Lourdes to name gym in honor of legendary coach Brian Giorgis

By Morgan E. Maier

Before Brian Giorgis led Marist University to its first Sweet Sixteen in program history, he was a trailblazing basketball coach at Our Lady of Lourdes High School. Now, the school where he led 19 league championship teams to school history, will be dedicating its gymnasium in his honor.

On Sunday, Dec. 14, at 1:30 p.m., the school will officially unveil the gym bearing Giorgis' name with a ceremony at the Our Lady of Lourdes Arts & Athletic Center at the school, located at 131 Boardman Road in Poughkeepsie. A reception with light refreshments is to follow.

The plans for the coming event began with a call from Mike Krieger, director of alumni relations at Lourdes. Krieger shared with Giorgis the school's wish to do "something" to honor him. The nine-time state champion coach thought he'd be clearing shelf space for a plaque, then learned the scope of the honor.

"That floored me," said Giorgis.

Giorgis was inducted into the New York State Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame in 2010. He also led Lourdes' softball, baseball, and volleyball teams, and is New York's only coach to reach the state Final Four in four different sports, according to the school.

Giorgis taught health and biology, and some physical education classes at Lourdes from 1989-1999. An entire generation of student lives impacted, inside and out of the baselines. Teaching not only from the textbooks, but leading by example, and offering student-athletes the skills for success.

NYS DOT opens state-of-the-art maintenance facility in East Fishkill

New York State Department of Transportation Commissioner Marie Therese Dominguez and Office of General Services Commissioner Jeanette Moy announced on Thursday, Dec. 4 the opening of a new, state-of-the art maintenance facility that will bolster snow removal and road maintenance activities along key highways in the Hudson Valley. According to officials, the new, 18,427-square-foot building at NYSDOT's Lime Kiln Yard in the Town of East Fishkill, will help speed repairs to plow trucks and other vital pieces of equipment, allowing them to stay on the road longer and facilitating a more efficient response to incidents of severe weather and other highway emergencies. The new facility also features the latest technology and clean energy initiatives to help safeguard the environment and better serve travelers.

"The Department of Transportation has one of the finest snow fighting forces in the nation and we are committed to giving them the resources and equipment they need to keep travelers safe," Commissioner Marie Therese Dominguez said. "This state-of-the art facility will ensure that our dedicated crews have the facilities, materials and equipment they need to maintain and operate our state roadway network as well as making sure our plows and emergency response vehicles are ready to go when New Yorkers need them the most - during emergencies and extreme weather events."

East Fishkill Supervisor Nicholas D'Alessandro said, "The opening of this new NYSDOT residency is great news for our community. With a modern, centrally located hub right here in Hopewell Junction, residents will benefit from quicker response times, improved road conditions, and enhanced winter storm readiness."

He thanked Commissioner Dominguez and all partners who are involved in making this "long-planned project a reality." D'Alessandro noted to Southern Dutchess News that Region 8 is the best region in the state.

'Keep Moving Forward' 2025 theme of Wreaths Across America

By Kristine Coulter

All over the United States, wreaths will be placed on the graves of American veterans as part of Wreaths Across America. This year's theme is "Keep Moving Forward." Some of the ceremonies will be held in Wappingers Falls, Fishkill, and Poughkeepsie.

"There will always be challenges to overcome as individuals, communities and a country, but we must keep moving forward together," stated Wreaths Across America Executive Director Karen Worcester on the website, wreathscrossamerica.org.

Commemorating Wreaths Across America's mission

"Wreaths Across America is a powerful annual tribute that celebrates the selfless sacrifices of our fallen servicemembers and deceased veterans worldwide. Every December, the community comes together for the Wreaths Laying Ceremony, where participants, family members, supporters, and veterans unite to commemorate the Wreaths Across America Mission:

to Remember, Honor, and Teach. By placing a wreath on a grave and taking two steps back, we “Remember” and pay tribute to America’s brave defenders of freedom. We “Honor” their service and sacrifice by reciting their name, hand on heart, and/or salute (veterans), and actively “Teach” the next generation the value of freedom and the sacrifices made to protect it. This meaningful tradition inspires us to cherish and celebrate the courageous men and women who have given their lives for our freedom, ensuring their memory and legacy endure,” stated Dani Masterson, who is organizing this year’s events in Wappingers Falls, with Virgil Capollari.

“I’ve organized Wreaths Across America in Wappingers Falls because honoring our veterans is a responsibility I feel deeply. Each wreath is a reminder that their service and sacrifice are not forgotten. Over the past six years, I’ve seen how this tradition unites our community-families pausing to reflect and children learning history,” said Masterson, via email.

She added, “For me, it’s about more than coordinating an event. It’s about creating a space where remembrance is alive, meaningful, and shared. Year after year, I return because those moments of gratitude and connection show the true power of remembrance.”

Masterson noted this is her seventh year as a location coordinator for Wreaths Across America and she has loved organizing this event every single year.

“During the event, I feel a powerful mix of reverence and gratitude-standing around the wreaths with the community, I’m reminded of the sacrifices made and the importance of remembering them together,” said Masterson.

“I’m especially looking forward to co-hosting this year’s event alongside Virgil Capollari. Sharing the day with someone who shares the same passion makes the experience even more meaningful and we can grow our Wreaths events bigger and better every year,” said Masterson.

“Virgil and I invite you to join us for National Wreaths Across America Day as we gather in remembrance, gratitude, and community. Together, we will lay wreaths to honor our veterans and carry forward the mission: Remember. Honor. Teach.,” said Masterson.

The free and open event takes place at noon on Saturday, Dec. 13, a ceremony and wreath laying will take place at Wappingers Rural Cemetery, 174-208 W. Main St, in Wappingers Falls. Then at 2 p.m., at St. Mary’s Cemetery, a wreath laying ceremony will be held.

On Sunday, Dec. 14, at noon, a wreath laying ceremony will take place at New Hackensack Cemetery, Route 376 (New Hackensack Road), Wappingers Falls.

“Afterward, I carry a sense of fulfillment and pride. It’s humbling to stand shoulder to shoulder with neighbors, veterans, and families, all united in purpose. It fills me with hope knowing that each wreath laid is a promise that we will never forget. Seven years in, the feeling hasn’t faded- it’s only grown stronger,” remarked Masterson.

Delehanty Funeral Home in Wappingers Falls, has been organizing ceremonies in Fishkill and Poughkeepsie. The ceremony in Fishkill will take place at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 13 at Fishkill Rural Cemetery, 801 Route 9. Then at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 14, a ceremony will be held at the Poughkeepsie Rural Cemetery, 342 South Ave., in Poughkeepsie.

Schuka said the Wreaths Across America ceremony is “a nice way of stopping during the holiday rush, to take a moment and “remember” the fallen, “honor” those who served, and “teach” the next generation about the service and sacrifice of our nation’s veterans.”

“Honor.” “Remember.” “Teach,” that is what the mission of Wreaths Across America is about.

Schuka has been organizing this event for five years in Fishkill and four years in Poughkeepsie.

“The reason that I continue to participate in this national veterans event, on a local level, is because of how strong I feel as a patriot; something that was instilled in me at a young age, [was] always showing respect to those who served our..,” he explained.

As for what one may expect if they attend, Schuka replied, “They can expect to see their fellow neighbor, a brief ceremony to honor the lives of those who served our country, and some fellowship after.”

The Fishkill Rural Cemetery has about 600 graves in the two veteran sections, according to Schuka. He said, late last month, there were 300 wreaths this year, “which will be enough to cover one of the sections.”

It is not about the actual wreath, according to Schuka, it is about “coming out and honoring those who served and are serving.”

“It’s always been proven a successful and beautiful tribute event, though cold temperatures but worth it since these men and women gave much more for our freedoms,” said Schuka.

NYS DOT opens state-of-the-art maintenance facility in East Fishkill

State and local officials cut the ribbon for what is described as a NYS DOT state-of-the-art maintenance facility in East Fishkill on Thursday, Dec. 4.

New York State Office of General Services Commissioner Jeanette Moy said, “OGS is proud to build, rehabilitate, and upgrade DOT spaces in all corners of New York. This new 20,000-square-foot facility in Dutchess County is a result of our longstanding partnership and will serve as a hub for their teams, who work around the clock to keep our roads reliable and safe no matter the season.”

The new maintenance facility is capable of garaging 14 large dump trucks and features office space, exterior and interior LED lighting, plug in stations for DOT's electric vehicles, and a high efficiency heating system, it was stated. Additionally, an indoor wash bay was installed to ensure vehicle cleanliness to improve vehicle visibility, protect critical parts and reduce long-term maintenance. Construction of the new building began in 2022.

Visible from Interstate 84, the Lime Kiln Yard provides a centrally located hub for NYSDOT operations in Dutchess and Putnam counties. The 26 workers based at this yard are responsible for maintaining approximately 230 lane miles of state roads. In addition to storm response, they also perform such tasks as filling potholes, guiderail repairs and drainage repairs. Areas in this jurisdiction include:

Interstate 84 between the Newburgh Beacon Bridge and the Connecticut state line

Taconic State Parkway from U.S.
Route 6 to State Route 55

State Route 376 between State Route 52 and State Route 113

The Department of Transportation is still accepting job applications to join the highway maintenance workers/snowplow operators, mechanics, engineers, and office staff. A candidate must be at least 18 years old and pass a physical and drug test. Qualified candidates interested in a rewarding career, keeping our communities safe, can stop by a local DOT residency, a Regional Fleet shop, or find more information on NYSDOT's website at ny.gov/dotjobs.

State Senator Rob Rolison said, “The Hudson Valley thrives when our roads are safe, reliable, and well cared for. This new residency ensures that our region will be better served — not just during storms or emergencies, but every single day. By giving NYSDOT teams a modern, centrally located home base, we’re strengthening the backbone of our transportation network and supporting the communities that rely on it.”

Assemblymember Anil Beephan said, "This modern facility will strengthen our ability to maintain local highways, respond quickly to snow and ice events, and ensure safer travel for our residents who rely on these corridors every day. I appreciate the dedicated workforce who will operate this facility, and I look forward to seeing the positive impact this investment will have on our community.”

Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino said, "This new location will be an important asset in keeping the vital state roadways in the southern Dutchess area, including I-84 corridor, Taconic State Parkway and U.S. Route 376, in good repair and safe during snow and ice weather events. State roadways, including I-84 corridor, Taconic State Parkway and U.S. Route 376, are critical to commerce, emergency services and everyday travel."

To ensure the safety of the traveling public and snowplow operators during storms, motorists are reminded “Don’t Crowd The Plow” - slow down and stay safely behind snowplow trucks to give them plenty of room on the road. Plows travel at approximately 35 miles per hour and should never be passed.

Another court defeat for Friends of Fishkill Supply Depot - Still no debate?

To the Editor:

This is now my third request for an open, factual public debate about the true history of the Continental Commons property. Inside Scoop offered to host the debate this week, yet retired FBI Agent Lance Ashworth refused again, choosing instead to continue pushing a curated social-media narrative that cannot withstand scrutiny.

Since Mr. Ashworth will not defend his claims, I now extend the challenge to Town of Fishkill Historian and Friends of the Fishkill Supply Depot Co-President Robert Buccheri.

Mr. Buccheri, you hold two roles that demand accountability: Town Historian - who should be committed to historical accuracy - and Co-President of the group whose central claims have now been fully rejected by the courts.

Last week, the New York State Appellate Division affirmed the (NYS) Supreme Court's ruling, rejecting every claim the Friends brought in their 2019 lawsuit, and upholding all environmental and historical findings made by the New York State Historic Preservation Office, the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, and confirmed by the Town of Fishkill Planning Board.

The Supreme Court previously concluded that archaeologists, expert studies, and historic reviews found no evidence supporting the Friends' allegations of Revolutionary War burials anywhere on the project site, and that the Friends' claims were without merit. The Court emphasized that the Planning Board "took the requisite hard look" at every issue and that its determinations were fully supported by the record.

Despite this, the Friends continue misleading the public with claims that have now been rejected at every level. Fishkill deserves history based on evidence - not mythology, fear-mongering, or politics.

Therefore, Mr. Buccheri, since your Chairman refuses to debate, I publicly challenge you to a fact-based, respectful debate hosted by Inside Scoop.

And as a reminder: on October 14, 2025, while you were on the Continental Commons property during filming for an upcoming documentary, you personally agreed to participate in this very debate. I look forward to your response - and your follow-through.

Anderson Foundation for Autism lists recipients of grant awards

The leadership team and trustees of Anderson Foundation for Autism announced last week the names of grantees for the Foundation’s recent grant-making cycle.

Grant award recipients are as follows: Autism Society Greater Hudson Region ($5,000 grant award), Arcadia University ($5,000 grant award), Backyard Sports ($10,000 grant award), BluePath Service Dogs ($5,000 grant award), and Beautiful People ($5,000 grant award).

Kevin Kollar, Chair of Anderson Foundation for Autism’s Board of Trustees said, “It is deeply gratifying to know that Anderson Foundation for Autism is able to ‘pay it forward’ to these visionary grantees. Each of these organizations shares a commitment to our cause, and we look forward to watching them continue to make valuable contributions to our field as time goes on.”

Susan Brune, Vice Chair of the Board of Trustees and Chair of the Grants Committee, said, “These grantees all presented initiatives that are very much aligned with Anderson’s mission of optimizing the quality of life for individuals with autism. Beautiful People, for example, will use the grant funds to provide athletes with more inclusive opportunities, by purchasing adaptive equipment to enhance safety and accessibility. Autism Society Greater Hudson Region has been given some of the funds needed to help deliver the BRIGHT (Brave, Resilient, Inspiring Girls Happening Together) program, which creates a safe, fun, and affirming space where autistic and neurodiverse girls can build meaningful peer connections, strengthen self-esteem, and develop essential social-emotional and soft skills. And our other award recipients are likewise doing meaningful work; it is an honor to help them advance their efforts.”

Brune added that all recipients will be required to report on outcomes, and that the Foundation reserved up to $50,000 in total for its 2025 grantmaking cycle.

According to Patrick Paul, CEO/Executive Director of Anderson Center for Autism, “Anderson Foundation for Autism was initially launched to help bridge gaps between financial needs and resources for Anderson Center for Autism, but the success of Foundation fundraising has far exceeded every expectation. Now, we’re well-positioned to support the work of other nonprofits too, and we look forward to building on our grant-making program in the years to come.”

Eliza Bozenski, Chief Development Officer at Anderson Foundation for Autism, added: “The collective generosity of philanthropists, businesses, families, trustees, and community members is what drives our success; it has been awe-inspiring to see the outpouring of support for our work. We are deeply thankful to everyone who has made Anderson Foundation as strong as it is today, and all who continue to pave the way for a successful future. Each donor is giving to something much larger than our agency; every gift really supports a broader humanitarian movement.”

Anderson Center for Autism (ACA), founded in 1924, which also receives funds from Anderson Foundation for Autism, offers evidence-based educational, vocational, residential, and consulting/training programs, drawing students and residents from all over the United States to experience its school and residential offerings. Its affiliate, Anderson Center International (ACI), hosts scholars from countries throughout the world for a 12–18-month training program at Anderson’s Staatsburg campus.

Anderson also runs Early Learning Academy programs (in Pine Plains, NY, Mount Marion, NY, and Latham, NY) and The Anderson Center Clinic (Latham, NY).

Anderson Foundation for Autism’s 2026 grant cycle will open in January.

Home Energy Assistance Program now open for Central Hudson customers

Applications are now being accepted for the federally funded Home Energy Assistance Program, or HEAP.

HEAP’s benefits help income-qualified utility customers who heat their homes with electricity, natural gas, oil, coal, propane, wood/wood pellets, kerosene, and corn. Eligibility and benefits are based on income, household size, the primary heating source, and the presence of a household member who is under age 6, age 60 or older or permanently disabled. For this year's benefits, households of four who heat their home with natural gas with a maximum annual income of $80,160 are eligible for a $400 grant.

“Enrolling in HEAP is one of the most important steps customers can take to ensure they stay safe and comfortable during the winter months. These benefits provide critical assistance for managing energy costs, and we encourage all eligible households to apply as soon as possible,” Lauren Preston, Chief Customer Services Officer at Central Hudson said. “Affordability is top of mind for our customers, and we’re committed to helping them access the resources they need to keep their homes warm and their energy bills manageable.”

Customers who are eligible for HEAP and other qualifying programs are also eligible for Central Hudson’s Energy Affordability Program (EAP) Bill Discount. If your account receives a HEAP credit, you will automatically be enrolled in the EAP Bill Discount. Residents may apply online by visiting <http://www.mybenefits.ny.gov/>, or through their local Department of Social and other community service organizations. Your local district HEAP contact offices listed by county can be found here.

Chanukah celebration set for Dec. 14

The lighting of the menorah in 2024 in Beacon.

“We’re planning a community meno-

Chabad of Beacon will host the annual “Grand Menorah Lighting” on Sunday, Dec. 14 in Beacon. Pictured is from the 2024 celebration.

rah lighting on Sunday, Dec. 14 at 5 p.m.! This year’s menorah will be carved entirely out of ice, yes, you [read] that right! The carving will begin at 4 p.m., followed by the lighting at 5 p.m.,” said Rabbi Shaya Itkin. One may RSVP at chabadbeacon.com/menorah.

What is Itkin looking forward to about Chanukah this year?
“The unity that it brings, uniting with a shared mission to spread light in the world! And of course, coming together over latkes and donuts adds its own special joy,” replied the rabbi.
What would Itkin like everyone to know about the Chanukah story?
“That it doesn’t take a lot of people to make a difference. Sometimes we think, “Who am I to bring light when the world feels so dark?” But just like in the story of Chanukah, where the few triumphed over the many the same is true today. Light and love will always prevail, even when it starts with just a few,” said Itkin.
During the event, there will be music. There will be refreshments - food, hot cocoa and apple cider.
To prepare for the holiday, Itkin said, “First and foremost, make sure you have a menorah and candles.” If one does not, feel free to reach out at rabbi@chabadbeacon.com and they can provide a free menorah set.

Four non-profit youth sports organizations awarded $85,295

Funding still available; submit application by Dec. 23

Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino announced on Dec. 2 that $85,295 has been awarded to four non-profit youth team sports organizations offering free team sports programs for underserved children under the age of 18 through New York State’s Youth Team Sports (YTS) grant program. Additional funding is still available for eligible organizations.
Dutchess County Executive Serino said, “Dutchess County is dedicated to making sure all kids, no matter their background, can take part in activities that support their physical, mental and emotional health. These Youth Sports Teams grants give young people valuable opportunities to not just to play sports, but to gain important skills that will help them succeed as they grow.”
These grants, ranging from $16,805 to $25,000, create opportunities for young people in need to take part in sports programs that help them grow physically, mentally, emotionally and socially. Team sport activities can lower stress, anxiety and depression; strengthen social skills and teamwork; and reduce the likelihood of substance use or other risky behaviors.
Projects funded through the 2026 Youth Team Sports Program include:
Dover Little League (Dover Plains), Batters Up for a Brighter Future, $25,000 – Providing competitive baseball and softball program in Dover, which offers all players with a safe, supportive place to build key skills, to players at no cost.
Northern Dutchess Aquatic Club (Red Hook), Long Course and Dryland Training, $16,805 – Offering a free, eight-week long session at Bard College in Annandale-on-Hudson for swimmers, ages 6-13, and free dryland training for swimmers, ages 14-18.
NY FLIGHT 845, Inc. (City of Poughkeepsie), Youth Team Sports, $18,490 – Provide free, year-round, after-school, open-gym basketball training at the Family Partnership Center in the City of Poughkeepsie that builds basic skills for middle- and high-school students, while also continuing the Kingdom Classic Tournament for fourth-graders and rising seventh-graders.

YMCA of Kingston (Kingston), Youth Basketball League 2026, $25,000 – Dutchess County youth, ages 7-15, can take part in a free, six-week summer basketball league at Greenvale Park in the Town of Poughkeepsie, designed to boost fitness, improve skills and help develop teamwork and good sportsmanship.
There is still funding available through the YTS grant program, for the program year Jan. 1, 2026, to Sept. 30, 2026, for local youth-serving organizations that provide free team sports opportunities to young people under age 18. This funding opportunity defines a “team sport” as an organized physical activity in which groups of two or more individuals compete with two or more opposing individuals.

Survivors tell stories of inspiration at sold-out Go Red for Women luncheon

Two years ago, Cindi Mannese of Milton had open-heart surgery to repair a valve. When surgeons found an aortic aneurysm, Mannese’s surgery took seven hours.

Mannese shared her story at the Hudson Valley Go Red for Women Luncheon on Dec. 4 in Poughkeepsie. Go Red for Women is a campaign of the American Heart Association, a relentless force changing the future of health for everyone everywhere.

“Survivorship isn’t about what I went through, it’s about what I get to do now,” Mannese said. “I’ll never forget hearing my doctors talk about the ‘rest of my life.’ That kind of joy stays with you. And now, I get to take that gift and hopefully help thousands of others feel less alone.”

Two hundred women attended the sold-out event, which raises awareness that cardiovascular disease is a leading health threat for women.

“We know that women are underrepresented in research, and that their symptoms are often ignored,” said Brenda Swatek, vice president of people and culture at IBM, who chaired the 2025 Hudson Valley Go Red for Women Luncheon. “Today, we made a difference for the women in our community. We provided education and information and celebrated the way women can come together to change the way the world is.”

There were Hands-Only CPR demonstrations at the event; a silent auction; a photo booth; and health information. During the lunch program, Mannese shared her story, and participants in the Woman of Impact campaign shared their success in raising $54,000. Christine Pellegrino of Pellegrino Healing was the winning Woman of Impact, raising more than $30,000.

Experts discussed “The Mind-Body Connection and Heart Health,” providing concrete tips for audience members to use in their daily lives – and to share with friends and family.

- Pellegrino moderated the panel, whose participants were:
 - Lauren Grimshaw, LMHC, CDPHP
 - Sheri Harrison, M.D., Nuvance Health, now part of Northwell
 - Roufia Payman, Northern Dutchess Hospital, Nuvance Health, now part of N-Mark S. Hahn, M.D., Ellenville Regional Hospital

“Since 2004, Go Red for Women has met the evolving health needs of women and addressed the awareness and clinical care gaps when it comes to cardiovascular disease,” said John Strawbriage, director of development at Vassar Brothers Medical Center/Nuvance Health, now part of Northwell, and chair of the board of directors of the American Heart Association in the Hudson Valley. “Today’s event was a testament to the strength of women coming together for a common cause.”

The event concluded with the announcement that Steph Raymond, pres-

Serino announces 9 new Fly Car Grant recipients

Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino has announced $134,303 in funding awards to nine recipients of the County’s second round of Fly Car Grant Awards. These grants provide critical funding for life-saving equipment to fire departments, rescue squads, and ambulance corps.

Dutchess County Executive Sue Serino said, “Fly Cars continue to be a vital tool for our local first responders, allowing them to provide fast, critical support to patients in life-threatening situations. This grant program is helping raise awareness about EMS in our community, especially how rewarding careers saving lives can be. We are proud to support our local agencies as they continue to build their response capabilities to best protect the health and safety of our communities.”

The following organizations have been awarded grant funding for life-saving equipment, such as automatic chest compression devices, carbon monoxide poisoning detectors, trauma bag supplies, and automated external defibrillators (AEDs):

- Beacon Volunteer Ambulance Corp - $16,310
- City of Beacon Fire Department - $16,579
- City of Poughkeepsie Fire Department - $8,235
- J. H. Ketcham Hose Co., Inc. - $17,150
- LaGrange Fire District - $19,858
- New Hamburg Fire District - $11,100
- Rombout Fire District - $5,124
- Roosevelt Fire District - $20,000
- Tivoli Fire and Rescue - $19,947

As part of the program, the agencies’ fly cars or other support vehicles display branded, unified recruitment messaging promoting career and volunteer opportunities in EMS, including a link to the County’s website, dutchessny.gov/EMS. Since the graphics have started appearing on local agencies’ vehicles, the website has seen hundreds of page views per month.

Jeff Scala, Chief of Roosevelt Fire District in Hyde Park, said, “This grant helps us grow our capacity to respond, both by adding necessary, life-saving equipment, and helping boost our ongoing volunteer recruitment efforts. We are grateful to County Executive Sue Serino for helping tackle the challenges local departments are facing with EMS and are excited to continue this partnership.”

This initiative is part of Dutchess County’s investment in addressing the EMS crisis through innovative programs and partnerships. County Executive Serino has continued support of the County’s Supplemental Ambulance Service and EMS in Dutchess County in the 2026 Executive Budget. As part of ongoing efforts to build awareness of the challenges facing EMS, the County has launched a multi-pronged public awareness campaign, EMS Matters. The campaign has focused not only on recruitment for EMTs and paramedics, but also on how to recognize the signs of a true emergency that needs EMS versus heading to an urgent care facility, safety and prevention tips, and more.

The Dutchess County Legislature was scheduled to vote on the 2026 Budget at its Board Meeting on Monday, December 8, with the full 2026 County Budget process to be completed by December 17, with the adoption of the tax levy.

Contini family members join French citizens to dedicate monument honoring WW II squadron

Members of the Contini family of Salt Point, Clinton Corners and Beekman were in the Village of Mouacourt, France in October to dedicate a monument honoring the 121st Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron of the 106th Cavalry Group.

They were joined by siblings from Ulster and Schenectady Counties, Washington State and Maine. Their father, Staff Sergeant Victor M. Contini, was a senior medic with the 121st Cavalry Medical Detachment. The unit liberated the village of Mouacourt in October 1944. Victor survived the war after participating in campaigns from Normandy to Central Europe. He lived in Ulster County.

The Contini Family commissioned the monument in cooperation with the Village of Mouacourt.

Ten members of Victor's family participated in the dedication ceremony. Alexander Contini (U.S. Army Retired) spoke for the family at the ceremony. He joined his siblings Michael, Richard and Katherina in presenting a wreath. Victor's grandchildren: First Sergeant Daniel V. Contini and his sister Katie Contini and nephew Donovan presented a second bouquet. They were escorted by a French re-enactor group of 121st Cavalry carrying the guidon of the medical detachment.

Alexander's son Sergeant First Class

Robert J. Contini, a former military musician, sounded "Taps" and the French "Sonnerie aux Morts."

The monument which is located by the Mouacourt Cemetery honors all the troopers of the 121st Cavalry. Sixteen names of those who made the ultimate sacrifice during the battle of the Parroy Forest are inscribed on the monument. Philippe Sugg, a local historian, made the arrangements for the monument and the dedication ceremony. Mr. Sugg has worked to create 17 monuments to Americans throughout the Lorraine area.

Over 75 French re-enactors of American World War II units drove 35 vintage vehicles to the Village of Mouacourt to participate in the dedication. After the ceremony, the re-enactors and guests formed a convoy traveling the route used by the 121st Cavalry following the liberation of Mouacourt.

French soldiers from the 53rd Regiment Transmissions (Signal) formed a military color and honor guard. The village mayor expressed the gratitude of the descendants of the WWII villagers for the sacrifice made by Americans to liberate France. Dignitaries from several jurisdictions also spoke about the victory achieved by the American soldiers.

Reserve seats now for Children’s Holiday Tea at Mount Gulian

By Kristine Coulter

Generations will gather at Mount Gulian Historic Site to take part in the annual and very popular Children’s Holiday Tea. The annual event, which has been held for decades, is set for Monday, Dec. 22 from noon to 2 p.m. Attendees will hear about a bygone era, at the historic site that once served social teas.

Admission is $20 for children and $30 for adults. Prepaid reservations are required by Monday, Dec. 15. For reservations and further information call 845-831-8172 or email at info@mountgulian.org.

“I’d have to say the highlight is really the overall atmosphere of the day. Children are excited to come to a “formal Tea,” experiencing life in Victorian times, with some girls coming in dresses and boys in suit jackets. The rooms are decorated for the holidays with our wonderful Christmas tree, ornaments and fresh greens, and each Tea table is set with fine linens and chinaware. It’s a unique day for our visitors, many of whom come back year after year,” said Elaine Hayes, Mount Gulian Historic Site Executive Director.

The menu will include assorted Harney & Sons teas.

Hayes, added, “Victorians came to “Tea” to socialize but also to eat,” Dainty finger sandwiches will be prepared by The Bagel Shoppe, in Fishkill. A selection of homemade desserts will also be served. She noted, “Mount Gulian will be warm and beautiful, just like the good ol’ days...”

As in years past, previous attendees will bring the younger generation to now enjoy the festivities.

“We’ve had grandmothers come with their adult children and their own kids, and we’re very proud of that because it shows that presenting history in a fun and entertaining way works. It’s labor intensive for us, but always gratifying, as the event makes an impression on everyone who attends, and we always get “repeat business.” It’s always amazing when someone shows up who attended years ago as a child, with their own children,” said Hayes.

A Victorian-inspired craft project for the children will also be offered.

Hayes said of this year’s craft, “Led by Gabriel Bryne, our Operations Manager, every child will make a Christmas orna-

Public can comment on Moving Dutchess Forward

The Dutchess County Transportation Council (DCTC) is updating its county-wide transportation plan, Moving Dutchess Forward. This plan is the guiding vision for improving transportation in Dutchess County over the next 25 years; and the DCTC invites the public to learn more during engagement opportunities, including a virtual public meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 17, outreach events, and a public survey.

Work on Moving Dutchess Forward will unfold over the next eight months in four steps: Learn, Assess, Advocate, and Invest. The Learn step – which reviews trends in the county’s population, economy, housing, freight, technology, climate and travel behavior – is now available online for public review and comment at MovingDutchessForward.com.

Public involvement is critical to the planning process, ensuring Dutchess County’s transportation priorities reflect the needs of residents, workers, and visitors. The DCTC will hold several upcoming opportunities for the public to help shape the new plan:

The DCTC will host a virtual public meeting on Dec. 17 from noon to 1 p.m. This virtual meeting will provide an overview of Moving Dutchess Forward and gather public feedback on transportation challenges and priorities. To register for the virtual meeting, please visit: tinyurl.com/MDFzoom1.

DCTC representatives will attend the Beacon Farmer’s Market (233 Main Street, Beacon) on Dec. 14 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., and the Millerton Farmer’s Market (51 S. Center Street, Millerton) on Dec. 20 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., where residents can meet the DCTC team, ask questions and provide feedback on the County’s transportation system.

An online survey has been launched to gather feedback regarding transportation challenges and priorities. The survey, available in English and Spanish, is open through Dec. 31, 2025. The survey can be accessed at <https://arcg.is/1qDmOy3>, and three respondents will be randomly selected to win a $25 Visa gift card.

All community members are encouraged to participate in one or more of these engagement opportunities.

Those who require any assistive technologies, language translation, American Sign Language interpretation and/or adaptive strategies to attend and engage during the virtual meeting can contact Liz Podowski King with Highland Planning at 585-649-1210 or liz@highland-planning.com by Dec. 12.

dedication is a small way for us to thank him for his incredible contributions to Our Lady of Lourdes,” said Lourdes principal Meghan Vilardo in a press release.

Without the staff, players, and the athletes who went on to win titles themselves as coaches, this moment would not be possible. Neither would the 451-44 record amassed in his Lourdes basketball career.

“It’s not one person who does it all. It takes a lot of people for a team to have success,” said Giorgis.

Many of those instrumental to Giorgis’ success will be in attendance to celebrate him alongside the Lourdes community. That will include former players, assistants, and faces the coach hasn’t seen in years. And he’ll be just as happy to reconnect with every one again. Seeing the former players, Warriors and Red Foxes alike, who attended his final Marist game in 2023 was, to Giorgis, “just as good as going to the Sweet 16 and winning state titles.”

DCC student: ‘You are capable of doing more than you know’

Event honors success of first-generation students

From a young age, Dutchess Community College (DCC) student Melody Sanchez knew she wanted to make her mother proud and be a role model for her younger brother. As the first in her family to pursue a bachelor’s degree, Sanchez was afraid of failing but found the strength to keep pushing forward, even when she struggled academically. Now thriving as a resident assistant, student athlete and aviation science major, she offered words of advice to her fellow first-generation students.

“Do it scared, tired, unmotivated, sad, angry — just do it,” she told her fellow students during The Inaugural First To Forever: Creating A Legacy Conference, held at DCC on Nov. 7. “You are capable of doing more than you know.”

The event celebrated the resilience and achievements of this special group — often referred to as “first-generation students” — and made it clear that all students, no matter where they come from, can find a supportive place where they belong at DCC. The day featured speakers, breakout sessions and a group photo of students, faculty and staff who were first in their immediate families to pursue a bachelor’s degree.

“I want you to know that this is not just a gathering. It is a celebration. It’s a celebration of resilience, courage and generational triumph,” said Dr. Melissa Carlo, assistant dean of enrollment and student success, during the conference. “Today, you’re not just students or scholars. I like to refer to you as pioneers, charting paths that maybe did not exist before. You are architects of your new family’s legacy, and you should all feel immensely proud of that accomplishment.”

As outlined in the College’s 2023-28 Strategic Plan, DCC has invested in and expanded resources for first-generation learners, including two new State University of New York (SUNY) initiatives launched this fall. The Advancing Success in Associate Pathways (ASAP) program provides holistic supports that increase completion rates and SUNY Reconnect covers the full cost of tuition for specific, career-focused programs for adults over the age of 25. As such, DCC’s population of first-generation students has grown significantly in recent years. As of fall 2025, DCC enrolled 1,162 first-generation students, a marked increase from 694 in fall 2022.

“DCC is an inclusive institution and welcomes individuals from all walks of life, whether they are first generation or fifth, to strive toward their higher education and career goals,” said Scott Schnackenberg, vice president for enrollment and student success. “This College welcomes anyone who wishes to work toward a degree or certificate to join us here, this community of opportunity, and experience robust support, wraparound services and a faculty and staff that is committed to seeing our hardworking students succeed.”

To learn more about how DCC welcomes and supports first-generation students, visit the opportunity programs page.

Lyceum in Red Hook to host free holiday movies, food drive

Lyceum Cinemas and Mid- Hudson Valley Federal Credit Union along with local merchants of Red Hook are once again sponsoring free Christmas movies for children and their families on Saturday, Dec. 20, in conjunction with a food drive to aid needy families in the area.

Now in the 34th year of hosting this annual event, the Lyceum has decided to offer three films for attendees to choose from.

“The Polar Express,” rated G, starring Tom Hanks, has become a Christmas classic based on the book by Chris Van Allsburg.

“Home Alone,” rated PG, stars Macaulay Culkin, Joe Pesci, Daniel Stern and Catherine O’Hara. This is the story of 8-year-old Kevin McCallister who accidentally gets left home alone while his family goes on vacation. He soon realizes that two con men are trying to rob his home, and it is his job to protect it.

“It’s a Wonderful Life,” rated PG, stars Jimmy Stewart and Donna Reed and is the 1946 movie about the life of George Bailey. When he is at his lowest point he ends up rescuing his guardian angel, Clarence, who then shows him what his town would have looked like if it hadn’t been for all his good deeds over the years. The films will be offered at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 20; and upon entry everyone may choose which film they prefer to see.

Admission is free, but tickets must be obtained in advance from any of the following local merchants: MHVFCU, Red hook branch, Minuteman Press, Subway, Red Hook T’s, Village Pizza III , Savona’s Restaurant, Red Hook, Historic Village Diner, Ben & Gracies, and The Red Hook Diner.

Santa will be on hand at the Lyceum when the doors open at 9:30 a.m. to talk to the children.

Everyone who attends the movie is asked to please bring a non-perishable food item for collection by the Dutchess County Community Action Agency office in Red Hook for distribution to needy families in the area. Now more than ever many families are struggling this holiday season due to the high cost of everything. If you can, please help.

Those who do not plan to attend a movie, but might wish to donate food items, may do so any day between now and Dec. 20. The Lyceum Cinemas are at 15 Old Farm Lane, Red Hook.

New York City at the holidays: A short ride to magical adventures

Radio City Music Hall's famed precision dancers, the Rockettes, are back on stage for the annual Christmas Spectacular. They'll be delivering holiday cheer and high kicks through Jan. 5, 2026. This year marks the 92nd Christmas Spectacular and the 100th anniversary of the Rockettes.

By Jim Donick

For many folks in the Hudson Valley, New York City beckons loud at this time of year. Kids are off from school and can be excited at the possibility of going on an expedition. New York, with its various activities and decorations, promises a magical holiday adventure that renews itself every year. A little snow doesn't hurt, but the possibilities, even without snow, are nearly endless. Travel from Poughkeepsie via MetroNorth is reasonably priced and even more reasonably reliable. Arrival at Grand Central Terminal means that the traveler is literally in the heart of Manhattan. Walking is a preferred means of travel there. It is perfect for simply soaking in the magic.

And there is lots to do.

The streets are alive with color and with lights. A walk up Fifth Avenue to Rockefeller Center brings one to what is arguably the most famous Christmas tree in the world.

The Rockefeller Christmas Tree tradition began in 1931 during the Great Depression, when construction workers at Rockefeller Center pooled their money to buy a modest 20-foot balsam fir tree, decorating it with handmade garlands, tin cans, and cranberries.

In 1933 the first official tree lighting ceremony was held, and that tradition began to become an annual event.

This year's tree is a lot bigger than that first 20-foot fir. The 2025 Rockefeller Center Christmas tree came to Manhattan from East Greenbush, N.Y., which is up near Albany. It's a 75-foot Norway Spruce.

Today, rather than being decorated with garlands, tin cans, and cranberries like that first one, it is adorned with more than 50,000 multicolored LED lights spread across approximately 5 miles of string lights. Atop the tree sits a spectacular Swarovski crystal star, measuring 9 feet 4 inches, weighing around 900 pounds, and featuring 3 million crystals.

This year's lighting of the tree took place on December 3rd. The daily lighting of the tree will continue through mid-January. For even more magic, a visit in the early evening gives the opportunity to see the lights just after dark. Ice skating on the ice rink at the foot of the tree is open to the public. Rental skates are available for those so inclined.

Directly across Fifth Avenue is the iconic Saks Fifth Avenue. Saks offers its own addition to New York's holiday magic. Once upon a time their windows were decorated to tell a story that continued from window to window as one walked along. Now the attraction is a sound and light show. This year's spectacle will feature a synchronized light and music display on the store facade, directly across from Rockefeller Center. Shows will run nightly, repeating every 10 minutes, with the best viewing spot being the Channel Gardens at Rockefeller Center.

From Rockefeller Center one can continue up Fifth Avenue toward Central Park and take in the displays of imagination in the windows of other major stores. Some will have a tree inside the door visible from the street. Others offer a more traditional collection of enchanting window displays. Possibly the best of these are the displays at Bergdorf Goodman's iconic presence just a block south of the park. They are not to be missed.

As long as one has gotten to the foot of the park one can add to the romance of the adventure by taking a horse-drawn carriage on a tour of the park. The carriage will have lap blankets if it's cold. The driver will be pleasant and the roads of Central Park offer a constantly changing landscape of trees, statues, fields and paths with other holiday strollers. If the carriage seems a bit much, then a walk, hand in hand, through the park at twilight with the lamp posts casting a gentle glow is as romantic as any couple could imagine.

From Bergdorf's, a short walk up Fifth Avenue alongside the park takes one past

The world-famous tree at Rockefeller Center.

"Museum Mile" and right to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The Met continues a long-standing holiday tradition with the presentation of its Christmas tree. The magnificently lit, 20-foot blue spruce looms over a vivid 18th-century Neapolitan Nativity scene, surrounded by an abundant array of lifelike figures with silk-robed angels hovering above. It is claimed that the scenes laid out under the tree reflect the Mediterranean harbor town's multicultural population. Others will imagine it as the world of the Middle East at the time of the nativity. We don't recall too many Neapolitan camels, but there were lots of them in the Middle East. Whether the tree has a genuine theme or offers simply a collection of scenes and models of people from much of the then known world, they are unrivaled.

The installation is set in front of the 18th-century Spanish choir screen in the Museum's Medieval Sculpture Hall. The Medieval Sculpture Hall provides the perfect atmosphere for visiting the tree. The tree's various vignettes can absorb one's imagination for a most pleasant period.

The Met also has a number of options for food and drink scattered throughout the building. One may grab lunch or a snack before continuing the holiday adventures.

The Theater Season in New York is in full swing by the Christmas holidays, and there should be something there to satisfy any taste. One can likely find a performance of Handel's "Messiah" at any number of venues.

Possibly the most iconic of New York City's magical musical events, though, is Radio City's Christmas Spectacular, complete with high-kicking Rockettes.

Radio City Music Hall's famed precision dancers are back on stage for the annual "Christmas Spectacular Starring the Radio City Rockettes." They will be delivering holiday cheer and high kicks through January 5, 2026 this season. This year marks the 92nd Christmas Spectacular, but, even more important, 2025 is also the 100th anniversary of the Rockettes! With such an anniversary the dancers are said to have pulled out all the stops. They promise to make this year's spectacular the most memorable of their century of creating Christmas magic for New York City, which, at the holidays, is quite possibly the "capital of the world."

All of this - and it's only a short train ride away.

A widely observed & celebrated holiday deserves a special ornament

December 25, 2025 is the winter solstice. That day will have the shortest period of daylight and longest night of the year; the sun will reach its lowest daily maximum elevation in the sky. December sees nary a celebratory ornament. This undeniable situation (as evidenced in any grocery or department store, or on the internet) can be easily rectified. Correct the scant seasonal décor this December with an homage to the solstice: orange pomanders.

Pomanders are historic

Even if you don't believe my claim about the dearth of holiday trimmings during the month of December, you can trust these true facts: A pomander is a ball made for perfumes. They were used in the late Middle Ages through the 17th century to perfume the air in the immediate vicinity. Carriers of pomanders found it more tolerable to walk streets where filth and disease reigned. Some people wore them as a necklace or ring.

Those wealthy enough could afford silver or gold pomanders, which were globular cages for holding fragrant herbs or scents. Later, in colonial homes, pomander balls could be found in baskets, cupboards, or carried in a traveler's handkerchief to sniff when they encountered nasty odors on the road. By the Victorian era, pomander balls were a staple in many American homes.

Science & history: Having faith in the return of the sun

Before more accurate understandings of the solar system, gravity, and axial tilt, the ancients told stories to explain winter's darkness and provide reassurance. Those living in the northern hemisphere experienced winter's shorter, darker and colder days.

Winter-time agriculture was limited, or nonexistent. Proper management of the previous season's harvest was vital. If the community's food supply was inadequate, the group might not survive.

But celebrations were still an integral part of the end-of-year festivities. Rituals kept peoples' hopes up. Greenery was brought into homes for its enduring and, therefore, symbolic value. Fires and candles provided warmth, and extended an invitation for the return of the sun. With the re-emergence of spring, the ancients drew comfort in the effectiveness of their rituals.

This play between light and darkness features into celebratory traditions today. The lighting of the menorah during Hanukkah symbolizes overcoming politically darker days of oppression, while Diwali, the Hindu Festival, signifies the victory of light over darkness and knowledge over ignorance. Shab-e Yalda is a Persian festival that celebrates the winter solstice and the rebirth of the sun. Christmas traditions, including the multicolored ornamentation of evergreen trees, celebrate light and hope during the darkest time of the year.

Clove and Orange Pomander

Pomanders are great for gifts and decorations. They provide a fabulous fragrance for the holidays. Any citrus fruit, studded with whole dried cloves, scents the air and is festive. But I think oranges are more symbolic of the sun than limes.

Toothpicks or skewers can be used to make impressions in the fruit. The cloves may then be inserted into them. Designs can be pre-drawn by pen or marker. Alternately, a citrus zester or channel knife can be used to draw a design at the same time as create an impression for the cloves.

Pomanders will dehydrate if baked on a wire rack at 200°F for about 12-24 hours. They are ready when they feel light and sound hollow when tapped. You can also display pomanders without preserving them. But, if you choose to do that, you'll want to place them in the refrigerator at night to prolong their freshness. Run a piece of wire through the pomander to hang it, or string several together.

This could be used as a lesson in a

East Fishkill Recreation

Our Christmas tree-lighting party on Saturday, Dec. 6 was a super success. We had a huge crowd enjoying Christmas caroling, the toasted marshmallows, the Bob Martinson musical entertainment, the East Fishkill Rotary's hot chocolates and cookies, the East Fishkill Police booth with the Grinch, the Town Highway's decorated trucks, and the arrival and hours long picture taking with Santa and Mrs. Claus. Kudos to all who decorated our beautiful holiday tent and the surrounding areas. Special thanks to Christine Selback, who coordinated this entire event with Loretta Rosa and Gina Grippo, and to Ryan Knapp and his Rec Maintenance crew for setting up all the lights and displays. To the many volunteers who assisted – we couldn't have done it without you! Merry Christmas!

Next is the Festival of Lights! A Hanukkah Menorah lighting party has been scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 17, at 5:30 p.m. in front of The East Fishkill Town Hall. Get some chocolate "gelt" and enjoy some latkes, doughnuts and hot drinks and a few surprises. All are welcome!

We're working on the 2026 Rec Guides. If your organization or business is interested, give us a call.

The matches

Luigi takes a harrowing journey in search of a light for Pop.

Growing up in an Italian house with both parents from the old country, we were not allowed to speak English. All we spoke at home was Italian. As such, my parents’ English didn’t develop as well as other Italian immigrants. There were times that English and Italian were mixed together in a sort of new dialect that we understood, but our relatives overseas did not. This didn’t work out very well when we would visit Italy and we would try to hold conversations.

My father and his two uncles would take turns going to Italy to visit their mother. So every three years we would pack up and go stay in my father’s hometown of Monte di Procida at the house he grew up in. I remember when I was 7 years old, we went to Italy for the summer.

Monte di Procida, as I remember, was a small town with narrow cobblestone streets and stone building with a view of the Mediterranean no matter where you were. Driving in Italy was, and probably still is, an adventure. My father is not the best driver here in the States, so you can imagine what he was like in Italy. So, when he rented a car for our time in Italy, let’s just say, Pop got the extra insurance. We scraped many stone walls, and as such our rental car looked like it had just gone through Afghanistan instead of our little town of Monte di Procida.

On most days, when not visiting relatives, we would go to the beach, usually Miliscola, then have a late lunch around 4 p.m., because everything in town would shut down for siesta between 1 and 3 p.m.

On one such occasion, we were eating at a small open-air café near the beach. As was custom after dinner, my father would light a cigarette. Unfortunately, he didn’t have any matches, so he sent me to get some. I went to front desk and asked for “matchediels,” which unbeknownst to me is not an Italian word at all. It’s not even the Italian dialect of our hometown. It is a hybrid word made of the word “matches” with an Italian ending to it, which I would find out later in life was fairly common for Italian Americans. The correct word is fiammiferi, which is a word that I had never heard of.

Anyway, the maître d’ yelled at me, told me to get lost, cursed me out and kicked me in the butt, not knowing that I was eating there with my family. So I wandered out of the restaurant and spied a little store across the street. Now drivers in Italy are notorious for running down people, so I had to kind of jump and weave my way across the street of death, defying the devil himself. Out of breath after a few near misses, I made it across. I went in the store that I had spied and asked for “matchediels.” He kicked me out of the store, cursed me out, and kicked me in the butt.

Now I was determined. I was on a quest. I went down to another store and asked for “matchediels.” Once again I was kicked out of the store, cursed out, and kicked in the butt.

Now I’m noticing a pattern. I may have been 7 years old and naïve, but every kick in the butt I received was starting to wear on me; and I realized what I was saying was not being understood. The next store I entered I didn’t speak. I instead chose to point and grunt. This didn’t work either because they thought there was something wrong with me and they kicked me out anyway, again with the customary cursing and the ever-present kick in the butt. You see, I didn’t realize it at the time, but apparently there was a problem with gypsies using kids to scam store owners, so they just assumed I was one of them.

My butt was getting sore from getting kicked so many times, and my spirits were low from being cursed out so many times, so I decided to go back to restaurant with my tail between my legs and no matches. Once again I had to cross the street of death and dodging traffic, laughing at the devil himself, in order to get back across the road.

When I went into the café, I had to sneak back in. If you remember, the maître d’ kicked me out the first time I asked for “matchediels” and I wanted to avoid getting another cursing and another boot in the butt. After I snuck by the front desk, as I was walking back to our table, I spied a large bowl in the shape of an elephant with ... books of matches. I grabbed one and went back to the table, albeit a half-hour later.

When my father saw me, he asked where I was, so I told him the whole story complete with my harrowing cross of the street of death. He was horrified, but proud that his son refused to give up before returning with a book of matches. There was a plate of hazelnut biscotti on the table with a small pot of espresso and a bottle of anisette. Pop handed me a biscotti and put his arm around me, as I sat next to him, and he lit a cigarette. Well, at least I knew I wasn’t going to get kicked in the butt again.

Hazelnut Biscotti
Ingredients

6 whole eggs
4 cups all-purpose flour
2 cups white sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
4 tablespoons Amaretto
3 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 cups chopped hazelnuts

Method

Mix dry ingredients in a large bowl. Mix the eggs and liquids in a separate bowl. Add liquids to the dry ingredients gradually, mixing until dough is stiff. Do not overmix.

Shape dough into two rectangles 4 inches wide by 12 inches long. Place on greased cookie sheet. Bake for 20 minutes at 350 degrees.

Remove baked rectangles from oven and let stand until cool.

Using a sharp knife, slice the large cookie into 3/4-inch slices. Place them back on the cookie sheet, on their side, and bake again for 15 minutes or until they are golden brown.

Serve with espresso and, of course, a bottle of Anisette.

Mary A. Boscher artwork on display at Grinnell Library in December

Born in Wisconsin, Mary A. Boscher studied art in Chicago, earning a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from the University of Illinois, where she also pursued studies in graphics and calligraphy. After relocating to New York’s Hudson Valley, she earned her Master of Fine Arts from SUNY New Paltz and went on to teach in several schools, including Ossining and Spackenkill.

Boscher’s work will be on display at Grinnell Library in Wappingers Falls throughout December.

Boscher’s work has been exhibited throughout the region, including Kingston, Mahopac, New Paltz, Ossining, Poughkeepsie, and Saugerties. Her solo exhibition at the Arts Society of Kingston in December 2026 featured 63 multimedia pieces, and her most recent show at Adriance Memorial Library included over 70 works.

For several years, Boscher designed and contributed to the Saugerties Chamber Street Art exhibit, creating imaginative pieces such as a carousel horse, three lighthouses, and a garden chair. Her multimedia works have included a kiddie pedal car transformed into a Peace Mobile, a stallion reimagined as a unicorn, and a rocking horse adorned with painted children’s toys. Each summer, these pieces are auctioned to benefit local causes such as schools, food pantries, and veterans’ organizations.

Boscher has also created works for non-profit fundraisers, including Abilities First and Doctors Without Borders. Over the years, her artistic practice has encompassed furniture design, jewelry making, mosaics, prints, decoupage, and assemblage.

Holiday concert set for Dec. 17 at LaGrange Association Library

Comprised of seasonal, Christmas, and Hanukkah selections, there is a little bit of something for everyone in local musician Alex Prizgintas’s holiday concert on his electric cello. With jazz, rock, klezmer, and traditional styles, this program offers a wide palette for the discerning listener. From the Most Wonderful Time of the Year and The First Noel to Ma’oz Tzur and Hava Nagila, all are welcome to attend this program at the LaGrange Association Library on Wednesday, Dec. 17 at 6 p.m. (please register on the library's website).

“I tend to have two audiences; those who know me as a cellist and those who know me through my lectures on topics of regional history. My bifurcated interests certainly keep me busy developing new stories to share about our Hudson River Valley as well as expanding my concert programs that strive to keep audiences engaged, enlightened and hopefully entertained.”

To learn more and see other video samples of his music and lectures, please visit alexprizgintas.com.

Local musician Alex Prizgintas will perform a holiday concert on Dec. 17 at the LaGrange Association Library.

Masque & Mime students enjoy staging ‘Hercules’ performances

By Kristine Coulter

The students of Roy C. Ketcham (RCK) High School’s Masque & Mime drama program recently performed “Hercules: Labor 9 The Belt of Hippolyte.”

Daniel Norton, a senior at RCK, portrayed Zeus.

“Specific parts of being in Masque & Mime’s shows stand out as my favorites. When it comes to the rehearsal process, I love the blocking stage like a kid loves a sandpit. This is a multi-week period during the process in which the director works through every scene one-by-one with the stage managers and cast members, establishing where every character starts and moves to, as well as which set pieces and props would be utilized during each scene. This segment is the birthplace of so many fun ideas, as I am given the freedom to make bold new choices for my character and bounce wild ideas with my director on different ways to play around with a scene,” said Daniel. “When blocking the opening of the show, my director had the idea to create a mini flashback scene to Hercules’ birth during one of my monologues. This idea developed as many of us came up with various ways to visualize it, and in the end we had a whole comedic fake birth scene mentioned nowhere in the script that helped set the tone for the rest of the show. The blocking period is the birthplace of countless pieces of action and direction that are the lifeblood of the whole show. During this time, the stage becomes a playground built for collaboration and, most importantly, fun!”

Opening night of “Hercules” was really stressful, according to Dominick Cantalupo, who portrayed Hercules, felt unprepared.

“I kept running my lines over and over again from the moment I woke up that day until the second I stepped onstage for the first time. But the instant I got onstage and heard the audience cheer, I realized what performing was truly about. It wasn’t about stressing over lines or blocking, it was about entertaining the audience. Whenever they laughed at a line, gasped at something I said, or sat there with an intrigued stare, it made my night, my whole weekend. Knowing they wanted to be there made me want to perform at my best while also having as much fun as possible,” said Dominick.

Najah I. Muhammad is the drama club’s adviser.

“What I most enjoy about watching a show come together, is seeing the way it makes people feel. From the adults involved to the students, it’s beautiful to see the joy, pride, and sometimes even surprise on their faces when they see their work pay off,” she said. “There are so many moving pieces, and when those pieces fit together, like a beautiful 500-piece puzzle, it’s so rewarding. The magic of theatre knows no bounds, and to see it positively affects students and adults alike is one of my greatest joys. I also really love to see the growth in our students. It’s so beautiful watching a young person step into their power and potential, especially when given a role they are initially challenged by. I’m so proud of these young people for taking on these challenges, unabashedly, much like Hercules himself!”

Dominick remarked, “I enjoyed “Hercules” because I was able to be creative. Normally in shows, you’re confined to a character with one defining trait, but with Hercules I was able to explore multiple sides of my character. The comedy of the show was one of the main reasons I loved it so much. However, my favorite part of the show was when I got to be serious and upset. My favorite scene was the one with Princess Hippolyte in her quarters. In that scene, I was able to have some funny banter but also show anger and frustration, which made it exciting to perform.”

Daniel noted, “As I rehearsed and studied my lines for the months leading up to the show, I forgot which parts were actually meant to get a laugh. The laughter in the theatre both reminded me which parts were funny and helped me realize humor in lines that I had never even noticed beforehand. On opening night, when I said my line “and you thought being married as a mortal was rough...,” I barely paused long enough for the audience to finish cracking up, because I hadn’t considered how many couples and families watching would connect with the joke. The benefit of having multiple show dates is that I got to learn what landed and what didn’t among the crowd for the first night, and adapt for the following ones. In that aspect, every show is an improvement upon the previous one.”

The laughter for the comedic show was the best feedback about the performances, said Muhammad.

“Every night the audience roared with laughter and reactions, which is the greatest gift when trying to pull off a comedic show. Everyone has a different idea of what “funny” is, so it was so rewarding to see people of all ages find something to connect with and tickle their funny bone. After opening night, one person told me, ‘I didn’t expect to laugh this much,’ while another father said, ‘my ribs hurt from laughing. Wow.’ I kept hearing that the show just made everyone feel good, which is a nice shift from the last couple of shows we’ve done that have truly pulled on the heart strings. People also kept saying that they didn’t know how we were able to pull off such a big show in a short amount of time. We had many moving pieces and it really came together,”
