Lorraine and Terry Daley, residents of the town of Wappinger, have been married for 52 years. The couple met in Highland, Orange County at a bar, called Danny's North.

"At the time, he was playing the bongos, with the one guy playing the piano. And then when he got finished, he came over," recalled Lorraine during a recent phone interview. She added, "One of the first things we each said was 'I don't want to get married.' We've been together ever since that night." They both were coming out of relationships when they first met, she said.

The day after meeting, the two went on a date to a steakhouse in Hyde Park.

Asked what he thought when he first saw Lorraine, Terry replied, "She was beautiful. Oh my God, to me she was something out of a dream."

The two became husband and wife on June 28, 1969 at St. Augustine's Roman Catholic Church in Highland. More than 200 people attended the wedding.

"It was extremely hot, over 95 degrees very humid day and very hot," recalled Lorraine. There was no air conditioning they both noted. The wedding took place at 5 o'clock in the evening.

Terry remarked about the heat, "It was so hot the top of the cake slid off." His brother decided to put sunscreen on Terry's car as a joke. "That car was ruined," recalled Terry.

High schools to offer Esports service from Dutchess BOCES

By Kristine Coulter

Dutchess BOCES is launching a new Esports service that will provide school districts the opportunity to enter teams into the world of organized, competitive, video gaming. Esports, or electronic sports, require critical thinking, communication, collaboration and creativity that can help support academic performance.

Students who are engaged in eSports will gain knowledge of higher technical tools, such as, streaming platforms," said Amy Carr, model schools staff specialist. "They rely on technology, use scientific and mathematical concepts, are an example of the arts, and they are the product of software engineering and development."

Dutchess BOCES will supplement the gaming supports that are provided through Contender Sports by offering beyond the game training for coaches. These sessions will help coaches make connections to STEAM

Imperati to seek office of DC Sheriff

Kirk A. Imperati

Acting Dutchess County Sheriff Kirk A. Imperati has announced his intention to seek the office of Sheriff of Dutchess County in the November 2022 election.

Imperati has over 29 years of experience at the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office, with 14 of those years serving as Undersheriff. He became the Acting Sheriff on September 29, 2021 upon the sudden passing of his "mentor" Sheriff Adrian H. "Butch" Anderson. Anderson served as Dutchess County Sheriff for 22 years.

Imperati was the architect of the police modernization and reform plan for the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office and assisted other law enforcement agencies in developing their own plan.

In 2017, he implemented an Internal Affairs Bureau at the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office and today it remains the only local law enforcement agency to have one.

The Bureau was developed to ensure transparency when the public files a concern or complaint about a member of the Sheriff's Office including both road patrols and corrections.

Additionally, Imperati is implementing a body camera program for deputies assigned to the road patrol division, a further important step for public transparency.

As part of the Police Modernization Plan, he oversaw an extensive outreach and recruitment effort for a more diverse workforce for both deputy sheriffs and correctional officers.

Imperati said he is proud to protect and serve all of the residents of Dutchess County and will continue to be "Everyone's Sheriff."

Imperati said, "The generosity, outpouring of support and encouragement for me to seek the Office of Sheriff has been overwhelming."

Prior to his formal announcement to seek the position in the November general election his committee, Terry's uncle, who was an ordained priest, married Lorraine and Terry.

Terry said, "He didn't do a lot of weddings. He kept losing his place and kept saying the Our Father as he was finding his place to continue the ceremony. I told Lorraine, 'If he says the Our Father one more time, I'm out of here,' Terry recalled laughing.

The couple has one daughter, Janelle. Lorraine worked as an elementary school teacher when they were first married. Terry was employed in construction.

As for what has made their marriage work through the years, Lorraine replied, "We each had our own space. I think our occupations had a lot to do with it." Her busy season for work was the opposite of his work hectic season. They each were able to take make it work, although they only took three family vacations in 30 years, while raising their daughter.

"So, we had our own time," said Lorraine, who also noted, "we never gave up on each other." Terry said they took the bumpy road as it came.

As for what advice they have for couples starting out these days, Terry said, "That's tough because it's a completely different time now. Everybody wants instant gratification ... can't do that with marriage. Stick with it."

Lorraine remarked, "Stick with it. Try not to get down."

BOCES to offer new program

(science, technology, engineering, arts, mathematics) during practice to support student learning, it was explained.

"We are pleased to be able to offer this popular activity in support of STEAM, computer science and other academic areas," said Jenny Schinella, Director of Educational Resources. "We initially planned to begin next fall, but multiple districts are interested now so we are launching a spring season."

Asked why STEAM is important for the students, Carr replied, "STEAM inspires students' curiosity, creativity, and inquiry." Carr continued, "eSports specifically can develop the kind of skills needed to successfully move into areas like programming, computer graphics, or other aspects of video game design.'

BOCES is working in conjunction with Contender eSports Hudson Valley, which is in Wappingers Falls. "We are a toplevel video gaming and esports facility with more than 50 gaming stations, including PC and console," said Deanna Fino, owner and president of Contender eSports, said in a press release.

Students will be given the opportunity to try out for the school's team. Students will participate in weekly competitions held at Contender eSports, it was stated.

Dutchess BOCES Model Schools Department has been investigating options to bring eSports to our Dutchess County schools for the past two years, according to a BOCES official. Many of the options that currently exist bring students from across the state together to compete virtually. "Through discussion with our districts, leaders wanted to start the league through a local business so that students could connect in-person," said Carr. "Contender eSports has top of the line facilities and will be the primary support to our local district teachers/coaches and students in expanding their gaming knowledge and connecting them with local colleges experts in the field.'

Educational Resources staff will support the new program by providing information sessions, assisting coaches, and offering training on related curricular areas, said Schinella. Contender eSports will offer 10-week sessions, complete all competition scheduling and offer three clinics during the season, featuring local college professors, collegiate-level players and industry leaders.

"eSports is an opportunity to reach students who may not normally be a part of competitive sports," said Carr. "The opportunity for students to use their technological skills with communications and competitiveness in mind is a great combination for future career and educational pathways." There are also college scholarships and degree programs for students in partnership with our local colleges.

The season is scheduled to begin in February. Enrollment must be completed by Feb. 10. High schools interested in participating should contact Amy Carr at amy.carr@dcboces.org.

COVID-19 update

Molinaro: Emergency powers no longer appropriate

By Kate Goldsmith

During his 95th Facebook Live event on Feb. 3, Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro called for Gov. Kathy Hochul to end the emergency mandates related to COVID-19.

"Knowing what we know ... we are not in an emergency situation, period," he said, citing data points that are "all in the right direction.'

On Feb. 3 there were 731 active cases of COVID-19 in the county, down considerably from recent weeks; on Feb. 6 (the most recent update to the county's COVID-19 Dashboard) that count was even lower, at 563. It should be noted that test results data comes from the Electronic Clinical Laboratory Reporting System, a NYS Health Department database that contains reported results from all the labs testing samples from New York State residents. It doesn't include results from at-home tests.

Community transmission is also decreasing – 35.75 per 100,000 as of Feb. 6 – although the seven-day average was still high (159 per 100,000).

Hospitalizations were also down to 89 as of Feb. 6. The county's dashboard now makes the distinction between those who were hospitalized due to COVID-19 (50) and those who were admitted for other reasons, but tested positive upon admission (39). This differentiation is worth noting because it tracks the severity of infection.

One data point that is slightly higher than the previous week is deaths related to COVID-19: There were 17 in the past week, bringing the total to 620 as of Feb. 6. Over the previous week, there had been 16 deaths.

'You must make choices'

Molinaro reiterated his call for the state to reveal its goals for ending the emergency mandates.

"New York State has to be very clear about why certain mandates are in place and when they will end," he said. "What is the metric that must be achieved in order to end the mask mandate?"

Molinaro said the county is joining with others across the state, including the teachers unions and school officials, in asking for this information. The way it now stands, "There isn't an endpoint, an off-ramp [to determine when the mandates will end]," he said.

As a government official, Molinaro said he knows when government should intervene in what constitutes an emergency situation, and such is not the case at this point in time.

"This is not a crisis moment," he said, "therefore, the use of emergency powers by an executive is not appropriate.

It should be up to individuals to determine how they will proceed, said Molinaro.

"You know the risk, you know the steps you can take, and you must make choices," he said

Moving forward, Molinaro said, "We need to ask real solid questions ... What went right? What missteps were taken? How can we learn based on data and science?"

This is the discussion that will allow people to make the best choices in their lives, he added.

Molinaro also said, "We need to own up that damage was done" to businesses, children and others as a result of government actions during the pandemic.

"If we don't do that, we don't give meaning to a great deal of loss," he said.

Vaccinations, testing scaled back

The county has seen a decrease in demand for vaccines and tests, and is scaling back its operations at the former JCPenney site in the Poughkeepsie Galleria. Vaccinations are available on Thursdays from 4 to 7 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon. Testing is available Tuesdays through Thursdays from 1 to 7 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The Dover location will be open for testing this Friday, Feb. 11, from 4 to 7 p.m.

Free over-the-counter test kits are available at both locations.

Municipalities will continue to distribute free test kits as supplies are available. County departments (such as DMV) will also have some kits available.

Schools continue to receive and distribute test kits, Molinaro added.

As of Feb. 6, 84.5 percent of adults (18+) and 75.83 percent of the total population in Dutchess County had at least one dose of a vaccine; 67.79 percent of the total population had completed their twodose series. The dashboard doesn't have data on boosters.

Molinaro comments on bail reform

Editor's note: County Executive Marc Molinaro wrote the following letter to Mary Ellen Still, Chair of the Dutchess County Criminal Justice Council. The letter is regarding Nassau County Executive Order on Effects of Bail Reform.

To Chair Mary Ellen Still:

Since Bail Reform has been enacted in New York, specifically the sections regarding "no bail" offenses, there has been considerable discussion concerning the impact these changes have had on the level of criminal activity. The 2019 bail reform law prohibits the setting of cash bail by judges for most misdemeanors and non-violent felonies. I am interested in knowing how much crime is occurring in Dutchess County by individuals who before the reforms might have been incarcerated and thereby unable to commit any crimes while awaiting adjudication of their original offense.

On January 19, 2022, Nassau County Executive Bruce A. Blakeman issued Executive Order Number 4-2022 directing the Nassau County Police Department to increase transparency by disclosing in daily reports pending criminal case data and bail status of individuals re-arrested by the department. Presently, the Nassau County Police Department is developing new policies to enable them to identify and publicize the names of defendants not given bail on a previous charge who are re-arrested. The purpose of the directive is to inform the community about the impact of the 2019 bail

I am requesting the Criminal Justice Council to explore whether a similar report could be developed for Dutchess County. I recognize that certain considerations may need to be taken into account since our county has more law enforcement agencies and courts than Nassau County. Please research this issue and provide me with a recommendation for creating a similar type report that provides information on defendants released with no bail who are re-arrested while pending a criminal charge.

Thank you.

Marcus J. Molinaro Dutchess County Executive

Comprehensive Planning Committee should be unbiased

To the Editor:

Last year, the Fishkill Town Board formed a committee to review and draft a new Comprehensive Plan, to guide land use, development, and zoning for many years

Your readers should know that in New York State, the Town Comprehensive Plan is a most important document that has the effect of law. The Town Board must adopt zoning amendments to implement the Comprehensive Plan. The plan will impact future development throughout town, and have major implications concerning the composition of the Fishkill Tax base.

One of members of the Friends of the Fishkill Supply Depot (FOFSD), Ms. Ann Lagoy, sits on the Comprehensive Planning Committee, and has openly expressed a clear bias against commercial development near I-84/Route 9 interchange. This bias exists not just against Continental Commons, but also other commercial properties in this area, and throughout town.

Ms. Lagoy has bought into the incendiary and divisive rhetoric spewed by Supervisor Albra and his lackeys. In fact, as part of the FOFSD campaign to stop development, Lagoy was observed both trespassing and contaminating a historic site with her shovel.

Nowadays, in clear violation of Roberts Rules, she uses public comment periods to launch a bizarre series of questions to our new board members. Comment periods are for comments not dialogs or questions and answers.

I call on Ms. Lagoy, and any other member of the Committee affiliated with the FOFSD to step down immediately. Their prejudices could erode any public confidence in the planning process. Why does the Supervisor (Ozzy Albra) appoint biased individuals to this committee? Is this an effort to kill jobs, development and balance in our rateables?

The Comprehensive Planning Committee should be unbiased land use policy planners, not fringe advocates who disturb historic sites with their shovels and tools.

Broccoli asks Town board member to withdraw claim

To the Editor:

I call on Fishkill Town Board member Louise Daniele to withdraw her claim that I

On February 2, at the Town Board meeting, Ms. Daniele said, "I have to sit here and listen to Mr. Broccoli accuse me of bribery, is just a little bit over the top." Daniele knows this to be untrue, and she also knows that she has made false bribery accusations about me in the past.

In fact, earlier that evening, I explained to Ms. Daniele that I was upset when she falsely accused me of bribing then town supervisor Bob LaColla during a public hearing in 2019. Instead of apologizing, Daniele denied making such a statement. I came prepared, knowing that she would deny it, and played a video from that public hearing.

I believe that Ms. Daniele singles me out, and treats me differently than any other property owner in town. I believe that she puts partisan politics, and special interest groups that support her, ahead of the facts and the law, to block an approved colonial themed village of restaurants, shops, inn, and museum that I plan to build on commercial land my family's owned since 1986. As a result of her actions, she is now one of the defendants in a Federal Civil Rights complaint, and she will be held accountable.

All the videos can be viewed at www.continentalcommons.com, or the Continental Commons Facebook page, and judge for yourself just who is not telling the truth to the public!

Hochul appoints director of State Office of Gun Violence Prevention

Governor Kathy Hochul announced the appointment of Calliana S. Thomas as the Director of the New York State Office of Gun Violence Prevention. As part of the Governor's actions to prevent and reduce gun violence throughout New York State, the OGVP will identify and bring together key partners in the community and law enforcement to identify steps that can be taken to curb gun violence in New York State. Located within the Department of Health's Center for Community Health, the OGVP will collaborate with the Division of Criminal Justice Services and other State agencies to coordinate efforts and direct resources to existing and emerging gun violence hot spots. Ms. Thomas joins the team with extensive experience in gun-violence prevention, project management, leadership, and youth development services.

"Taking strong action against gun violence requires a multi-faceted approach," Hochul said. "Calliana S. Thomas is a dedicated public servant who will be a critical asset to our efforts to fight this public health crisis, combat gun violence, and keep New Yorkers safe."

A lifelong Harlem resident, Thomas has deep roots in New York City's vibrant communities; she knows that elevating community voice is the best and only way to make holistic, impactful and positive changes. Before joining this administration, Thomas was the Assistant Director of Technical Assistance with the William Julius Wilson Institute for Harlem Children's Zone, where she spearheaded efforts to expand cradle-to-career programming nationally. During her seven years working with the NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Violence Prevention Program, Ms. Thomas coordinated with government agencies to collaborate with community members, leaders, and neighborhood-based organizations to support gun violence prevention across the five boroughs. She began her career at Harlem's Minisink Townhouse, managing their youth development and restorative justice programming.

attended Thomas the Baccalaureate Program in Pre-Medical Science at Columbia University in the City of New York, and obtained a B.S. in Georgia State Psychology from University in 2008.

County accepting Learn, Play, Create grant applications through March 3

Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro announced the County is now accepting applications for the first round of the 2022 Learn, Play, Create: Supporting Our Kids grant program, which offers one-time grants awards to local non-profit organizations that serve children and families and were deprived of a year of fundraising or participation due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

In 2022, $1 million in Learn, Play, Create (LPC) grants are available, and there will be two rounds of awards this year, each totaling $500,000. In this first round, grants of up to $20,000 each will be available to non-profit youth organizations that directly serve children and families and promote learning, arts enrichment and sports engagement. Application instructions and guidance are available on the County's website, and applications can be submitted through an online portal.

Molinaro said, "Dutchess County is proud of the great success with our initial Learn, Play, Create grants in 2021, funding more than 140 projects throughout our community to give children back some of what this pandemic has taken from them – socialization with each other and mentors, skill development, and opportunities to just enjoy being a kid. The popularity of this program proved there are more organizations that make a real difference in the lives of our children, and Dutchess County is honored to fund projects that make a true impact on our next generation."

Examples of possible funding awards include:

• A youth sports league's purchase of new uniforms for its teams, enabling the league to lower its registration fee and making it more affordable for families whose income was negatively impacted by the pandemic or offer a skills clinic for player development at no cost to participants;

- Scenery and sets for a youth theater organization unable to fundraise for their cost during the past year; and
- Establishing a concession operation to enhance event experience, as well as create future fundraising revenue for program sustainability.

Applications for this first round will be accepted through March 3rd at 4 p.m., and awards will be announced in spring 2022; funding should be utilized within one year of award. Neither organizations which received LPC funding in 2021, nor school districts, private and religious schools – including school-funded clubs and/or programs – and municipal-funded/sponsored departments or clubs are eligible for this round of LPC funding.

As part of the County Executive's "Dutchess Invests" initiative to direct part of the County's American Rescue Plan funding from the federal government toward community priority areas, the Learn, Play, Create (LPC) program awarded $3 million in grants to 147 various organizations in 2021.

Central Hudson restores power to hard-hit Ulster County after storm

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. crews made progress in repairing damage and restoring power to customers who experienced service interruptions from Winter Storm Landon on Sunday. To date, power has been restored to more than 48,000 homes and businesses since Friday morning, primarily in hard-hit Ulster County. As of 7 p.m. Sunday (Feb. 6), approximately 16,000 customers are without power in Ulster County.

"We understand how critical it is to restore power to our customers given the current weather conditions. Our field force of nearly 900 line and tree professionals will continue to work into the night to retore as many homes and businesses as possible," said Ryan Hawthorne, Vice President of Electric Engineering and Operations. "Some customers in our most heavily impacted areas may not have service restored until Tuesday night. We are encouraging those without power to take appropriate measures to stay warm throughout the night."

Central Hudson is working to refine estimated times of restoration on a municipal level. Areas that have been the most heavily impacted could see restoration efforts extend into Tuesday evening. Central Hudson will conduct targeted outreach to customers in these areas.

Damage from the storm has been severe. So far crews have addressed nearly 600 individual damage locations and have approximately 670 locations remaining with additional outages still being reported. Since the start of the storm, there have been 75 broken poles and more than 2,000 cases of downed lines. Central Hudson has deployed wire guards to warn motorists and pedestrians to stay clear of these areas. In addition, representatives are making door-to-door visits with customers dependent on electrically operated life support equipment to ensure their well-being.

Dutchess 4-H'ers win at Northeastern Poultry Congress event

On January 15-16, Flock of Feathers members Elena and Richard Sassi traveled to the Big E in Springfield, MA to show at the Northeastern Poultry Congress. This was the first show they had entered beside the Dutchess County Fair 4-H show. They entered for the experience of a big show (2,400 entries!) and to learn more about the standard of perfection and showing poultry.

Mom Lisa said "We didn't expect to place, and we sure didn't expect to win anything.'

Richard and Elena both entered one trio in the trio classic. Richard entered bantam black Wyandottes and Elena entered bantam partridge Wyandottes. They both had a blast and learned a lot from the bantam Wyandotte breeders and the judges.

Richard's bantam black cockerel (Pumpkin) placed reserve variety out of 46 entries in the open show. His young trio of bantams (Pumpkin, Pocket, and Dumpling) won best rose comb clean leg trio, also in the open show. What a fabulous learning experience for them both! Flock of Feathers Flock of Feathers is Dutchess County's only 4-H club dedicated solely to raising poultry with more than twenty members this year. Most of the club members raise chickens, while a few also raise turkeys, ducks, and geese.

Members have been busy since this 4-H year began, visiting other poultry shows in New York and Massachusetts, and sharing their knowledge at the LaGrange Bicentennial Celebration. The Flock has a lot more work planned before the Dutchess County Fair in August. The kids are busy preparing for the county level public presentations, and in April will hold a clinic with seasoned poultry judge and breeder Jamie Matts to hone their showmanship skills and poultry knowledge.

The club hopes they will be able to get out into the community at farmers markets and other events during the spring and summer. And they are really looking forward to participating in the 4-H Gala, "The A-Fair to Remember" in June.

The Dutchess County Fair is always the highlight of the year for Flock of Feathers. This year the club is collaborating with the poultry kids in the Stony Ground Club and the Dutchess County 4-H Poultry Advisory to offer heritage turkeys and chickens for the Youth Livestock Sale for the second year. What makes this year special is that the heritage chickens will be sourced from a local Dutchess County farm, Hubbel Spring Farm, in Pine Plains.

Owners Brian Tallman and Tanya Rivera have offered chicks from their champion line of Imperial Ringlet Barred

MARC Foundation plans to open Overdose Awareness Memorial Garden

The Mid-Hudson Addiction Recovery Center Inc. (MARC) plans on a late spring 2022 opening of one of its most ambitious projects - The Overdose Awareness Memorial Garden.

Created by the MARC Foundation and Mental Health America, the Garden will honor those who lost their lives to a substance use disorder.

Located behind Gold's Gym in the Town of LaGrange beside the Dutchess Rail Trail, it will be a garden for reflection about the toll that substance misuse takes from our community. The memorial will feature a chain-linked fence where individuals can place a padlock to honor a loved one lost to addiction. The landscaped garden will include a bench for seated reflection, sitting on a plaza of memorial bricks that have been dedicated by those concerned about substance use disorder.

The Foundation is inviting the community to be part of the memorial through purchasing an engraved brick that will be presented at the entrance of the memorial. Your generous donation will be used to help build and maintain the memorial for many years to come as we work to carry the message. Each 4x8 brick is $100 and will be engraved with a message of your choosing. Since 1993 The MARC Foundation, now part of Mental Health America Dutchess Country (MHA), works with several local organizations involved in the vital effort to improve recovery and prevenmission of the MARC Foundation is to aid individuals with a substance use disorder by generating financial support to provide prevention residential treatment. Foundation accomplishes this mission by giving grants to expand and improve sober housing, which creates a safe and secure environment for people in recovery, and by supporting organizations that prevent or treat substance

#4-H CONNECTION

Bekah Martz – A 4-H'er set to explore agriculture

Bekah Martz is a freshman studying at Cornell CALS Department of Animal Science. Shas been part of 4-H in Dutchess County since she was 12 years old and participated in dairy youth extension throughout high school.

She writes, "I grew up in Dutchess County, located in the southeast corner of New York State. I had no direct connection to agriculture. My dad's family owned a dairy farm until his early 20s when it shut down and my mom is from Guam with no background in agriculture. When I was in sixth grade, a friend invited me to a 4-H club event at the Dutchess County Fairgrounds. I instantly fell in love with the program and all the animals. By seventh grade, I joined the Dutchess County 4-H dairy program.

"I held leadership positions throughout my time in (4-H). I made it my mission to teach the members basic dairy management skills, so I organized a lot of teaching and mentoring opportunities. Over the course of both 4-H programs, I worked with over 50 students. A highlight of my time in 4-H was when I mentored a young girl named Alice who had no background in agriculture. She ended up taking first place at the fair!"

Bekah gave 4-H her all and, with her dad's encouragement, took every opportunity for personal development and to help her peers. Cornell Animal Science Dairy Youth Extension and New York State 4-H provide youth programs for those interested in livestock, pet species, animal biology and production systems. These programs are catalysts for personal growth and development, encouraging leadership, cooperation, and marketable skills for the future.

Now an Animal Science major, with a concentration in dairy management, Bekah also hopes to do a minor in sustainability.

Three things Bekah would like everyone to know about 4-H and Dairy Youth Extension programs are:

"They are made for everyone! You don't need to come from an agriculture background".

"It's all about what you make of it. You get out what you put in! The impacts of the programs are felt years later".

"It's so much fun! There is never a dull moment and I guarantee that you will make lifelong friends".

Here in Dutchess county 4-H, we are very proud of Bekah who is a shining example of the power of youth.

For more information on 4-H clubs, send an email to Jane Rodd at jr825@cornell.edu.

Sheriff's Office: Two NYC residents arrested in connection with recent scam

The residents of Dutchess County and surrounding areas are being warned by the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office (D.C.S.O.) about scams that once again seem to be on the rise, and to also report the arrest of two subjects in connection with a recent scam.

Scams are ways in which criminals will attempt to get money from people by contacting them and making up elaborate stories. In some cases, the perpetrators have tried, sometimes successfully, to use the victim's emotions about a loved one in trouble to get money. It's common for the perpetrators of these scams to try to get money by telling people that one of their relatives has been seriously hurt or is in jail, and that they need money right away. In many cases they will pose as a law enforcement official or another relative to try and convince the victim that it's legitimate, according to the D.C.S.O.

The latest scam involves the perpetrators posing as representatives of a legal team in order to scam the victims out of money., according to a press release from the D.C.S.O. On Jan. 28, Sheriff's Office Detectives became aware of a possible scam in which the perpetrators contacted the victim and informed them that a relative was a suspect in a DWI-related fatal crash, and that they were looking for $25,000 to bail them out. After some research the victim was able to recognize it as a scam and didn't pay the money, but contacted the Sheriff's Office. Sheriff's Office Detectives were then able to further the investigation and identify the perpetrators, identified them as Elizabeth Y. Taveras, 29, of New York City, and Sade N. Rosario, 29, of New York City. Both subjects were arrested on Jan. 28 and charged with attempted grand larceny, which is a felony, stated the press release.

After being processed both subjects were released on appearance tickets and are due to reappear before the Town of Wappinger Court on March 3, stated the release. If anyone has any further information about this case or similar cases involving these subjects they are urged to contact Detective David Meyer at 845-

486-3778 or dmmeyer@dutchessny.gov. The Sheriff's Office can also be contacted via the tip line at 845-605-2583 or dcsotips@gmail.com, and all information will be kept confidential.

As with any criminal case the charges described above are merely accusations and both Taveras and Rosario are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law. Sheriff's Office Detectives were assisted in the investigation by members of the Dutchess County Drug Task Force, and more information may be released at a later time as it becomes available.

The Sheriff's Office would like to offer the following tips to help people avoid these scams:

- Legitimate law enforcement would not attempt to satisfy a warrant or make promises to avoid prosecution by soliciting money.
- If you receive an email about an order you didn't place or asking you to send money call the company using a legitimate number. DO NOT follow the instructions in the email or call the number provided in the email.
- If someone asks you to purchase merchandise, transfer money, provide bank information, or enter a code given to you by them use caution as it is likely a scam.
- Do not meet up with someone that you don't know; if you're asked to do this it is surely a scam, and it is very dangerous as well.
- If you're contacted by someone you don't know asking for money, for any reason, that's a signal that it's most likely a scam
- If someone calls you and tells you that a relative has been hurt or is in jail, confirm it first before sending any money. Call other relatives or a legitimate law enforcement agency for confirmation before any money is sent. If they're posing as a relative, try and contact that relative for confirmation.
- Sending money overseas is especially risky; use extreme caution.
- Ask the person for their call back number and ask to speak to their supervi-

Sade N. Rosario

- If the person is telling you that a loved one is in the hospital or jail, find out which one and contact the institution yourself to confirm.
- If a loved one has recently passed away be wary; in some cases perpetrators have even preyed on victims by searching through the obituaries and calling surviving loved ones. If you get calls from people you don't know soon after someone passes away, be careful and confirm it before you send any money.
- In some cases someone will call and tell the victim that they've won money, but to "process the claim" they need to first send money. Beware this is most definitely a scam and don't send any money you should never have to pay money to claim a prize. If it seems too good to be true, it most likely is.

- If there's any doubt about a phone call or email you've received contact the Sheriff's Office before sending any money.
- Scams tend to increase during the holiday season, be especially alert for them during those times.

It is very important to not send any money to anyone that you don't know until you've confirmed the situation through an independent source and feel comfortable with it. If it's a scam once the money is sent it's very difficult, and most times impossible, to get it back. If anyone thinks they may have been the victim of a scam they are encouraged to contact the Sheriff's Office at 845-486-3800 or via the tipline at 845-605-CLUE or dcsotips@gmail.com.

Imperati seeks Sheriff position

Friends of Sheriff Kirk Imperati hosted a well-attended fundraiser in December 2021 and raised over $240,000 for the election campaign.

Imperati presided over the construction of the Sheriff's Office and law enforcement center which came in on time and $2 million under budget.

He is also overseeing the construction project for the justice and transition center. That project will also open on time and under the projected budget. This state of the art correction facility will provide a safer, more efficient and effective working environment for correction officers as well as the inmate population.

The programs offered at the justice and transition center are designed to reduce recidivism and help these individuals acclimate back into the community in a positive way.

Imperati has received the endorsement of the Dutchess County Deputy Sheriff's Police Benevolent Association, the Town of East Fishkill PBA, the Patrolman's Benevolent Association of the Town of Poughkeepsie PBA and The Dutchess County Sheriff's Employee Association.

Public can submit comments on possible new area code for parts of 845

By Kristine Coulter

The public can comment on the New York State Public Service Commission considering a new area code for 845. The North American Numbering Plan Administrator (NANPA) filed a petition to relieve a forecasted shortage of telephone numbers. That would be done by adding a new telephone area code within parts of Columbia, Delaware, Dutchess, Greene, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster counties, that are currently covered by the 845-area code. The petition was filed on Nov. 30, 2021. Public comments are due by March 27.

"The new area code will be determined by NANPA. They have not yet announced what the number will be," James Denn, with the Public Service Commission told the Southern Dutchess News Group.

According to a press release, "In accordance with standard telephone industry guidelines, NANPA bases its petition on a projection that forecasts the current 845 area code will exhaust available numbers in the third quarter of 2024. Per the petition, all existing wireline and wireless telephone customers in the overlay area would retain their current 845 area code and telephone numbers. The new area code would cover requests for new phone numbers."

Approval of the proposed new area code in time to be implemented six months prior to the projected third quarter of 2024 exhaust date, according to the petition. The implementation of a new overlay area code normally requires "concurrent implementation of mandatory 10-digit dialing (the three-digit area code and seven-digit telephone number are required to complete a call) for all calls, whether local or long-distance," states the press release.

NANPA, after submitting the petition, revised the forecasted exhaust projection for the 845-area code to the third quarter of 2023 due to an increase in the demand for numbers.

According to the petition, "The 845 NPA was created as a result of the geographic split of the 914 NPA and has been in service since June 5, 2000. The 845 NPA serves all or parts of Columbia, Delaware, Dutchess, Greene, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, and Ulster counties. The geographic split ordered by the Commission runs along the county boundary dividing Westchester County from Putnam and Rockland counties."

The petition also stated, "The Industry recommends that it implement the new overlay NPA based upon a 9-month schedule. The new NPA will be implemented after customer education of the transition to 10-digit dialing is completed in the 845 NPA. Adhering to the Industry agreed-upon schedule will allow the new NPA to be implemented six months prior to the projected exhaust of the 845 NPA.10 The Industry will complete the implementation of mandatory 10-digit local dialing by July 15, 2022, well before usage of the new NPA."

When submitting a comment, one should refer to 21-C-0600. For those who want to submit a comment online, go to www.dps.ny.gov, then click on "Search" and enter 21-C-0600 in the "Search by Case Number" field, and then click on "Post Comments" at the top right of the page.

One may send comments by email to the Secretary to the Commission at secretary@dps.ny.gov.

For those who want to mail their comments. Send them to: Hon. Michelle L. Phillips, Secretary, New York State Public Service Commission, Three Empire State Plaza, Albany, New York 12223-1350. All written comments will become part of the record considered by the Commission and may be accessed on the Department of Public Service website by searching the case number, as described above, and clicking on the "Public Comments" tab.

To comment by calling toll-free, call the Opinion Line at 1-800-335-2120. This number is set up to take comments about pending cases from in-State callers, 24-hours a day. These comments are not transcribed verbatim, but a summary is provided to the Commission, according to the press release.

The Commission is also considering holding virtual public statement hearings. If hearings are to be held, the dates and times will be announced, according to the release.

Cary Institute to offer free virtual event on deer impacts to forest ecosystems

On Wednesday, Feb. 16, at 7 p.m. join Cary Institute of Ecosystem Studies for a virtual event exploring how deer influence forest health in our region.

Deer shape the future of our forests. What they find appetizing, or unpalatable, can determine which plants survive and thrive. Forests with abundant deer can suffer from selective feeding on woody plants during winter months when other food is limited. This can result in the loss of seedlings and saplings, dominance by invasive species, and shifts in the tree species that make up the next generation of forest canopy.

This virtual event will cover the history of deer in the Catskills, how deer influence the composition and health of our regional forests, and strategies to mitigate deer impacts. Presenters include: forest ecologist Dr. Charles Canham (Cary Institute), ecologist Dr. Lynn Christenson (Vassar College), and deer biologist Brendan Quirion (NYS DEC Region 3).

Among the topics to be discussed: how deer populations have changed over the last 100 years as land has become reforested and hunting pressure has declined, what loss of woody cover and the herbaceous layer means for forests and wildlife, management options, and ways that landowners can help promote healthy forest regeneration.

Offered by the Catskill Science Collaborative and partners at Catskill Mountainkeeper. This event is free and open to all. A Q&A session moderated by Cary President and Director of the Catskill Science Collaborative Josh Ginsberg will follow the presentations.

Register via EventBrite to receive Zoom log-in details; search for "Oh Deer! How Deer Shape Forests in the Catskills & Beyond."

Cary's Hudson Data Jam registration deadline is Feb. 22

The Hudson Data Jam competition is an opportunity for students in grades 4-12 to explore ecological datasets, creatively communicate the stories they tell, and win cash prizes. Write a song, record a video, create a book, paint a mural – one's imagination is the limit.

The event is conducted by Cary Institute for Ecosystems Studies. Students can participate individually or in groups – from two children working together, up to a whole class. Students must register by Feb. 22 to participate. Projects will be judged by scientists, artists, and educators. Cash prizes will be awarded for the top elementary, middle school, and high school projects.

The 2022 Hudson Data Jam is 100-percent virtual, with many opportunities for interactive support. Cary Educators will be hosting a series of webinars and workshops to guide advisors and students through the Data Jam experience. There will be four sessions for advisors, and one especially fo r students. These virtual presentations will help advisors and students learn about competition basics, data analysis techniques, using creative media to tell science stories and more.

Registered Data Jam participants are invited to sign-up for a 15-minute session to ask questions about their data analysis and creative projects.

Cary Institute educator Ashley Alred will be available to support student inquiries about their data analysis or creative project. These sessions will be offered on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from Feb. 7 through March 3. Students will need to register for a specific 15-minute time slot at least 24 hours in advance.

If you have questions about the competition, webinars or drop-in sessions, email Ashley Alred at alreda@caryinstitute.org.

The Palatines: Northern Dutchess County's first German immigrants

By Will Tatum

Motorists driving along Route 9G in the southern portion of the Town of Rhinebeck may occasionally notice a tall, elegant church on a hill, situated east of the highway. The more eagle-eyed observer might also catch the road sign, which reads "Wurtemburg." Upon consulting a Dutchess County Highways map, they would discover that they had passed the hamlet of Wurtemburg, a special window into 300 years of local history.

Dutchess, Northern like Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, has a bit of confusion over the Dutch. Pennsylvania Dutch, celebrated in that area for centuries, are more accurately called the Pennsylvania Deutsch, being immigrants from Germany rather than the Netherlands.

The Dutchess County version of this confusion is slightly different, owing to have both Dutch and Deutsch people living in close proximity since the early days of the colonial period. The Dutch story is well known, but the German less so, despite having played an arguably greater role in the set tlement of large sections of the county. The Dutch owned the land and the Germans cleared, built upon, and farmed it.

Our colonial-era Dutchess County Germans are a special community, called the Palatines. For readers wishing to take a deep dive into the complicated history of seventeenth- and eighteenth-century Germany (and period of multiple kingdoms and city states rather than the modern united country), I highly recommend Professor Philip Otterness's "Becoming German: The 1709 Palatine Migration to New York" (2004). Prof. Otterness spoke at the Elmendorph Inn in Red Hook (a Palatine site) a few years back. His book is engaging and illuminating. The Palatine Migration to America, elements of which arrived in Pennsylvania as well as New York, began as a response to nearly a century of war in Germany, ranging from the Thirty Years War to the War of the Spanish Succession. The people who pulled up stakes in the Rhineland to make a difficult journey to the Hudson Valley were largely men, tired of seeing their communities burned by one army or another. A complicated piece of early tourism literature also played a role in the migration, but that's a story for another time.

Arriving in America In 1710, roughly 3,000 Palatine Germans arrived in what is today southern Columbia County, what was then Livingston Manor. They had signed a contract with the British government to create naval stores (all of the various materials one can extract from pine trees that are essential for running a woodenship navy) in exchange for land.

Unfortunately, it turned out that New York's pine trees were the wrong species, so no usable tar, pitch, or other sticky, aromatic compounds could be extracted. The Royal government quickly abandoned the Palatines after recognizing this critical flaw in the plan.

The German group split, with some parties heading further west to the Mohawk Valley and the Schoharie Valley, while others crossed the Hudson to set up new settlements. A few stayed in place, founding what is today East Camp and Germantown. The final group headed south to Dutchess County, where Henry Beekman needed willing hands to turn wilderness into profitable farmland. Spreading in a southerly arc, Palatine families established small farming enclaves across much of northern Dutchess, from modern Red Hook and Rhinebeck to Amenia. Some families made it as far south as Dover and Pawling. Many of the pre-Revolutionary War era buildings and sites in these towns have some connection to the Palatines. Within a few generations, their work had expanded from creating new farms to running a variety of businesses.

Driving down Route 9 today, one can still see the marks they left on the landscape: the Elmendorph Inn, the Old Stone Church, the Palatine Farmstead, and finally the burial ground at Old Rhinebeck, just north of the Route 9/9G intersection. The family names are still here as well: once a family arrives in Dutchess, they tend to stay, even three

Despite the importance of the Palatines for understanding the development of Dutchess County, relatively little has been written on their work here. In addition to Otterness's book (which does not focus exclusively on Dutchess), one can read Mark D. Isaacs "The 250th Anniversary History of St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Wurtemburg, Rhinebeck, New York," available on

Roots of St. Paul's Church

The long-serving pastor of the church that motorists can clearly see from Route 9G, Reverend Isaacs spent years combing through archival material and visiting multiple sites in Germany to learn more about the Palatines who established his congregation. The exact roots of St. Paul's, however, remain shrouded in some mystery due to a lack of surviving sources. It may have begun to the west, near where Mills Cross Road intersects with Route 9, early in the eighteenth century. The first firm evidence for its establishment at the current site comes from the late 1750s.

In either case, the congregation and the farming community they established is old and has remained largely untouched by development. A drive up or down Wurtemburg Road (not recommended during winter conditions) will present a string of old farm houses, barns, and other surviving evidence of centuries of cultivation, with the church and its burial grounds at the center.

Little has changed in the line of that road since Morgan Lewis's surveyors laid out a map of the area in 1802, which is now in the possession of the Rhinebeck Historical Society. While written source material is not as widespread as the Palatine settlements were, communities like Wurtemburg provide a vital window to better understanding our county's deep German heritage.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church Wurtemburg is located just off Route 9G in the Town of Rhinebeck.

If you want to learn more about the history of Wurtemburg, tune in to the Rhinebeck Historical Society's program on Friday, Feb. 25, at 7 p.m., free and readily accessible via Zoom. Using Morgan Lewis's 1802 map as a starting point, I will trace what we currently know about the settlement and development of the hamlet, including some thoughts on how the Palatines continue to impact county

Don't go skiing

Luigi's ego isn't the only thing that gets bruised.

When I was younger, I loved to go skiing. I remember when I got my first set skis I went to every local mountain. Of course, the more I skied, the better I got; the better I got, the harder the trail I would go down. The harder the trail, the better your ego felt.

As I got older and started getting more and more responsibilities at the restaurant, Pop's disapproval of my hobby grew. He felt it was too dangerous.

"You dunt understand. If a you a getta hurt how you gonna work," he would tell me. Of course, I thought I was the second coming of Bode Miller and didn't think anything would happen to me.

One day, my future wife, Lisa, and I went skiing with my brother Anthony and his wife Liz. Everything was fine, we enjoyed the day immensely and skied down numerous trails. Had a wonderful lunch in the ski lodge and had a great time. Of course, our last run was the one that ruined the day.

On our last run, we decided to take the wraparound, which is a very easy trail, just to finish the day on an leisurely note. You know, don't push yourself, take it easy. During the ski down, Lisa hit an ice patch and fell down. Me, the chivalrous boyfriend, stopped to help her. Unfortunately, as I stopped my skis hit a patch of ice, also, and down I went. Not only did I fall down, I was carried down the side of the trail, over the ridge, out of bounds, down a bunch of rocks and settled in a pricker patch about 20 feet from the top. My snow pants were ripped during the slide down, and I had prickers and gravel embedded in my ego. My left ego, to be exact.

I felt my body to make sure nothing was broken, felt the bottom of my ego and saw

I shook the cobwebs out of my head and started to crawl up the side of the mountain dragging my skis and bloody ... ego. As I put some distance from the prickers and realized I had escaped with only a minor injury to my ... ego, I heard my father's voice in my head.

"Youa stupid. I told you, I told you. Now you hava to go toa the doctor to getta your ego stitched up and how you gonna work. You no listena to me. You never listen."

I made it to the top of the ridge. Out of breath. I threw my skis over the top of the ridge, which I had been dragging up with me, and climbed the rest of the way. As I started to focus, I noticed these two ski patrol men checking on my girlfriend making sure she was OK. I've got gravel stuck in my ... ego and they're making sure that she's OK?

We made it to the bottom of the trail. As my ego started to warm up it really started to hurt. I could hear my father yelling at me. I had to ride in the back seat of the car on my knees because I had tore up my ... ego, pretty good. The entire way home, my sister-in-law Liz couldn't stop laughing. All she kept saying was, "I looked up you were there, then I blinked and you weren't. Then I saw you crawling up."

When we got home, I had my future mother-in-law, who was a nurse, look at my ego and clean the stones and prickers out. I went to work the next day and made sure to not limp or show any signs of pain because I didn't want to hear my father tell me, I told you so.

Needless to say, I never skied again.

When it gets really cold out, my ego still hurts a little. Enjoy this recipe for a hearty winter soup to warm your ego. Buon Appetitto!

Winter Soup

Ingredients

1 cup cubed chicken 1/2 cup browned diced sausage 1 whole medium onion (diced) 1 tablespoon minced garlic 16 ounces chicken broth 16 ounces heavy cream 1 cup sliced carrots 10 oz. fresh kale 2 cups cheese tortellini (frozen) 2 teaspoons fresh basil

1 teaspoon olive oil

add grated Parmesan (for a topping before serving)

Method

Sauté onion and carrot in 1 teaspoon olive oil until onion is translucent and carrot is tender. Add the sausage and basil and continue to sauteed for 2-3 minutes.

Add the chicken broth and tortellini and bring to a boil. Boil about 5 minutes. Turn the heat down and add the kale and chicken chunks and heavy cream. Cook 2 to 3 more minutes. Remove from heat, serve in bowls topped with grated Parmesan Serve with a glass of pinot grigio and, of course, a nice crusty loaf of bread.

The 64 Cent Tomato

Some money-saving vegetables to grow at home

Can you save money by growing your own fresh vegetables? Food prices are rising – 6.5 percent higher than a year ago. It costs $18,000 to ship a trailer load of fresh produce from the West Coast. That works out to $19 per box of apples and 85 costs for a head of letting (21,120 heads) cents for a head of lettuce (21,120 heads per truck), for the transportation alone. So why not grow your own lettuce, saving at least half the $1.99 per head retail price?

William Alexander tried it, and concluded that it cost him $64 to grow a tomato. I just reread his 2006 best seller "The $64 Tomato, How One Man Nearly Lost His Sanity, Spent a Fortune, and Endured an Existential Crisis in the Quest for the Perfect Garden." The author, working full time as an IT professional, moved with his family from Yonkers to Cornwall, N.Y. ("The town that time forgot.") Like a lot of big city transplants, he built a way-too-big garden and then wrote a way-too-cute book about it.

When he gets around to calculating the cost of his tomato, on page 249, the math is flawed, since he subtracted the value of all the other produce from his costs before he gets to the bottom line. Hence, it costs $64 to grow a tomato.

I beg to differ. You can save tons of money growing your own fresh vegeta-bles, especially if you want organic produce. Unless you grow in containers on a patio, you'll need a fence – a one-time investment of about $3,000 (installed) for a 15-foot by 15-foot garden, which will be plenty big enough to enjoy without becoming a chore. Figure it will last 10 years, or $300 a year. You might want to invest in a Mantis tiller ($400), a rake and a hoe. All other costs will be minimal.

Here are my top money-saving vegetables to grow at home:

• Beets – Assuming you like beets, I figure this as the #1 money saver. The seed can be sown directly into the garden. A packet of 350 seeds costs $5.15 from Johnny's Selected Seeds. Beets are easy to grow and weed and are never attacked by pests. You can eat the tops (beet greens) starting in May, and harvest the beets from June through November. If you get a hundred beets, you've saved

$95 off the retail price.

• Carrots – Similar to beets in care, except they're much harder to weed. Once you've gotten the weeds out of the carrot patch, you'll get dozens of meals for the price of one packet of 750 seeds ($5.15), with the added advantage that everyone likes carrots.

• Parsley - The seed is hard to germinate. It should probably be started indoors, in a sunny window, before planting outside. Parsley grows great in containers on the porch. The big advantage of growing your own parsley is that it's always available when you need a garnish, so you don't have to buy a whole bunch for $1.99 and throw most of it away.

• Broccoli – Maybe the most popular vegetable, especially if you eat regularly at Applebee's. The seed can be sown indoors in March ($5.15 for 100), but the resulting seedlings grow too tall and spindly if you don't give them a lot of light. (Cost of a grow light set up $49.95). A good size head of broccoli can cost $2.29. You'll need to invest in a bottle of organic spray or a row cover to control the green worms.

• Beans – Easy to grow from seed sown right into the garden (175 seeds for $5.15). Don't plant too much at once or you won't be able to eat them fast enough. Freezing some of them will not save you anything, as frozen green beans are much cheaper than fresh ones - $1.49 per pound vs. $1.99. (The prices I quote are from a supermarket this week). Sow several small plantings a couple of weeks apart.

• Zucchini – Although it has a reputation for producing mountains of squash, I don't count zucchini as a very good money saver. For one thing, one plant will produce over a short time. And, who wants to eat zucchini every day for two weeks? Also, if you ask around, you can probably find a neighbor who will give you all the zucchini you want for free.

• Tomatoes – If you want real good tomatoes, you need to grow your own Brandywines, Black Krims or Sun Gold cherries, or else pay $8 a pound at a farmers market. The seeds of these heirloom varieties are cheap (250 seeds for $7.50, and they keep for a few years). You should be able to buy the transplants at a garden center for less than $5 each. Maybe invest in a copper-based organic spray to prevent blight, and you're in business. If you get eight tomatoes from a plant, they cost 64 cents each. Then again, if inflation keeps going, a $64 tomato might not sound so bad some day.

If you enjoy opera and classical music then be sure to mark your calendar for our noon

Lunch and Learn program on Thursday, Feb. 17. Join us for a performance by a talented American Mezzo-Soprano who has performed with the NYC Opera, American Symphony Orchestra, The Wooster Group; on stages of Carnegie Hall, The Mann Center, London's West End; and at festivals around the world. A complimentary light lunch will follow her performance. Thank you to the Poughkeepsie Route 9 Stop&Shop for their continued support. Drive-thru 'Cookie 'Walk' for Love Inc. set Feb. 12 in Poughkeepsie

As in 2021, the Annual Love INC Cookie Walk will be exclusively a drivethru experience. The much-anticipated event on Feb. 12 runs from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Poughkeepsie United Methodist Church, 2381 New Hackensack Road (Route 376) in Poughkeepsie.

"We know people would love to pick out their favorites from the hundreds of dozens of cookies, but we promise to prepack a wonderful variety in each box, and this way people don't even have to get out of their cars," commented event coordinator Katherine Betz.

This is the 14th year for the Mid-Hudson Love INC Cookie Walk, which is always held the Saturday before Valentine's Day. It showcases the recipes and decorating skills of many volunteer bakers who donate hundreds of pounds of handmade gourmet cookies. The treats are carefully pre-packaged into one-and-a-quarter pound bakery boxes following health and safety protocols. Boxes are available curbside for a donation of $10 each. While supplies last, specialty boxes such as Gluten-Free or Mostly Chocolate will also be offered.

Betz added that "it's pretty awesome to see how this event turns cookie dough into bankable dough!" Proceeds from the innovative Drive-Thru Cookie "Walk" will benefit the ministry work of local churches through Mid-Hudson Love In the Name of Christ. Mid-Hudson Love INC helps local families struggling against poverty, providing personal attention, skill-building classes, and tangible goods such as personal care items, linens, and furniture.

Pick up some treats for your sweetheart, your family, the office, a neighbor, or a friend, and know that your financial donation offers a helping hand to someone in need. For further information about Mid-Hudson Love INC, visit the website at www.mid-hudsonloveinc.org or call 845-471-0102.
