

Eight candidates vying for WCSD school board positions

Compiled by Kristine Coulter
The Wappingers Central School District (WCSD) budget vote and vote for Board of Education members is set for May 17. The polls will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. There are three seats on the ballot. Each seat is a three-year term.
The following are the candidates' responses to why they are running for the board and what they would focus on as a member of the board. The answers follow in alphabetical order by candidates' last names.

Keri Cahill
Current board member
I am running for the school board because I am a parent of four WCSD students. As a parent I realize how important it is to have a strong voice who represents our students and our parents or caregivers. Additionally, I believe that in order to retain our district staff we must have competitive wages. Finally, as a WCSD taxpayer of 18 years, I believe that community members, especially seniors, must have proper representation to ensure fiscal conservation. I have a business background and a desire to reapportion budget items in order to more efficiently approach the business of our district.

If elected, I will focus on protecting our rights as parents and caregivers to decide what is best for the children in our care. We parents and caregivers are the best source for choosing what is best for our children whether it is medical intervention or emotional development. I will do this in the spirit of getting back to the basics in our school buildings. I believe that children should learn the core subjects in school and all other viewpoints at home with their families.

Virgil Capollari
I am running for the Wappingers Central School Board because I want to actively support the development of our students as future leaders while strengthening our community.
The parents and students and ensuring their educational needs are being met by the district. We need to support, attract and retain quality educators and support staff. Through performance benchmarking and responsible spending, we can better align resources and improve functionality. To prepare our students for the evolving needs of the 21st Century workforce, we must have:

- Fresh Ideas and Perspectives (Change in approaches and solutions)
- A Safe and Dynamic Educational Environment
- An Accessible Public Servant who Listens to and Values Feedback
- Fiscal Responsibility and Stakeholder

Accountability

- Greater Technical and Vocational Skills Programs
- No Undue Political Influence in the Classroom

My goal is to work equip our students with the education, support and skills needed for their future. As a career public servant military veteran, I understand what it means to place the needs of others above myself.

McCabe and Mack announces passing of Joseph McGowan

J. Joseph McGowan

Partners of McCabe and Mack LLP announced today that J. Joseph McGowan, a longtime attorney who recently retired after 56 years of service to the firm, has passed.

McGowan, who worked as part of the real estate, corporate, banking and secured lending team at the firm, graduated from Georgetown University in 1958 (Bachelor of Science, cum laude) and earned a Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from Harvard University Law School in 1961. After serving as Appellate Counsel (Captain) in the Office of the Judge Advocate General of the United States Army (1962-1963), he returned to his home Hudson Valley to begin a career in law that spanned nearly six decades.

The Partners stated: "We are deeply saddened by the passing of Joe McGowan. Indeed, the loss to his family, friends, our firm, and the greater community is a profound one. His intellect, insight, and incredible spirit of service made a tremendous impact on everyone who had the great privilege of working with Joe. His legacy is truly extraordinary, and we will honor that by continuing to set the bar high in all that we do, just as he always did in all areas of his own life."

In addition to McGowan's role as a longtime local attorney, he also became well-known for his commitment to community service over the years. Volunteer roles included those with organizations such as Astor Services for Children and Families (where McGowan was Trustee from 1989-2018, Trustee Emeritus 2018-present, and Board President 1992-2004), Mount Saint Mary College (Trustee 1980-1989), Community Foundations of the Hudson Valley (Board Member 2000-2011, Secretary 2006-2011), Mid-Hudson Civic Center (Board President 1984-1985), as well as service to Abilities First and the City of Poughkeepsie Planning board.

Local resident inducted into Buglers Hall of Fame

By Kristine Coulter

Local resident Dani Masterson was recently inducted in the Buglers Hall of Fame (BHOE). The ceremony took place on April 23 at the Batavia Down's Casino in Batavia, Genesee County.

"I started playing the horn when I was eight years old in the Mid-Hudson Rivermen Jr. Drum and Bugle Corps. Rivermen were out of Poughkeepsie," Masterson remarked.

A flyer at was handed out at school, Masterson recalled, that stated 'Hey kids come on Thursday nights and learn to play a bugle/ drums, or spin a flag. March in parades and make lifelong friends.' "It was free. Next thing you know, I was in Drum Corp.," she said.

"I'm truly honored and humbled to be part of this very elite group of people. I also happened to be the only female that was voted this year into the Hall of Fame for the class of 2022," said Masterson.

In order to be inducted into the BHOE, a member of the Hall of Fame has to sponsor a candidate. Then, according to Masterson, it goes to a vote after a vetting process by the committee.

WCSD candidates for BOE

Anthony Ciro DiLullo

I am running for school board first and foremost to bring God through the teachings of Jesus Christ back into public schools. I seek to restore parental rights. Children are the exclusive property of their parents, not the School District. I seek to have more skills-based learning taught such as farming and trades. I seek to educate on the Constitution. I seek to educate on the fraudulent private bank federal reserve. I seek to educate on fitness and health eating. I seek to make sure muzzles (masks) do not come back. I seek to make sure all "vaccine" mandates are done away with. The over quarter billion dollar budget is a massive concern, especially in an inflationary and recessionary environment. In addition to the above, I seek to focus on bringing Bible study to WCSD.

Ariana Dingman

I am a mother of 2 and a new candidate for the board of education.

There have been many changes in our lives the past two years and our children have had to attend school very differently at times. They had to adapt quickly to change. These changes encompassed not only how they learned with distance, masks and remote, but also a fast-changing curriculum.

Many parents voiced concern at board meetings. They felt disconnected in regards to their child's education. New protocols were happening too quickly for parents to understand and transparency was lacking. This must change. Policy makers need to engage with families. Parents must be an integral part in future discussions.

I also am concerned about what needs to be done. Polls released recently show alarming data that there has been a significant disruption to student learning. We need sensible policies and bold changes. I would advocate for the need for more academic support time on vital core subjects like math and reading. Children may need individualized learning plans, tutoring, more help for special needs and emotional supports.

I will be an advocate for parental rights and ready to work on new ways to help our kids!

Marie Johnson

Current board member

My name is Marie Johnson. I am a current Board of Education Trustee. I am running again for the board to have a chance at working on the issues I originally wanted before the Pandemic. I want to help with fostering better communication within and from our district to students, their families, our staff and all other stakeholders. I also have worked on the Capitol Improvement Committee and want to see this new project through. I have helped draft several letters with the Legislative Committee. I want to help with more Vocational programs, Mental Health programs and Special Education.

Cheryl Migatz

The short answer to why I am running for the school board is because members of the community have asked me to. My candidacy is the result of a 17-year journey in the schools. As an educator, I have always prioritized learning. As a parent, I became involved in the schools the day my older child entered kindergarten. As a community member, I have attended board meetings regularly for well over a decade to seek answers to my questions on fiscal and program issues.

Over time, this involvement led to advocacy for students and families locally and on the state level. I have battled the implementation of common core and advocated for multiple pathways to a diploma for students, for safer schools, for sports and arts programs, and for parent involvement and parent choice. Most recently, I met with community leaders and NYSED (New York State Education Department) to discuss expanding opportunities for vocational instruction and offering alternatives to Regents exams as a requirement for graduation.

As a first-time board member, I plan to prioritize the educational needs of all students and to work to:

- Improve communication between the schools, parents, and the community
- Increase opportunities for technical and vocational learning
- Revise and improve special education programs
- Work for increased fiscal responsibility in the budget

Daniel Peña

As a college professor I have noticed a steady decline in students' basic skills necessary to do well in college. I am concerned about the declining preparedness in our students for higher education and even for attaining a job.

My focus is on the basic educational needs of children. That is, the needed skills necessary for subsequent grades, college if they so desire, maintaining a job and for living their lives.

Eddy Sloshower

Current board member

I am running for re-election to the school board because there is so much more we need to do for our students. The ramifications of the COVID-19 pandemic and the necessity for virtual learning and quarantining has brought with it a whole new set of educational challenges that need to be addressed.

If I am re-elected my focus would continue to be fiscal responsibility and addressing current and future tax burdens while maintaining all extracurricular activities. I want to continue to protect the rights of our special education students and expand differentiated instruction so that all our students succeed by advocating for funding from NYS for SPED, Vocational Programs, and Mental Health and Safety. I will continue to advocate for local control to be given to districts and parents, I want to continue to improve district facilities and support district employees by providing them with access to the best resources.

I have served on the Capital Improvement Committee - Past six years & 3 as Chairperson. Created the Legislative Action Committee and have been Chairman past six years. I created and am the Board Liaison to Municipalities for the past five years. Former Chairman of the Audit Committee. Policy Committee, School Smart Bond Act Committee.

Andriello named School Bus Driver of the Year

School Bus Driver of the Year Award recipient Ronald Andriello is flanked by County, local law enforcement, safety and educational leaders at a ceremony on April 27 outside of Abilities First location in Wappinger.

By Kristine Coulter

Dutchess County resident Ronald Andriello received The Dutchess County Traffic Safety Board's School Bus Driver of the Year award. A ceremony was held on April 27, outside of the Abilities First facility, off of Myers Corners Road in Wappinger. Andriello, the 19th bus driver recognized with the award over the years, works with Mat Bus Corp./Total Transportation. Dutchess County contracts with Mat Bus Corp./Total Transportation.

Before Andriello transported students to Abilities First in Wappinger, Andriello worked for the U.S. Postal Service in the Wappingers Falls post office. He retired after more than 38 years working as a postal carrier.

"After retiring from the post office, I needed something to do," remarked Andriello. He said he did not want to work full time. He said becoming a bus driver gave him an opportunity to interact with people.

"I appreciate the kids and working with them," Andriello stated.

"We were really surprised and very honored," said Rita Andriello, Ron's wife, when they heard he would be recognized. "He really didn't think he was going to win. He really didn't expect it."

Rita Andriello noted, "It's a big responsibility that [he's] given taking children of other parents into his hands and it takes a lot of patience and care." Andriello's granddaughter Emma was also in attendance to watch as her grandfather received his award.

Gianna Nassani, general manager for Mat Bus Corp./Total Transportation, remarked, "Ron is an amazing worker. Literally, there's no other way to describe him." Nassani added: "He is cheerful and energetic."

During his remarks, Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro said that Andriello "safely transports students of all abilities to Abilities First." Molinaro presented Andriello with a gift certificate from the Culinary Institute of America. Andriello was offered congratulations from Dutchess County Legislator Joseph Cavaccini. Andriello was presented with a certificate that was from NYS Senator Sue Serino.

Dr. Jeffery Fox, CEO and President of Abilities First, said during his remarks, "I have a special place in my heart for bus drivers." He said bus drivers have been heroes.

Wappingers Central School District Superintendent Dr. Dwight Bonk said to Andriello, "I would like to congratulate you on your honor." He thanked all bus drivers. Bonk mentioned that it is bus drivers who are the "first person" the students "see in the morning and the last person they see at the end of the [school] day."

During the ceremony, Safe Stop Education Enforcement Day was highlights, which was April 28.

Molinaro remarked that Arlington Central School District (ACSD) and the WCSD have joined the County's school bus safety program, which is a partnership with Bus Patrol. Districts in the partnership with Bus Patrol, according to County leaders, are:

- Hyde Park Central School District (February),
- Arlington Central School District (February)
- Wappingers Central School District (February)
- Pawling Central School District (March)
- Pine Plains (December 2021)
- Red Hook Central School District (currently in warning period)

It was stated that County officials are in discussions with several other districts, which include the Beacon City School District, the Dover Union Free District and the Poughkeepsie City School District, about opting into the program.

To date, according to the County officials, 676 school buses have had the equipment installed on them, resulting in almost 1,400 citations (warnings and violations) being issued. The greatest occurrences of violations have taken place on Routes 9 and 9G in Hyde Park and Routes 44 and 55 in LaGrange, it was noted by officials.

For more information about the School Bus Safety Program is available on the County's website: <https://www.dutchessny.gov/Departments/Traffic-Safety/school-bus-safety.htm>.

"When I found out I was nominated, I was truly blown away and didn't think I would get in. I received a phone call a few weeks later saying that I had gotten in," she said.

What can playing an instrument do for a person?

Masterson said, "Playing an instrument helps with memory. It built confidence and gives you a sense of achievement. It relieves stress and most of all IT'S FUN!"

Masterson noted, "You never know where your musical road will lead you but for me, I've been fortunate enough to travel and play my horn all over the country. From sounding Taps on Aircraft Carriers to playing in World Championship Drum Corp shows."

Masterson said she would not be where she is today without Drum Corp.

"I absolutely have to thank Mr. and Mrs. Brown who were the founders of the Mid-Hudson Rivermen and all my amazing horn instructors over the years," said Masterson.

McCabe and Mack announces passing of Joseph McGowan

McGowan was the recipient of numerous awards, including Garden Party Honoree (Community Foundations of the Hudson Valley, 2013), Phelan Meritorious Trustee Award (Archdiocese of New York, 2012), Martin Luther King Jr. Community Service Award (Catharine Street Community Center, 2009), Serena Branson Leadership Award (Astor Services for Children and Families, 2004), and Dutchess County Bar Association Award (Gartland Award for Community Service, 2012).

McGowan lived with wife Mary, a retired certified public accountant, in the City of Poughkeepsie. He had two adult daughters, Ann and Sarah, and one granddaughter.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of Wm G. Miller & Son Funeral Home.

Here are some reflections of colleagues of McGowan.

Ellen Baker, Of Counsel at McCabe and Mack LLP: "Joe was a mentor without equal, and a good, honest, and brilliant man. I was fortunate to have worked with him for almost 40 years. Joe brought out the best in the young lawyers who worked with him. He taught us all, in a quiet unassuming manner. He set a high standard and we respected him so much that we did not want to disappoint him. Joe was always involved with charitable organizations because it was the right thing to do, not for the acclaim. He was awarded an important award from the Archdiocese of NY and never told any of us. Doing what is right is what mattered to him."

Scott D. Bergin, Partner at McCabe and Mack LLP: "Joe was the embodiment of the ideal attorney and counselor at law. He possessed superior intellect and skill and was the consummate gentleman. He was honest, humble, and decent. He was never too busy to listen to any question or concern and was always willing and happy to teach and provide valuable sage advice. Joe was universally recognized as a superior attorney but more importantly as a wonderful human being. Aside from being an excellent attorney, Joe had a genuine concern for his fellow man and giving back to the community. As an example, he served on the Board of Astor Services for Families and Children for more than 30 years. He held many positions including Chair of the Board of Trustees and devoted countless hours to help this organization. There was not a finer attorney or person than Joe."

Richard R. DuVall, Partner at McCabe and Mack LLP: "Since I arrived at McCabe and Mack 35 years ago Joe had always been a paragon of steady calm wisdom. I had clear recollections of navigating complex transactions at his side and of his cool head and steady work guiding our clients to the finish line. We were frequently up against a dozen or so lawyers from several big NYC or out of state law firms, and he was unflappable and never out gunned. That made a huge impression on me, and on McCabe and Mack. He taught us all to dig into the meat of the deal, don't be cowed by the other side, watch the ball and follow through."

Nancy Griffin, McGowan's longtime legal assistant (retired): "Joe was a man of integrity and honesty, who did the very best for his clients. Working with Joe for 45 years, I can say he was kind, patient, and had a true impact on my life."

David L. Posner, Of Counsel at McCabe and Mack LLP: "Joe always practiced law at the highest level with unparalleled dignity and grace. In the 40 years we were at McCabe and Mack together, I never once saw him ruffled or lose his composure or worse still, lose sight of the objective of the best result possible for the client. I believe the entire bar that crossed his path felt the same way."

The Honorable Albert M. Rosenblatt, Of Counsel at McCabe and Mack LLP: "Having known him as a colleague and a friend for over 50 years, Joe was the embodiment of what the public, and the firm, want in the ideal lawyer: a perfect blend of wisdom, decency, knowledge, empathy, modesty, and integrity. No client community could have been better served than by Joe McGowan. (He was also a really nice guy.)"

Invoking God's name when running for public office

To the Editor:

Political signs distributed prolifically throughout Wappingers Central School District and possibly beyond, invoking God’s name seems insincere and manipulative. Political campaigns often contain misinformation and untruths. That does not seem to be something God would want.

Additionally, this brings to mind the potential for banning books, historical teaching restrictions, gender restrictions, racism, women/men’s reproductive rights, etc.

Therefore, I will not be voting for this candidate.

Local artist, musician running for WCSD board of education

To the Editor:

My name is Ariana Dingman and I am running for the Board of Ed for Wappingers Central School District (WCSD). I also a local artist, musician and NYC marathon runner.

As a musician I play out mostly as Ariana Duo and have played at DiVine Wine in Wappingers, Farm to Table, Barton Orchards and Juan Murphy's in Poughkeepsie.

I am a mother of two in the district. I have been on three committees in WCSD, own my own graphic design firm Ariana Design, have volunteered for two years pre-pandemic at the Children’s Home in Poughkeepsie and am a member of Moms of Liberty.

I have become increasingly concerned over the past two years how quickly things are changing locally and nationally in our school system. Whether it’s changing mandates or curriculum, the accelerated pace has made it all the more vital that parents are heard.

Many school board meetings in the U.S. saw an increase of parents who felt that decisions were being made without their input or consent. The concerns brought up were legitimate. Parents need to be included in these decisions on a greater scale.

We began the pandemic understanding certain measures had to be taken but eventually saw a constant change in "science" and facts in which decisions were based on. Some had very little merit.

We saw a decrease in learning and an increase in depression/drug use amongst the youth.

Our children are our greatest asset and no one cares more about them than the parents. They need their voices to be heard and considered imperative to the process.

Our children need additional services to help them emotionally and academically; for instance, more on school social workers and tutoring.

Staff need to be properly compensated for the increase in workload.

I hope that people will give me a chance to help our schools by electing me as a new member of the Wappingers Board of Ed. I am an advocate for parents and children. I also care about concerns the staff have in what essentials they need.

Ariana Dingman
Wappinger
WCSD BOE candidate

DiLullo for Wappingers Central School District Board

To the Editor:

Our children are our future; a future which needs to be protected and nurtured. Anthony DiLullo, 32, a longtime resident of East Fishkill and current candidate for the Wappingers Central School District Board, intends to return the district to the more traditional forms of learning many in the community are familiar with.

“It will take patience and perseverance,” says Mr. DiLullo who advocates a return to basic classroom learning and a drive away from the emotional education prevalent in the district’s curriculum. Emotional learning should be accomplished at home not in the classroom. Even if the educator is trusted, the responsibility still falls to the parents to guide the mind of their child.

As a staunch proponent of parental rights, Mr. DiLullo has worked in the local community promoting the rights of parents to refuse any unconstitutional requirement forced upon their children, especially vaccinations or any other mandatory medical procedures. His yard signs and platform reflect his desire to include parents in their children’s education.

“I am running a campaign based on faith,” says Mr. DiLullo. “I believe morality has to make a comeback,” in both society and public schools. Indeed, if we are to see any change in the climate of the classroom and the system singularly tasked with the education of our future, we must look to a traditional and effective structure. The schools of the WCSD need a balance between what is learned at home and what is learned in school. Home is where the children are raised. School is where they learn practical and useful skills.

As a former small business owner and graduate of Pace University, Mr. DiLullo understands the inner workings of the School Board and can work to bring about programs and classes that encourage students to pursue trades where they can contribute to the world in ways that would not be available to someone with an expensive four-year degree. Mr. DiLullo will fight to lower the outrageous 264 million dollar budget. The proposed budget would see an increase of eight million dollars; sure to be felt by the average taxpayer, but unlikely to be reflected in the education of our children.

A genuine and caring man, Anthony DiLullo will be an important voice on the School Board and in our local community. “God willing, I hope to make a difference in the lives of the children and the community as a whole.”

Curators of historical collections like to talk about “reading” an object. By that they mean: Other than what’s just perfectly obvious, what can I learn about the significance and context of this item if I dig a little deeper and follow some clues.

A simple way to understand this process is to pull out your wallet (or today’s equivalent, your iPhone). Initially it looks pretty simple and straight forward – brown, leather, rectangular with a fold in the middle. But by going inside the wallet the curator could, in a very short period of time, learn a great deal about the owner of the wallet: Name, address, physical characteristics including a photo, medical information, shopping habits, and leisure time preferences and memberships.

A recent donation to the Dutchess County Historical Society provided a wonderful opportunity to “read” a rare piece of early American currency and lead us to a greater understanding of the politics of late 18th century Dutchess County.

Several months ago, a member contacted the Historical Society alerting us to an online auction that included what was described as “a scarce upstate New York small change note.” Knowing that the Society does not have a budget for the acquisition of items of historical interest, the member volunteered to bid on the item in the hopes of winning and donating it to our collections. His efforts were successful and shortly thereafter the two pence note arrived at Clinton House.

Note poses question

Upon first glance, the approximately 2-inch by 3-inch piece of paper seemed pretty straight forward. Printed on the front was the denomination of the coin, the date, the printer, and the ordering organization and its treasurer. But what was the Constitutional Society of Dutchess County, who were Edm. Per Lee and N. Power and why were they printing money in 1791?

In the spring of 1785, a local weekly newspaper was launched in Poughkeepsie by Nicholas Power. The 10th issue, published on October 13 included an announcement about the establishment of his printing office. It is likely that this announcement had run in each of the preceding issues of the paper. Power signed his announcement “The Public’s devoted, very humble servant.” “The Country Journal and Poughkeepsie Advertiser” was located a few doors east of the Court House and by 1791 the name of the newspaper had been shortened to “The Poughkeepsie Journal.” In 1792 Power was appointed the first Poughkeepsie post master.

At the time of the 1788 Constitutional Convention in Poughkeepsie Powers’ newspaper was the only newspaper published in New York outside of Albany and New York City. It’s likely Power had the only printing house in Dutchess at the time, so it’s not surprising to find him listed as the printer of the two pence note.

Edmund Per Lee the 2nd (1752 – 1822) was the son of a Huguenot immigrant who had found his way to America via Boston. Edmund the 1st settled in the Smithfield area of America then known as “The City,” where he kept a tavern and participated in local government. Son Edmund signed the Pledge of Association in 1775 at the age of 23 and later served in the Revolutionary War, becoming a Major-General. Following the war he continued to serve in public office as a town assessor, overseer of highways in “The City” district, and from 1794 – 1797, as town supervisor.

A unique society

The most intriguing question raised by the note was the existence of the Constitutional Society of Dutchess County. A query posed to a number of contemporary Dutchess County historians revealed that no one had ever come across any mention of this organization. As fate would have it, issues of Mr. Power’s “Country Journal and Poughkeepsie Advertiser,” would provide essential information regarding the Society. Notifications in the newspaper document that the Society was meeting regularly at least as early as 1787.

While there is no known information regarding the reason for the formation of the organization, it was likely as a result of the ongoing debate over the necessity for a Federal Constitution. The April 15th newspaper would report on the April 8, 1788 Annual Meeting, which had been held at the home of Edmund Per Lee. After the close of normal business those in attendance “took into their serious consideration, the propriety of adopting or rejecting the proposed Constitution – it being an event of the greatest importance, whereon depends our liberties, privileges, and national safety; not only ours, but unborn millions.”

It was the opinion of those present that “if the proposed Constitution is adopted, we shall involve ourselves in many difficulties incompatible with a free people.” The assembled body concluded their meeting by supporting the nominations of Judge Zephaniah Platt, General Swartwout, Melancton Smith, Ezra Thompson, Gilbert Livingston, John De Witt and Jonathan Akin to represent the county in the upcoming July Constitutional Convention. According to scholars such as Staughton Lynd, these seven men were avowed Anti-Federalists. Ironically, when the New York State Constitutional Convention was held from June 17 – July 26 of that same year, four members of that delegation voted for ratification and ensured its passage in New York.

The Society continued to meet following the convention. Announcements of meetings regularly occurred in the Poughkeepsie newspaper, and included the names of officers and meeting locations. The November 11th issue noted that a meeting was to take place at the house of Solomon Sutherland in Bangall. The notice was issued by Stephen Eno, Secretary.

By 1790, the Society was once again meeting at the house of Edmund Per Lee, and the Secretary was now Jacob Bockee. The two pence note that began this odyssey is proof that the Society was still active and influential through the January 11th date on the note.

But why were they printing money?

Copper coinage issue

The answer lies in the Copper Panic of 1789, a monetary crisis following the Revolution that was caused by the debasement and loss of confidence in copper coins, in part as a result of counterfeiting. In April 1787, the New York State Legislature passed an act regulating the circulation of copper coins and stated that “after the said first day of August next, ... any copper coin, other than of the Standard and weight aforesaid, such copper coin shall be liable to be seized.”

By 1789, New York was flooded with underweight copper coinage that was now officially illegal and the bottom fell out and panic ensued. The response from cities, businesses, banks and churches was the printing of small change notes. Known New York examples are the 1 penny church money notes issued by the trustees of the Presbyterian Congregational Church of Troy, New York on August 28, 1892, and the December 20, 1792 three pence change note issued by the Lansingburgh Museum, a library and educational institution in Rensselaer and pledged to be accepted by 27 merchants throughout the county. The Dutchess County Constitutional Society two pence small change note can now be added to that list and given that the note owned by DCHS is No. 206 we can be confident that once there were 205 others.

The final question is why, among all the organizations, businesses, churches and banks in Dutchess County in 1791 would the Dutchess County Constitutional Society be the entity to take it upon itself to order the printing of change notes?

It seems likely that the answer lies in the complex personal interrelationships that existed in the America, Stanford and North East heartland of the county where many of the Constitutional Convention delegates came from, and where the men who we now know were the officers and leaders of the Constitutional Society of Dutchess County also resided. Related by marriage, shared service in the Revolutionary War, commitment to public service as justices, and as elected officials at the state level, this group of men would have undoubtedly been one of the most powerful behind-the-scenes influencers in Dutchess County in the last years of the 18th century. Of course, they could print their own money.

There is so much more to learn about this previously unknown organization and the men who were its leaders. Imagine if this very tiny little scrap of paper had not survived the past 231 years.

Beck Way leads talented pitching staff

By Rich Thomaselli

When the New York Yankees selected a junior college pitcher in the fourth round of the 2020 Major League Draft with the 129th overall pick, nobody knew what to expect. Except the Yankees. The organization knew it was getting a hard-throwing right-hander who could be groomed as a potential starter in the Bronx someday. And right now, he's been thrilling to watch right in our backyard at Dutchess Stadium for the High Class A minor league Hudson Valley Renegades. Beck Way, who was scheduled to make his fourth start of the season on Tuesday, May 3, when the Renegades opened a six-game series at Jersey Shore, is 1-0 with a 3.77 ERA. He has 21 strikeouts in 14.1 innings and a WHIP – walks and hits per innings pitched – of 0.98. Anything at 1.00 or below is considered outstanding. Way will turn 23 in August and was drafted out of Northwest Florida Junior College. There was a method to his route through a junior college – he started at NCAA Division II Belmont Abbey

College in 2019, but his terrific showing in the famed Cape Cod Summer League made him reconsider is decision. So he transferred to Northwest Florida JC so he would be eligible for the 2020 draft. He was so dominant at that level, he was offered a scholarship to Division I Louisiana State University, but gave it up when the Yankees drafted him.

Renegades open home season with 8-4 mark

By Rich Thomaselli

Despite an 8-6 loss to the Wilmington Blue Rocks on Sunday, the Hudson Valley Renegades completed their first homestand at Dutchess Stadium of 2022 with an 8-4 record.

Wilmington struck in the top of the first against Hudson Valley starter Blane Abeyta. Omar Meregildo lined an RBI single to left to make it 1-0 Blue Rocks.

In the bottom of the second, Eric Wagaman crushed his first homer of the season, a two-run blast to left field, against Wilmington starter Matt Merrill to give Hudson Valley a 2-1 lead.

The Blue Rocks leveled it up in the top of the third on Drew Mendoza's RBI single off Abeyta. The right-hander lasted three innings, allowing two runs on six hits, striking out four and walking none.

In the bottom of the third, Aaron Palensky gave the Renegades the lead with his first home run of the season. Everson Pereira followed with an RBI single later in the inning to extend the Hudson Valley lead to 4-2.

Carson Coleman took over in relief and dominated for the Hudson Valley, firing three shutout innings, only permitting one hit, striking out four and walking none.

The Blue Rocks rallied back to take the lead against Bryan Blanton. In the top of the seventh, Yasel Antuna brought home Darren Baker with a groundout to cut the deficit to 4-3. The following inning, Jeremy Ydens blooped a two-run single to right to give Wilmington a 5-4 edge.

In the bottom of the eighth against Troy Stainbrook, Austin Wells tied the game with a towering home run to left-center, his second homer in three nights off a left-hander. Amos Willingham (1-1) entered and Hudson Valley continued its late-inning life. With two outs, Cooper Bowman doubled and Tyler Hardman singled him home to put the Renegades in front 6-5.

Wilmington bounced right back in the top of the ninth against Charlie Ruegger (0-1). Drew Mendoza banged a go-ahead two-run triple to right and Kevin Strohschein lifted a sacrifice fly to add an insurance run and make it 8-6 Blue Rocks.

Zach Brzykcy earned his second save of the series and third of the year, retiring the Renegades in order in the bottom of the ninth.

The Renegades head to Jersey Shore and were scheduled to start a six-game series on Tuesday with the BlueClaws.

GLINER'S KORNER!

Being prepared is the key for opening home season

Every week, Hudson Valley Renegades President Steve Gliner sits down with reporter Rich Thomaselli to discuss the team in particular, and minor league baseball in general.

How about some quick thoughts on getting the first homestand under your belt? It must have been a bit crazy with 12 games in 13 days.

It was, but it's great to get the season going. This is what we work the entire off-season for, to see the fruits of our labor in play. We've had a chance to evaluate and tweak some things before we get into the heart of the season. Now we'll get some time off for our staff this week.

Is there some consistency to what you do year-to-year or have there been wholesale changes to open a season now that you're a full-season Class A team and a Yankees affiliate?

When you open the ballpark, there is a checklist of things to do and things that need to be in the right place. There are some new things in terms of our operation with Major League Baseball overseeing minor league baseball. The biggest difference is pacing yourself. It's not a sprint, it's a marathon. I've heard that a lot from my years down in Florida when I opened the park for spring training and then, when the Major League team left to start the season, we began our minor league season.

How do you prep for 12 games in 13 games, though, in terms of having enough merchandise, enough food, enough beverages?

You just have to be prepared. The food and beverage is actually different than the merchandise side. Our focus on merchandise was to get in as much stuff as we could. Sweatshirts and blankets are the key items right now (laughs). The weather has been chilly, especially for night games, and we sold out of blankets (Saturday) night. For food and beverage, you have to check inventory and work with your vendors. The food and beverage is different because you go day-by-day. And you have to be aware of supply chain issues. I remember at one point last year we had a problem getting chicken tenders, of all things. They were just hard to come by. We had to check around with different suppliers. But fortunately this year things are starting to become normal again.

You mentioned that it's been chilly. From your 13 years working down in Florida, you must have gained some insight and perspective on the weather, especially with what seems like daily afternoon storms down there - and really intense storms.

Oh, I have no problem saying I'm the best weatherman I know (laughs). I got really good at it in Florida. When you have rain on weekends with big promotions, that's the kind of stuff that keeps you up at night. My last year at Fort Myers - and this was part of the reason why I wanted to come back to the Hudson Valley - we had rain in 20 of our last 26 home games in 2016. It drains you, not just physically exhausting, but having to mentally sit on your radar all day. At least up here you can watch it and know it's going to rain for the next four hours and we can make a decision with confidence. The good thing for Dutchess Stadium is that since we got the artificial turf in 2014 we only have small patches of dirt to cover.

Has anyone from the new ownership group been here yet and how have your dealings with them been so far?

They were here opening night. They really enjoyed seeing the ballpark. For most of them it was their first time here and they liked the improvements we put into place. They got to meet some of our fans and partners, and it went great.

Notes from the Town of Wappinger Supervisor

Part I: Looking at the 2010 Comprehensive Plan

In 2010, the Town of Wappinger adopted a Comprehensive Plan that reflected “the hopes and expectations of the people of Wappinger.” It created a blueprint of sorts and a framework for future regulation and development of land within the Town and including our infrastructure. New, revitalized business and community centers were also contemplated.

During the past 4+ years, I and my administration have dedicated ourselves to implementing key elements of the Comprehensive Plan in order to promote and protect the public health, safety and general welfare of our residents. Concurrently, with those goals and objectives in mind, we have sought to balance those factors with the competing needs of achieving sustainable economic growth and most importantly, maintaining town services at an affordable level. As we have witnessed, during the past several COVID-19 Pandemic years, accelerated housing patterns, many principles of the Comprehensive Plan have been challenged increasingly. In this, and my next two columns, I will discuss what we have been able to accomplish as well as the issues and opportunities still facing our community.

Unfortunately, a number of unanticipated factors have intervened to exacerbate the issues and challenges facing us. For example, COVID has harmed many families and damaged our businesses. And, Covid has weakened our health care and political systems, along with our mental welfare. We have also faced fundamental challenges to our Constitution. The prolonged war over and in/around the Ukraine region is threatening many peoples and nations with uncertain and perilous futures. The global and U.S. Supply Chains are in disarray, enabling inflation to increase its unrelenting grip on our savings and incomes. The stress on all of us is intensifying.

Despite these issues and challenges, the Town of Wappinger is in a very good position going forward. We have the ability and resources to continue to expand upon many initiatives, set forth in the Comprehensive Plan, designed to change existing conditions, regulations, processes and procedures in the Town for the betterment of our community. While we may not agree unanimously on how this is to be done, through continuous resident engagement we can make good strides in the years ahead.

Among some of the core elements of the Comprehensive Plan that we have addressed during my administration (and continue to address) are the following:

- Enhancing and securing the protection of our aquifers/water sources and ensuring sufficient supplies of quality water reserves for sustainable growth;
- Remediation of and expansion of our water and sewer infrastructure;
- Establishing measures to protect and preserve the watershed along the Wappinger Creek;
- Enhancing conservation protection of

Supervisor Richard Thurston

our remaining farmlands such as Obercreek Farms and Carnwath Farms;

- Improving road conditions along: Myers Corner Road; Old Hopewell Road; New Hackensack/All Angels Hills/Rte. 376; and paving 5-7 miles of Town roads every year;
  - Revitalization of Rte. 9 including the Alpine Commons redevelopment initiative;
  - Promoting regional cooperation through intermunicipal partnerships especially for economic and infrastructure development, Greenway Compact; etc.;
  - Recognition of and focus on our hamlets;
  - Strict enforcement of our stormwater/MS4 regulations;
  - Protecting endangered species;
  - Special initiatives to promote activities for our Veterans and Seniors and residents with special needs;
  - Except as limited for several months in 2020, maintaining full, uninterrupted Town services throughout COVID;
  - Enhanced park maintenance and improvements;
  - Initiatives to develop alternate sources of energy such as solar;
  - Creating financial stability; fiscal responsibility; long-term capital planning and improved bond ratings and
  - Close cooperation and coordination with the Wappingers Central School Tax.
- These and many more activities have amplified our commitment to make the 2010 Comprehensive Plan a reality where it makes sense in this post COVID era. Where adjustments have been made and will continue to be made, they are done in the spirit intended by the drafters of the Comprehensive Plan.
- In Part II of this series, I will focus on the issues and challenges we face going forward. In the final installment, I will discuss ‘what’s next.’
- Until soon, stay safe and remain well.

Garden club to host plant sale for Mother’s Day Saturday in Fishkill

By Kristine Coulter

Looking for a great present for mom for Mother’s Day? Stop by the Verplanck Garden Club’s annual Mother’s Day Plant Sale. The sale will be held from 9 a.m. to noon on May 7 outside of the Fishkill Town Hall, 807 Route 52, in Fishkill.

“We provide education to the community as well as to the members. We do events to support the community,” said Kathryn Bogdan, co-chair of the event along with Prudy Robisch, Deb McLiverty

During the pandemic, Bogdan said the number of members has grown. There are nearly 70 members now.

“There are a lot of people new to this area. A lot of them just started gardening and some are not knowledgeable and have so many questions,” Bogdan remarked.

So, what can one find during the sale? There will be annual, flowering baskets, herbs and house plants. Members of the garden club will also be selling some of the perennials from their own gardens.

“There’s a big emphasis on pollinator garden,” said Bogdan. Pollinator gardens focus on bees and butterflies.

There will be a local master gardener from Cornell Cooperative Extension there to assist with any questions and for ideas.

Suppliers from the local area will also be at the event.

“We try to do that to support the businesses,” said Bogdan.

Those businesses are Sunny Gardens in Wappingers Falls, Sabellico Greenhouses & Florist in East Fishkill and The New Corn Crib Greenhouse in Poughkeepsie.

“Who doesn’t love flowers,” said

James J. McGowan

POUGHKEEPSIE – James Joseph McGowan was born July 16th, 1936 to Marguerite M. (McGuire) and J. Edward McGowan. An only child, Joe grew up much beloved and happily surrounded by friends and family in Marlboro, New York. Valedictorian of his high school class, Joe headed off to Georgetown University where he was in ROTC and graduated cum laude in 1958 with a degree in Economics and Military Science. Commissioned as a second lieutenant after graduation, Joe then attended Harvard Law School, graduating in 1961. He served as Appellate Counsel (Captain) of the Office of the Judge Advocate General of the United States Army until 1963.

After meeting Mary Goldmann at a St. Patrick's Day dance in 1961, Joe and Mary married in 1964 and settled in the Hudson Valley. Shortly after returning to the area, Joe joined the law firm McCabe and Mack as the firm's first associate. He worked at McCabe and Mack for over 56 years until his retirement in December of 2021. As the firm grew, he focused on transactional law for banks tied to real estate and businesses and was grateful for the work that benefited the growth of the Hudson Valley business community. In addition to his success in the business of the firm, he placed great importance on his role as mentor to the firm's associates and staff.

Joe was an active member of the community. He served as a Trustee of Astor Services for Children and Families from 1989-2018 (Board President 1992-2004) and as Trustee Emeritus from 2018 until his death. He served Mount Saint Mary College (Trustee 1980-1989), Community Foundations of the Hudson Valley (Board Member 2000–2011, Secretary 2006-2011), Mid-Hudson Civic Center (Board President 1984-1985) as well as service to Abilities First and the City of Poughkeepsie Planning Board.

Joe was long term member of the Poughkeepsie Tennis Club where he served as President and could often be found on the tennis and squash courts. An old truck buff and history fan, he frequented antique truck shows and loved reading books on military history. More than anything else, Joe enjoyed time with his family. In addition to his wife, Mary, he is survived by his daughters Ann McGowan and Sarah McGowan and a granddaughter, Alice McGowan Cregan. Much loved and respected, he will be missed by many but none will miss him more than his family who were grateful to reap the reward his love, intelligence, kindness and honor.

Milan 'Mike' Kostrna

FISHKILL – Milan (Mike) Kostrna peacefully entered into eternal rest on April 25, 2022, surrounded by his loving wife, Irene, and his loving children, Michael and Cindy. Mike was born on September 13, 1929, in Surovce, Czechoslovakia, to Frank and Anna (Jakubickova) Kostna. After the death of his mother, Mike and his siblings, Cyril and Josephine, were raised by their grandmother, Katrina Kostranova. Mike adored his grandmother. Mike grew up in extreme poverty; his grandmother often begged for food to feed Mike, Cyril and Josephine. As a youth, Mike lived through the Nazi occupation of his homeland, digging graves for German soldiers and watching World War II unfold in his backyard. After the end of WWII, Mike's village was occupied by the Soviet Army. At the age of seventeen, Mike and his sister, Josephine, were able to join their father and stepmother in New York City, living on the Upper Eastside of Manhattan where he met a wonderful Hungarian girl whose name was Irene Timar. Mike worked very hard to improve and educate himself in his new country, even attending Brooklyn Community College, and achieving the American Dream. In 1951, Mike was drafted into the United States Army and proudly served his new country in the Korean Conflict. He was a demolitions expert in Company C of the 1343rd Engineer Combat Battalion, rising to the rank of Staff Sergeant. Mike was honorably discharged from active duty in 1953. Upon his discharge, Mike returned to the Upper Eastside to build his life and pursue his dreams. On July 2, 1955, Mike wed his sweetheart, Irene, at St. Catherine of Siena Church in Manhattan. Mike and Irene raised two wonderful children, Michael and Cindy, who adore and cherish their parents. Mike made many friends in his long life in all the places he lived, and he never hesitated to lend a hand to help his friends and neighbors. In 1968, Mike had the opportunity to finally return to Czechoslovakia with his wife and children, returning to his hometown and reuniting with his brother who he had not seen since 1947. Mike returned to Slovakia several times during his life to attend family events. As a veteran, one of the highlights of Mike's life was going on Mission 18 of the Hudson Valley Honor Flight in 2017 with his daughter Cindy as his guardian. It was truly an emotional, uplifting and amazing trip, and Mike was so happy to be recognized for his service. Mike often said that this was one of the biggest highlights of his life. In 2019, Mike's family was able to throw him an amazing 90th birthday party. Many of his oldest friends joined his family in celebrating this remarkable achievement. It was a blessed and joyful evening. Mike loved working with his hands and was proud of the house he renovated in Tappan, New York. Mike loved to garden, enjoyed playing soccer in his younger days, loved to cook and bake - he was famously known for his walnut and poppy seed rolls - and loved to tinker and repair whatever needed to be tinkered with. Mike adored his wife, his children and his grandchildren and did everything he could to provide for his family. He held several jobs in his life including steelworker, printer and head floor director. Mike was a fiercely proud Slovak, a fiercely proud American, a faithful Catholic, a proud veteran, and a loving brother, husband, father and grandfather. His family is heartbroken at his passing, but we know that he continues to watch over us. Our Dad would anything for us - no questions asked. He could very capably solve any problem, no matter how big or small, and never hesitated to reach out and help anyone. In addition to his loving wife, Irene, Mike is survived by his children, Michael and Cindy, his grandchildren, Michael and Gabriel, many nieces, nephews, grandnieces and grandnephews both in the United States and in Slovakia, as well as many friends and neighbors who he loved and who loved him in return. Visiting hours were on Friday, April 29, 2022, at the McHoul Funeral Home of Fishkill, Inc., 1089 Main Street, Fishkill, New York. The funeral Mass was celebrated by Fr. Tom Colucci at St. Mary Mother of the Church, 103 Jackson Street, Fishkill, New York. Burial immediately followed at St. Denis Cemetery, 604 Beekman Road, Hopewell Jct., New York. ## Tom Rush to bring songs and stories to the Towne Crier on May 14

By Kate Goldsmith

Tom Rush is one of America's iconic folk singer-songwriters, but he's also a humorist whose wry observations and self-deprecating jokes enhance his talent for writing, and finding, songs that aim straight for the heart – and often for the funny bone. Over 60-plus years of performing, Rush's distinctive guitar style, trademark humor and warm, expressive voice have made him both a legend and a treasure to audiences around the world.

Rush will perform at the Towne Crier Cafe in Beacon on Saturday, May 14. The show begins at 8 p.m. Tickets are $50 advance, $55 at the door; visit www.townecrier.com or call 845-855-1300 to purchase.

Performing with Rush will be Matt Nakoa, a singer-songwriter and multi-instrumentalist. The two often work together.

"He does a few songs on his own and steals the show, and I pay him to do it," Rush said.

"While attending Harvard in the 1960s (he graduated with a degree in English Literature), Rush became a fixture on the Cambridge club scene that was fertile ground for the nascent folk revival of the time. He would later be instrumental in yet another revival in the 1980s and 1990s.

"Being in Cambridge was very much in my life path, so seductive, I got drawn into it," Rush said. "It got to the point where people would actually pay me to play music. I'm still amazed at that. I get paid to have fun; how cool is that!"

He's been credited with nurturing the careers of such luminaries as James Taylor, Jackson Browne and Joni Mitchell, by performing their songs on his albums.

"I've been accused by Rolling Stone of ushering in the singer-songwriter movement," Rush said. Taylor, Browne and Mitchell – described by Rush as brilliant writers – certainly got people's attention, but Rush admits, "I wasn't looking to introduce the world to anything; I just needed new material.

He recalled meeting Mitchell in a Detroit club called the Chess Mate.

"She got up and did [some tunes] and she just blew me away," he said. "I asked her for some new songs."

Mitchell sent Rush six tunes, with No. 6 being "The Circle Game." Rush remembered Mitchell apologizing for that one, saying it wasn't very good. Of course, it has since become one of her signature tunes, covered by many artists over the years.

When asked what makes him choose a song, Rush said, "It's a tough one. It's the goose bump factor. Some songs give me goose bumps but I can't do them; they're not within my capabilities. I don't want to just copy a song. I get tired at a show or listening to an album where everything sounds the same. So I mix it up; it keeps me awake."

Rush requests that attendees bring proof of vaccination to his shows, including the May 14 show at the Towne Crier. Although it's often a sore subject among concertgoers, it's a decision he stands by.

"I'm still doing it, because I think my crowd is still worried about it [Covid]," Rush said. "It's now my policy."

Rush said he was "an early adapter" to COVID-19, having contracted it shortly into the pandemic after playing a series of shows in Florida.

"I think I got it on the airplane," he said. "I started feeling sicker and sicker. I was never hospitalized, but it was five days of feeling sicker and sicker. I don't recommend getting it."

Some of the musical trends brought about by the pandemic have been positive, Rush said. For example, he started a Patreon site, which allows artists of all types to connect with their audiences through a subscription service. Rush's "Rockport Sundays" series is available for $10 a month to subscribers, who can enjoy a new song and witty banter every week.

"Every Sunday I post a new song," said

Rush. "Often it's just me at my kitchen table. I get to be casual ... although I haven't done one in my pajamas yet."

He said he's gotten great feedback, "but I've learned that when you tell a joke to a video camera, it doesn't laugh. So it's good to get in front of real people [again]."

The interaction with his fans during the pandemic has been wonderful, Rush said.

"It's given me an incentive, an imperative to keep creating," said Rush, adding that he now has enough songs to make an album.

When asked how the pandemic has changed the entertainment industry, and how it will shape the future of the industry, Rush said, "It's a strange landscape. The future's really hard to tell. I know that the audiences I've been playing for have been so enthusiastic and positive, but for many it's the first show they've been to in many months. They've been 'up' audiences. The sub-variant also is a lot milder, hospitalizations are down, deaths are down - if you are vaccinated."

With 60 years of songs under his belt, how does Rush choose his set list?

"Well, Matt and I go up knowing what we're going to open with and close with," Rush said, but everything in between depends on gauging how the audience feels that evening.

"You have to figure out what [they like] and try to send them home happy," he said. "Not happy that it's over; wishing it was longer."

Visit www.TomRush.com for more information about Rush and the Rockport Sundays series, and to sign up for his newsletter, which he sends out "on an occasional basis."

"They're [newsletters are] a lot of fun," said Rush. "And they're free."

A speedy lesson

Luigi recalls when his mom talked her way out of a ticket

The other day I was stopped by a police officer because I had a tail light out. As I was waiting for my ticket to be processed I remembered when my mother was pulled over for speeding in front of Marist College.

My mother came into the restaurant and was mumbling to herself. She had a Price Chopper bag in her hand and threw it on the prep table. She was very clearly angry about something. Worried that she was angry with me, I chose to ignore her mood for fear of retribution.

As she walked past me she continued to mumble about something and proceeded through the dining room and into the bathroom. Amazed that she didn't even say hello, I went back to work knowing full well that when she came out of the bathroom I would be told what was wrong. I also braced myself for what I was sure was going to be a great story.

When she came out of the bathroom, she marched through the dining room, into the kitchen, and through open the swinging doors that separated the kitchen from the dining room.

The door slammed against the wall. I knew I was in for a treat.

Apparently, mom was just stopped in front of Marist College for speeding.

My mother had a bit of a lead foot. She was always in a hurry and always told us she had so much to do, even though she really didn't.

Picture the scene: My mother, who was a tiny, 5-foot 1-inch woman, was in her car, in a hurry of course, driving toward the Price Chopper on South Road to buy fresh artichokes for my father. She had her seat belt pulled tight, she was holding onto the steering wheel with her Vulcan death grip and was playing Mario Lanza on the CD player in the car.

She got by Marist College and went through a yellow light. She was in a 30 mph zone and was probably doing close to 45. Naturally, there was a police officer nearby and he proceeded to pull her over.

The conversation proceeded as follows:

Officer: License and registration please.
Mom: Why?
Officer: License and registration please.
Mom: Ia no wuzza speeding.
Officer: License and registration please.
Mom: You don't have to give me a ticket. That's OK.
Officer: License and registration please.
Mom: That's OK. Listen I gotta get the artichokes for my husband.
Officer: License and registration please.
Mom: Listen Pop is a gonna getta mad if I no get the artichokes to him on time.
Officer: Lady, please get out of the car.
Mom: Why?
Officer: Lady I'm getting mad. Please give me your license and registration or I'm gonna have to cuff you.
Mom: Why you getting so mad? Im a just going to get the artichokes for my husband? You don't have to give me a ticket. That's OK. Don't worry about it.
Officer: Lady please. Just give me your freaking license and registration.
Mom: You no understand. You don't have to give me a ticket because Pop he's a gonna get mad if Ima not back fast with the artichokes.
Officer: Please get out of the car, I have to frisk you.
Mom: No you toucha me! I know what you have in mind. You leave me alone.

Officer: Please lady just give me your license.
Mom: I tolda you. You no have to give me a ticket. That'sa OK.
Officer: Lady, If you don't give me your license, I will have to arrest you.
Mom: OK. Im a gonna give you my license but you no gonna give me a ticket OK?
Officer: Okay Lady.
Mom: You gotta promise me. OK?
Officer: I promise! Just give me the freaking license!

After a few minutes the officer came back to the car:

Officer: I just checked you out Mrs. Coppola. Everything seems OK. You've got to make sure you drive slower OK?
Mom: OK. You no giva me the ticket?
Officer: You going to drive slower?
Mom: Yeah. Don't worry.
Officer: Mrs. Coppola, please take it easy. Don't speed. I'm gonna let you go, but you take it easy OK?
Mom: Come here. (she pinches his cheek) You a gooda boy. Your mother is a proud ofa you. I no gonna speed no more.
Officer: Thanks Mrs. Coppola. Just take it easy OK?
Mom: Ya. Im a gonna take it easy as soon as I getta Pop his artichokes. Caio!

To the officer who stopped her, I am so sorry that you had to go through that. However, at least my mother said you were a good boy. Also, thank you for a sense of humor. I know you were probably ready to go crazy.

Needless to say, my mother sped to the Price Chopper got the artichokes for Pop and sped back to the restaurant. I have to say the artichokes were very good. Enjoy the recipe for Pop's Stuffed Artichokes.

Stuffed artichokes Ingredients

- 6 whole artichokes

- 3 slices Italian bread, cubed
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/8 cup chopped fresh parsley
- 1/4 cup grated Romano cheese
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
- 5 tablespoons vegetable oil, divided
- salt and pepper to taste

Directions:

1. Cut the tips of artichoke leaves to take off the pointy tips, and cut off the stems. Peel the stem with a potato peeler. Fill your sink with water and soak the artichokes for about 20 minutes. Drain and shake off excess water. Holding artichoke firmly by base, firmly slap the top of it on a hard surface like a cutting board a couple of times. This will open the artichoke so it can be stuffed.
  1. In a bowl combine bread cubes, garlic, parsley, Romano cheese, oregano, 2 tablespoons vegetable oil, salt and pepper; mix well by hand.
  1. Press about 1/2 cup of stuffing into each artichoke center. Tightly pack stuffed artichokes together in a large pan or stainless steel tray. Add enough water to reach half way up artichokes and add 3 tablespoons oil and the stem. Cover the pan with aluminum foil or a cover.
  1. Bring to a boil over high heat; reduce heat to low and simmer, for 1 hour, or until leaves pull out easily.
- Serve in a bowl with grated cheese and ladle the broth in the bowl pouring over the stuffing. Served with a wedge of Italian bread.

Expand your summer travel horizons

National parks, art venues, food tours are great opportunities

Summer will be here in two months and soon school will be out of session. Have you started thinking about how you'll spend your vacation time? Do big amusement parks still seem too overcrowded or too expensive? Or, do you feel the need to take a breath, exhale, and release the tension of the last two years?

Maybe the same beach you visit every year is starting to seem boring, even predictable. Perhaps there is something else out there in the tourism universe. You'll never know for sure if you don't look beyond what you already know. It just might be time to expand your travel horizons. Perhaps you'll discover a new activity such as hiking or even rock climbing.

I'd like to offer some suggestions of unique attractions and destinations that you may or may not have thought about trying:

If you think that National Parks are boring and that you won't enjoy spending your day wandering through trees, perhaps you should consider Olympic National Park in the state of Washington. I'll start by telling you that the Olympics were not held here. According to their website, "With nearly a million acres, you could spend weeks exploring multiple and distinctly different ecosystems, including glacier-capped mountains, old-growth temperate rain forests, and over 70 miles of wild coastline. You will enjoy nature at its purest as you explore the vast wilderness and thousands of years of human history. This is truly for any nature lover who is looking to take a breath, exhale, and even more so for someone who is looking for silence, a rare commodity in today's headset world."

America has been gifted with 420 National Parks and most tourists have visited only three parks on average. Yes, Grand Canyon is incredible, but so is Congaree in South Carolina. Never heard of it? You're not alone. This is a place for hiking, and canoeing, most intriguing is that it is a biosphere region. It's less likely to be overcrowded and more likely to be peaceful.

According to their website "The Park is proud to be part of a voluntary, collaborative partnership framework called the Congaree Biosphere Region (CBR). The CBR mission is to "foster a future that celebrates, values, and sustains the rich natural and cultural legacies of the South Carolina." I respect that and hope to see many other parks follow suit.

Are you an art lover or would like to be exposed to fine art? Perhaps you have visited MOMA – Museum of Modern Art in New York City or the Louvre in Paris, if so, this next suggestion is definitely not for you.

Indeed, if you just don't "get" art, you should consider visiting the Museum of Bad Art located in Boston. A fairly easy 4-hour drive brings you to the home of MOBA. Perhaps you'll be intrigued, at worst amused but, it will definitely be something new to you. If you're thinking that you will find children's art, paint by numbers pieces, or black velvet art, you'd be wrong. Instead, you will find the world's only museum dedicated to the collection, preservation, exhibition, and celebration of bad art in all its forms. I see this as a possible entry to the art world in an easy-to-digest, have fun looking at it, kind of experience.

The Congaree Biosphere Region in South Carolina is a great place for hiking, and canoeing.

Closet "foodies," those who eat for pleasure, will be hungry to know that there are many, many food tours across the nation. It would be difficult to pinpoint the best food tours but, one of the top states to chow down in would be New Orleans. This is a state that truly relishes its food and indeed is known for serving, shall we say, unusual dishes.

If you've got a hankering for Gator, as in alligator, you will find it here. Turtle soup, more frequently known as Caouane is also available. The sightseeing here is also fabulous. No matter the time or the day, somewhere there's a party. While, New Orleans is best known for Mardi Gras, and that is a fabulous time to visit, the state offers so much more. I would definitely suggest a Swamp Tour. This is your chance to float down a river on an airboat under the hanging Cypress branches, and possibly spot the snout of a resting gator.

There are so many other little known, yet very unique places to visit in America and many are close to home. Do some research, pack a bag, exhale and enjoy the sounds of nature.

DC Medical Reserve Corps receives national recognition

The Medical Reserve Corps of Dutchess County (MRC) have been honored by the National Medical Reserve Corps with a 2022 Community Response Award for outstanding COVID-19 vaccine response.

The Dutchess County MRC’s team of volunteers have been trained to assist existing medical response organizations and professionals to respond to large-scale disasters and events. A critical part of the County’s COVID-19 response, more than 500 volunteers contributed more than 40,000 hours – compared to 4,200 hours in all of 2019. This included giving over 22,000 hours at over 150 vaccine clinics, administering over 60,000 vaccinations to County residents at County-operated Points of Distribution (PODs) and community clinics for underserved groups in urban areas, those with limited access to transportation, and those with special needs. The MRC’s Vaccine Assistance Appointment Team (VAAT) also assisted those without access to computers or transportation arrange appointments, transportation, and other services. Additionally, MRC volunteers spent thousands of hours assisting the County’s Department of Behavioral and Community Health with contact tracing and case investigation, community outreach, delivering groceries to those in isolation, assembling thousands of items of personal protective equipment (PPE) for distribution, and more as part of the COVID-19 response.

The MRC’s rapid and successful COVID-19 vaccination response can be attributed to the extensive POD Planning Team, which developed rapid deployment training required to be completed by all members, as well as members’ years of practice successfully operating flu and other vaccination PODs throughout the county. One such clinic series was held just prior to the COVID-19 pandemic for the homeless and transient populations in the cities of Poughkeepsie and Beacon. In preparation, volunteer nurses were skill-checked and updated on their training and were thus prepared to quickly transition to administering COVID-19 vaccines.

There are individuals who watch for notices of foreclosure actions in order to unfairly profit from a homeowner's distress. You should be extremely careful about any such promises and any suggestions that you pay them a fee or sign over your deed. State law requires anyone offering such services for profit to enter into a contract which fully describes the services they will perform and fees they will charge, and which prohibits them from taking any money from you until they have completed all such promised services. We are attempting to collect a debt. Any information obtained will be used for that purpose. The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of the Honorable Christie L. # Participants walk ‘with heart’ for good cause

Participants in the 2022 Dutchess-Ulster Heart Walk enjoy a beautiful day on the Walkway Over the Hudson on April 30. Hundreds of walkers supported the American Heart Association by walking across the bridge and raising funds to fight heart disease and stroke. Donations are accepted until June 30 at DutchessUlsterHeartWalk.org. Above, Maria Gonzalez, right, and her daughter Kayla, pause for a moment on The Walkway Over the Hudson. Maria Gonzalez is the chief nursing officer at Ellenville Regional Hospital, and learned in the fall that she had a blocked circumflex artery. She now has a stent. Gonzalez shared her story during the Heart Walk. Right, Brian and Nancy Vigorita embrace at The Dutchess-Ulster Heart Walk. In July 2021, Brian Vigorita suffered sudden cardiac arrest. ## Debra Sonnenstein awarded Certified Professional Insurance Agent designation

Ulster Insurance Services, a subsidiary of Ulster Savings Bank, announced that Debra Sonnenstein was awarded the designation of Certified Professional Insurance Agent (CPIA), a professional designation conferred by the American Insurance Marketing and Sales Society (the AIMS Society). She successfully completed three Insurance Success Seminars. The CPIA designation stands for professionalism, commitment to sales training and results, and technical knowledge.

Sonnenstein of Rifton, NY, began her insurance career at her father's agency, which was sold to Ryan J. Ryan, later to become Ulster Insurance Services. For the past 19 years, she has enjoyed working and growing with the Ulster Savings team in personal lines of the bank's insurance division. Most recently, she was promoted to Senior Personal Lines Account Manager.

"I am so pleased that Debbie has received the CPIA designation," said Steve Gadaleta, VP/Ulster Insurance Services. "This prestigious recognition recognizes Debbie's up-to-date knowledge as a trusted insurance advisor by helping clients in all aspects of insurance. Her focus is on protecting her clients' assets in the most cost affordable way possible."

The AIMS Society is the only insurance organization dedicated solely to recognizing training and service quality among property and casualty insurance personnel. The mission of the AIMS Society is to improve the selling skills and insurance knowledge of its members by upgrading professionalism through information and education, which will result in providing better service to the insurance-buying public.

The heavy lines indicate areas, called cages, from one to five squares in size. Fill each cage with unique digits, counting up from 1. So for example a 2-square cage contains the numbers 1 and 2; and a 5-square cage contains the numbers from 1 to 5. Adjacent (touching) squares, even ones that touch diagonally, may never contain the same number.

Mel Brooks musical ‘Young Frankenstein’ opens at County Players on May 6

County Players, one of the longest running community theatre companies in the area is proud to present the Musical Comedy “Mel Brook’ Young Frankenstein” based upon his film with Book by Mel Brooks & Thomas Meehan, Music Lyrics by Mel Brooks, and directed by Kevin Barnes. The production opens

May 6. From the creators of the record-breaking Broadway sensation, The Producers, comes this monster new musical comedy. The comedy genius, Mel Brooks, adapts his legendarily funny film into a brilliant stage creation – Young Frankenstein! Grandson of the infamous Victor Frankenstein, Frederick Frankenstein, (pronounced “Fronk-en-steen”) inherits his family’s estate in Transylvania. With the help of a hunchbacked sidekick, Igor, (pronounced “Eye-gore”), and a leggy lab assistant, Inga (pronounced normally), Frederick finds himself in the mad scientist shoes of his ancestors. “It’s alive!” he exclaims as he brings to life a creature to rival his grandfather’s. Eventually, of course, the monster escapes and hilarity continuously abounds.

The cast showcases the local talents representing communities throughout the Hudson Valley, featuring: Laura Seaman, Stephanie Blake, Connie Boden, Mike Boden, John Carter, Joseph DeAngelo, Sam Eisenbaum, Matt Fields, Michael Frohnhoefer, Michele George, Liisa Henry, Karen Hoben, Macy McKnight, Mark Moody, Glen Morrice, James Neithardt, Duane Joseph Olson, Dylan Parkin, Jenn Propfe, Howie Riggs, Ed Ringwood, Peggy Ringwood, Amy Schaffer, and Scott Woolley.

Director Barnes said, “I’ve used “Young Frankenstein” as part of my personal comic lexicon since seeing the film (in a movie theater in the 70’s!), so bringing it to life, so to speak, on the stage has given me, our cast, and crew the opportunity to really experience Mel Brooks’ comedy in very personal ways. Come see the monster we’re building in Wappingers Falls!”

Performances will be held Friday and Saturday May 6, 7, 13, 14, 20, & 21 at
