SOLVING FOOD INSECURITY

Fishkill community holds food drive for local pantry

By Kristine Coulter

A food drive for the Fishkill Food Pantry was held recently at the Fishkill Town Hall, 807 Route 52, and at the pantry, 717 Route 9 in Fishkill. Donations were dropped off at both locations. According to information about the event, "the need in our area is growing every day."

The Fishkill Food Pantry serves the local communities, including Beacon, Fishkill, Glenham, East Fishkill, Wappingers Falls, Hugsonville, Chelsea, Beekman, Stormville, Pawling, Poughquag, and Cold Spring, which is in Putnam County.

Some of the items that were needed were fresh vegetables, canned tuna, pasta, stuffing, rice, cereal, healthy snacks, canned fruit, coffee, tea and toiletries.

Ed Colon, who is with the Fishkill Food Pantry, was at the Fishkill Town Hall during the recent food drive. He also made a presentation during the Fishkill Town Board's meeting at the town hall on July 3. He spoke about the need for donations and about those who go hungry in the local area. During that meeting, a resident and business owner in Fishkill, who recently experienced the death of a relative, donated $500 to the Fishkill Food Pantry after hearing Colon speak.

Town of Fishkill Supervisor Ozzy Albra said during the meeting the volunteers from the pantry would be allowed to use the front of the town hall parking lot for the food drive collection.

"It is a moment like this that helps to remind us that we are a close-knit community and blessed to be surrounded by so many good neighbors willing to help others," it was posted on the Town's social media pages.

During the food drive, members of Family Dinner Night made a monetary contribution and dropped off donations.

According to its site, Family Dinner Night is the philanthropic arm of Cooked Perfect Meatballs and asks one to "Take the Pledge to have One More Meal A Week with your Family!"

"We know families are busy and have busy schedules," said Kate Page, director of communications for the New York location.

Some of the members heard about the food drive and came together to deliver the donations.

"I'm just so thrilled that residents and several businesses and this wonderful organization (Family Dinner Night) are coming forward to donate," said Village of Fishkill Mayor Kathy Martin.

Zolzer leaves
Renegades, plans
new role at Pamal

Rick Zolzer

By Rich Thomaselli

Perhaps the most recognizable face of the Hudson Valley Renegades has resigned.

The popular Rick Zolzer, who has served as the public address announcer and later a vice president of the minor league baseball franchise since its inception, has stepped down.

He has been with the team since it first moved to the Hudson Valley from Erie, PA, in 1994, save for one year when the club tried a new public address announcer in Lisa Morris.

Zolzer made the initial announcement last week in a Facebook post, writing:

"First, I would like to say that I have utmost respect for the Hudson Valley Renegades organization. I have always wanted to retire as a Renegade, but unfortunately this is no longer an option. But I am and always will be a Renegade. For the last 28 years, I accomplished so many things including raising a ton of money, entertaining over 3 million people, dealt with great partners, sponsors and spread the overall message of the Renegades. I always made it a point to make sure the Renegades were a place where friends, families and businesses could go to have fun and create memories that last a lifetime. I believe this is still the case. I will always believe in the staff that is there now and their ability to carry the ball into the future. Please do not boycott the Renegades. Please continue to support them. They remain the single best family entertainment option EVER in the Hudson Valley so please continue to support the 'Gades. If you know me, know that this is not my last stop. I am not retiring or giving up - Stay tuned for my next message in about 24 hours!!!!"

It took him less than a week to find a new gig.

'No One Rocks Alone' Music Festival set for Saturday in Wappinger

By Kristine Coulter

James's Warriors will host "No One Rocks Alone" Music Festival on Saturday, July 27 from noon – 9:30 p.m. at Brexel-Schlathaus Park, 127 All Angels Road, in Wappinger.

The event is to honor James Thomas.

Donna Thomas, James's mother, explained about the use of the ';' in the name of the charity. "The semicolon is a symbol of hope for those who are struggling with mental health and thoughts of suicide. It helps serve as a reminder that your story isn't over yet, and you can share your story without shame. A semicolon is used when a writer could have chosen to end their sentence but chose not to. You are the writer, and the sentence is you. Your life can continue. Your life matters and you are someone's blessing."

During the festival there will be six bands performing and couple of guests doing songs in between the bands, said Thomas. There will be a selection of food trucks, face painting and henna artist, as well as a few raffles throughout the day, according to Impact PR & Communications. The bands set to perform include Circle 65, Pandemonium, Follow Suit, Jimmy Lee Duo, Big Ang Music, and The Differents.

"I hope people will learn that as a community we must be open to talking about mental health and supporting those who struggle. This is how we can change the stigma associated with mental health illnesses. I also believe that when people who are struggling or people who have lost a person to death by suicide, seeing people in the community supporting a suicide prevention organization gives hope and reduces shame. It helps you to believe that there are people who truly care," remarked Thomas.

Thomas was able to describe the type of person her son was.

"As James's mother I can tell you if you were to ask people to describe James, one word they would say, he was funny. And he was! He was never diagnosed with a mental health illness. He hid this from his family and friends. I can only imagine what a burden this must have been for him. This is why James's Warriors was founded. To hopefully help people to come forward with their feelings and in return save lives," said Thomas.

Donna Thomas with her son, James. Donna Thomas founded James's Warriors in honor of her son. There will be a music festival on July 27 in the Town of Wappinger to raise funds James's Warriors.

Wappinger Town Supervisor Joseph Cavaccini was a friend of James.

"As we come together for the "No One Rocks Alone" Music Festival, I am deeply moved by the opportunity to honor the memory of my childhood friend, James Thomas. This event, jointly hosted in collaboration with James's Warriors, is more than just a celebration of music—it's a crucial step toward breaking the stigma surrounding suicide and mental illness. Through education and community engagement, we hope to foster a more compassionate and supportive environment for those struggling with mental health challenges. Let us rock together in solidarity at Brexel-Schlathaus Park, ensuring that no one faces their battles alone," Cavaccini remarked.

Thomas said those with James's Warriors are grateful for the community's support.

"It's hard to get funding as myself and my board do not take a salary. And to be honest, I think it's hard for companies to attach themselves, and sponsor our events. Suicide is an ugly topic but one that needs to be talked about more. I think the companies who do sponsor our events are brave. They give back to the community in ways many are afraid to do. We are so appreciative of all the people who have given donations, given their time, read our post on social media. We know without them, we couldn't carry out our mission to reduce the number of deaths by suicide," said Thomas.

Zolzer leaves Renegades, plans new role at Pamal

"I have stayed off of FB since my big announcement, because my original plan was to use the next night to post why someone should hire me," he wrote in a follow-up post on Facebook. "Well the original post garnered around 12 job offers (that I wasn't expecting) and as of (Thursday) I had it narrowed down to 2. I made my official decision about an hour ago. Starting Monday I will begin a brand new chapter with my longtime friend Chuck Benfer at Pamal Broadcasting - He is building an actual Sports Network of stations that will carry Army Football, Basketball, Hockey and Currently the Renegades...He wants me to help with that process, be the face of it, sell it and add a live sports talk show to the mix, so I will be back on the air too. There is honestly no way to express how overwhelmed I have been at the tsunami of love and support I have received from my circles of influence since leaving the 'Gades. Thank you to each and every one that commented on the original post, texted, called or emailed me....WOW!!! ... For the final time EVER - "Good Night, Drive Safe and God Bless America - I'm Rick Zolzer!!!!"

Hudson Valley General Manager Zach Betkowski told the Southern Dutchess News that the public address announcer position will be filled on a rotating basis for the rest of the year.

Zolzer has long been a champion of minor league baseball and advocated to bring the franchise here when he was a disk jockey at WPDH Radio.

Dedication ceremony for the Zone Sgt. James G. Sweeney Memorial Bridge

A dedication ceremony of the Zone Sergeant James G Sweeney Memorial Bridge recently took place on I-84.

New York State officials hosted a dedication ceremony of an overpass on Interstate 84 honoring Zone Sergeant James G. Sweeney, a decorated September 11, 2001 first responder and former New York State Trooper from the Town of Wappinger. Sweeney died in March of 2021 at the age of 68.

The dedication ceremony was held at the overpass accessible from Lime Kiln Road in the Town of East Fishkill.

Assemblyman Anil Beephan Jr. stated, "I am proud that this was my first piece of legislation passed in the NYS Assembly last year; it is a tribute to Jim and to all those affected by 9/11-related illnesses."

"Honoring Zone Sergeant James Sweeney with a bridge named in his memory underscores the profound debt we owe to those who sacrificed so much on and the years following September 11, 2001. His bravery and dedication as a first responder and New York State Trooper exemplify the courage and selflessness that define this very community. On behalf of all in our Town of Wappinger, we forever keep Jim's wife Noreen and his family in our prayers, and we are grateful for this recognition by the State of New York. It is a truly fitting tribute to his legacy and a reminder of the enduring impact of his service," Town of Wappinger Supervisor Joseph Cavaccini told Southern Dutchess News.

"Sgt. Sweeney's dedication and sacrifice epitomize the highest standards of public service, and this memorial bridge will serve as a lasting testament to his extraordinary contributions," said Beephan.

NYS Senator Rob Rolison, Assemblyman Anil Beephan Jr. and Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino gathered with the Sweeney family for the dedication ceremony for the Zone Sergeant James G Sweeney Memorial Bridge on I-84.

Sweeney "joined the NYPD (New York Police Department) in 1974 and was furloughed in 1975 during New York City's fiscal crisis. He then began his gratifying career with the New York State Police, attaining the rank of Zone Sergeant. One of his proudest achievements on the job was lobbying the NY State Senate and Governor [George] Pataki to rename two overpasses in memoriam to two of his fallen colleagues. He was a proud member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Fraternal Order of Police, the International Police Association and the Knights of Columbus," according to his obituary.

Sweeney and his wife had four children, Elizabeth, Kevin, Katie and Shannan.

"Zone Sergeant Sweeney's life was ordered and defined by service to his community and his state," remarked NYS Senator Rob Rolison said. "As a former Town of Poughkeepsie police officer who knew Sergeant Sweeney, I am honored to carry this bicameral legislation along with my colleague and friend Assemblyman Beephan designating an East Fishkill bridge and stretch of state highway in his memory. We must continue to support and honor those who sacrifice to protect us."

Serino announces Youth Wellness Support Microgrants

Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino announced on July 18 a new grant opportunity: the Youth Wellness Support Microgrant program. Grants up to $20K each will fund local programs that offer activities that build strong well-being and deter young people from developing substance use issues and other destructive behaviors, and setting them up for successful, healthy futures as adults.

Serino said, "Our young people have always been, and must continue to be, a priority for all of us in Dutchess County. With our new Youth Wellness Support Microgrants, we are excited to encourage creative, youth-oriented programming and messaging that can nurture our young people and help them avoid the pitfalls of substance use. Ensuring they have activities and programming to bolster their health and well-being builds a healthier community for generations to come."

The Youth Wellness Support Microgrant program seeks proposals from nonprofit organizations, municipalities and grassroots organizations that offer specific programs benefiting youth, with evidence-based wellness activities that help reduce the risk of substance use for children and young adults under age 25. Grant awards can range from $5,000 to $19,000 per recipient, with a total of $200,000 available. Funding for the Youth Wellness Support Microgrant program is through opioid settlement funds obtained as a result of litigation against the pharmaceutical industry. Grant applications are now available online via Dutchess County's online grant portal (<https://www.grantinterface.com/Home/LogOn?urlkey=dc>) and will be accepted on a rolling basis while funds are available.

The 2024 Youth Wellness Support Microgrant Program focuses on several key areas targeting preventing young people from developing substance use disorders and safeguarding their mental wellness:

1. Prevention
 2. Public Awareness Activities
 3. Social Media Awareness and Safe Use
- Grant proposals should reflect one or more of these focus areas. Creative ideas that have demonstrated success are encouraged.

Youth Wellness Support Microgrant Program instructions and guidance is available online at www.dutchessny.gov; applicants must ensure compliance with Dutchess County's Procurement Policies and Procedures. For more information on the grant program and application process, please contact Sandi Pierson at spierson@dutchessny.gov.

Fair, honest and provable elections are needed

To the Editor:

November 5th, 2024, Election Day, is fast approaching.

We the People of New York State must have fair, honest and provable elections. With many states "spot-lighting" their voter rolls, and the lack of control by each state to maintain accurate voter information, NYS voter rolls are no different, in fact horrendous.

NYS is NOT following Federal Election Law process. The National Voter Registration Act of 1993 demands "accurate and current voter registration rolls are maintained" NYS voter rolls are not accurate or current. (New York State Legislature Fails to Address Catastrophic Breach of State NYSVoter Rolls <https://www.thegatewayspundit.com/2023/06/new-york-state-legislature-fails-address-catastrophic-breach/>)

The Help America Vote Act of 2002 demands "every legally registered voter is assigned a unique identifier." NYS voter rolls have voters with multiple voter IDs. Time is running out, we must have a remedy. The election process is very simple. You have a voter, a vote cast, and a vote counted. Legislation must be passed defining the accuracy rate for voter registration, operational controls and tabulation, and a process by which an end-to-end audit would be triggered in elections - in the meantime, an end-to-end audit of the 2022 election.

Polls show almost 80% of Americans want a voter ID, and our NYS officials frown greatly on this. Other countries use a thumbprint with ID before allowing citizens to vote, hence not allowing illegal voters to cancel out a legal voter's choice.

I volunteer with NY Citizens Audit (AuditNY.com). Our data findings have been brought to the attention of all who should be concerned. Their response is AG James bringing litigation against us, but no one has ever refuted the analysis, or asked to speak with us. How can an election be certified with a system error rate of over 10%, and with election results as close as they have been, how can we say who is sitting in office has legitimately been elected?

Community Foundations of the Hudson Valley announces new chair, trustees

-Courtesy photos

The Community Foundations of the Hudson Valley (CFHV) announce the appointment of Robert J. Cotter as the new Chairperson of the Board of Trustees. G. Angela Henry and Mary Etta Schneider will join the Board as Trustees.

CFHV's President and CEO, Laura Washington, expressed her enthusiasm, sharing, "I am delighted to welcome our new Board Chair and two new esteemed Trustees. We are honored to have such accomplished and dedicated individuals on our Board. Their collective expertise will be instrumental as we advance our strategic initiatives and address the evolving needs of our Hudson Valley communities."

Cotter, previously First Vice Chair, has been an active Board member since 2020. He succeeds Chip Simon, who has served as Board Chair since 2022, and who will remain a Trustee. A longtime resident of the Hudson Valley, Cotter brings over 30 years of leadership and strategic planning experience from his tenure at IBM in Poughkeepsie. Bob's extensive volunteer work includes contributions to Guiding Eyes for the Blind and F.I.S.H. Philipstown. "We are in an exciting time. We are on the verge of getting to the next level, which means having an even greater impact on all three counties we serve. As a Hudson Valley native, I am really excited to see how we can better work with the community for positive change."

Simon, who penned the Community Foundations mission — "Inspiring and celebrating local charitable giving and civic engagement" and was key in the development of the strategic plan said, "The Foundations is in excellent hands with Bob in the role of Board Chair. During the last two years he has been a member of the CFHV Executive Committee. He spearheaded the Transition Task Force that ultimately identified and selected our current President & CEO, and he made significant contributions as head of our HR Committee. Add to this Bob's innate ability to connect with people and you have a Board Chair who is ready and able to help the Foundations move forward with its strategic plan and expand its role as a community leader."

Dutchess County resident Henry is an accomplished actor and voice - over artist, she is a popular emcee at fundraising events. Henry has a resume of philanthropic endeavors. She served as the COO for the International Women's Health Coalition and was also Director of Operations at the Mali office for CARE. She currently serves as the Executive Director for the Poughkeepsie Public Schools Foundation, where she helps raise money to help bridge opportunity gaps in the Poughkeepsie school district. Henry's deep-rooted community involvement will be invaluable to CFHV. "Community Foundations play an increasingly important role in the lives of their partners, and CFHV is no exception. It is an honor and privilege to serve alongside the highly engaged and committed members of the CFHV Board, and it is exciting to be on the forefront of meaningful impact in our three-county region."

Schneider, a former banking executive with a career at Citibank and Bank of America, currently serves as Board Chair of Historic Huguenot Street. Schneider has also been a dedicated volunteer with the Hudson River Valley Institute at Marist, the SUNY New Paltz Foundation Board, and the Metropolitan Opera. Schneider's extensive experience and insights will greatly benefit the CFHV Board of Trustees. "Some of the primary functions of the Board are to provide good governance and oversight as well as to support the Chief Executive Officer in execution of the organization's strategic plan. I look forward to leveraging my business background to help move the organization forward."

The loss of small family dairy farms in Pine Plains

This map identifies some of the dairy farms that used to populate all of Pine Plains, given the convenience of a major railroad connection in the town center.

By Dyan Wapnick

Imagine you could travel back in time to Pine Plains at the turn of the twentieth century. Standing at the intersection of Main and Church Streets you might catch the whistle of the Poughkeepsie and Eastern train as it leaves the Borden Creamery at the P&E station, where local dairy farmers dropped off their milk twice a day in 10-gallon aluminum cans – fully loaded weighing over 80 pounds – to be processed and shipped. Every Tuesday was cattle day, when a cattle car was placed at the Newburgh, Dutchess and Connecticut railroad stockyard on South Main Street and where farmers drove their beef cattle to be transported to New York City. With 18 trains going in and out of the hamlet daily, it was a busy place, and a lot of that activity revolved around the farms.

Today you would be hard pressed to picture this peaceful hamlet sequestered in northeast Dutchess County capable of supporting two weekly newspapers (the Pine Plains Herald and Pine Plains Register), two drug stores (Bowman's Pharmacy and Cole Drug Store), two large hotels (the Ketterer Hotel and the Stissing House), several boarding houses for tourists (including The Pines, a 25-room mansion), Bowman's Opera House, multiple shops, and a renowned school (Seymour Smith Academy), not to mention over 40 small-to mid-sized family farms dotting the surrounding countryside and nearby communities. Yet that's how it was in 1900.

This article will attempt to show how the loss of these farms, with a focus on dairy farms, has had a direct, negative impact on the vitality of the once-thriving hamlet of Pine Plains. If you could stand on the same spot in 1935, other than horse and buggies replaced by automobiles, you wouldn't see many changes from 35 years earlier despite it being the middle of the Great Depression. Sure, the opera house closed, but now there's a popular cinema across the street, the Pine Plains Theatre, which is also a testing site for first-run films before they debut in New York. There's a clock tower next to the Stissing House, memorializing longtime Doctor Henry Clay Wilber. Yes, the two weekly newspapers have merged into a single weekly, the Register-Herald, and Seymour Smith Academy was recently torn down, but it's been replaced by the Pine Plains Central School, the first centralized school district in Dutchess County. The tourists continue to flock here every summer, with boys' and girls' camps on Stissing Lake owned by the parents of future composer and lyricist Jerry Herman (a camper here from the age of 6 to 23, and later the camps' musical theater director). A former large dairy enterprise called Briarcliff Farms just south of the hamlet ceased operation, but it's now an Aberdeen Angus championship beef farm supplying the stock for 95% of the Angus cattle in the United States.

However, by the end of the decade the railroad was no more, with the last freight service in 1937 and the tracks eventually all pulled up; yet if you were to stand on that same corner in 1950 you might be surprised to see the railroad's demise has not had a noticeable effect on the community. Truck transport has taken the place of the trains, and in the years since World War II, with the help in part of the GI Bill which provided loans and educational opportunities for farmer veterans, Pine Plains has continued to flourish, looking much the same as it did 15 years earlier. But change was coming—and when it came, it changed the life of the hamlet.

Beginning in the 1960s, a small-town version of urban renewal began to take place in the hamlet. One of the first buildings to go was a beautiful Greek Revival on Church Street, the Davis House, torn down in 1963 to make way for a Grand Union. By 1970, the former Ketterer Hotel on the corner, last known as the Piester Building, sat vacant, and it was demolished in 1974, leaving an empty lot in its place, while the venerable old Stissing House on the opposite corner had become the local watering hole, in danger of suffering the same fate. Also in 1974, Berlin's Department Store on the northeast corner was torn down to allow for the Stissing National Bank's expansion. Fire destroyed several buildings on South Main Street (in 1981 and 1992), which became more empty lots. The old movie theatre closed and was slated for demolition until a last-minute reprieve saved the building and it was converted into Pine Mall, supporting businesses on three floors. But that, too, failed and it became another abandoned eyesore.

The decline didn't happen overnight, and it was not unique to Pine Plains. The seeds had been sown quite a few years earlier, ironically during a period of progress and growth, the result of technological changes and other factors which directly influenced the number and size of dairy farms. (According to the USDA, dairy farm size can be classed by headcount, with small farms having 30 milk cows, mid-sized farms from 30-500 milk cows, and large farms anything over that number).

You can't talk about the development of Pine Plains without including the railroads, which transformed this rural community in the boom years after the Civil War. Pine Plains was uniquely situated to take advantage of the east-west rail traffic afforded by the so-called "short lines" in Dutchess County. At its peak, there were three railroads serving the town. While they all provided passenger service, it was in the hauling of iron ore and milk that they expected to make money, and among the sales pitches used to entice Pine Plains residents to invest in the first of them to be incorporated, the Poughkeepsie & Eastern (1872), was the claim that their farms would gain 25% in value within three years of its completion. For what had been mostly subsistence farms, the railroad opened new markets, especially in New York, and once refrigerated rail cars made it possible to ship raw milk by train, production escalated to meet the demand and farmers began increasing the size of their herds...

A few items from the notebook.

NEW BEGINNINGS: With 43 games left to go in 2024 after Tuesday's game, Hudson Valley currently is off to a tough start. July has been a rough month so far, with Hudson Valley entering play Friday with a 4-8 record since July 1.

THE ROME WHO?: Hudson Valley

welcomed the Rome Emperors to Heritage Financial Park this past weekend. It is the first time the Renegades have hosted Rome since they became known as the Emperors prior to the 2024 season. The franchise was known as the Rome Braves from 2003 to 2023.

THE PROMISED LAND: The Renegades continue a stretch this week where they will play 12 of their next 15 games, and 18 of their next 27, away from Heritage Financial Park. The team will go to Wilmington, Del. for a six-game series this week.

THE RUNNIN' RENEGADES ARE BACK: After stealing only 13 bases in 27 games in June, the Renegades have been on a stolen base frenzy to begin July, going 17-for-19 on stolen base attempts as a team through the first 12 games of the month. Roc Riggio leads the way with six steals in seven tries.

STELLAR STARTERS: Starting pitching continues to be excellent for the Renegades. Thirty-five of the last 41 starters have allowed three earned runs or less in their outings.

Renegades Extra!

RENEGADES ROUNDUP

Three pitchers combine on historic no-hitter and Riggio's walk-off HR seals deal as Renegades top Rome

By Rich Thomaselli

What a way to start the second half of the season after having nearly a week off for the All-Star break.

On a historic Friday night at Heritage Financial Park, the Hudson Valley Renegades threw the third no-hitter in franchise history in a remarkable 1-0 walk-off win over the Rome Emperors. After nine no-hit innings from the Hudson Valley pitching staff, a towering walk-off home run to right field by Roc Riggio broke a scoreless tie to complete the no-hitter in astounding fashion.

The no-hitter thrown by Kyle Carr, Trent Sellers and Hueston Morrill was the first for Hudson Valley since July 10, 2021, against the Brooklyn Cyclones, and the first at Heritage Financial Park since August 10, 2000 vs. the Pittsfield Mets. That no-no, thrown by Doug Waechter, was also the only other nine-inning no-hitter in Renegades franchise history.

Carr was tremendous, throwing five no-hit innings and allowing just three baserunners in the game. After Carr walked three of the first five batters he faced, the southpaw retired 11 in a row to complete his outing. Two runners caught stealing aided Carr in navigating the walks in the first two innings. In his last three starts at home, he has now allowed just two runs in 15.2 innings.

Sellers was tremendous in relief of Carr, continuing his outstanding stretch on the mound. He tossed three perfect innings, not allowing a single baserunner while striking out three. In his last six appearances, Sellers has now thrown 16.2 consecutive scoreless innings.

In the ninth inning, Justin Janas walked to lead off the ninth for Rome, ending a streak of 20 consecutive batters retired by Renegades pitching that began in the second inning. However, Hueston Morrill then secured three consecutive outs to complete nine no-hit frames.

Entering the bottom of the ninth inning, the Renegades had just four hits

Trent Sellers, Kyle Carr, and Hueston Morrill pitched a combined no-hitter on Thursday, July 19. It was the first no-hitter for Hudson Valley since July 10, 2021, against the Brooklyn Cyclones, and the first at Heritage Financial Park since August 10, 2000 vs. the Pittsfield Mets.

with only one runner reaching scoring position. That all changed when Riggio ripped a ball deep into the night sky for a solo home run, completing the no-hitter in the most dramatic of circumstances. It marked the Renegades' sixth walk-off win of the year and the first on a home run.

Hudson Valley lost a 4-3 extra-inning decision on Saturday night.

On Sunday, the Renegades earned a 3-1 victory, taking two of three from the Rome Emperors in the first series following the All-Star Break.

Cam Schlittler put together his second consecutive strong start, allowing just three hits and one run across five innings with five strikeouts. The right-hander has allowed just two earned runs over his last two starts while recording 13 punchouts in 11 innings.

General Manager Q&A

Handling the home stretch and value of promotional events

The Hudson Valley Renegades have a first-year general manager in Zach Betkowski. He sits down with reporter Rich Thomaselli every week to express his thoughts on the Renegades in particular and on minor league baseball in general.

There are about two months left in the season. Is there such a thing as a home-stretch for management?

I always joke, but it's true – August brings the dog days of summer. It's easy for people to get frustrated quicker because they have been working all year. August can be a challenge at times, because you are dealing with fatigue. We've really made it a priority this year to give staff some extra time off. A little R&R, if you will, even when the team is at home. We try to take advantage of opportunities when we can, such as letting people go early and things like that.

Rome just made its first and only appearance in Hudson Valley this year. Do you think fans come out to see visiting teams and players as well?

I think there's something to that, yes. Do I think it's the majority of people? Certainly not. But I do think there's a science to it all. Baseball purists want to see the stars of tomorrow. They want to see a major league player who might be doing rehab. Order maybe they are just curious to see a team that doesn't often come into town. So, yeah, there definitely something to that.

Zach Betkowski

What promotional value do you think you get out of things like the mascot wedding?

We take great pride in our promotional schedule. The mascot wedding (of Rookie and Renee) was huge for us. There was a lot of interest in that. ... As a staff we take out the promotional schedule every day. It's probably one of the most important things that we do. We know that if we have a killer promotional schedule that the fans will come out.

CCEDC's Green Teen program expands to Poughkeepsie youth

An incredible collaborative effort has resulted in providing fresh garden produce for needy families in Poughkeepsie, while also providing educational and work opportunities for local teenagers.

The Green Teen program is being coordinated through Cornell Cooperative Extension Dutchess County (CCEDC), Dutchess Community College (DCC) and Poughkeepsie High School, with a helping hand of funding from Jonathan Jacobson - NY Assemblyman, whose 104th District includes the cities of Beacon, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony with students and representatives from local, county, state and federal officials was held at the garden on the DCC campus on Thursday, July 18.

The Green Teen students of Beacon and Poughkeepsie showcased the fruits and vegetables. Supporters attending included Dr. Peter Grant Jordan, President of DCC, CCEDC Executive Director Mary Lou Carolan, Jacobson, Brandon Gonzalez of the Office of Congressman Pat Ryan, Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino, Dutchess County Legislators and City of Poughkeepsie Mayor Yvonne Flowers. Certificates of Recognition were awarded to CCEDC and DCC by County Executive Serino, Mayor Flowers and Pat Ryan's office.

This all started two years ago when Assemblyman Jacobson met Samantha Brittain, CCEDC Green Teen Program Manager, at an event in Beacon and was inspired by her team's work with teens in Beacon. This meeting was the beginning of a meaningful partnership between the CCEDC and Jacobson's Office. A proposal to extend this program to the youth of the City of Poughkeepsie was made and Jacobson secured funding for the program's Community Garden on the DCC Campus. Lacie Reilly, President of the Board of Directors at CCEDC and Instructor & Program Chair of Human Services Program Behavioral Sciences Department and Director of The Pantry at DCC, put the gears in motion for the collaboration.

"This is an incredible collaborative effort. The seeds were planted in so many ways and it has grown into a wonderful garden," said Carolan as she spoke at the event. "The Poughkeepsie High School students are obtaining valuable knowledge, learning to work together and have the opportunity to gain credit for classes at DCC."

In the photos from top to bottom are Poughkeepsie Green Teen members David Benz and Elizabeth Soriano, DCC President Peter Grant Jordan and CCEDC Executive Director Mary Lou Carolan.

She added that the sustainable edible garden will also address food insecurity in the City of Poughkeepsie and the county as the vegetables harvested are available at the pantry at DCC for access to anyone needing food. Any produce that is not distributed at DCC is moved to Dutchess Outreach or the Saint Thomas Food Pantry in Amenia - all food is utilized.

Jacobson commented, "I witnessed the enthusiasm of Samantha Brittan with the Beacon Green Teen program. I was so impressed with her efforts and that program that I knew I had to work to fund a similar program in the City of Poughkeepsie."

Jordan said, "We at DCC are happy to a partner in this impressive program and to share our knowledge. This is all about working together."

Poughkeepsie Green Teen members Elizabeth Soriano and David Benz addressed those in attendance and spoke of the benefits of the Green Teen program.

The Community Garden space is 4,000 square feet with about 2,400 already tilled and utilized, with 210 square feet cultivated into raised beds. The teens started planting in late May of this year. Included are 480 tomato plants with 80 Sungold Cherry and 400 Jet Star Slicers. Additionally, these dedicated youth have planted over 80 Summer and Acorn Squash and Zucchini, 40 winter squash, Hubbard, and kombucha varieties. They've developed about 90 square feet rows each of kale, beets, greens, green beans, lettuce, mustard greens and radishes. In the past week alone, Green Teens have planted another 40 Butternut Squash plants and are delicately resetting the lettuce rows.

So far, over 130 pounds of lettuce and yellow and green squash have been harvested.

Green Teen has served the Beacon community for 20 years through two programs - the work-to-learn youth employment program, where participants ages 14 to 18 are hired to plant and maintain the program's garden on West Center Street, and the recently developed Club Green Teen, an after-school program for youth ages 12 to 14. Since 2020, Green Teen has also operated a free farm stand, in which all produce grown by the program is donated back to the community each summer. Green Teen expanded its program to Poughkeepsie in 2023.

Ribbon-cutting ceremony honors Founder's Day at Anderson Center

Anderson Center for Autism today hosted a special Centennial event on Wednesday, July 17 at its main campus, along with members of the Dutchess County Regional Chamber of Commerce.

The event included a ribbon-cutting ceremony in honor of Anderson Center for Autism's 100th birthday, which was followed by Founder's Day, featuring food trucks, tours, and a chance for attendees to see the many beautification projects that have recently been completed on the campus.

Anderson Center for Autism was founded in 1924 to support people with special needs. Today, it offers award-winning educational, vocational, residential, clinical, and training programs designed to help further its mission of "optimizing the quality of life for individuals with autism." According to the Centers for Disease Control, 1 in 36 are now diagnosed with the neurological disorder, which can present with a wide range of communication, sensory processing, and socialization challenges.

Patrick Paul, CEO/Executive Director of Anderson Center for Autism, said, "The ribbon cutting and Founder's Day event provided an excellent opportunity for past and present students, residents, and families, along with colleagues, community members, volunteers, and trustees to celebrate our Centennial and to see firsthand the improvements we continue to make to our services and facilities."

Eliza Bozenski, Chief Development Officer, said, "The ribbon cutting and Founder's Day event is one of many celebrations that we have coordinated this year for Anderson's Centennial. 2024 began with a 100th anniversary kickoff event, and fundraisers like our golf classic, Mr. Anderson Ale launch, and others have all incorporated a tagline developed by Anderson dietitian Taylor Reynolds: a legacy of compassion, a century of impact. Our gala, scheduled for this fall, will likewise capture that theme, and will honor Vance Anderson Gage, longtime volunteer and the grandson of our founder, Dr. Victor V. Anderson. It is really meaningful and rewarding for all of us who get to honor our rich history this year - and especially exciting to do so as we plan for a new century ahead."

In addition to the full-time residences and school at its Staatsburg campus, Anderson also runs Cold Spring Early Learning Center (in Pine Plains), Anderson Early Learning Academy and The Anderson Center Clinic (based in Latham), Anderson Center International (a training program for scholars from all corners of the globe who spend 12-18 months gaining the skills needed to develop programs upon return to their home countries), and Anderson Center Consulting and Training (also known as ACCT, which educates families/caregivers, educators, businesses, community groups, and others on how to best support the needs of neurodivergent and autistic individuals). Over 800 people are currently employed by the organization.

Kristen Cullen, the director of the Fishkill Food Pantry, said the pantry serves 300 families a month and thousands of meals a month.

"The price of food has gone up and their rents have increased, but their wages have not," remarked Cullen.

She said she was "speechless" regarding the donations and contributions.

Cullen said the pantry's mission could not be done without the more than 60 volunteers who assist each week.

One of the volunteers is Dan Wells. Wells said he is retired and has been volunteering for almost a decade.

Another volunteer is Bill Tovar. Tovar said, "The need is constant – it is not seasonal."

Town of Fishkill Councilman John Forman remarked, "The need is real, and the Fishkill community comes through all the time."

Town of Fishkill Councilman Brian Wrye said there is an ongoing need. He noted one must continue to make contributions.

State Regulators issue ruling on Central Hudson's one-year rate plan

The New York State Public Service Commission issued a decision last week that establishes new rates for Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. that will go into effect on August 1 and run through June 30, 2025.

The order concludes an extensive 12-month vetting process that included six virtual and in-person public statement hearings and testimony made before administrative law judges provided by Central Hudson subject matter experts, members of Department of Public Service staff and registered parties. Based upon the hearings and testimony, the administrative law judges issued a recommended decision to the Public Service Commissioners, who issued their final ruling recently.

"This new, one-year plan will allow Central Hudson to make critical investments in the energy system so we can continue to safely serve our customers while also supporting New York State climate laws and reliability mandates," said Joe Hally, Vice President of Regulatory affairs. "We appreciate the work and dedication of all parties who helped the Commissioners arrive at this decision."

According to Central Hudson, the approved rate plan will allow Central Hudson to make critical investments in areas including:

- Critical electric and natural gas infrastructure investments that will replace equipment that has reached the end of its useful life and upgrades that will allow for greater connection of locally produced renewable resources.

- Preparation and response to severe weather events, including enhanced vegetation management and tree trimming as well as additional funding to provide personnel and resources to address severe weather when it happens.

- Upgrades to technologies that will improve the customer experience.

- Addressing economic implications following the COVID-19 pandemic including inflationary pressures and employee turnover.

According to discussion at last week's commission session, the typical residential electric customer will see a total bill increase of approximately 7.85 percent, or approximately $12.65 per month. The typical residential natural gas customer will see a total bill increase of approximately 9.19 percent or approximately $12.25 per month. When the approved order is received, Central Hudson will review the materials and provide rate changes with customers on monthly bills, in newspapers, and via the website, CentralHudson.com.

The PSC's ruling comes one month after Central Hudson and regulators agreed to a settlement of up to $62.59 million to close the investigation into the implementation of the Utility's billing system in September 2021. As part of the agreement, Central Hudson and its shareholders agreed to pay or absorb the amount of the settlement. No revenue from customers associated with today's approved plan will be allocated to meeting that agreement. Congressman Pat Ryan released the following statement on Central Hudson's rate increase.

"From day one, I've been fighting to lower costs and hold Central Hudson accountable. With Hudson Valley families feeling the economic pressure, allowing any rate increase is completely unacceptable. We're all still reeling from years of systemic failure by Central Hudson – while their profits continue to grow at our expense. We can't back down."

Ryan has made repeated calls for Central Hudson's rate increase request to be rejected until its billing systems are fully fixed and every customer that was wronged is made whole.

Last October, Congressman Ryan demanded that the rate increase request be rejected and applauded the Public Utility Law Project of New York (PULP)'s filing of a motion to deny Central Hudson's request for a utility rate increase.

Quick work by County IT team ensures minimal disruption for DC Government

Despite a worldwide technology outage that affected millions of Microsoft Windows users worldwide on Friday of last week, County Executive Sue Serino announced Dutchess County's Office of Central and Information Services (OCIS) team was able to quickly and efficiently restore Dutchess County Government operations with little or no disruption to residents.

OCIS learned of the global outage, which was due to a software update from cybersecurity vendor Crowd Strike, at 12:30 a.m. Friday. OCIS Acting Commissioner Steve Oscarlece and the OCIS team worked through the early morning hours to get servers back online quickly, prioritizing public safety operations including the County's 911 Communication Center, 988 HELPLINE and the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office. The OCIS team was installing the corrective patch on hundreds of County-issued computers running the Windows operating system.

Serino said, "Our team at OCIS did an amazing job to get our computers up and running again, with barely any impact on the residents who rely on Dutchess County's services and programs. We always remain on the guard for the next challenge to our computer network – whether it's a glitch like today's or a malicious threat from bad actors – and we thank our OCIS employees for their constant vigilance and quick action."

Certain County departments, including Community and Family Services and the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV), which are connected to New York State's computer network, were still affected by the outage until the state system is fully restored. The DMV remains unable to process transactions as of late Friday.

Serino and OCIS warned residents that malicious actors are actively attempting to exploit the current situation and should be aware of emails or phone calls claiming to be from CrowdStrike and to not perform any actions requested by such emails or calls.

RCK baseball star Paino to attend U. of Mississippi

In a surprise move, Roy C. Ketchum High School baseball star Owen Paino has withdrawn his name from consideration for the Major League Baseball Amateur Draft and reaffirmed his commitment to attend the University of Mississippi.

He was widely expected to be taken in the first two rounds of the draft.

He led the Storm to consecutive New York State baseball championship appearances, winning in 2023. Paino was New York's Gatorade Player of the Year after hitting .532 this past spring as a senior shortstop and had a .722 on-base percentage in 23 games.

Another former RCK player, Xavier Kolhosser, was picked in the 13th round of the draft last week by the Minnesota Twins out of St John's University.

Allegiant Air adds Ft. Lauderdale to offerings from Stewart Airport

By Rich Thomaselli

Maybe in response to Breeze Airways adding a fourth flight out of Stewart International Airport, Dutchess County residents will benefit from Allegiant Airlines adding a fifth flight out of the New Windsor facility.

Starting on November 15, Allegiant Air will fly from Stewart to Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport in Florida.

The carrier made the announcement in a press release.

It already flies to Florida cities Orlando, Punta Gorda – an excellent, underrated airport in Southwest Florida – and St. Pete-Clearwater/Tampa. It also has a route to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.

To celebrate the new flight, the airline has a special introductory rate as low as $69 one way on some flights.

Outdoor performances of 'Always...Patsy Cline' set to begin July 24

By Kristine Coulter

Ted Swindley's "Always...Patsy Cline" can be seen live on Bannerman Island. Performances are set for Wednesday, July 24 through Sunday, July 28. Encore performances are scheduled for August 1-3. For tickets, go to bannermancastle.org.

"Always...Patsy Cline" is described as "a true story about American Country Pop Singer Patsy Cline's friendship with a fan from Houston, TX named Louise Seger who first heard Patsy on the Arthur Godfrey Show in 1957. Seger became an avid fan of Cline's, hounding a local disc jockey to play her records on the radio. Seger later befriended the star in a Texas honky-tonk and continued correspondence with Patsy until the star's untimely death in a tragic plane crash in 1963 at the age of 30."

Emily Clare Zempel plays Seger, who is Cline's fan, and future friend, in the show. Jessica Welch portrays Cline.

"When I read the play, I was struck by how different I am from Louise. She is bold, sassy, an extrovert through and through, and totally Southern. It seemed like a really fun challenge to me," Zempel remarked to Southern Dutchess News recently in an email. Louise, said Zempel, "speaks to the audience with such boldness and a fun spirit--I really wanted to try her on. Once I started working on the text and found her heart, I started to notice how much we had in common."

Examples of what Seger has in common with her, Zempel said, were during hard times they both turn to "art to help us feel O.K. and we both have a big mama bear side. (Also being Southern and being from the Midwest they have a lot in common.)

"She is so fun to play, and she is teaching me a lot, as good characters often do. Particularly, she is teaching me about carrying someone's love after their loss and trusting in that," said Zempel.

Asked if she was familiar with Cline's music, Zempel replied: "I fell in love with Patsy Cline as a young teen, but I only knew the song 'Crazy.' I absolutely loved her voice and her musicality. At the time I was a young jazz singer, and I thought of Patsy as a jazz artist! It wasn't until later that I realized she was a country singer, and I was a bit shocked because I did NOT like country back then on principle. I was a grunge kid."

How does one prepare for the show, since it will be performed outside with the Hudson River nearby?

"During rehearsal we play a lot with the staging, trying different things, feeling out the relationships. I had the opportunity to work through the text with the playwright, Ted Swindley, who is a delight to work with and gave me so many useful insights. On my own, I think through her character and work through her physicality a bit. I'm researching other women with her type of experience and body language to get a feel for it, and I also use some of the "good ol'" acting tools like Laban (physical movement style) and energy centers to put her in my body. Other than that, I rest a lot. This role is very demanding, and I find that I have to guard my energy, and prioritize sleep and rest," explained Zempel.

She continued, "This is my third show on Bannerman, and though the venue has some challenges, there is nothing like that boat ride over and the beautiful scenery. Bug spray helps! With this particular costume, I'll be researching wearable ice packs. Luckily, we drink lots of "coffee" and "beer" in the scenes, which means lots of fluids are available! As I never exit the stage, that will help a lot."

Does Zempel have a favorite scene in the show?

"Much of this show is me storytelling to the audience, which is so fun, but my favorite part might be when I sit around the kitchen table with Patsy (Jessica). The relationship between them is built so quickly and skillfully through song and dialog, and it's a wonderful moment of warmth in the show," remarked Zempel.

As for that friendship between Seger and Cline, Zempel said, "At first read, I was thinking--what does Patsy see in her? But they have a lot in common. Patsy is drawn to Louise as someone who speaks her mind and knows herself. Louise starts as a super fan, and she is a bit manipulative in the ways she tries to get close to and stay close to Patsy--but it comes from her heart. For instance, she takes care of Patsy at the Esquire Ballroom once she finds out the conditions of Patsy's performance. This is partially so she can be useful to Patsy who will then want her around, but also because Louise really cares about her. As they get to know each other, Louise learns that Patsy's life is not so different from her own. They bond over their broken, hard marriages, the stress of being working mothers, and their mutual drive to enjoy life anyway. This relationship is one that I think most of us have dreamed of at some point in our lives. We meet our idol, and then become lasting friends. Who wouldn't want that? Louise gets to live this dream for all of us."

Zempel noted, "I'm so grateful to Neil [Caplan] that he gave me the opportunity to play this role. It's not a role that just any director would think of casting me in from my appearance and personality. When I first read something, I often think... 'I don't know this person, I don't know this character, I don't think I can do this.' But there is always something, there is always at least one hook that I can find that makes me think-- 'Wait, I know this woman. I have felt this, and I have been here.' Once I find that hook, there's no stopping it."

The CENTER for Performing Arts announces passing of extraordinary leader Lou Trapani

Officials at The CENTER for Performing Arts at Rhinebeck have announced the passing of "our beloved leader," Lou Trapani.

Trapani was the presiding force of The CENTER as we know it today. He was first an actor and director who then served as Executive Director. He took the helm to lead and guide The CENTER as Artistic & Managing Director in 1999. In late 2023, Trapani "semi-retired" and transitioned to a Senior Advisor role. Despite taking a step back, Lou and his influence and guidance remained ever-present at The CENTER. Regardless of his title, Lou Trapani was the undeniable leader and visionary of The CENTER for 25 years.

Throughout his tenure at The CENTER, Trapani directed and performed in countless productions, bringing a wealth of knowledge, talent, and vision to the stage, its actors, and its community at large. He created and led numerous scene study and directing classes as well as youth and adult performance workshops. Lou taught and mentored hundreds of people, some of whom went on to professional careers in theatre, citing Lou as a primary influence. Lou was renowned for his annual portrayal of Scrooge in A Christmas Carol, a role he performed for nearly a decade in a play he adapted himself. His adaptation remains a favorite for audiences as well as local school field trips.

Shakespeare's Hamlet. He also delivered a deeply moving performance in the short play, Home Base, by playwright Louisa Vilardi, as part of Howl Playwright's Howl at The CENTER production. Among his other recent works, he held great pride in directing Euripides' The Trojan Women and presenting his unique adaptation of Oedipus Rx, a live-streamed teleplay based on the Sophocles tragedy. Lou was instrumental in the creation of The CENTER's new Black Box space, envisioning it as a creative haven for emerging playwrights, directors, and performers to experiment and showcase their art. Due to his early career as an experimental performer and creator in NYC, he was particularly passionate about this endeavor. Lou was a lifelong learner, a trait evident in his focus and support of education in the arts.

Trapani was also a staple in the Town of Rhinebeck, supporting local business, frequenting restaurants, and participating in the town's culture. He tirelessly worked to make The CENTER an integral part of Rhinebeck's community, allowing people a place to feel welcome and belong. His hard work and determination ensured that The CENTER's doors remained open for us again and again, through catastrophes and pandemics and hurricanes. He enriched our community immeasurably.

The CENTER will be organizing a celebration of life to honor Trapani's extraordinary life and contributions. More details to come.

Mom's need for speed

Racing to get the artichokes

The other day I was stopped by a police officer because I had a taillight out. As I was waiting for my ticket to be processed, I remembered when my mother was pulled over for speeding in front of Marist College many years ago.

I was in the restaurant kitchen prepping something. I heard the kitchen screen door open and slam shut. My mother came into the restaurant and was mumbling to herself. She had a Price Chopper bag in her hand and threw the bag on my father's prep table. She was very clearly angry about something. Worried that she was angry with me, I chose to ignore her mood for fear of retribution. Something that I was very familiar with.

As she walked past me she continued to mumble about something and proceeded through the dining room and into the bathroom. Amazed that she didn't even say hello, I went back to work knowing full well that when she came out of the bathroom I would be told what was wrong. I also braced myself for what I was sure was going to be a great story.

When she came out of the bathroom, she marched through the dining room, into the kitchen, and through open the swinging doors that separated the kitchen from the dining room.

The door slammed against the wall. I knew I was in for a treat.

Apparently, mom was just stopped in front of Marist College for speeding.

My mother had a bit of a lead foot. She was always in a hurry and always told us she had so much to do, even though she really didn't. Picture the scene if you would. My mother, who is a tiny, 5 foot 1 inch woman, is in her car, in a hurry of course, driving toward the Price Chopper on South Road on a mission for my father. This time it was to buy fresh artichokes. She has her seat belt pulled tight, she is holding onto the steering wheel with her Vulcan death grip and is playing Mario Lanza on the CD player in the car.

Mom had a funny way of driving. She would constantly rock the steering wheel back and forth very slightly. Almost like you would shake your leg when you were nervous. She's driving South on Route 9, passes Marist College and goes through a yellow light. She is in a 30 MPH zone and is probably doing close to 45. Naturally, there is a police officer nearby and he proceeds to pull her over.

This is how I perceived the conversation:

Officer: License and registration, please.
Mom: Why?

Officer: License and registration, please.
Mom: Ia no wuzza speeding.

Officer: License and registration, please.
Mom: You don't have to give me a ticket. That's OK.

Officer: License and registration, please.
Mom: That's OK. Listen, I gotta get the artichokes for my husband.

Officer: License and registration, please.
Mom: Listen, Pop is a gonna getta mad if I no get the artichokes to him on time.

Officer: Lady, please get out of the car.

Mom: Why?

Officer: Lady, I'm getting mad, Please give me your license and registration or I'm gonna have to cuff you.

Mom: Why you getting so mad? Im a just going to get the artichokes for my husband? You don't have to give me a ticket. That's OK. Don't worry about it.

Officer: Lady, please. Just give me your freaking license and registration.

Mom: You no understand. You don't have to give me a ticket because Pop he's a gonna get mad if Ima not back fast with the artichokes.

Officer: Please get out of the car, I have to frisk you.

Mom: No you toucha me! I know what you have in mind. You leave me alone.

Officer: Please, lady, just give me your license.

Mom: I tolda you. You no have to give me a ticket. That'sa OK.

Officer: Lady, if you don't give me your license, I will have to arrest you.

Mom: Okay. Im a gonna give you my license but you no gonna give me a ticket, OK?

Officer: Okay, Lady.

Mom: You gotta promise me. OK?

Officer: I promise! Just give me the freaking license!

After a few minutes the officer comes back to the car:

Officer: I just checked you out, Mrs. Coppola. Everything seems OK. You've got to make sure you drive slower, OK?

Mom: OK. You no giva me the ticket?

Officer: You going to drive slower?

Mom: Yeah. Don't worry.

Officer: Mrs. Coppola, please take it easy. Don't speed. I'm gonna let you go, but you take it easy, OK?

Mom: Come here. (she pinches his cheek) You a gooda boy. Your mother is a proud ofa you. I no gonna speed no more.

Officer: Thanks, Mrs. Coppola. Just take it easy, OK?

Mom: Ya. Im a gonna take it easy as soon as I getta Pop his artichokes. Ciao!

I can imagine the poor officer sitting in his car shaking his head as my mother sped off, thinking "people shoot at me and it is less aggravating than that lady."

Needless to say, my mother sped to the Price Chopper got the artichokes for Pop and sped back to the restaurant. I have to say the artichokes were very good. Enjoy the recipe for Pop's Stuffed Artichokes.

Stuffed artichokes

Ingredients

6 whole artichokes
3 slices Italian bread, cubed
1 clove garlic, minced
1/8 cup chopped fresh parsley
1/4 cup grated Romano cheese
1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
5 tablespoons vegetable oil, divided salt and pepper to taste

Directions:

Cut the tips of artichoke leaves to take off the pointy tips, and cut off the stems. Peel the stem with a potato peeler. Fill your sink with water and soak the artichokes for about 20 minutes. Drain and shake off excess water. Holding artichoke firmly by base, firmly slap the top of it on a hard surface like a cutting board a couple of times. This will open the artichoke so it can be stuffed.

In a bowl combine bread cubes, garlic, parsley, Romano cheese, oregano, 2 tablespoons vegetable oil, salt and pepper; mix well by hand.

Press about 1/2 cup of stuffing into each artichoke center. Tightly pack stuffed artichokes together in a large pan or stainless steel tray. Add enough water to reach half way up artichokes and add 3 tablespoons oil and the stem. Cover the pan with aluminum foil or a cover.

Bring to a boil over high heat; reduce heat to low and simmer, for 1 hour, or until leaves pull out easily.

Serve in a bowl with grated cheese and ladle the broth in the bowl pouring over the stuffing. Served with a wedge of Italian bread.

Luigi Coppola is one of five brothers born to Francesca and Antonio Coppola. The Coppola family came to America from Naples, Italy in 1954. Antonio and his brothers opened their first restaurant in Poughkeepsie in 1961. Luigi and his brothers Nick, John, Antonio and Vincent have carried on the family tradition in the way their parents taught them, using classic recipes taught to them at their apron strings. Serino to host 'Senior Mobile Office Hours'...with ice cream

Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino has been hosting 'Senior Mobile Office Hours' at Senior Friendship Centers throughout Dutchess County to allow for open dialogue between seniors and herself and provide immediate response to any questions or concerns they may have. The office hours are open to older adults who frequent these senior centers as well as other local seniors in the area who wish to attend. In celebration of July as National Ice Cream Month, ice-cream will be provided to those in attendance.

The office hours are held on in two-hour increments. The schedule includes the last of four dates:

Tuesday, August 6 from 11 a.m. – 1 p.m., Red Hook Friendship Center, 59 Fisk Street, Red Hook

"After a lifetime of working, raising families, and contributing to our community, our seniors deserve our time and attention to ensure they are getting the resources they need," said Serino.

"I am looking forward to having the opportunity to speak with our older adults and learning more about the most important issues they are facing. It is also a great chance for local seniors who may not be available with our OFA Friendship Centers to check them out and learn more about the programs they offer." Reservations are not required.

Dutchess County has eight Senior Friendship Centers throughout Dutchess County where older adults can enjoy nutritious meals as well as take part in social activities and fellowship. Transportation is available in most cases. To learn more about these centers or other resources provided by the Dutchess County Office for the Aging, visit: dutchessny.gov/aging.

For more information on the upcoming office hours, please call 845-486-2000 or email CountyExec@dutchessny.gov.

Eastdale Village Farmers Market

Mark visits one of the newer markets in the area.

She misses the noise. Megan Williams moved up from "the city" a couple of years ago, to start her own cottage bakery in Poughkeepsie. She lives in LaGrange, and loves it, except she "misses the noise." Megan's Food to Write Home About is one of the 17 vendors at the brand new Eastdale Village Farmers Market.

Dutchess County boasts ten farmers markets, pop-ups where local and some not-so-local farmers, bakers and crafters promote their wares. Farmers markets are as old as agriculture itself, going back to at least the 1950s, when I remember helping my grandfather at the Clinton Square farmers market in Poughkeepsie. Today's markets include:

Beacon – 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. Sunday
Rhinebeck – 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. Sunday
Arlington – 2 - 6 p.m. Thursday
Hyde Park – 9:30 a.m. - 1 p.m. Saturday
Pawling – 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. Saturday
Millbrook – 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. Saturday
Poughkeepsie – 2 - 5:30p.m. Tuesday
Millerton – 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. Saturday
Taste NY at Todd Hill – see their website

Bear Creek Farm – see their website And now Eastdale Village, every first and third Sunday from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Eastdale Village itself, a couple miles east of Poughkeepsie on Route 44, is a pop-up, having sprung up fully grown from Frank Brothers cow pasture. The hundreds of residents have it all right there – restaurants, a swimming pool, lots of different shops, an insurance agency, a florist and even a urologist. Now there's a farmers market. Market manager Shelby Lind – she is also in charge of Eastdale Village Marketing and Leasing – located the market on the less-traveled south side of Route 44 to hopefully get more foot traffic into the south-side shops.

Of the 11 vendors at last Sunday's market, I had a chance to chat with a few:

Meli Delicious Greek Pastries – Tani and daughter Demetra Tsapepas create baklava, tsoureki bread and melomakarona (honey cookies). Meli is the Greek word for honey) in their Beacon kitchen. I got to try the baklava boat – a lot of heaven for $3, though Demetra wouldn't let me pay.

Pancake Hollow Sugarworks – Todd Ridolph taps 3,000 maple trees on his sugarbush on Pancake Hollow Road in Milton. This is Todd's eighth year on the farm. The farm is New York Grown and Certified, which means Todd has an environmental plan in place. His light amber sugar candies. Delicious! Ask Todd about black walnut syrup.

Dykeman Farm – Here you can get real fresh local vegetables. Dykeman is a fourth-generation family farm in Pawling. I couldn't believe the vine-ripened tomatoes this early in the season, until Mandy Dykeman told me they plant them in high tunnels to extend the season on both ends. Sweet Corn, the holy grail of local produce, is available at the home farm.

Finn's Cafe – Lisa Massarelli creates clothing, scarves and all kinds of pet supplies, mainly available on Etsy.

Pickle Licious – Looked like the most popular booth at the market. Headquartered in Teaneck, New Jersey, the pickles can be found in about 70 farmers markets, including Beacon and Pawling.

Taconic Distillery – Their property in Stanfordville is a nice spot for an afternoon or evening retreat, complete with a fire pit on cool nights (remember them?). Gina Cantarella was giving out samples of double barrel maple bourbon. Luckily I had several different hats with me. I could hardly ride my bicycle home.

Ladies and Gentlemen: Wear Sunscreen

Valuable advice, given in a 1997 hypothetical commencement speech by columnist Mary Schmich, and further popularized as a spoken word song by Baz Luhrmann. But the recommendation to use sun protection is not a recent kernel of wisdom. Even the ancient Egyptians would offer us this tip for the future. They used sun blocks which contained rice bran, jasmine, and lupine.

Sunlight is necessary for our bodies. It helps produce vitamin D, which is important for bone health, blood cells, and the immune system. Sunlight helps regulate our sleeping patterns, and may also factor in lower blood pressure and mental health. As necessary as sunlight is, however, it can also be damaging.

The discovery of negative health effects from exposure to the sun's UV rays occurred in the late 1800s. Since then, sun blocks were developed, but they initially had no indications of efficacy on their packaging. Advancements brought increased sun protection factors, eventually achieving levels of 100 SPF, or more.

Sunscreen choices

Sunscreens are either organic or inorganic. In a scientific context, organic substances are those that contain carbon. Substances that do not, are inorganic.

Inorganic, or mineral sunscreens, contain fine powders of either zinc oxide or titanium dioxide that were traditionally called "sun blocks." Mineral sunscreens are often recommended for people with skin sensitivities. They offer broad-spectrum protection; however, some may be chalky and difficult to spread. Some mineral sunscreens have alleviated this problem with tints and tiny, micronized zinc and titanium particles.

Organic, or chemical sunscreens, contain ingredients such as avobenzone and oxybenzone. Since they don't leave a white film when applied to the skin, they are easier to wear on a broad range of skin tones. Their active ingredients absorb UV rays before your skin can soak them up. Sensitive skin or conditions like rosacea or melasma may be aggravated by the ingredients in chemical sunscreens.

Alarmist claims remain unproven

There has been some media attention regarding the safety of organic/chemical sunscreens. Concerns have related to negative environmental effects and endocrine disruption. However, the most up-to-date research has found no conclusive evidence of negative health outcomes related to sunscreens.

Sun exposure can cause premature aging and skin cancer

The Perfect Place to Pay Respect.

Fishkill Rural Cemetery's new columbarium is overlooking a tranquil and peaceful pond and offers the perfect place to reflect and pay respect to honored family members and loved ones. Stop by or schedule your visit today.

Wappingers Falls (845-221-5500) says the "best" or "healthiest" type of sunscreen is the one you'll use consistently.

"We know for a fact that UV radiation is bad for us; it contributes to the outward appearance of skin aging as well as increasing the likelihood of developing skin cancers. The known dangers of not using any sun protection products should definitely outweigh any hesitancy over the exact mechanism behind the way your sunscreen of choice works."

"I don't think we need to have a thorough understanding of the way something functions in order to benefit from it. For example, I drive a car daily but have no idea about the ins and outs of how internal combustion engines work or the complex computer systems that actually make the vehicle safe and operational."

Denise also suggests layering makeup with high SPF ratings to protect yourself from sun exposure. She says that, "If people feel more comfortable using mineral sunscreens because they believe they're more 'reflective' than 'absorbent,' the accuracy of that belief is less important than the protection they're getting by using something."

20th annual Hudson River Swim set for Saturday

Still time to sponsor a swimmer

The 20th annual Hudson River Swim from Newburgh in Orange County to Beacon will take place on Saturday, July 27. Participants in a previous year's swim are pictured.

Celebrate two decades of the Great Newburgh to Beacon Hudson River Swim on Saturday, July 27 at Pete & Toshi Seeger Riverfront Park in Beacon. The event will kick off at UNICO Park, 70 Front St., in Newburgh, Orange County. The event will also raise funds for the River Pool at Beacon, the non-profit that supports the floating pool which was inspired by the late Fishkill resident, folk singer and activist Pete Seeger. Check in is from 10:15-11:45 a.m. Swimmer registration and kayakers is closed, but one may still sponsor a swimmer.

"Yes, people can make a donation by sponsoring a swimmer through the riverpool.org website and following links to the River Swim or by going directly to our Sponsor a Swimmer page at riverpool.org/sponsor-a-swimmer/. We have 230 swimmers signed up who would love help in achieving their fundraising goals," said Alan Zollner, the vice president at River Pool.

The participating swimmers start the one-mile, cross-river swim will begin from the Newburgh Riverfront Marina and finish at the Beacon harbor, according to organizers. (The rain date is July 28, splash in around 1:40 p.m.)

Water temperature is expected to be comfortable, between 75 and 80 degrees, it was noted.

There will be kayak escorts, shoreline volunteers and the marine units from the Dutchess County and Orange County sheriffs offices will monitor river vessel traffic during the swim. Organizers said the swim is coordinated with the U.S. Coast Guard to limit river traffic and in Newburgh and Beacon will be available on the respective shores.

"There are a number of reasons this event continues (and grows) each year: For one, it represents both an iconic challenge and a celebration for many people. Fifty-two years after passage of the clean water act and after millions have been spent cleaning up the Hudson, this event marks a celebration of those successes. Second, people want to support the dream of the likes of Pete Seeger in providing a free safe swimming spot for children to cool off, be together, and connect with the natural environment in the safe way our rainbow river pool provides. Third, there is virtually no other opportunity to safely swim across the Hudson River. People appreciate that we work with the U.S. Coast Guard and local marine law enforcement to limit marine traffic, and plan around the river currents. Together with that, people feel this is a safe, well-run event. It is not a race, but simply intended to provide an opportunity for an enjoyable open water swim across the Hudson River," remarked Zollner.

In January, Gov. Kathy Hochul unveiled NY SWIMS: The New York Statewide Investment In More Swimming.

"Access to swimming isn't just about recreation – it's about public health and climate resiliency," Hochul said at the time. "NY SWIMS will be the largest statewide investment in swimming since the New Deal, expanding access for underserved communities and improving safety for kids across New York."

Contributions raised by swimmers will be used to operate the River Pool, said organizers, and to ensure continued access to the Hudson River. Each swimmer must raise a minimum of $100. There is also an additional $75 registration fee ($25 for minors).

The River Pool was upgraded last year. It was installed in 2007. In 2023, refurbished seats were added. According to organizers more than 15,000 have come to the Hudson River to the pool, which has lifeguards.

FORECLOSURE RESCUE SCAMS
Be careful of people who approach you with offers to "save" your home. There are individuals who watch for notices of foreclosure actions in order to unfairly profit from a homeowner's distress. You should be extremely careful about any such promises and any suggestions that you pay them a fee or sign over your deed. State law requires anyone offering such services for profit to enter into a contract which fully describes the services they will perform and fees they will charge, and which prohibits them from taking any money from you until they have completed all such promised services.

Mount Gulian to offer tours of historic garden Aug. 3-4

Mount Gulian Historic Site in Beacon invites visitors to explore its garden and unique horticultural history. Tours of the historic garden are back by popular demand and will be given on Saturday, Aug. 3 and Sunday, Aug. 4 at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Visitors will learn about the garden's origins, evolution, and notable gardeners, including Mary Anna Verplanck, who as a precocious 11-year-old, designed the original 1804 garden; and James F. Brown, an enslaved man who fled Maryland and worked as Mount Gulian's master gardener. Visitors will receive a complimentary copy of the garden's 1912 map, and a short film about Mr. Brown, "Cultivating Freedom: From Slave to Citizen," will be shown.

Today, notable plantings in the garden include antique peonies, roses and yuc-cas that were returned to Mount Gulian in 1995 by a Verplanck descendant who removed them from the site in the 1960s. After carefully tending to them for 30 years at her home's garden, she learned of the site's plans to restore the garden and happily brought them home.

Admission to this special tour is $14 adults, $12 seniors, $8 youngsters (6-18 years). Children under 6 and Mount Gulian members are free. Membership is open to the public.

Reservations are preferred, but walk-ins will be accepted if space allows. For reservations, call 845-831-8172 or email at info@mountgulian.org. Payment may be made on the day of visit.

The heavy lines indicate areas, called cages, from one to five squares in size. Fill each cage with unique digits, counting up from 1. So for example a 2-square cage contains the numbers 1 and 2; and a 5-square cage contains the numbers from 1 to 5. Adjacent (touching) squares, even ones that touch diagonally, may never contain the same number.

New baseball exhibit at the Sports Museum of Dutchess County

The new baseball exhibit at the Sports Museum of Dutchess County has been drawing new visitors. According to Bill Ponte, Sports Museum President, tours of the Museum have been increasing since the new display which opened to the public on May 4.

"The baseball room covers all aspects of Hudson Valley baseball from Little Leagues through seniors. We also have some artifacts from famous players, such as a bat used by Ty Cobb," he said.

The Sports Museum, which is in the historic Carnwath Farms in Wappinger, is open from 1 - 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Private tours can be arranged upon request.

Ponte would like to expand the hours, as well as provide more outreach to the community.

"Our biggest need right now is for more volunteers. We have openings for greeters and catalogers, but our greatest need is for clerical assistance. This would involve working with our board members on tasks such as correspondence, data processing, and updating member data bases." According to Ponte, a basic knowledge of Microsoft would be required, but additional training would be available from board members.

Also, the museum's refrigerator needs to be replaced. "If anyone has a refrigerator that is in good working condition, we would be happy to accept it," said Ponte.

For more information on the museum, or on volunteering, please call Bill or Barbara Ponte at 845-473-0903.
