, Parisi, Kendall
win county-wide races

By Curtis Schmidt

In the three county-wide races in the Nov. 7 elections, Republicans Sue Serino and Brad Kendall won for the positions of Dutchess County Executive and Dutchess County Clerk, respectively, and Democrat Anthony Parisi won for the position of Dutchess County District Attorney.

Serino, who represented the 41st State Senate District for three terms, defeated veteran and Marist College professor Tom Zurhellen by a count of 38,666 votes to 29,596.

In a Facebook post, Serino commented, "Thank you, from the bottom of my heart, to our community for putting your trust and support in me. I am truly honored to be able to continue serving Dutchess County."

"Thank you to all the family, friends, neighbors and volunteers, who made the past 9 months possible. Everyone who came to our events, knocked on doors, put a sign out, I cannot express how appreciative I am. I couldn't have done this without your help."

She added, "I want to have roundtables and include the community like I've always done. Community engagement is something that I want to bring to the county executive's office like we did in the senate."

Zurhellen said, "We accomplished so much by raising awareness on issues like food insecurity, affordable housing, and the homelessness crisis. We were outspent by our opponent by a 12 to 1 margin, and yet we still managed to earn 44 percent of the vote. Wow! That doesn't happen without a ton of hard work, passion, and creativity. Nobody likes to lose, of course, but I know we did the best we could with the resources available to us."

County seeks proposals for new Youth Team Sports grants

Grant workshop set Nov. 20

Whether it's improved physical, mental, emotional or social outcomes, youth sports have repeatedly been shown to have a positive impact on the young people who take part. Playing sports is linked to decreased stress, anxiety, and depression; improved social skills and ability to work well with others; and reduced risk of engaging in substance abuse and other risky behaviors.

Looking to expand the positive impact of athletics on young people, the Dutchess County Department of Community and Family Services (DCFS) is seeking applications for a new grant program that will provide awards to support youth team sports programs for underserved youth under the age of 18. Through New York State's new Youth Team Sports (YTS) grant program, DCFS will fund awards of $132,594 to eligible local community-based organizations and nonprofits; funding is available in grants ranging from $5,000 to $50,000.

Eligible applicants should be either a 501(c)(3) nonprofit or another community-based organization operating in Dutchess County with a federal identification number and charity registration number that is able to meet the County's insurance requirements. The grant program, created under the New York State Office of Children and Family Services (OCFS), and will run during the program year Jan. 1 through Sept. 30, 2024. The grant may provide general operating support to give agencies the flexibility to administer quality programming; this may include the educational instruction needed to prepare youth to participate in team sports.

The ability to fund activities that support youth development aligns with the domains of the County's "Path to Promise" initiative, the goal of which is to help provide the young people in Dutchess County the resources they need to reach their potential, including team sports. For the purposes of this funding opportunity, a "team sport" is defined as an organized physical activity in which groups of two or more individuals are in competition with two or more opposing individuals.

There will be a virtual workshop on Monday, Nov. 20, at 4 p.m., to learn more about the grant program and the specific eligibility and application requirements to help encourage successful submissions. Interested agencies are strongly encouraged to attend.

To register for the virtual workshop, agencies can contact Jessica Dickinson at 845-486-3662 or Jessica.Dickinson@dfa.state.ny.us; those who register will receive log-in credentials for the virtual event. The workshop will review the step-by-step process of applying online through the Dutchess County Grant Portal and address any questions or concerns.

The application period for the YTS grant closes Dec. 5 at 5 p.m. More information regarding this program is available on DCFS' webpage; go to www.dutchessny.gov/ and select "Department of Community and Family Services."

Virtual Hudson Data Jam registration begins Nov. 22

Scientists are collecting data around us all the time. Hidden in those numbers are stories that reveal how the world works. Are birds arriving earlier in the spring? How does salinity shape fish diversity in the Hudson River estuary?

The Hudson Data Jam competition is an opportunity for students in grades 4-12 to explore Cary Institute's ecological datasets, creatively communicate the stories they tell, and win cash prizes. Write a song, record a video, create a book, paint a mural – your imagination is the limit!

The 2023-2024 Hudson Data Jam will be virtual. Students can participate individually or in groups – from teams of two, up to an entire class. Projects will be judged by scientists, artists, and educators. Cash prizes will be awarded for the top project in our Junior Data Jam (grades 4 & 5) and Hudson Data Jam (grades 6 - 12). Register by January 12, 2024 to participate.

For Teachers

Cary educators are available to support students' Data Jam journey with virtual or in-person classroom visits. Teachers, please register by Nov. 22 to secure a classroom session. Slots are limited.

The Da

Datasets fall into three levels of complexity: 1 - easy, 2 - moderate, and 3 - challenging. Cary educators can help students select an appropriate dataset; email Rebecca Van Tassell at vantassellr@caryinstitute.org for assistance.

Webinar series

Whether you are new to Data Jam or a seasoned participant, check out the "Data Jamming: Creatively Sharing Science Stories of the Hudson Valley" recorded webinar series for teachers, parents, caregivers, and interested students. White House chefs to serve Presidential Dinner for Premier Cares Foundation on Dec. 1

Premier Cares Foundation has announced its upcoming White House Dinner fundraising event. On Friday, December 1, White House Chef Guy Mitchell and his assistant, Petty Officer Michael "Woody" Raber will regale attendees with entertaining stories of their time in the White House, a cooking demonstration of one First Lady's favorite dessert, and walk diners through each course of a Presidential meal.

The event will be held from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Vassar College Alumnae House in Poughkeepsie.

Culinary Institute of America graduate Chef Guy Mitchell has an impressive career that includes not only his tenure as a White House chef under several presidents, but also his distinguished role as Head Chef for the Philadelphia Eagles. He and Chef Woody Raber bring a wealth of experience and a passion for culinary artistry that is second to none. The guest chefs have teamed up with renowned local caterer, Bruce Kazan of Main Course in New Paltz. Together, this team of culinary superstars will present an unforgettable evening that will not only tantalize taste buds, but will warm hearts and raise funds for local patients in need.

The evening will begin with a beautiful spread of hors d'oeuvres, signature drinks and live music during cocktail hour. From there, guests will experience a locally sourced, 4-course Presidential dinner while listening to captivating stories from Chef Mitchell's time in the White House. A silent auction will be available throughout the evening full of decadent items and fabulous experiences. The grand finale is a lively demonstration showcasing how Chef Mitchell created the favorite dessert of a former First Lady.

The funds raised from this event will benefit the Premier Cares Foundation "Care Fund" which helps local, low-income Hudson Valley patients receive support while they battle serious illnesses such as prostate cancer, colon cancer and other serious diseases. Funds are provided to ease the financial burden that a serious diagnosis can bring so they can focus on getting well. Additionally, this event will allow Premier Cares Foundation to continue offering its ongoing Prostate Cancer Support Group, the only one of its kind in the Hudson Valley. Premier Cares Foundation is a non profit 501(c)3 organization. For more information, visit www.premiercaresfoundation.org. To learn more about the White House Chefs, visit whitehousechefstour.com.

Tickets for the White House Dinner are $250 per person and must be purchased in advance. Tickets are available online at www.premiercaresfoundation.org. Seating for this event is limited to 100 guests.

Center for Physical Therapy celebrates 30 years of healing, community service

By Rich Thomaselli

Three decades is a mighty long time in business, but for Chris Campilii, owner of the Center for Physical Therapy (CPT), he is just as energetic and excited for the Village of Wappingers Falls and his mainstay business today as he was in the first 30 days.

CPT now has locations in Carmel and Hyde Park, as well as Vassar and Marist colleges, but the building in the village will always be “his baby.”

After all, he’s a hometown guy who grew up in the Village of Wappingers Falls, and went to St. Mary’s School and then on to Our Lady of Lourdes High School.

And returned.

After earning his undergraduate degree at Notre Dame and his master’s at Stony Brook, where he met his wife and business partner, Lynn, the two opened CPT at a time when physical therapy was still a fledgling entity.

Now one of his four daughters, Sydney, is pursuing a degree in physical therapy in college.

The field has advanced so much that Chris and Lynn went back to school nine years ago to attain their doctorate degrees.

“You are who your business is,” he said, being quick to credit his wife and his parents, Tony and Ginny, as major influences in opening the business. Campilii also praises his long-time and loyal staff, which helped to achieve a designation of “Best Places to Work” from the Dutchess County Regional Chamber of Commerce.

Volunteering is vital

What sets the Center for Physical Therapy apart is not just its commitment to healthcare, but its deep-rooted connections with the community. Campilii and his wife, Lynn, and staff have actively participated in various school and community events, embodying the spirit of “giving back.”

As he says, volunteerism is important and the Center even organizes its own events each year. The Center thrives mainly through word-of-mouth, rather than extensive advertising. That’s a testament to the many clients he and his staff have treated in the 30 years in the village.

Campilii has plenty of praise for Lynn, who was a world-class athlete. The couple even lived in Hawaii briefly.

“Her sense of adventure has been incredible and her work ethic still remains tremendous,” he said.

Lynn runs the pediatric side of the business, while Chris leads orthopedic care.

The sense of belonging and care transcends the boundaries of healthcare, making it truly exceptional. What makes the Center for Physical Therapy even more extraordinary is its diverse range of offerings. It boasts a pool and an outdoor walking center, allowing for unique rehabilitation opportunities. The pediatric component, staffed by five physical therapists with an average of 15 years of experience, ensures that children receive specialized care.

The Wappingers Falls location also now has a solarium made of all glass. In addition, two of the Center for Physical Therapy locations have specialized balance centers, aiming to reduce the risk of falls and instill a sense of safety and confidence in daily activities.

“It’s funny,” said Chris. “I go in every day and work on the business side of it, but my favorite part is still the treatment aspect. That’s what I love.”

Next Generation

And now he is grooming the next generation of physical therapists with alliances with Vassar and Marist colleges. Not only is CPT getting college athletes back on the court, it is training them in the nuances of the genre.

“It’s a tremendous relationship,” Campilii said. “We’ve been doing it for 12 or 13 years now and it just keeps growing.”

From a teaching aspect, CPT is affiliated with 13 colleges and universities across the country. He doesn’t expect that to change, nor does he expect the DNA of the facility to change.

“In today’s healthcare landscape, independent practices are routinely being acquired by large conglomerates,” Campilii said. “However, the Center for Physical Therapy remains staunchly family-oriented.”

Historic marker dedicated at St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Wurtemberg

Through collaboration with the William Pomeroy Foundation and the Sons of the American Revolution, St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Wurtemberg in Rhinebeck has received distinction as the final resting place of veterans of the American Revolution. As such, a historic marker identifying the churchyard as a Patriot Burial was placed along Wurtemberg Road on Nov. 12. The St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Wurtemberg congregation dates to 1760 and the current church building was constructed in 1802. Extensive research through 18th and early 19th century primary records and archives verified the Revolutionary War veterans and their final resting places. The following organizations participated in the dedication ceremony. St Paul's Lutheran Church of Wurtemberg, Sons of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution, Rhinebeck Fire Department and the Rhinebeck American Legion Honor Guard. Courtesy photo

HEAP application period now open

The New York State Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance recently announced that applications for home heating assistance are being accepted throughout the state. The Home Energy Assistance Program, or HEAP, can provide up to $976 this winter to help low- and middle-income households and older adults keep their homes warm and cope with high energy costs.

“HEAP provides valuable financial assistance that will help hundreds of thousands of our most vulnerable New Yorkers pay their energy bills,” Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance Acting Commissioner Barbara C. Guinn said. “I encourage all eligible households to apply to help reduce the costs they incur to keep their homes warm throughout the heating season.”

The program, overseen by the Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance, is federally funded. Eligible households can receive one Regular benefit per season and could also be eligible for an Emergency benefit if they are in danger of running out of heating fuel or having their utility service shut off. Applications for emergency benefits will be accepted beginning January 2, 2024.

Eligible homeowners and renters may receive up to $976 in heating assistance, depending on their income, household size, how they heat their home, and if the household contains a vulnerable member. A family of four may have a maximum gross monthly income of $5,838, or an annual gross income of $70,059 and still qualify for benefits.

Applications for assistance are accepted at local departments of social services and can be submitted online, through the mail or in person. Additionally, older adults needing assistance with HEAP applications can contact the Dutchess County Office for the Aging or contact the NY Connects helpline at 1-800-342-9871.

More than 1.7 million HEAP benefits were issued last winter totaling more than $434 million. Assistance is provided on a first-come, first-served basis.

Additionally, help is also now available to assist eligible homeowners if their primary heating equipment is unsafe or not operating and their furnace or boiler must be repaired or replaced. Benefit amounts through the HEAP Heating Equipment Repair and Replacement program are based on the actual cost incurred to repair or replace the essential heating equipment - up to $4,000 for a repair and $8,000 for a replacement.

Eligible homeowners can also now apply for a HEAP Heating Equipment Clean and Tune benefit to keep their home's primary heating source working at peak efficiency. Applicants for these benefits should contact the Dutchess County Department of Community and Family Services at (845) 486-3000 for more information.

Learning better communication skills is fun with 4-H!

With events such as the Fall Food Festival and Cloverbud Workshops on the calendar, overcoming nerves when speaking in public and learning to be a great presenter is fun.

Starting with Cloverbuds (children aged 5-7), 4-H'ers participate in public speaking events designed to build confidence and allow them to show off their knowledge and enthusiasm for the things that excite them. Opportunities include food festivals, illustrated talks, demonstrations, speeches, and for older youth, the chance to experience mock college and job interviews.

Our team of experienced community evaluators provide constructive feedback that helps our 4-H'ers develop the life skills they need for success.

Contact Jane jr825@cornell.edu if you are interested in volunteering to support these leaders of tomorrow.

4-H Partners with Sandana Harehounds

Following the first session on November 4, we are excited to launch our newest club. This is an incredible way for young people to connect with their environment and learn about the history and natural resources our county has to offer.

The Sandana Harehounds 4-H club is for those 7 years of age and older. This pack of cute and friendly Basset Hounds welcomes you. Learn how to feed, care for and exercise them and learn about their history.

Combine that with hands-on interactions with the friendliest pack of hounds you could ever wish to meet for a winning formula. Join us for a session and find out more!

Over 200 4-H Record Books tell inspiring stories

How do we know the benefits young people get from participating in 4-H?

We ask them to write their 4-H story at the end of each year and what they tell us is that 4-H has a positive impact on many lives in many ways.

Here are some quotes taken from this year's youth:

"4-H has introduced me to many new things and people and I don't think I would be the same person if I never ended up joining 4-H." (S.L., age 13)

"Over the past eight years, I have grown as a person and animal caretaker. I have developed relationships with animals, leaders, mentors, peers, community members and other farmers." (L.M., age 13)

"I appreciate 4H's mission to serve our community. I have written about food insecurity as it related to the environment in previous 4-H projects. But writing about food insecurity and seeing it first hand are really two different things. I was able to see the great need for fresh fruits and vegetables at a time of economic insecurity and see how we can all do more to help." (A.K., age 15)

"4-H has had such a big impact on my life. The skills that I have built upon, including public speaking, leadership and record keeping, have not only helped me now but will continue to be valuable in the future." (M.B., age 18)

Recognizing American Indian Heritage Month

by Bill Jeffway

While not in a position to explain the full history of local Indigenous Peoples (see recommendations at the end of this article for that), as a way to recognize American Indian Heritage Month, we will introduce you to some of the Indigenous Peoples who lived locally in the 19th century.

We are cautioned in the 2010 book, "Firsting & Lasting, Writing Indians Out of Existence in New England" by Jean M. O'Brien, that the myth of the disappearance of the American Indian and the claim of Europeans to be the "first" to do things, like discover the Hudson, are based on an erasure of fact-based historical record. This began with James Fenimore Cooper's 1826 book, The Last of the Mohicans, and remains a popular storyline, although not accurate.

This provides short profiles of Indigenous People's encountered in the documentation of our local history.

Daniel Nimham

Daniel Nimham (ca. 1724–1778) remains the most prominent American Indian associated with New York's Hudson Valley and the American Revolutionary War. In addition to military service, he argued in courts for the return of land fraudulently taken by the Philipse family, part of Westchester County today. He traveled to England to argue his case to British authorities but was not successful. He died in service to the United States August 31, 1778 and is memorialized in the Town of Fishkill.

'Thick set Indian boy'

We don't know his name, but in DCHS Collections there is a copy of the New-York Journal of November 22, 1779, "Run away, on Saturday the 13th in Dover ... a thick set Indian boy with long black hair, about 13 years of age." James Morehouse of Dover offered fifty dollars reward. The boy could have been enslaved or indentured.

Hannah Coshire

In Frank Hasbrouck's 1909 history of Dutchess County, he describes Hannah Coshire as the daughter of Jonah and Lydia Coshire and sister of Steve Choshire, owning a small piece of rocky land in the town of LaGrange. Hannah Coshire died October 18, 1877 and is buried with her family in Moore's Mills. In the 1860s and 1870s she was living with the Skidmore family as a servant in LaGrange. She was portrayed as the "last of her race" in her obituary.

Henry Catskill

Again in Hasbrouck's history, Henry Catskill is described as being of the Wappinger who married and settled with local Blacks in the Fishkill hamlet of Baxtertown. Hasbrouck describes him by saying he was entirely Native in appearance, "a well-built, handsome man, with straight hair."

In his book, "Old Dutchess Forever," Henry Noble MacCracken wrote, "For a hundred years the Dutchess ploughboy at the turn of his furrow would stoop to pick out a small three-cornered piece of hard stone ... he would observe its sharpened point..." He went on to say an individual to find thousands of "points" indicating the enormous scale of the local Indigenous population. From DCHS Collections: Points collected in the late 19th century at a site on the Fall Kill, Poughkeepsie, ranging in age from 3,000 to 6,000 years old. Courtesy photo

Decoding Dutchess’ Past

From DCHS Collections clockwise from top-left: The 1814 marriage record of Susan May, said to be Mohican, married into the mixed-race Frazier family. Notice of Hannah Coshire’s death where she is incorrectly said to have been the last of her race. Courtesy images

Susan May

In Isaac Hunting’s 1897 history of Pine Plains he describes the May family as “pure Mohican Shekomeko.” From DCHS Collections we have the marriage record of Susan May to Andrew Frazier, Jr., son of a mixed-race African and European heritage.

Prince Manessah or Minisee

Again we rely on Hunting who explains that Manessah sometimes Minisee is an “Indian name.” “Prince Quack Minisee” is enshrined in a 1935 New York State historical marker saying he was an Indian medicine man. Research shows he may have been Black, in part or in whole, the name Quacko a relatively common name from Africa meaning “born on Wednesday.” He went on to Michigan with his sons in the late 19th century, and there the family became a widely-known and highly regarded frontier farming Black family, the Minisee family with descendants we’ve contacted and spoken to recently.

‘Louisa’

Given her age and Florida birth, It seems very likely that Louisa was brought back from her native Florida by Nathan Darling of Rhinebeck. She shows up as 16 years old and living in the Darling household as a servant. Darling was a Captain in the 2nd Dragoons during the Seminole Indian wars in the 1820s and 1830s..He appears to have returned from Florida with a teenage Louisa who went on to marry a Black man, son of former slaves, and lived on Rhinebeck’s Oak Street.

John Wannuacon Quinney

From DCHS Collections we have the hotel book register of the Poughkeepsie hotel and find that the John Quinney (1797-1855) who registered as a visitor there was none other than the most notable of Mohican leaders of the 19th century. He is registered as from Wisconsin which is where his people were “relocated to” from the area of the Hudson Valley. His visit may relate to the fact that then US Senator Nathaniel P. Tallmadge was from Poughkeepsie, as Tallmadge’s name shows up in the register as well. They may have been meeting with him.

Discover the connection between ‘the Arctic and The Great Swamp’ Nov. 19

Noted arctic researcher Moki Kokoris will be giving a talk on “Connecting the Arctic and The Great Swamp” from 3-5 p.m. on November 19 at the Trinity-Pawling School (Gardiner Theater), 700 Route 22, in Pawling. Kokoris is the founder of “90-North,” a multidisciplinary outreach education program that focuses on topics relating to Arctic and sub-Arctic regions. She is also a United Nations representative for the World Federation of Ukrainian Women's Organizations, past editor of “The Polar Times” magazine, participant of the UN Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues, and is the ?rst woman of Ukrainian descent to reach the Geographic North Pole (April 2003). Friends of the Great Swamp (FrOGS) will be sponsoring the talk and admission is free.

During the presentation, Kokoris will take the audience on an intriguing journey from the distant territories of polar bears to the local watershed of The Great Swamp. Dutchess County History adds to Ancient Document online archive

The Dutchess County Department of History has recently completed Phase 9 of the Ancient Document Online Archive project, bringing the total number of available pages of handwritten manuscript to 167,000. These records, dating from 1721 to 1889 constitute the surviving fillings of the Dutchess County Courts of Common Pleas and General Sessions.

County Historian William Tatum III said, "These court records preserve a variety of stories that would otherwise be lost to time, and which increase our understanding of life in early Dutchess County. One example is the debt relief action for Philip P. Schuyler of Rhinebeck, grandson of the famous Revolutionary War General Philip J. Schuyler.

This tale of financial calamity is preserved within the Dutchess County Ancient Documents Collection as Document 23383. This record provides remarkable insights into the trials and tribulations of Dutchess County's early residents and is freely accessible through the Ancient Documents Search Portal, a continuing collaboration between the Dutchess County Clerk's Office and the Dutchess County Office of Central and Information Services.

Dutchess County Clerk Brad Kendall

said, "This ongoing effort not only preserves the historic record but makes our early history available to researchers and genealogists world-wide. I'm grateful for the continuing support of New York State Archives in this multi-year project."

The Ancient Documents Project is currently in its tenth year after receiving notification of another year of funding through the New York State Archives Local Government Records Management Improvement Fund. Staff at the County Clerk's Office and Department of History retrieve the unprocessed material from secure storage at the county records center, number and rehouse the documents in acid-free folders and boxes, then enter the keyword search data into an online catalog. New York State Archives funding covers the expense of digitizing the records, a service provided by specialist vendors due to the fragile condition of the original documents. The project is slated to continue until the entire collection, which extends until the year 1889, is processed, indexed, and imaged.

For more information and to search the Ancient Documents, visit the Ancient Documents Search Portal at www.dutchessny.gov/ancientdocuments or the Dutchess County Clerk's webpage at www.dutchessny.gov/countyclerk

Arlington falls to Carmel in Section 1, AA title game

By Rich Thomaselli

Despite the appearances of a closer game because of the final score, the Admirals could never get untracked. Carmel High School’s tenure atop Section 1, Class AA football continued Saturday night against Arlington High School.

The Rams struck early and often and built a big lead in an unexpectedly high-scoring 49-34 victory in the sectional championship game.

The Rams are now the three-time defending sectional champions and even won the state championship in 2021.

It was predetermined that Arlington High School would host the sectional championship, presumably as a neutral sight assuming that other schools would be involved.

But the Admirals ruined that plan by having a standout season, winning all 10 previous games, including a 55-18 blowout of Carmel during the regular season in September. It was the only regular season game the Rams lost, and it came days after longtime head coach Todd Cayea stepped down for health reasons.

Arlington ends the season at 10-1.

“I’m just happy for these boys,” said interim Carmel coach Tom Donohue, who worked the scoreboard at last year’s sectional title game.

Carmel got on the board first with a perfectly executed fourth down fake puns for a 60-yard touchdown and a 7-0 lead. The Rams never trailed.

But the Admirals came right back on the ensuing possession to tie the game on a 1-yard run by quarterback Mike Rescigno, who completed a 44-yard pass just moments earlier.

But back came Carmel and the Rams wasted no time. The Rams took a 14-7 lead when Christian Nunez threw a 10-yard touchdown pass.

“This is a great feeling!” Nunez screamed over the happy noise from Carmel supporters after the game.

Another long completion by the Admirals and an untimely penalty from Carmel set up Arlington again to tie the game at 14 as Rescigno again threw another touchdown pass, this one for 20 yards. And again, the Rams came back to take a 21-14 advantage on a kickoff return.

And remember, this was all in the first quarter.

Less than one minute into the second quarter and the Rams took a two-touchdown advantage when Tristan Werlau outraced everybody with a burst of the middle for 65 yards. The Carmel lead settled at 31-14 at the half.

Carmel scored more points in the first 17 minutes of the game than it did in all of its regular season matchup with the Admirals.

“Despite that loss, we still came in feeling like we were the better team with more experience,” Werlau said.

Werlau gave Arlington no room to breathe when he returned the second half kickoff for an 81-yard touchdown and a 39-14 Carmel lead. Arlington had a steering comeback in the second half, but it wasn’t nearly enough against Carmel, which will enter the state playoffs for the third consecutive season.

Renegades mourn loss of Parenton, release game times & shows for 2024

By Rich Thomaselli

As the Hudson Valley Renegades continue to grieve over the death of former manager Tim Parenton, the team released its 2024 game times and fireworks shows.

Parenton passed away at his home in Jacksonville Beach, FL on Oct. 30 at the age of 61 after an over four-year battle with cancer.

Parenton managed the Renegades from 2014-2016, winning 132 games and guiding the Renegades to McNamara Division titles in 2014 and 2016, and to an appearance in the 2016 New York-Penn League Championship Series. His 132 managerial wins are second-most in franchise history, and his .584 winning percentage is fourth-best. A total of 14 players who played under Parenton with the Renegades went on to play in Major League Baseball.

“Tim Parenton was a baseball lifer and the Renegades were lucky that he was part of our family for three seasons,” said Renegades VP Rick Zolzer. “He was calm, strong with a bright, infectious smile. He was liked and respected by his players, the fans, and all of us in the front office. The thoughts and prayers of Renegades Nation are with his family, friends, and especially his wife Sheila in this time.”

Both before and after his time with the Renegades, Parenton was a decorated college baseball coach, winning nearly 300 games as the head coach at Samford (1998-2004) and the University of North Florida (2018-23). He resigned from UNF in June for health reasons.

Parenton played both baseball and football at Mississippi State University, helping the Bulldogs to multiple NCAA Baseball Regional appearances, and the 1980 Sun Bowl and 1981 Hall of Fame Bowl as a quarterback. Mississippi State is also where he began his coaching career in 1985, which also saw stints as an assistant at Old Dominion University and the University of Florida, and three years as the head coach of Jesuit High School in New Orleans, his alma mater where he was the school’s Athlete of the Decade in the 70s.

The Renegades will honor Parenton during the upcoming 30th anniversary season.

The Renegades, the High-A affiliate of the New York Yankees, have announced their game start times and fireworks show dates for the 2024 South Atlantic League season.

Standard start times for most games have been made earlier for the 2024 season, with Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday games now beginning at 6:35 p.m. for the entire season. Friday night start times will remain at 7:05 p.m. to accommodate post-game fireworks shows. Saturday contests will now start at 5:05 p.m., and Sunday games will continue to be played at 2:05 p.m.

Fireworks Shows will take place following the conclusion of every Friday home game during the 2024 season, with two (2) MEGA Fireworks Shows on the schedule on July 4 and 5. Additionally, there are two Saturday Fireworks Shows scheduled in 2024, on June 29 and July 6.

“We are very excited to welcome fans back to Heritage Financial Park in 2024,” said Zach Betkowski, General Manager of the Renegades. “These new fan-friendly start times and 15 fireworks shows including two MEGA Fireworks shows are just the start of a truly exciting season ahead.”

There are some exceptions to the new game times, with Education Day games presented by Heritage Financial Credit Union on April 24 and May 15 being scheduled for 11:05 a.m. The two games prior to those contests, on April 23 and May 14 will begin at 6:05 p.m. The July 31 battle against Jersey Shore is slated for a 12:05 p.m. start, while Aug. 22’s game with Wilmington kicks off at 1:35 p.m.

For the first time since 2019, the Renegades will play on Memorial Day, with a 1:35 p.m. afternoon game on the slate against Aberdeen. Finally, the games on June 29, July 4, and July 6 will begin at 7:05 p.m. to accommodate post-game fireworks on those nights.

988 SUICIDE & CRISIS LIFELINE IS LIVE

The first nationwide three-digit mental health crisis hotline is up and running. It is designed to be as easy to remember as 911, but when you dial 988, a dispatcher will connect callers with trained mental health counselors.

Dialing 988:

- Is a direct connection to compassionate, accessible support for anyone experiencing mental health related distress.
- Provides support: People may dial 988 if they are worried about a loved one who may need crisis support.
- Help for VETERANS: Veterans can press “1” after dialing 988 and be connected directly to the Veterans Crisis Lifeline.

Use extra caution when preparing your feast this Thanksgiving

The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) urges added caution when cooking on Thanksgiving Day, by far the leading day of the year for home cooking fires. In 2021, an estimated 1,160 home cooking fires were reported to U.S fire departments on Thanksgiving Day, reflecting a 297 percent increase over the daily average.

“Thanksgiving is a hectic holiday with multiple dishes cooking and baking at the same time, along with lots of guests, entertaining, and other distractions that can make it easy to lose sight of what’s on the stove or in the oven,” said Lorraine Carli, vice president of Outreach and Advocacy at NFPA. “With all these factors at play, it’s not surprising that the number of cooking fires spikes so dramatically.”

Overall, cooking is the leading cause of U.S. home fires and injuries, and the second-leading cause of home fire deaths. Unattended cooking is the leading contributing factor in cooking fires and fire deaths.

“Keeping a close eye on what’s cooking and minimizing the likelihood of getting distracted are key steps people can take to ensure a festive, fire-free holiday,” said Carli.

Following are additional tips and recommendations from NFPA to help cook safely on Thanksgiving:

- Never leave the kitchen while cooking on the stovetop. Some types of cooking, especially those that involve frying or sautéing with oil, need continuous attention.
- When cooking a turkey, remain at home and check it regularly.

- Make use of timers to keep track of cooking times, particularly for foods that require longer cook times.
- Keep things that can catch fire like oven mitts, wooden utensils, food wrappers, and towels at least three feet away from the cooking area.
- Avoid long sleeves and hanging fabrics that can come in contact with a heat source.
- Always cook with a lid beside your pan. If a small grease fire starts, smother the flames by sliding the lid over the pan, then turn off the burner. Do not remove the cover because the fire could start again. Let the pan cool for a long time.
- For an oven fire, turn off the heat and keep the door closed. Only open the door once you’re confident the fire is completely out, standing to the side as you do. If you have any doubts or concerns, contact the fire department for assistance.

- Keep children and pets at least three feet away from the stove and areas where hot food or drink is prepared or carried. Hot foods and liquids should be placed away from table and counter edges.

In addition, NFPA strongly discourages the use of turkey fryers that use cooking oil, which can cause devastating burns. For a safe alternative, NFPA recommends purchasing a fried turkey from a grocery store or restaurant or buying a fryer that does not use oil.

Ralph Sheridan Penney, Jr.

PLEASANT VALLEY - Ralph Sheridan Penney, Jr. ("Sherry") passed away peacefully at his home on Tuesday, October 24, 2023 after a brief illness at the age of 81. Ralph was the eldest son of Ralph Sr. and Melissa Penney of Highland, NY. Ralph is survived by his son and daughter-in-law, David and Karen Penney, son Darren Penney, granddaughters, Carleen Penney Darsee and husband Sean, Brianna Lucia and husband Daniel, sister Carol Ann Feldt and (predeceased) husband Daniel, brother John Penney and partner Andrea Giordano, numerous nieces and nephews and longtime partner and companion, Betty-Ann Miceli and her sons Shawn and Scott McGuire.

Ralph graduated from Highland High School where he played multiple sports, achieving All-Conference distinctions in football, basketball, baseball and track. Ralph's high school track record in the 220-yard race was unbroken for over 10 years.

After graduating from high school Ralph served in the Navy from 1959 - 1961 from which he was honorably discharged. After returning to civilian life Ralph attended Pace University, graduating with a Bachelor's degree in accounting. While attending Pace University Ralph was employed by IBM until his retirement in 2002.

For decades Ralph was supportive to local Hudson Valley charities, organizations and fundraisers for which his involvement and volunteerism is inspirational. Ralph never sought recognition for his support. He would rally his family and friends for these events, often combining his love for sports. Together with his brother John, their involvement with the Special Olympics and Ulster Greene ARC golf fundraisers as well as Christmas in April and many other charitable organizations helped make a difference in the lives of others during his lifetime. Ralph was an avid softball player and also supported local softball and soccer. He was a soccer coach and program director for the Town of Pleasant Valley Soccer League, coach for the Town of Poughkeepsie Soccer Program (which included coaching his sons) and later contributed as assistant coach with his son David for the Dover United Youth Soccer Club in Dover Plains (which included coaching his granddaughters, Carleen and Brianna).

Ralph's favorite activities included bird-watching, gardening, landscaping and antiquing with Betty-Ann, spending time with his son David, daughter-in-law Karen and granddaughters Carleen and Brianna and spending time at his farm in Crown Point, NY where he was a proud member of the Penfield Museum Board for 12 years.

Ralph's family would like to extend special acknowledgement and thanks to his kind and caring neighbors, his caregivers: Mary, Paula, Dee and John who were vital in providing attention and care to Ralph in his home as well as the services provided by Hudson Valley Hospice.

Family and friends were invited to attend a memorial service honoring Ralph's life which is being held at Copeland-Hammerl Funeral Home (www.copelandhammerl.com) at 162 S. Putt Corners Road, New Paltz, NY 12561 on Saturday, November 11, 2023. A graveside service is being held at the New Paltz Rural Veterans Cemetery at 81 Plains Road, New Paltz, NY 12561 on Monday November 27th at 12:00a.

Northern Dutchess NAACP has historic law passed

On Nov. 6, legislation proposed by The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), Northern Dutchess Branch, was unanimously sponsored and passed by the City of Poughkeepsie Common Council. The legislation struck down a 50-year-old ordinance making it unlawful to ride bicycles not registered with the police department.

“For hundreds of years, Black people have had their free movement and modes of transportation restricted - by foot, horse, coach, train, trolley, streetcar, bicycle, bus, and automobile,” the Northern Dutchess NAACP wrote in a release celebrating the law’s passage. “It is no coincidence that these ordinances went into effect in Poughkeepsie in 1973, on the heels of the enormous wins of the civil rights movement and at the advent of the war on drugs; in fact, these bicycle registration ordinances went into effect less than six weeks after the notorious Rockefeller Drug Laws were signed into law.”

Branch President Barrington R. Atkins said, “It is our duty to dismantle all systems of inequality. Legislative changes such as this send a message to lawmakers and law enforcement that the fight for civil rights is alive and well here in the City of Poughkeepsie. This is a small step toward decriminalizing the daily lives of people of color, and there will be more to come.”

Branch Vice President Robin Green, who also serves on the Criminal Justice Committee, believes that “While it was a proud moment for this great organization and the legislative effort led by our criminal Justice committee, let us not wait another 50 years for equity and social Justice to be realized for our most basic rights. I believe ‘Injustice anywhere is a threat to Justice everywhere,’ as MLK Jr. said. We still have a lot of work to do.”

Executive Committee member D. Jen Brown, Esq., added, “On Monday, 11/6/23, the City of Poughkeepsie Common Council spoke with one voice to remove a historically discriminatory
