Hopewell Junction fourth-grader Mario Vilardi headed to Augusta Qualifies for Drive, Chip and Putt National Finals

Ten-year-old Mario Vilardi, left, from Hopewell Junction, will play at the Augusta National Golf Club for the Drive, Chip and Putt National Finals. By Morgan E. Maier

Approaching the final stage of the Drive, Chip and Putt regional, 10-year-old Mario Vilardi of Hopewell Junction reminded himself to stay focused. In his fourth year competing in the annual junior golf competition, he had reached the third qualifying round for the first time.

Mario shined in the driving portion but stumbled on chipping, earning just a point for each of his first two attempts. With the pressure mounting, he knew his chances would come down to the putting green. Taking a deep breath, he cleared his mind and delivered under pressure—sinking two of three putts, including a crucial 15-footer. His third, a bold 30-foot attempt, rolled four feet past the hole but still secured valuable points.

That clutch putting performance brought his point total to 110, the top score in the Boys 10–11 age group and enough to punch his ticket to Augusta National Golf Club for the Drive, Chip and Putt National Finals.

Mario Vilardi, from Hopewell Junction, hits a shot on the golf course.

He will compete live on the Golf Channel on April 5, 2026, the Sunday before the Masters Tournament.

“Everyone struggles, but it’s about how you react to the struggle that will help you in the end,” said Mario’s mom, Louisa. “That’s exactly what happened for Mario. He thought it was over, but he battled back.”

His father, David, who first introduced him to the game, agreed: “He was disappointed after chipping, feeling like he might have blown his opportunity, but he bounced back on the putting green. That’s golf.”

The Drive, Chip and Putt competition, sponsored by the PGA of America, the Masters Tournament, and the USGA, challenges junior golfers ages 7–15 in three disciplines. Each participant gets three attempts at driving, chipping, and putting—nine total shots, no mulligans, no do-overs.

East Fishkill board, Rotary honor hometown businesses

By Kristine Coulter

The East Fishkill Town Board, in cooperation with the East Fishkill Rotary Club and East Fishkill Economic Development Director Patrick Manning, presented the second round of the East Fishkill Business Milestone Awards. The awards were presented at the Board’s most recent meeting. The awards honor businesses that have been opened in East Fishkill for more than 20 years.

“This is a wonderful achievement,” said Town of East Fishkill Supervisor Nick D’Alessandro. It is a huge feat, noted the supervisor, adding that he knows, as he previously owned a business for decades.

“This is the least we can do for our local businesses,” said D’Alessandro.

Dr. Joseph Olmo, from Mid-Hudson Chiropractic Health Services, Inc., 1075 Route 82, was honored for 21 years of “dedicated” service, said D’Alessandro.

Hudson Highlands Veterinary Medical Group, located at 222 Lime Kiln Road, was honored.

“Congratulations to Hudson Highlands for 21 years of business in our community,” said the supervisor.

Dr. Twila A. Whitefield, from Hudson Highlands Veterinary Medical Group, stated, “It’s been a pleasure to serve in a community that has been so good to us. Not only do we have wonderful clients...and patients too...but the community has supplied us with talented veterinary staff for the past 50 plus years. We currently have about a dozen employees who have been with us for over 20 years and one for 52 years! They are the reason for our success as a service business.”

Blue Foundation Restaurant, 826 Route 376, was congratulated on 31 years of business in East Fishkill.

East Fishkill Councilman Emanuele Marinaro accepted the award for his family members.

Marinaro remembered, “It was a small place.” He said, “We worked very hard to get it to where it is today.”

Marinaro added, “I want to thank the community on my brothers’ behalf and my family’s behalf. God bless you.”

Stormville Pizza, 198 Route 261, has been in business for 34 years.

“As a former pizza man, I can say ... it’s hard work to be on your feet for 12-14 hours a day, for 34 years,” said D’Alessandro.

Wappingers Falls business expo offers opportunity to ‘mega’ mingle

By Kristine Coulter

The Wappingers Falls Business and Professional Association (WFBPA) will host its Business Expo Mega Mingle on Friday, Oct. 10, from 5:30 – 7:30 p.m. at the River Valley Arts Center, 9 South Mesier Ave., in Wappingers Falls.

How will this Mingle event be different from others? “The Mega Mingle is our answer to the member businesses who don’t have a traditional brick and mortar or location. We want the community to come out and meet some of them and get to learn what services are available that perhaps you can’t see by driving by a building,” said Jackie Muller, president of the WFBPA.

Muller noted, “It’s important for the WFBPA to highlight businesses, all businesses, and especially those without a storefront, because some of them are the hidden treasures of our community. Their knowledge and professionalism go unrecognized because they are almost invisible, or perhaps drive by with their car logos too quick for community members to catch.”

Pictured are members of the Wappingers Falls Business and Professional Association board. The WFBPA will host its Business Expo Mega Mingle on October 10 in Wappingers Falls.

For Mario, the journey to Augusta is a family affair. His father and grandfather, who Mario is named after, often serve as his caddies, sharing a bond built on golf. His younger brother, Charlie, age seven, is also a competitive golfer, following closely in Mario's footsteps. The youngest in the family, two-year-old Angelo, already spends plenty of time at the course—though for now, he's happy to watch from the gallery.

"I could go out with my two kids, which we often do, and my father, and that's our foursome," David said. "It's a cool thing for us all to be able to play together."

David and his father last visited Augusta National a decade ago as spectators. This time, their trip will carry new meaning as they watch Mario compete on golf's greatest stage.

"Golf teaches me to never give up, and keep going," Mario said.

Representing Hopewell Junction, Dutchess County, and the state of New York, Mario will be the only boy from New York in his division at the National Finals. For him, the lesson learned on that putting green, resilience under pressure, may prove to be the most important shot of all.

The East Fishkill Town Board and Rotary Club of East Fishkill celebrated McHoul Funeral Home's 62 years of being in business.

"I'd just like to say a few comments about Mr. (Douglas) McHoul and Mrs. (Marikay) McHoul. They do so much for our community," remarked D'Alessandro. He noted the different elected and volunteer positions Mr. McHoul previously held.

"We were 21 when we moved here. Marikay was from Pawling, I was from Boston," said Douglas McHoul. "The first year we had 9 funerals. Now, we do over 300 funerals," he said.

"We've been here a long time," Mr. McHoul remarked. The funeral home has been run by the family for four generations now.

The Cannizzaro family from Hopewell Auto Parts, 420 Route 376, was honored next. On the company's website, it states, "Since 1959, the Cannizzaro Family has been helping you keep your vehicle running smoothly."

"Thank you to the East Fishkill Rotary Club and the East Fishkill Town Board for recognizing our Business with this award..." it was stated, in part, on the business' social media. They also thanked their employees and the community.

Philip J. Ortiz MFG Corp. was recognized as well.

"The Hopewell Inn - 150 years in our community," said D'Alessandro, who congratulated the Webers.

"Thank you to all our businesses. We will continue this. We are truly blessed," D'Alessandro said.

Wappingers Falls business expo offers opportunity to 'mega' mingle

One business that will be in attendance is MoldTec, LLC.

"MoldTec is an indoor air & water quality testing company. We offer consultations to anyone needing information on their homes or businesses concerning wellness," explained Jeffrey Ramsey, who is the owner/operator of MoldTec, LLC.

Michelle Martinetti, of River Valley Arts Center (RVAC) said, "River Valley Arts Center is really a community hub - a place where there's something for everyone. We're coming up on our fourth year in the space, and in that time we've grown into a home for an incredible variety of people and programs. We have 12 unique spaces that can be rented and used in any way you can imagine, from art studios and classrooms to our event hall and even a commissary kitchen.

"What makes us special is the mix of in-house programs and the many teachers, artists, wellness practitioners, and entrepreneurs who use RVAC as their home base. We take the stress of overhead off their shoulders and provide them with marketing support so they can focus on doing what they love. Right now, our residents include everyone from fiber artists and painters to massage therapists, martial arts instructors, tutors, music and theater teachers, yoga and dance fitness instructors, STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) and robotics leaders, expressive arts facilitators, and more."

Martinetti added, "At its heart, River Valley Arts Center is about opportunity and connection - bringing people together through the arts, wellness, education, and community events."

The "WFBPA has been a great way for MoldTec to gain exposure in the Dutchess County area and provides numerous continuous referrals," said Ramsey. The relationships gained are "priceless," he added.

Martinetti noted, "The WFBPA has been amazing with marketing support. They are consistently sharing our posts and events. I've also made several connections through the WFBPA that have become program leaders at the center."

If one attends, Muller said, "expect to gain knowledge, receive takeaways and information that may be relevant to a current or future need, and connect with others in the community." One can also learn about the WFBPA happenings, scholarships, and upcoming events that they can become involved.

A variety of businesses will be at the Mingle, said Muller.

Group applauds Fishkill supervisor, board for 'proactive' efforts

To the Editor:

Our group applauds Town Supervisor Ozzy Albra and the Fishkill Town Board for their proactive effort to dedicate a commemorative sign and Betsy Ross flag at the intersection of Route 9 and Van Wyck Lake Road as part of a ceremony set for Oct. 14, at 2:30 p.m. One hundred and twenty-eight years earlier at the same location, members of the DAR's Melzingah chapter emplaced a monument honoring the dead soldiers of the Revolutionary War. The 1897 placement of the monument was not random: it marked a soldiers' burial ground referenced in dozens of Revolutionary War unit muster rolls; recorded in early 19th Century historical accounts; and well-known to Fishkill residents of the time. Two recent archaeological examinations confirmed the burial ground's existence and identified a total of 14 burials at the site. Given that the 250th anniversary of the nation occurs next year and this sacred location has yet to be protected, this ceremony marks important recognition of Fishkill's role in the founding of the nation.

Valdés Smith is 'deeply committed' to lowering costs for families

To the Editor:

Dutchess County is fortunate to have a leader like Legislator Yvette Valdés Smith representing District 16 and serving as Minority Leader in the Legislature. Time and again, she has proven that she is deeply committed to lowering costs for families, protecting our environment, and making our communities stronger.

Yvette has been a consistent advocate for affordability, fighting to reduce county sales tax and supporting measures to lower property taxes. At a time when so many residents are feeling the pinch of rising costs, she has kept working families front and center.

Yvette also cosponsored legislation to expand county mental health services, and is invested in the health and wellness of our community.

Her leadership has delivered real results in our local communities. She helped secure grant funding for Beacon and Fishkill to support important cultural programming tied to the 250th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. And she has worked side by side with the Beacon City Council to improve the Beacon Free Loop bus service, giving residents a more reliable and accessible public transportation option.

Yvette Valdés Smith leads with integrity and heart. She has shown she is willing to take on the tough fights for affordability, safety, and opportunity in Dutchess County. We need more leaders like her who put people first and deliver for their communities. Vote for Yvette!

Wappinger Councilman Beale is qualified and experienced

To the Editor:

Town of Wappinger Councilman William Beale is the longest serving member of our Wappinger Town Board town board for a reason - he effectively represents the needs of our town and has a solid performance record. For the past 19 years, Councilman Beale has provided steady and consistent leadership within six administrations. He has maintained a 99% attendance and voting record at town board meetings, ensuring that our town's character is protected and services are maintained.

During our worst moments, Councilman Beale has been there. He has responded to many of our homes, including my own, in his over thirty years as a volunteer firefighter and emergency medical technician. As former fire chief of the Hughsonville Fire Department, he has been credited with risking his own life to save the life of a special needs child who was trapped in a burning home on Old Hopewell Road.

Under Councilman Beale's leadership and experience in municipal budgeting, our taxes have remained the lowest in southern Dutchess County. Our town tax rate remains far below our neighboring towns. As the cost of living continues to skyrocket - we can count on Councilman Beale to keep our taxes low.

Please join me in supporting Councilman William Beale on Tuesday, November 4th.

Melanie Chianese Foundation to host inaugural Community Day for Domestic Violence Awareness Oct. 11 in Wappinger

Come join the Melanie Chianese Foundation for a day of empowerment and support as we raise awareness for domestic violence in our community!

The Melanie Chianese Foundation in partnership with Town Supervisor Joseph D. Cavaccini, and the Town of Wappinger is hosting its inaugural Community Day for Domestic Violence Awareness on Saturday, Oct. 11, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Brexel-Schlathaus Park in Wappinger. There will be more than 60 vendors, food trucks, and local businesses lined up, including representatives from the Grace Smith House, Family Services, and other domestic violence resources that are available in our community. Live music will be performed by the GoodTime Charlies Band.

Melanie Chianese was murdered in her Wappingers Falls home by her mother's abusive ex-boyfriend on May 29, 2022. Melanie was just 29 and leaves behind her son, Myles. He was nonverbal and only three years old when he lost his mother.

In 2023, the Melanie Chianese Foundation was created to educate the community on domestic violence and empower victims to end the cycle of abuse. Because of Melanie, domestic violence laws were changed in the State of New York with the passage of Melanie's Law. Melanie's Law closes a dangerous loophole and allows judges to issue orders of protection to immediate family or household members of a victim of domestic violence regardless of age.

Melanie was studying Human Services at Dutchess Community College and was one semester away from completing the requirements for her degree. She was studying to become a certified alcohol and substance abuse counselor. Dutchess Community College awarded Melanie with a Posthumous Degree at what should have been her graduation in May 2023.

Three years ago, the Melanie Chianese Memorial Scholarship at Dutchess Community College was formed. The scholarship awards a student in the Human Services program with $750 to help them reach their academic goals and carry on the work that Melanie dreamed of doing. This is a forever and recurring scholarship with the college. Therefore, all proceeds from Community Day for Domestic Violence Awareness will go back to our community and help college students reach their full potential while keeping Melanie's memory alive.

Ex-Renegades hurler Schlittler shines in playoff game with Yanks

Former Hudson Valley Renegades pitcher Cam Schlittler became the first pitcher in Major League Baseball postseason history to fire at least eight scoreless innings with at least 12 strikeouts without permitting a walk in the New York Yankees playoff victory over the Cleveland Guardians last week. He also set a new franchise record for strikeouts by a Yankee in his postseason debut, outdoing 10-K performances by Red Ruffing (1932 World Series Game 1 vs. Cubs) and Dave Righetti (1981 ALDS Game 2 at Brewers).

"You feel dominant out there," Schlittler said. "I didn't really know how many strikeouts I was at, but it's a good feeling, being able to put those guys away."

Dutchess County Conservative Party elects officers

The Dutchess County Conservative Party held its biennial re-organization meeting on Saturday, Sept. 27 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Fishkill. According to New York State law, this meeting must take place in order to establish a legal bonafide county committee with a slate of officers and by-laws approved.

Out of 161 legally elected county committee members, over 75% participated in person or by proxy vote. Re-elected chairman Don Minichino "That's a great turnout and it shows the interest in our party and the conservative movement overall, is getting stronger." Minichino was challenged by Emanuele Marinaro.

The 2025 County Conservative Party's officers elected:

Don Minichino	chairman	(East Fishkill)
Rex Bridges	Vice Chairman	(Rhinebeck)
Phil Polizotto	Vice Chairman	(Poughkeepsie)
Linda Cebrian	Secretary	(Rhinebeck)
Terri Sheehan	Treasurer	(Poughkeepsie).

Free Veterans Picnic on October 18

The office of Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino and office of Veterans Affairs invite all veterans to the "Red, White and You" Veterans Appreciation Picnic from 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 18 at James Baird State Park. The rain or shine event is open to veterans and one guest. It will include free BBQ from Tavern 23 and live music by "The String Masters."

Youth programs encouraged to take County survey by Oct. 17

Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino has announced the County is conducting a comprehensive assessment and inventory of afterschool opportunities as part of the Youth Opportunity Union (YOU) initiative. The YOU connects young people throughout Dutchess County to safe, supportive places where they can play, learn and grow, through recreational, educational, and wellness programs.

"Afterschool programs aren't just activities-they're places where children feel safe, supported, and inspired to grow," said Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino, "They help kids discover their strengths, build confidence, and from friendship that last a lifetime, while also giving families the support they need. This assessment is an important step to ensure our county's programs are strong, accessible and well-supported."

Modeled after the Poughkeepsie Children's Cabinet's effort to map afterschool programs in the City of Poughkeepsie, this countywide assessment will provide a clearer picture of programs available across Dutchess. Surveys have been sent to school superintendents, municipal leaders, and afterschool program providers to help identify current opportunities and highlight where additional support may be needed. Organizations that offer youth programming outside of school - including before- and after-school care, weekend or holiday activities, or summer camps - are encouraged to complete the survey by Oct. 17, online at www.DutchessNY.gov/afterschool-inventory.

The survey asks providers to share information on availability, curriculum, seasonal offerings, staffing, capacity, age groups served and costs, as well as possible program needs and priorities. Responses will help the County identify gaps and guide future investments in youth activities, including funding opportunities such as the County Executive Serino's YOU Drop-In Center Grant program.

All youth programs are encouraged to participate. For more information about the afterschool programs inventory, call the County Executive's Office at 845-486-2000 or email CountyExec@dutchessny.gov.

County Comptroller releases audit report of 'Learn, Play Create' grant program

The Dutchess County Comptroller's Office has released its audit report of the "Learn, Play, Create: Supporting Our Kids," (LPC) grant initiative that began with the influx of federal COVID-19 funds in 2021. An initial $3 million in American Rescue Plan (ARP) funds were allocated by the Legislature to local, youth-serving non-profit organizations. While it is not considered best practice for government entities to make advance payments, the LPC awards were distributed in one-time payments prior to services rendered. Amounts up to $50,000 were awarded to libraries and up to $20,000 awarded to arts and athletic organizations.

Due to the program's popularity, an additional $1.2 million in non-COVID-19 funding was used as a means of expanding the grant initiative. The LPC grant program was overseen and administered by the Dutchess County Department of Planning & Development, with final approval for all grant awards made by the County Executive.

The Comptroller's Office identified inconsistencies with application guidance and instructions, which were revised 5 times during the 2021-2022 period. The Office also found that 100% of the projects sampled had contracts executed after the contract term began. The Comptroller's Office continues to recommend that all efforts be made to resolve the discrepancies with contract execution and start of services, as well as an effort to ensure that all published internal and external documentation related to grant disbursement have clear and concise language to avoid misinterpretation.

"While the County is unlikely to engage in advance one-time grant payments again, this report identifies issues that illustrate why government should pay for goods and services after they are delivered. I hope that our findings and recommendations regarding Learn, Play, and Create can be applied to future grant programs offered by the County, particularly with regards to consistent application guidance," said Comptroller Dan Aymar-Blair. "Both for the effective stewardship of taxpayer funds, as well as the success of our non-profit partners."

The Hudson Valley Depression Glass Club began in 1972 in Walden by founding members Elinor Eignor, Bill & Ada

Metzing, and Gene & Mickey Meier. The purpose of the club was to bring community members and collectors together to gain knowledge and promote any glass manufactured in America from 1920 through the 1940's known as Depression Era Glass. Some 20 different companies produced clear and colored glass during this period such as Hazel Atlas, Hocking, Indiana, Fenton, Federal, and Westmoreland.

While the club has continued this tradition for the last 53 years, it has grown to now include all 20th-century American glass companies and items such as American pottery companies, some well-known ones are Roseville, McCoy, Hall, Shawnee, Spaulding and Haegar, American China companies such as Blue Ridge, Franciscan, Lenox, Lotus ware, Pickard, Homer Laughlin and Bauer, and vintage kitchen items and accessories.

The Hudson Valley Depression Glass Club will present a wide variety of clear and colored glass at its' Fall Show on Oct. 11 in Beacon.

Downtown Poughkeepsie BID launches local leadership team, lays groundwork amid broader City Revitalization effort

The newly established Downtown Poughkeepsie Business Improvement District (BID) is moving ahead. Since receiving approval from the Poughkeepsie Common Council earlier this year, the BID Steering Committee has been working to shape a sustainable, community-focused organization that will begin full operations in 2026.

The BID's formation comes at a pivotal moment for the City of Poughkeepsie. With millions in state funding awarded through the Downtown Revitalization Initiative (DRI), several large-scale projects already in progress, and a renewed focus on public space and safety, the city is experiencing a wave of momentum. The BID is designed to complement and strengthen that progress.

"This is an exciting time for Poughkeepsie," said Mayor Yvonne Flowers. "We're seeing long-awaited investments and projects come to life across the city. The launch of the Downtown BID marks another critical step in our revitalization efforts. It reflects the dedication of local stakeholders who are committed to creating a downtown that is safe, beautiful, and full of opportunity. I look forward to partnering with the BID to deliver results for our community."

Since early 2025, the BID Steering Committee has made significant progress in establishing the organization's structure. The group has finalized bylaws, elected interim officers, and completed conflict-of-interest disclosures for all board members. With leadership now in place, the BID is focusing on priorities including beautification, branding, staffing, and stakeholder engagement.

The initial Board brings together local property owners, business leaders, and nonprofit professionals who share a commitment to the downtown's future. They include the following officers and board members: Jim Sullivan, President, Property Owner, JSullivan Corporation, Trish Santini, Vice President, Nonprofit Director and Tenant, Empire Training Center for the Arts, Jay Blumenfeld, Treasurer, Property Owner, Chai Developers, Russell Beck, Secretary, Business Owner, 1915 Wine Bar.

Board Members MaryVaughn Williams and Jillian Grano, Property and Business Owners, Canvas and Clothier, Doug Nobiletti, Property Owner, Laura Belfiore Property Owner and Business Owner, Curio Cabinet of the Hudson Valley.

Three additional board seats will be filled by representatives appointed by the Mayor, the Common Council, and the City's Chief Financial Officer.

Investing in Downtown's Future

The BID Board is already working to improve the downtown experience. A request for proposals has been issued for a branding and identity initiative that will help define the visual and cultural identity of Downtown Poughkeepsie. The BID is also partnering with City officials to align goals around safety, beautification, and economic development.

Additional early efforts include planning the location of new EV charging stations and preparing recommendations to modernize the City's sign code to better support small businesses and property owners.

Burn Ban in effect through Oct. 15

Gov. Kathy Hochul and the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) issued a statewide burn ban on Oct. 2, due to increased fire risk and continued dry conditions. The ban is in effect through Oct. 15 and will be re-evaluated prior to expiration.

New Yorkers can help prevent fires in communities and in the back country by complying with the prohibition on most outdoor fires and protect water supplies by continuing to conserve water whenever possible.

The statewide burn ban now in effect prohibits the starting of outdoor fires for purposes of brush and debris disposal, as well as all uncontained fires, including campfires, and open fires used for cooking. Backyard fire pits and contained campfires less than three feet in height and four feet in length, width or diameter are allowed, as are small, contained cooking fires. Burning garbage or leaves is already prohibited year-round in New York State and several municipalities have burn bans currently in effect.

The Eastern States Exposition, better known as "The Big E," is the largest agricultural event in the Northeast, often described as the New York State Fair for all six New England states. For farms and exhibitors across the region, it's a chance to showcase their best animals, test their skills, and connect with the wider agricultural community.

Dutchess County 4-H youth are no strangers to the Big E. Many attend, some compete, and a few even make it to the top of their classes. But there's one unique honor that belongs solely to Dutchess County: "Here Comes the Beef" is the only 4-H club outside of New England permitted to participate in the official 4-H Beef Show. This distinction highlights the club's long-standing commitment to youth livestock programs and its reputation across state lines.

This year, two of our members, Riley Mahaffey and Henry Skuza, represented their club and county at the Big E, and their results were nothing short of outstanding. Riley earned Reserve Champion Steer, Reserve Overall Showman, and the Sportsmanship Award, while also placing 1st in both individual judging and senior sweepstakes. She added 2nd place in Bred & Owned, senior record book, and senior advertisement to her impressive tally. Henry had a standout show as well, capturing Overall Heifer, Overall Simmental Heifer, and placing 3rd Overall in Showmanship.

Together, Riley and Henry not only brought home top honors but also demonstrated the spirit of dedication, teamwork, and excellence that defines Dutchess County 4-H. Their achievements are a testament to months of preparation and care, as well as the support of their club, families, and leaders.

For Dutchess County, it was another proud moment on a regional stage, and a reminder that agriculture truly is our culture.

By Morgan E. Maier John Jay rolls to 5-0 record with 37-27 win over New Rochelle

If football only counted after halftime, John Jay would have lost its Oct. 3 contest. New Rochelle outscored them 14-6 in the closing 24 minutes, but it hardly endangered the Patriots' path towards their 5-0 record. Their 31 first half points in the first half more than covered the difference against New Rochelle's 13. It was a John Jay runaway, but their 5-0 record didn't come without a fight from the purple-clad home team. Patriots quarterback Logan Lawrence threw for 370 yards and four touchdowns in the win.

Beacon stays perfect in boys' soccer league play

Facing the Monticello Panthers, Beacon's Bulldogs had a .500 overall record and an undefeated league streak on the line. Following a 0-0 tie to Liberty, Beacon's agenda was twofold: capture a winning record and earn an undefeated week. The following 3-1 victory marked a return to the Bulldogs' winning ways, as they hover above .500 with a 4-3 overall record. The win also marked Beacon's third straight conference win. Vicente Maldonado had the lone goal for Monticello.

Bulldogs down FDR in football, 35-15

Beacon football had a decisive win over the Roosevelt Presidents, outscoring FDR by 20 on the Bulldogs' own turf. Delano Rigby Jr. threw a 50-yard touchdown to Elijah Epps, the exclamation point on a dazzling day for Rigby. The sophomore quarterback was 12/15 for 137 passes and threw a second touchdown to Ramonsito Soto. Epps brought in a rushing touchdown and converted a key two-point play to keep Beacon on top. Jaden Jones joined the scoring from the other side, running back a 46-yard interception for six points on Beacon's board. Jones also recovered a fumble. Rigby accounted for 209 (137 passing, 72 rushing) of Beacon's 367 total yards.

Marist University and DCC forge seamless transition for transfer students seeking Bachelor's Degree in Crime and Justice Studies

Marist University and Dutchess Community College (DCC) have signed a new agreement that simplifies the transfer process for students pursuing careers in crime and justice studies and seeking a 4-year degree.

Under the agreement, students who complete an Associate in Science (A.S.) degree in Criminal Justice at DCC that meet the grade point average course requirement will be able to transfer all earned credits to Marist University and complete a Bachelor's degree in Crime & Justice Studies in just two years as full-time students. This partnership reflects both institutions' commitment to supporting student success and expanding access to higher education.

The agreement removes uncertainty for students and allows them to plan their academic journey with confidence that allows them to seamlessly pursue four-year degrees. A Crime and Justice Studies major prepares students for careers across various sectors of the justice system, including federal, state, and local law enforcement, courts, and corrections. Additional career paths may include the law, social work, social justice advocacy, public policy, and government.

"We are delighted to offer another opportunity for DCC students to transfer seamlessly into a major in our School," said Dr. Deborah Gatins, Dean of Marist's School of Social and Behavioral Sciences. "Creating pathways for bachelor's degrees at lower costs supports our mission to engage with our local community and provide meaningful programs that may lead to personal fulfillment and career success."

Dr. Raymond M. Houston, Vice President for Instruction and Learning at Dutchess Community College, added: "We are thrilled to partner with Marist University to create a seamless pathway in Crime and Justice Studies for our students, ensuring they can continue their education and build successful careers."

This agreement enables Dutchess Community College students to track their progress toward a Marist degree while completing their studies at DCC. By participating, students can plan their academic pathways more confidently and transfer up to 70 credits directly toward their Marist degree. This new pathway agreement builds upon existing transfer agreements between Marist and DCC in Business, Social Work, and the Visual Arts, which open up pathways to degrees that lead to careers in fields such as accounting, marketing, counseling, community outreach, graphic design, animation and digital art

Sheep-raising in Dutchess County: From early days to today's festival

Down but not out. George S. Van Vliet is shown with his sheep at his Pleasant Plains farm in 1916. Then, as now, the local sheep population was dramatically down, but not gone.

-DCHS Van Vliet Collection.

Maps from "A Brief History of the Sheep Industry" published in 1921 show the density of the sheep population across the country in 1840 and 1900. During this period, Dutchess County moved from being at the center of activity, to being peripheral. The inset shows New York State.

Introduction by Melodye Moore

When the gates of the Dutchess County Fairgrounds open on October 18th for the annual New York State Sheep and Wool Festival, thousands of fiber-loving individuals from across America and abroad will pour onto the grounds in search of all things wooly.

What started out in 1980 as a bred ewe sale by local shepherds has grown through the years to become one of, if not the, largest such festival in the country. The website of the Dutchess County Sheep and Wool Growers Association, organizers of the event, state that in 2024 approximately 30,000 visitors and more than 300 vendors were in attendance.

The shepherds who were motivated to create the first sale are the direct descendants of previous sheep farmers who made Dutchess County and the Hudson Valley fertile ground for these beloved animals.

While sheep-raising was common and widespread on the average farm in the Hudson Valley in the 18th century, it was Chancellor Robert Livingston of Clermont who launched a new era of fine wool production in America when in 1802 he imported two Merino sheep from France. In 1809 he published an "Essay on Sheep" which promoted the high quality of the breed. A mania for the breed ensued and while common sheep sold for $2 each some Merino rams were being sold for as much as $1,500. The mania was unsustainable and by the early 1830s sheep farming had returned to a more realistic model. In Dutchess County the heyday of sheep farming was in the 1820s and 1830s.

The below reprinted article written by Helen Wilkinson Reynolds and published in the 1941 edition of the Dutchess County Historical Society's annual Yearbook paints a vivid picture of the times.

By Helen Wilkinson Reynolds, 1941, DCHS Yearbook

"On the first farms of Dutchess the raising of sheep was an important part of the work of the owner. This was because each farm of the period of the pioneers was an economic unit, which produced almost everything that the family living on it ate or wore, and the wool from the sheep was one of the principal materials used for clothing. As the population increased and the county became prosperous flocks of sheep became larger until in the early nineteenth century sheep-raising in Dutchess advanced beyond the point of merely meeting the needs of home-consumption and came to be an important export-business. The export of wool from Dutchess continued on a large scale until the middle 1840's when, sad to relate, the amount of wool produced began to dwindle and the export business finally died out.

"Today, when enquiry is made among older residents of the county, asking the reason why the sheep-raising industry disappeared from Dutchess, men like Isaac Smith Wheaton of Lithgow and George S. Van Vliet of Pleasant Plains tell of the local tradition that the decline was due to losses suffered by the attacks made on the flocks by roving dogs; it used to be said that so many sheep were killed that profits were wiped out and owners discouraged. The losses from this cause were certainly large and testimony to them is borne not only by tradition but by such contemporary items in the newspaper as the one which may be read in the Dutchess Intelligencer for November 18, 1829, column 6, which says:

'Dogs among Sheep. - We understand that much injury has been done in the east part of the town of Poughkeepsie during the last week by dogs attacking several flocks of sheep. One farmer alone lost about thirty. Some time last winter a cow, belonging to the Methodist clergyman in this village was attacked by dogs and nearly killed. We think some efficient measures should be taken if practicable to protect our farmers from injury from the great number of vicious dogs which are kept in this village and about the country by persons who have no use for them and who are unable to pay for the injury they may do.'

"Great as was the loss of sheep from the depredations of vicious dogs, the dogs were not however the sole cause of the decline of sheep-raising in Dutchess. Originally a home-industry, sheep-raising assumed a commercial character when, as stated above, the export of wool to outside markets began. Export was induced by the fact that many mills were established early in the nineteenth century in the states along the Atlantic seaboard for the manufacture of woolen cloth. Statistics show that the mills drew their stocks of wool very largely from an area of which Dutchess County was an important portion and the business thus created prospered over a period of years. In 1837 about twenty-five per cent of all the sheep in the United States were in the state of New York. In 1840 thirty-five per cent were in New York and Vermont. But the commercial sheep-raising in the East began to feel the competition of sheep-raising in the West in the middle 1840's and ultimately the West eclipsed the East in the industry and eastern sheep pastures began to be utilized for dairy-farming. Thus, dogs locally, and economic conditions in the country as a whole, combined to put an end to the wool business in Dutchess.

"Some idea of the size and value of a good flock in Dutchess in the prosperous 1820's is obtainable from items in the inventory of the estate of Judge Isaac Smith of Lithgow, furnished the writer by Judge Smith's great-grandson, Isaac Smith Wheaton. Under date: January 5, 1826, the inventory lists -

- 6,195 sheep; bucks, ewes, wethers, lambs $22,574.25
- 2 Saxony bucks and one ewe at cost 770.00
- 250 lbs. pulled wool at 30c 75.00
- 100 lbs. sacks of wool at 18c 18.00
- 488 lbs of wool with the manufacturers at 30c 146.40
- 84 wool sacks at Boston 31.50

"That Dutchess County was one of the chief centers of the production of wool at the peak of the prosperity of the industry in the East in 1840 is shown by a map of the areas in the United States in which in 1840 wool was being raised. The map may be consulted at page 181 of a Brief History of the Sheep Industry in the United States, written by L.G. Connor and printed in the Annual Report of the American Historical Association for 1918 (vol. I, pp. 89 - 197). Mr. Connor's monograph is an exhaustive treatment of his subject, filled with detail, and is recommended to those interested in the economic history of Dutchess County as a good background for that history."

Summary

After 1840, the dominance of sheep-raising in America moved westerly and in Dutchess County dairy farming became more prominent. The 2022 USDA Agricultural Census for Dutchess County enumerated 1049 sheep and lambs - a far cry from the 6195 sheep roaming the Lithgow fields. But, when driving the back roads of Dutchess County today one can still find a hill dotted with sheep and the shepherds will be at the Sheep and Wool Festival showing off their animals and peddling their products.

County awards $2.45M from second round of Housing Trust Fund

Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino has announced $2.45 million in funding from the Dutchess County's Housing Trust Fund (HTF) which will help to develop and/or preserve more than 100 affordable housing rental units as part of four housing projects in Amenia and Poughkeepsie.

Serino said, "Everyone deserves safe, stable housing that they can afford. Dutchess County is proud to partner with local builders and developers interested in creating not just buildings, but strong communities that support individuals and families. I'm excited to see these projects come to life, offering housing options that genuinely connect with people's needs and offer real opportunities for safe, secure homes they can truly call their own."

Serino met with local housing professionals at a HTF Applicant Workshop earlier this year to encourage new projects, both large and small, in all areas of Dutchess County. Smaller housing projects were encouraged, particularly in more rural communities where small unit projects can have a meaningful impact on rental availability.

Four affordable rental housing projects were funded through the Housing Creation & Preservation (HCP) component of the HTF, totaling $2.45 million:

The Clinton Crest, 15 N Clinton Street, City of Poughkeepsie – $550,000

Rehabilitation that expands an existing 4-unit multifamily building by adding 4 new 2-bedroom units. Three units will be reserved for households earning up to 60% of area median income (AMI) and one unit for households earning up to 80% AMI. This project has received all land use approvals.

8 Powder House Road, Amenia – $200,000

New construction of a duplex with two 2-bedroom units for households earning up to 60% AMI. This project responds to a housing gap in northeastern Dutchess County and could serve as a model for similar small-scale development in rural northeast Dutchess County.

Dutchess County Legislature Majority Leader Deirdre Houston said, "Expanding affordable housing throughout Dutchess County is a top priority, and I'm proud to support these new units coming to Amenia, where even small projects make a big impact. I share County Executive Serino's efforts to ensure residents have safe, secure housing they can afford, and I look forward to seeing the benefit these new units will have on those who need them."

Morgan Avenue Apartments, Morgan Avenue, City of Poughkeepsie – $1,000,000

New construction of 2 buildings with a total of 9 units, 8 2-bedroom and 1 1-bedroom units. Seven units will be supported by this award, one 1-bedroom and six 2-bedroom units. Five units will be for households earning up to 60% AMI, and two units will be for households earning up to 80% AMI.

Windows on Main, 488 Main Street, Poughkeepsie - $700,000

New construction of an 81-unit building on the site of an existing laundromat. This project will have 20 studio units, 42 1-bedroom units and 19 2-bedroom units. Units for households earning up to 50% AMI include 4 studio units, 16 1-bedroom units and 4 2-bedroom units. Units for households earning up to 60% AMI include, 11 studio units, 21 1-bedroom units and 10 2-bedroom units. Units for households earning up to 100% AMI include 5 studio units, 5 1-bedroom units and 5 2-bedroom units. The laundromat has signed a lease to rent the first floor of the building, post-construction.

Legislator Randy Johnson said, "These projects, supported by the County's Housing Trust Fund, will bring more affordable housing to our community. I look forward to these housing units making a real impact in Dutchess County, and I thank my fellow legislators and County Executive Serino for her continued support of our Housing Trust Fund."

The HTF-supported units will be available to households with incomes between 30-80% of the Dutchess County Average Median Income (AMI). Based on U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development data, Dutchess County's current AMI, per household size, is as follows:

For example, using current AMI, the new affordable rental units to be created could be available to single renters with annual income between $25,830 (30% of $86,100) and $68,880 (80% of $86,100). A household with 3 people could qualify for these affordable housing units if its household income ranged between $33,210 (30% of the $110,700 AMI) and $88,560 (80% of $110,700 AMI). *AMI is updated annually, so eligible income ranges would adjust accordingly.

The County's HTF was established to provide a flexible and nimble funding source to aid the implementation of a variety of affordable housing efforts, as recommended in the 2022 Dutchess County Housing Needs Assessment, targeting affordability for low- and moderate-income residents throughout the County. The HCP program component of the HTF seeks to create and preserve affordable rental units, as the Housing Needs Assessment identified renters earning less than $50,000 as those facing the greatest housing challenges.

Earlier this year, the first project supported by the HTF, a three-unit affordable housing development in the City of Poughkeepsie, welcomed three families; several other projects supported by the first round of HTF funding are in various stages of development.

More detailed information on program priorities, requirements, regulations and guidance is available online: <https://www.dutchessny.gov/Departments/Planning/Docs/HCP-Policies-and-Procedures-for-2nd-Funding-Round.pdf>.

Appreciate the ‘true magic’ in daily things

That’s a line from Alice Hoffman’s novel “Practical Magic” and the 1998 movie of the same name. I couldn’t agree more. From a young age, I understood that there was magic in the world, things we may not understand but are no less so: things happening after being intensely thought (or prayed) about, people being drawn to each other, the beauty of a sunset, the miracle of birth – surely these things are proof of that. But the older I get, the more I understand and appreciate the true magic in everyday things and ordinary tasks.

Maybe you’re familiar with the tradition of a kitchen witch. And no, I’m not talking about my self-proclaimed nickname, but rather the Scandinavian or Germanic tradition of placing a witch doll in the kitchen so that goodness and protection would be ever-present. While the representation of said witch was often a stereotypical one – long, crooked nose, pointy hat and broom – she was a good witch whose magic would prevent any mischief wrought by bad witches: pots wouldn’t boil over, bread would rise, milk wouldn’t curdle and cakes wouldn’t burn. She would also counteract any ill-will or bad intention to the home she graced and the people within, infusing not just the kitchen, but the entire house with warmth, welcome and happiness.

It’s a well-intended tradition that no doubt began in a more superstitious time, but there’s something about it that resonates today. I’ve come to view the kitchen as a rather sacred place where practical magic happens. It’s the heart of the home, where nourishment for body and soul is prepared, ingredients put together in ways that enhance, heal and delight. Every time we stir a pot, make a pie, add seasoning or set a table, we’re creating a little magic of our own. The love and care we put into everything we cook up in our kitchens is its own form of magic, a timeless and time-honored way to nurture and show our love. The kitchen in that way is a mystical realm where everyday tasks take on a more sacred meaning.

Have you ever gotten lost in the rhythms of kneading dough or been soothed by the repetition of whisking a sauce into smooth perfection? Have you noticed that when you pour yourself passionately into the very act of preparing a meal, as opposed to just throwing something together, that the result elicits pleasure from those you serve it to? Do you frequent farmers markets and get a little carried away selecting fresh, seasonal produce or delight in using herbs picked from your garden? Or maybe you’ve lost track of time while creating a new recipe, polishing silver or arranging a centerpiece. You might just be a kitchen witch yourself!

A favorite scene from “Practical Magic” (the movie) sees the sisters (two aunts and two nieces) dancing around the kitchen island where a blender whirs up a late-night concoction. If you’ve seen it, you know Midnight Margaritas are iconic. The scene starts with the aunts reciting a spell as they add ingredients to an as-yet unseen vessel before flipping the switch on the blender, which wakes and summons their sleeping nieces, after which a lovely debauchery ensues. While not in the book version, it’s an effective, albeit campy, way to show how coming together in the kitchen has its own power. (I have to confess that if I had nieces I would TOTALLY have done this myself.) That’s really the over-arching theme of both versions in a way, and speaks to my point.

My hope, and one of the main reasons I write these articles in the first place, is that anyone can find enchantment in the kitchen, the heart of the home, and discover something special and spiritual in ordinary tasks made extraordinary. The process of creating, serving and eating wonderful food is no small thing and as such, the kitchen should be regarded as a sanctuary, a place of peace where love is added to every dish just as you sprinkle in spices and herbs. I learned this from my mother and my grandmothers, whose magical gifts inspire me every time I cook.

But along with that hope comes another: that those who are fortunate enough to take in the nourishment we provide appreciate it and the effort it takes. We should all be thankful for the choices we have, the food on our tables and those who prepare it. Even for those of us who do not view cooking as a chore, it takes a lot of thought, work, planning and time; and when we know that’s acknowledged it goes a long way and feeds us right back. If you don’t cook, that may be something you don’t think of or just take for granted, but it’s hard to deny that cooking is, indeed, a mystical art even if we don’t consciously intend it to be.

So, yes, there is magic in the world, in our daily lives, in our kitchens. The things we create and the love we put into everything we do holds power and puts it out to the wider world. Anything done with love and good intention comes back to us tenfold; and maybe through the miracle of putting ingredients together in creative ways we prove there is a little witch in all of us, that we all have the ability to do good and cast spells through our efforts and with love.

To paraphrase a character from “Practical Magic,” there’s a few things I’ve learned in life: “Always throw spilled salt over your left shoulder. Keep rosemary by your garden gate. Add pepper to your mashed potatoes. Plant roses and lavender, for luck. Fall in love whenever you can.”

Put love into everything you do, honor the harvest and live a delicious life. These are magical gifts best shared.

Happy October!

Quakers in Dutchess County

Touring local history, a disappointing 'leaf peeping' season, and more...

Last chance! November 2 is the last day to tour four Dutchess County Quaker meeting houses, noon to 4 p.m. So far, 800 visitors have taken advantage of this unique opportunity to explore an essential chapter of our local heritage, courtesy of some support from the Dutchess County Legislature and a cadre of volunteer docents.

Sue and I stopped in at the Creek Meeting House in Clinton Corners this past Sunday. I had been planning to explore some prime fall foliage sites, but after a trip upstate I realized that we are in for one of the most disappointing "leaf peeping" seasons in recent memory, thanks to the hot, dry weather. The Quaker meeting house tours are part of Dutchess County's celebration of our nation's sesquicentennial.

Craig Marshall, vice president of the Clinton Historical Society, says that at one time Dutchess County was home to the largest population of Quakers outside of Pennsylvania. Of course, the Quaker faith remains vibrant in our community. Quakers meet every Sunday at Oakwood Friends School in Poughkeepsie and all are welcome to join. According to their website, Quakers emphasize the inner light, personal experience of God, and peaceful living. They also embrace social change, environmental activism and community outreach as part of their continuing spiritual journey.

Docents Craig Marshall and Bronwyn Bevan (who is the sister-in-law of 1970s punk rocker Richard Hell) showed us around the Creek Meeting House in Clinton Corners. 250 years ago, almost everyone in central Dutchess County was a Quaker. They were farmers, raising wheat and milling flour until the Erie Canal, completed in 1825, brought a flood of grain from western New York. Then they became dairy farmers, shipping milk and butter on the newly constructed railroad.

Quakers refused to take sides during the American Revolution, raising suspicion that they were British sympathizers. A prominent local Quaker, Paul Upton (of Upton Lake fame) was imprisoned for a few months, accused of carrying secret messages to the British.

With their emphasis on non-violence, equal rights for all, including women, temperance, and abolition of slavery, the Quakers helped to shape Dutchess County society, a legacy that continues to this day.

• Autumn leaves – Mike Bouton, former executive director at the Clark Foundation in Cooperstown, N.Y., calls the fall foliage "muted." Foliage bus tours are still running, but the tourists are underwhelmed, as the autumn leaves are drying and falling before they color up.

• Vassar College trees – there used to be a map identifying 230 trees, all labeled, on the Vassar College campus. I still have a copy of the map, but the labels are gone, along with some of the trees. Recently a few labels have been replaced, for example, on the Pin Oak in front of the Main Building, which, planted in 1869, is the oldest tree on campus. The famous gigantic London Plane Tree between Main and the Library was planted in 1906.

• Garden Large – Julia and Duncan Brine's six acres of intuitive naturalistic landscape in Pawling will be open for a tour sponsored by the Garden Conservatory on October 18, 1-5 p.m. Brine will be providing classical piano music for the event. Don't miss it.

• Spotted Lantern Fly – So far, they haven't caused any significant damage, unless you parked your car under a tree of heaven. Check out my live recording of "Spotted Lantern Fly Blues" on TikTok.

• Amenia Day – I'm making a "rare small club appearance" at Amenia Day, 12:30 p.m. on October 18, playing mostly folk music with a couple of DEVO tunes thrown in.

Pastor Drew brings gospel and teaching to Hudson Valley

Drew Robison has been preaching the gospel and teaching Bible classes for nearly 30 years. He received his preaching training in Fort Worth, Texas and graduated from the Brown Trail School of Preaching in 1998. He has conducted a number of gospel meetings for Churches of Christ and performed evangelism efforts in Los Angeles, San Diego, CA, Moss Point, MS, Hurley, MS, Grand Bay, AL, Little Rock, AR, Carlsbad, NM, and other states and cities. His wife, Sandy also received her ministerial training at the same preaching school and has continued to be a big part of spreading the gospel of Christ.

Drew's secular education includes a Bachelor's in Management Communications and a Masters in Human Services with a Specialization in Counseling Studies. For over 15 years, he formerly worked in the field of Case Management addressing the needs of the homeless and helping people with addiction related issues. He has also conducted research and training tours for the Probation Department's rehabilitation programs.

Drew attended a prestigious acting Academy in Los Angeles. Famous actors such as Robert De Niro, Melanie Griffith, Marlon Brando and a host of other well known entertainers, also attended the Academy. Drew said that he left the Hollywood scene, 30 years ago to preach the gospel. He emphasized that this decision was because he weighed the hope of a heavenly home as far greater riches than any earthly achievements (for example, Oscars and Grammy, etc).

Drew believes in preaching and teaching the whole counsel of God (Acts 20:26-27) and emphasized that all scripture is giving by inspiration of God and has great benefit for the saving of men and women's eternal souls (2 Timothy 3:16-17). This is the message that he hopes to bring to Southern Dutchess County.

Although he is no longer in music and acting as a profession, Drew said that he has written over 50 songs to his beloved wife. His wife Sandy's hobbies include crocheting and photographing nature.

Vassar's famous sycamore has seen a lot of protests over the years.

Ruge's Automotive marks 90th anniversary with community-wide party in Rhinebeck

In honor of its 90th anniversary, Ruge's Automotive hosted a community-wide event at its location at 6447 Montgomery Street in Rhinebeck on Saturday, Sept. 27 attracting over 100 guests during the course of the event.

The celebration featured prizes and giveaways, food, music, a photo booth, and a chance to explore vehicles that represented various decades of the company's history (along with current models).

Kristin Ruge Hutchins, President and CEO of Ruge's Automotive, said, "This event was exactly what we envisioned... a celebration of our past, present, and future - not just as a business, but as a community.

A variety vehicles that represented various decades of the Ruge's Automotive history (along with current models) were on display at the anniversary party.

Guests got to explore both a lineup of old cars from bygone days, which felt nostalgic - and they also got to tour our brand new Subaru showroom, which represents the investment we're making into the future of this community. It was so interesting - and fun - to hear everyone reflecting on the evolution of this business and our region over the years since Ruge's first opened."

Added Lewis Ruge, Founder, "We are so grateful to everyone who has made this 90th anniversary possible - our clients, customers, and community have all been so supportive over the years. We also want to thank everyone who took the time to stop by and celebrate with us on Saturday. Some of the families who came by have been working with us for decades, and now their kids and grandchildren are also customers. We also welcomed those who became residents of the Hudson Valley more recently, who've quickly become customers and friends as well. It's very gratifying to work in a business that allows us to build relationships with people from all walks of life - and to see so many of them in one room at the same time was really meaningful. We really appreciate the outpouring of support."

First established in 1935, Ruge's

Automotive now represents industry brands at each of four stores: Ruge's Subaru in Rhinebeck, Ruge's Chevrolet in Millbrook, Ruge's Ford in Rhinebeck, and Ruge's Chrysler Dodge Jeep Ram in Rhinebeck. In addition, the company recently opened a service center in Rhinebeck.

"At the heart of that legacy," noted Hutchins, is the "important act of paying it forward. Our company continues to sustain and expand upon our longtime philanthropic efforts, having sponsored many community-based initiatives year after year, decade after decade. Beneficiaries of our charitable giving program have included impactful groups like Northern Dutchess Hospital Foundation, American Legion Post 429, Rhinebeck Rotary, and Taconic Little League, among many others. We are also proud to award scholarships on an annual basis to students from area school districts. Many of our employees - and all of us on the leadership team - are long-time volunteers for area nonprofits and organizations. I think it's important for our customers to know that we will always make giving back a top priority."

'At Home in Utopia' on Oct. 14

A film screening and director's talk of "At Home in Utopia" will take place on Tuesday, October 14, at 7 p.m. at the Beacon Elks Lodge #1493, 900 Wolcott Avenue, in Beacon.

Join Beacon Historical Society Director of Special Projects Diane Lapis for this special event, with a showing of this 57-minute film and talk with its producer/director, Michal Goldman.

In the mid-1920s, thousands of immigrant Jewish garment workers managed to catapult themselves out of urban slums and ghettos by pooling their resources to build four cooperatively owned and run apartment complexes in the Bronx. "At Home in Utopia" focuses on the United Workers Cooperative Colony - aka the Coops - the largest and most member-driven of these cooperatives, where many of the residents were Communists. "Coopniks" helped found a network of cooperatives, including Camp Nitgetdeiget in Beacon. They saw themselves as part of an international movement.

In the 1930s they opted to bring their passion for racial justice home by integrating their own cooperative house, with unexpected consequences. An epic tale of the struggle for equity and justice across two generations, the film tracks the rise and fall of one community from the 1920s into the 1950s, paying close attention to the passions that bound people together and those that tore them apart. Along the way, At Home in Utopia bears witness to lives lived with courage across the barriers of race, language, convention, and sometimes even common sense.

All are welcome - and admission is free.

Verona Quartet and Steven Banks to perform at the Howland Cultural Center on Oct. 12

The Howland Chamber Music Circle (HCMC) will continue its 2025-2026 chamber series with the highly accomplished Verona Quartet and Steven Banks, an ambassador for the classical saxophone. They will perform at the Howland Cultural Center on Sunday, Oct. 12, at 4 p.m. Following the concert, audience members can meet the musicians and enjoy complimentary refreshments. All ticket holders are invited to the reception. To purchase a ticket, visit www.howland-music.org. The Howland Cultural Center is at 477 Main Street in Beacon.

The Verona Quartet has firmly established itself amongst the most distinguished ensembles on the chamber music scene today. The Quartet has performed in all the world's great halls on four continents, winning accolades and prizes since its start in 2013. The Quartet believes storytelling transcends genre, and thus chose their name as a tribute to the great storyteller, Shakespeare.

Performer and composer Steven Banks has been cited for his warm yet glowing tone, well-crafted and communicative musical expression and deft technical abilities. He has soloed in many hallowed halls, as well as appearing with symphony orchestras and chamber ensembles throughout the country. He currently serves as Saxophone and Chamber Music Faculty and Artist-in-Residence at the Cleveland Institute of Music.

For this performance, the Verona Quartet and Steven Banks will perform Albert Hay Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer" (1935); works by Mendelssohn, Debussy and Jancek; as well as a Mozart quartet, arranged by Banks; a movement from one of Banks' compositions; Reena Esmail's "Magan Rehna," a Hindustani work; and Christopher Theofanides' "Visions of the Hereafter," that was composed for the Quartet and Banks in 2024.

HCMC now offers tickets at prices to include music lovers who may have been unable to afford our tickets in the past. A limited number of tickets will be available on a pay-what-you-wish basis. These tickets will be released one week prior to each concert.

How to make wine

Grapes in the fall make vino at Christmas

As the leaves begin to turn, and the mornings get crisp, I begin to reminisce about making wine.

I remember coming home from school on a Monday to see the cars parked in the driveway and the garage doors open. Stacked up in the garage were rows and rows of wooden crates filled with red grapes. The bees already were starting to buzz around the cases, excited about what was to come.

In the days leading up to the delivery, Pop would have us bring the wooden barrels up from the basement and fill them with water. The water would leak out over the course of a few days and we would be diligent in refilling them. As the oaken barrels would soak in the water, the leaks would eventually stop. Once the barrels were done being soaked, we would bring them back downstairs into the basement and put on their cradles to be prepared for the juice. Once on their cradles, Pop would get a small strip of cloth and soak it in a mixture of water and powdered sulfur. He would then light the end of the cloth, put it in the barrel and seal it in order to disinfect the barrel from unwanted bacteria. The barrel would remain sealed until it was time to put the grape juice in the barrels.

Back in the garage, we would set up the grape grinder on top of another barrel. The grape grinder looks like a giant manual coffee grinder. We would take turns loading the hopper with grapes while the other would grind. Case after case of grapes would be loaded and ground. Once one barrel would be filled we would move the grinder to another and begin the process until all the grapes were done.

The smell of grapes hung in the garage. Bees flying all over happy to have found the world's largest sugar buffet. The garage door would close, space heaters would be brought in, and the barrels would sit for 5-7 days. We would not be allowed in the garage at all for those days, otherwise the air would escape and possibly cause fermentation to stop.

After five days, with the grape mixture bubbling, we then would start to scoop out the grapes and squeeze them in a special grape press, with the juice running into a wash basin that we rigged with a hose in the bottom. The hose would run down the outside stairs into the basement and into the barrel. On and on we would press the grapes until all were done and the barrels were filled. The pressed grapes would then be wheel-barrowed into the garden, and in the spring, they would be tilled into the soil.

Once complete, the wine barrel would sit open for three more days, until the fermentation slowed down. We would then place an air lock on the opening to allow air to escape but not let any air into the barrel. Then the waiting would begin.

The hope was always to crack open the barrel for Christmas.

We had a wooden spigot that we would put in a small hole about 3 inches from the bottom of the barrel. That would allow us to get the wine out of the barrel without getting all the solids, which we called "fetch." The wine would be put into gallon jugs. After a week, we would then transfer the wine into another gallon jug, careful to leave the solids on the bottom. After a few days, the process was repeated till there was no "fetch" in the gallon jug.

I remember on Christmas Day, Pop and his brothers comparing wine to see whose tasted better as we played with our Christmas presents. During dinner, the wine was passed around even to us kids. I remember us kids mixing 7UP with the red wine. Dinner always began with risotto, and my favorite was butternut squash risotto.

Dinner was awesome, but then again dinner always tastes better with wine.

Butternut Squash Risotto

Ingredients

2 lbs.	butternut squash, peeled and cut into bite-size chunks
3 tbsp.	extra virgin olive oil
10-12 leaves	fresh sage
1qt.	chicken stock
1 stick	Salted butter
1 small	onion diced
1 cup	arborio rice
1 cup	white wine
¼ cup	Reggiano Parmagiana

Method

Before you make the risotto, heat oven to 220C (approx. 425F)/fan 200C (approx 395F)/gas 7. Toss the squash in 1 tbsp oil together with the chopped sage. Scatter into a shallow roasting tin and roast for 30 minutes until it is brown and soft.

While the squash is roasting, prepare the risotto. Bring the stock to the boil and keep on a low simmer. In a separate pan, melt half the butter over a medium heat. Stir in the onions and sweat gently for 8-10 minutes until soft but not colored, stirring occasionally. Stir the rice into the onions until completely coated in the butter, then stir continuously until the rice is shiny and the edges of the grain start to look transparent.

Pour in the wine and simmer until totally evaporated. Add the stock, a ladleful at a time, and stirring the rice over a low heat for 25-30 minutes, until the rice is cooked al dente (with a slightly firm, starchy bite in the middle). The risotto should be creamy and slightly soupy. When you draw a wooden spoon through it, there should be a wake that holds for a few moments but not longer.

When the squash is cooked, mash to a rough purée and leave half whole. When the risotto is just done, stir through the purée, then add the cheese and butter and leave to rest for a few minutes. Serve the risotto scattered with the whole chunks of squash.
