Wreaths Across America (WAA) will take place on December 17. Dani Masterson, a local resident, will take part in the annual event in Wappingers Falls at the Wappingers Rural Cemetery, 174-208 W Main St., Wappingers Falls, at noon.

According to the Wreaths Across America website, <https://www.wreathsacrossamerica.org/>, "Each December on National Wreaths Across America Day, our mission to Remember, Honor and Teach is carried out by coordinating wreath-laying ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery, as well as at more than 3,400 additional locations in all 50 U.S. states, at sea and abroad."

This will be Masterson's fourth year participating in honoring veterans during this event.

Masterson told of her grandfather being a veteran. There was an incident that took place in 2019 during the ceremony that Masterson still recalls.

"I had two wreaths left to place. One for my grandfather and the other for my friend. I noticed a man visiting a grave close by, who kept looking over to see what I was doing," Masterson said via email. "Come to find out his father was a veteran, and his grave wasn't marked as a Veteran's grave. So, I took the wreath that was going to be placed at my grandfather's grave and placed it on his grave. I knew my grandfather would understand."

Masterson, a national bugler, plays Taps across the country during military funerals.

Masterson told another story from that ceremony that happened three years ago.

Memories of Claudio carry volunteers for 10th Can Drive

By Curtis Schmidt

They all share a heart-felt connection with the Coppola family of Hyde Park and with Claudio Coppola in particular.

As the Claudio Cares Holiday Can Drive enters its 10th year, many volunteers have come forward (as they always have) to work together to aid thousands of families in the Dutchess County area. This year, we are talking to several of those volunteers who are remembering how and why they got involved – after the tragic death of Claudio – and in the formation of an organization designed to help others, just like Claudio was known for doing.

"Claudio brought hope to countless peers. He always offered a kind word, a shoulder to cry on, or a joke to cheer up someone," said Mom and Dad Lisa and Luigi Coppola. "But the main thing he offered was hope – hope for a future without pain, without suffering, hope for life without despair."

Fjord Trail parking discussed during webinar

By Kristine Coulter

A webinar regarding the "Parking & Shuttle Study: Findings & Recommendations" took place on December 6 with nearly 100 participants in attendance. The idea was to gather feedback for the Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail. The trail has been envisioned for 15 years, according to Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail, Inc.

"[We were very pleased with the turnout and we garnered some very useful information and feedback, which our consultant team (Steadman Hill and Creighton Manning) will use to formulate the study," said Lori Moss, Communications Manager for Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail.

Project manager in charge of the study Drew Polinsky talked about the agenda of the meeting.

He said it is a 7 1/2-mile linear park between Beacon and Cold Spring. He noted that officials would like to have the shuttle system up and running when Phase 1 is open.

The need for the parking study is due to increasing unsafe condition along Route 9D make clear a need for better visitor management and expanded, organized parking options

"We all know how crazy parking along 9D can get, especially along Breakneck," said Polinsky.

Metro-North Railroad, NY State Park, NYS Department of Transportation, Dutchess and Putnam counties, Towns of Philipstown, Fishkill, Village of Cold Spring and City of Beacon.

"We began studying July 2022 with data gathering," he said. There was feedback throughout the initial designs and stakeholder meeting. A final report is expected in Feb. 2023.

Officials will work with consultations on the final report and implementation.

Hiking took the lead in a poll about various activities. The first question for participants was where people were from who were participating. Most were from Cold Spring and then Philipstown. "Some from Beacon and Fishkill as well," he said.

Consultant team members Stephen Falbel, who is the president of Steadman Hill Consulting, and Dan Berkowsky, PE and Senior Transit Engineer for Creighton Managing Engineering, from Ossining in Westchester County, offered information on the goal of the study and project.

"The first part was to estimate what the potential parking demand would be when the Fjord Trail is built," said Falbel.

The second is to design a shuttle system to improve mobility. "We

Parise promoted to Deputy Fire Chief in Poughkeepsie

City of Poughkeepsie officials have announced that Lt. Vinnie Parise of the City's Fire Department has been named department's next Deputy Fire Chief, effective immediately.

Lt. Parise is a resident of the City of Poughkeepsie and a graduate of Poughkeepsie High School. He began his career with the City as a firefighter in 2001 and was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant in 2016.

City Fire Chief Joe Franco said, "Deputy Chief Parise has served the City and this Department with distinction for nearly 22 years. His knowledge of department operations is matched only by his love of our community, and he has the respect and admiration of our entire team."

City Administrator Marc Nelson said, "On behalf of city residents and all our partners, I want to thank Deputy Chief Parise for his service and congratulate him on his new role. This is a wonderful choice for the city and we wish him, his family and the entire department a very happy holiday season."

Deputy Chief Parise said: "I'm grateful for the confidence that city leadership and Chief Franco have in me, and for the support and well-wishes of my peers. It is my honor to work with our team of professional firefighters. We are all at the ready, and we all wish you a safe and very happy holiday."

want to have an adequate amount of parking but we also want to have a shuttle system," said Falbel. It is also planned to create a cost and management plan for parling and shuttle.

"Just some baseline stats," said Berkowsky. Annual visits are roughly 480,000, it was stated, and the peak months are September and October with more than 60,000 users on average.

The portion of park visitors whom arrive by car is 60 percent and 29 percent arrive by train, remarked Berkowsky.

Some key takeaways are that there is limited transit from the north; available transit significantly impacts mode choice; majority of visitors approach from the south and average vehicle occupancy is 2.5 people.

Two rounds of parking utilization data were collected in July 2022 and October 2022 and each were conducted on a Saturday. Results showed that peak parking demand is the fall. Peak parking demand is between 12:45 – 1:45 p.m. The existing parking lots are full by 10:30 a.m.

The future of parking can possibly include:

- HHFT will add new off-street parking capacity
- Parking fees will be instituted at all HHFT lots – one flat daily rate
- Convenient shuttle service will be offered to reduce driving
- Work with local partners to reduce unsafe parking and spillover with companion parking controls

How fees would be collected, would be "look[ed] at different methods that are out there," he said, which included pay-on-exit, manned booths, "frictionless" parking and payment kiosks.

Berkowsky explained the "frictionless" parking "has no gate, no kiosk, it does everything by license plate readers and pay by app" or one receives a bill in the mail.

The basic route of the shuttle would be Cold Spring to Beacon via 9D and stops being considered would be at MNR-Beacon; Notch; Dutchess Manor; Breakneck and Little Stony Point. Mount Beacon would be potential stop, still part of negotiations. It was said feedback and ideas are still being taken.

Next is to have discussions with Dutchess and Putnam counties officials and a public meeting in Cold Spring in January 2023. Also, they would refine recommendations based on community feedback and prepare a final report.

Who would be in charge of parking enforcement?

Engineering controls created by the Fjord are going to handle a lot of parking enforcement possibly, it was stated. Enforcement personnel from Fjord Trail will have a lot of boots on the ground to help with parking enforcement, it was stated and so would local and state.

Board of Health meeting Dec. 15 of Poughkeepsie.

One may participate via Microsoft Teams by calling 1-516-268-4602 and enter the Conference ID number: 581 157 654#.

Memories of Claudio carry volunteers during 10th Can Drive

This year's Can Drive continues through Dec. 19. Visit Claudiocares.com to see how you can help.

Luigi Coppola is a modest guy, and definitely does not like to ask for help.

"That's not me. That's not what I do. But with Claudio Cares, there's no problem," he said. "That's because this organization helps everyone who needs help – from students and schools to food pantries and so much more. It has grown to help so many – and all of the volunteers gain and learn so much from the experience of helping."

Over the course of 10 years, The Claudio Cares Foundation has built seven Claudio Coppola Memorial Computer Rooms, collected over 250,000 pounds of non-perishable food items that have helped feed thousands of families in the Dutchess County area, and has given away over $150,000 in the form of donations, scholarships, and awards.

And the best part? "Over the years, we have been blessed to have worked with many young people who are learning the value of helping in their communities. From Red Hook to Fishkill, we have had hundreds of young people volunteer to help. We hope to continue to inspire young people to give of themselves through volunteer work," said Luigi.

So, who are some of the volunteers and how did the special connections come about? We invite you to take a look.

Heather Blume

"I have known the Coppola family since my son, Brandon, and Marc Anthony (Coppola) were in Pre-K at Regina Coeli School. They were the first ones to welcome me to the fold and we have been friends (family) ever since.

"When Claudio passed, we were all devastated – especially my son, Brandon, who was 18 at the time. He and Marcanthony and Claudio always hung out together and were very close. Because of the tragedy, Brandon changed his path and became an EMT and now works in the medical field. He also has a tattoo for Claudio of a Blue Rose with Claudio's name on it. He says, Claudio is always with him and he feels his presence every day.

"When they started the Foundation, I was one of the first ones to jump in and help. The first event they conducted was the can drive on Claudio's birthday December 17th and that has continued every year. I am humbled and honored to know the family and I am in awe of how they have stayed strong and held their faith throughout the entire time. I can say for myself I don't know if I would be that strong. They are – and continue to be – a warm and loving family that I am grateful to be apart of. And as Claudio would say 'We got this.'"

County Sheriff-elect Kirk Imperati

"It started due to the lifelong friendship of our families. My oldest daughter, Allie, and Claudio went to Holy Trinity Catholic School from kindergarten through the eighth grade. They were best friends and spent a lot of time together.

"When Claudio's tragic accident occurred, and Luigi and Lisa wanted to start a foundation in Claudio's memory, I was honored to be asked and get involved. The foundation's mission is providing extra services for children and their families, something I'm extremely passionate about.

"Luigi and Lisa and the Claudio Cares Foundation team have done an outstanding job assisting our local food pantries, as well as our local schools. The Coppola tradition of giving back to the community has continued to thrive through the Claudio Cares Foundation. I will always be there for the foundation and look forward to continuing to do great things for our community in the years to come."

Mary-Kate Sweet

"I became a part of Claudio Cares back when it first began. Growing up with Geno and getting to know the Coppola family at a young age made it an easy decision to volunteer for this organization.

"In the beginning, I would help to collect non-perishable goods for the can drive in school and church. Later, I would help deliver the goods to local food pantries with friends. My brother, Matt, also ran a lemonade stand at the local parades to raise money for Claudio Cares. They even built him and his friends a stand to use. Every year we look forward to getting together, giving back to the community and keeping Claudio's memory alive."

Rick Zolzer Hudson Valley Renegades

"I have known Luigi going all the way back to when I met him as a student when I was coaching football, basketball and baseball. Several years later, I met him and his wife, Lisa, when I was a DJ for a wedding at their restaurant.

"I have always been amazed at their work ethic and how well they represented the family name on the sign in front of the restaurant. A bunch of years later, I read about the tragedy of losing their son, Claudio, and all the good they have done in his honor in the community with the Claudio Cares Foundation.

"Their son, Marcanthony, became my intern with the Renegades and the relationship grew. I served as emcee at their Claudio Cares banquet a couple of years and the Renegades Travel Baseball Program got involved in the food drive a couple of years later. If Luigi says 'Zolz jump' – I do and then say 'when can I come down.' They are one of the most impressive families I have ever met in any walk of life."

Brendan Dotterer Tuthilltown Distillers

"First off, I was born and raised in Hyde Park. I attended school and played sports with the Coppola families. During my high school years, I started working at Coppola's in Hyde Park as a busboy/server. I helped cook at their booth and food truck at the Dutchess County Fair for a few years. My family became very entwined with the Coppola family over the years.

"I attended the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park after receiving a recommendation from Coppola's due to my previous work experience. Toward the end of my studies at the CIA, I had a strong focus on the beverage field. Upon graduation, I started working at Tuthilltown Spirits Distillery in Gardiner, which is the home of Hudson Whiskey. Our parent company, which is based in the UK, has a foundation that allows employees to help select local charities to which to donate.

"We are always happy to support the Claudio Cares Foundation and its mission - neighbors helping neighbors, family helping family. Claudio Cares is something that I hold very near to my heart. I look forward to seeing the difference that we can all make when we work together in Claudio's memory."

And from Lisa, Luigi and the Coppola family: "We wish to thank everyone who has given of themselves in the past and look forward to continuing Claudio's caring tradition."

Wreath-laying ceremonies set Dec. 17

"After I placed that wreath, I was approached by a woman who asked what I was doing with all these wreaths, and I told her about WAA. Come to find out, her husband was also a veteran, and his grave was also unmarked. I took my final wreath and told her that it would be my honor to place this wreath at his grave."

Masterson continued, "The tears in her eyes she hugged and me and thanked me for what was just done."

Masterson said participating in the annual WAA event, is "humbling, exciting, memorable, touching."

"For me, honoring the fallen is an important part of what I do, not just on Wreaths [Across America] Day, but all throughout the year. Wreaths Across America gave the Gold Star families that we support a connection that they really appreciate."

Fishkill Rural Cemetery ceremony set

Another ceremony of laying wreaths will take place at the Fishkill Rural Cemetery, 801 Route 9, in Fishkill on December 17 at 2 p.m.

"For those who have donated, thank you for your donation of wreath sponsorship for this community event that we have organized for the veterans sections in the Fishkill Rural Cemetery," said Joseph Schuka, a funeral director with Libby Funeral Home, 55 Teller Ave., in Beacon. "I'm really looking forward to the event, which should be a great display of patriotism for the area."

On the Wreaths Across America page, a message about the ceremony, from Libby Funeral Home and Fishkill Rural Cemetery, reads, "Please help us Remember the Fallen ... Honor those who Served ... and Teach our young people the value of Freedoms."

Schuka said, "I'm overwhelmed and joyful about the outcome from the year-long fundraiser to cover the wreaths. We have received 400 wreaths which is phenomenal for the first year, and I'm hoping to continue this event in the years to come, and get more involvement from the community, organizations, and residents." Schuka said he is honored to have Libby Funeral Home working with Fishkill Rural Cemetery on the ceremony.

Ceremony planned at St. Denis Church Cemetery

A ceremony will also take place in East Fishkill at St. Denis Church Cemetery at 10

Teachers, staff provide well-rounded education

To the Editor:

On November 3, 2022, the Chapter Chair of the Moms for Liberty for Dutchess County spoke in front of the East Fishkill Town Board regarding the Wappingers Central School District stating that "many teachers and librarians cannot be trusted to make decisions on materials available to our children." I am a graduate of Roy C. Ketcham class of 1972, my husband is a Roy C. Ketcham graduate class of 1967, both my children are graduates from RCK and my grandchildren are attending elementary and middle schools in the Wappinger Central School District.

Our schools, educators, teachers, librarians are providing a well-rounded education to our public-school students. I would much rather have the decisions made by educators, librarians, and teachers than members of Moms for Liberty hiding behind the idea of "parental rights" when their real agenda was exposed during the last school board election with the obvious "Christ is King" signs. In the next school board election, we may not have the benefit of Moms for Liberty candidates openly spouting their Christian Nationalist agenda all over the Town of Wappinger in their signs. Moms for Liberty candidates were resoundingly trampled by the voters of Dutchess County. Voters put their trust in the Teacher's union to find the most qualified candidates for our school boards and they came through for all of us.

Our educators, teachers and librarians are charged to provide a full well-rounded education that respects parents, diversity, and their students and this includes people of all religions, race and sexual orientation.

Since my family and I have actually been educated in the Wappingers Central School District, I want to say thank you to the educators, teachers, librarians who have contributed so much to our lives every day. These people are passionate about providing an education to all our children.

Just a reminder, all parents have the options of sending their children to Christian-based schools or to home school their children. What they don't have the right to do is make decisions for other parents about how to educate their children or promote one religion or to practice discrimination against members of the Dutchess County and Wappinger community.

Beephan bids 'farewell' to representing East Fishkill, heads to NYS Assembly

To the Editor:

I chose your distinguished newspaper to thank all the voters who have entrusted me to represent New York's 105th Assembly District. I vow to bring the same energy and accessibility exhibited during my time as East Fishkill Town Councilman to Albany as we advocate for common sense policies.

On Thursday, December 8, I bid farewell to the East Fishkill Town Board. While bittersweet, I am proud to say that I left our town better than I found it five years ago. It was indeed the honor of a lifetime serving as an East Fishkill Town councilman. I also thank Town Supervisor Nicholas D'Alessandro, my fellow Council Members, the town staff, and our wonderful residents for their support, help, and trust over the last five years.

My team and I are currently transitioning to ensure no lapse in representation. While my time as East Fishkill Councilman will end on December 31st, our work will continue unhindered. I look forward to serving my constituents as District 105th's Assemblyman.

I also wish everyone a beautiful holiday season and a new year filled with peace and happiness during this transitional period. Please remember that my door is always open to you.

Wappingers Falls Business & Professional Association Holiday Luncheon postponed

Submitted by Cindy Latino, WFPBA

The Wappingers Falls Business & Professional Association (WFBPA) is postponing its Holiday luncheon scheduled for December 14 until January 18, 2023. The luncheon will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall at Noon. As has become the tradition at our Holiday luncheon, the Wappingers Falls Business & Professional Association has been honoring people each year that we consider to be the "unsung" heroes of our community. The people we have chosen to honor give countless hours to various organizations and causes in our area. These individuals work quietly and tirelessly behind the scenes to make our community a better place to live. They are true caregivers and caretakers of our community.

Our 2022 honorees are Sarah and Harry Terbush, owners of the Wappingers Falls Hydroelectric Power facility located in the Market Street Industrial Park in the Village of Wappingers Falls. For over 30 years, the site has harnessed the power of falling water to provide electricity to the surrounding area. The power is pollution free and renewable and continues to be an effective means for providing a cleaner environment. They also operate two other sites located across the river in Wallkill and Salisbury Mills,

As part of our Wappingers Falls community, Sarah and Harry have supported our many community events and activities over the years, in particular the Holiday Lights on the Falls. Please join us at our Post Holiday luncheon in January 2023 as we publicly thank them for their service. Reservations can be made at www.wfbpa.org.

Sing Christmas, holiday cards for veterans at Wappinger Town Hall

Christmas and holiday cards are available for one to sign, seal and place in the table-top mailbox at the Wappinger Town Hall. These cards will be distributed throughout the region in time for the holidays.

Anyone can stop by Wappinger Town Hall, 20 Middlebush Rd., between now and December 16th during business hours, Monday through Friday - 8:30 a.m. - 4 p.m., to write a card to a veteran or drop off a tree ornament. A table set up in the lobby for one to write the card or one can write in the Supervisors Conference Room.

Notes from the Town of Wappinger Supervisor

Highlighting activities for 2022

As we wind down 2022, many recollections run through my mind of our renewed Town recreation activities and events throughout the year. For example, I think of our seniors and veterans participating in full force in our various activities for them ranging from the Garden Club to the hometown Heroes banner initiative. Among the most joyous of my 2022 visions are from just a few days ago: the Town's Christmas tree ceremony at our Schlathaus Park. My happiness derives not so much from the Tree lighting itself, but from the smiles of pure joy on the faces of the 200+ young residents who came to visit Santa.

When first seeing Santa approach Schlathaus last Friday night, courtesy of the New Hackensack Fire Department, the children erupted in cheers and joyful shouting. Watching our young folks line up in happy anticipation of meeting Santa brought much pleasure to myself, Councilman Al Casella, our staff, and Santa who had prepared for that evening. While hot cocoa and donuts helped to keep everyone in the greeting line warm, the young hearts most especially glowed with contentment knowing they could soon whisper in Santa's ear what they hoped he would bring to them to end a tough year for many. Our Town Board and staff are very proud that we can provide even some small amount of happiness to our community. Thanks to everyone who participated.

In the December days ahead, many Wappinger faith and cultural organizations will observe through gatherings, celebrations, feasts, and traditional festivities, including: Kwanzaa; Hanukkah; Christmas; Christmas Posadas (and many other Latino celebrations); Yule; Bodhi Day; the Shaheedi of the 10th Sikh Guru and his family; Boxing Day; Winter Solstice; and Japanese New Year's Eve (Omisoka), to name a few. As a community, we are very blessed by nearly 40 such groups. Not only do they bring to us much cultural enrichment, but each and every organization provides outreach to many residents in need throughout the year. I thank them for all that they do to help our community.

This past year has laid upon our shoulders many challenges, such as inflation, unemployment, crime and violence, and ongoing threats to our health and well-being. Despite these ongoing problems, I hope that you will be able to enjoy a warm, festive, and restful holiday season. More importantly, I hope that you will be blessed by good health.

For those who have suffered some misfortune, it is my wish that 2023 will bless you with full recovery from any recent illnesses and a renewed faith in mankind. My wife and I are deeply saddened by the loss of many lives prematurely. Increasingly, nearly everyone we know has learned of someone being infected by Covid, the flu, RSV or some other disease, or, even worse, robbed by the grim reaper. I hope that during this season of holidays and celebrations all of us can re-unite with families and friends without restrictions.

In the weeks ahead, as you visit Town hall to seek our help and assistance in for a variety of issues, concerns, and basic enquiries, please stop by my office to say hi or to schedule an appointment about your concerns. Should you visit during December, please enjoy the seasonal decorations that our staff has placed throughout Town Hall. Also, please drive by Schlathaus Park to observe our seasonal light displays and decorations.

I hope that you and your families can take the time to enjoy some of the holiday season. And, until soon, please stay safe and remain well.

In its ongoing dedication to bettering the communities it serves in Dutchess, Putnam and Westchester counties, this Thanksgiving Tompkins Community Bank gifted a total of $7,500 to Dutchess Outreach, Feeding Westchester, and Second Chance Foods in celebration of its annual "Banksgiving" holiday donation. In past years, Tompkins' Banksgiving has featured donations to local food insecurities in each of the counties it serves. The bank has donated a total of $18,000 over its 2 years of supporting local nonprofits through the Banksgiving program.

"It's a difficult time of year for many folks, and even more difficult given the ongoing aftereffects of the pandemic and the rising costs of goods," said Dave DeMilia, president of Tompkins' Hudson Valley market. "It's our hope that these gifts will make a meaningful difference in all of these communities, because we're a part of those communities, too."

The Banksgiving donations round out a year of community-focused initiatives for Tompkins. Throughout 2022, the bank has continued to offer free, virtual seminars on topics ranging from first-time home-buying to fraud protection, as a means of cultivating financial education and independence in the Hudson Valley. The company also participated in the Relay for Life of Mahopac this summer, adding $31,000 in donations to its cumulative total of over $125,000 since Tompkins began participating in 2018. In a show of appreciation for its customers, the bank also continued hosting its series of community-beloved Food Truck Fridays, in which complimentary lunches are served to customers from local food trucks at various branch locations.

"Giving is a corporate-wide initiative," continued DeMilia. "It's not a requirement, it's not a box we check. It's part of the fabric of our mission as a community bank. Given that we live where we work, we have the unique privilege of seeing our impact in action in our own backyards—and this is what inspires us to continue evolving to meet the needs of the Hudson Valley."

DA's office announces indictment against former Fishkill bookkeeper

Dutchess County District Attorney, William V. Grady, has announced a 1,330-count indictment charging a former bookkeeper with stealing almost $715,000, over the past two and a half years, from the Fishkill Auto Body Shop in Fishkill.

According to District Attorney Grady, "The success of any business, large or small, depends on the integrity of those who are given the responsibility for financial oversight. The evidence in this case will show that the defendant breached that trust and nearly ruined the Company by repeatedly writing checks from the Company's bank account and cashing them to fund her personal expenses, and disguised the thefts as legitimate payments to vendors."

The District Attorney's Office said that the defendant, Suzanne Whitman, 55, of Poughkeepsie, was arraigned on Dec. 7 before County Court Judge Edward T. McLoughlin on an indictment charging her with one count of Grand Larceny in the Second Degree, a Class C Felony, 627 counts of falsifying business records in the First Degree, a Class E Felony, and 702 counts of Criminal Possession of a Forged Instrument, a Class D Felony. If convicted of these crimes, the defendant will, because she has a prior felony conviction, face a prison sentence of 5-15 years. The Court was legally prohibited from setting bail on this case and the defendant was released under the supervision of the Dutchess County Probation Department.

This case was investigated by New York State Police Investigators from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation as well as the Special Investigations Financial Crimes Unit.

The case is being prosecuted by Senior Assistant District Attorney Liz Kurtz, under the supervision of Bureau Chief Frank Petramale and the overall supervision of Chief Assistant District Attorney Matthew Weishaupt.

It should be noted that an indictment is an accusatory instrument and not proof of a defendant's guilt.

Clowes research reveals unknown dimensions of another local artist

James H. Wright promoted himself, and was well known as, a portrait painter. He gained extra income by going beyond that. Shown above is his painting of a thoroughbred horse that was published and distributed by Currier & Ives as a print. In letters to Caroline Clowes, Wright encouraged Clowes to take the same commercial opportunity. Library of Congress.

By Bill Jeffway

DCHS Executive Director

The portrait painter James Wright has been best known locally for his 1861 portrait of Matthew Vassar. Commissioned by Vassar in 1860, it is in the collection of the Frances Lehman Loeb Art Center at Vassar College. Among the reasons it is so striking is the eight-foot height of the canvas. Vassar is shown with his dog, and his emerging Poughkeepsie estate, Springside, in the background. Wright is better known nationally for portraits like Daniel Webster, exhibited in the U.S. Capitol.

We were prompted to want to know more about Wright because, in preparation for the exhibit of the works of Caroline Clowes currently at Locust Grove Estate (see www.dchsn.org for specific dates and times) we discovered through her many letters that she had both a professional and social relationship with Wright for decades. Both were born in Hempstead, Long Island, although Wright was a generation older than Clowes. Both had lifelong relationships with family in Hempstead and Wright is buried there.

Wright was a central character in Clowes' professional advancement because he first successfully introduced her work to the influential Goupil's Gallery in New York City in early 1870.

Clowes signed her work with her initials, "C. M. Clowes." This decision is more calculating than might appear at first glance to 21st-century readers. Clowes was among the very first women to make a breakthrough to become both an artistic and commercial success in the field of painting. In one of the most telling twelve words among thousands of letters, on February 7, 1870, Wright wrote to Clowes from New York City explaining after introducing her work, "They [Goupil's] suppose you are a gentleman, and I did not undeceive them. They predict a brilliant future for you." He went on to say he would not correct their misperception until her reputation was firmly established, which quickly happened. "You are on the right path to fame and fortune, be faithful as you always have been," Wright went on to say at the close of his letter.

Like any good investigation into local history, we gain a few interesting answers, but acquire a greater number of intriguing

The inset close-ups of this 1863 photograph of 292 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, likely show the well known portrait painter, James H. Wright, and his business partner, Mr. M. Morse. new questions.

Further investigation of Wright in Poughkeepsie shows that he was advertising his services as a portrait painter as early as 1846. For decades he came each summer and worked from a studio on the second floor of 292 Main Street. The building that was on the south side of Main Street opposite the entrance to Garden Street. In the winter he was in New York City with a studio on Broadway near 13th Street, which was three blocks north of Goupil's.

To our great surprise and pleasure, while reviewing the many Main Street Poughkeepsie photos in the "Frank and Baltus B. Van Kleeck Collection" of the Dutchess County Historical Society, we found a May 19, 1863 photo of 292 Main Street. While business owners were always eager to step outside for a photograph, the fact that the photo was taken by the highly regarded Samuel L. Walker would have helped motivate any who might have hesitated.

The sign, "James Wright Portrait Painter," is clearly seen. We know from his ads that his studio was on the second floor. A skylight is clearly visible facing north, which would have been to his advantage. Outside the door is a taller older gentleman with a hat, who could be Wright. To his right is either a young or boyish looking man who might possibly be Wright's business partner, who we know only as "Mr. M. Morse." In New York City they advertised their business as "Messrs. Morse and Wright's Academy of Drawing and Painting." This could explain why one of the school invoices for Clowes mentions painting supplies from a "Mr. Morse."

It is through Wright's letters that we get insight into Caroline Clowes' commercial focus. She clearly wanted to be both an artistic and a commercial success. In the same letter referenced earlier, Wright goes over the financials relating to having her painting exhibited and offered for sale at Goupil's, writing, "The frame will cost $32. I told him you wanted $150 clear. So he will charge $200, which less frame and commission will give you $150."

At the time, artists could make money by allowing their paintings to be turned into "chromos" (short for chromolithography), what we would today more commonly call colored prints and engravings. Perhaps Clowes was reluctant to get involved in this type of alteration and distribution of her work. On stationery of Poughkeepsie's Morgan House hotel, on January 7, 1872, Wright wrote to Clowes, encouraging her to be less cautious about such an endeavor. "I think you should not be so particular about chromos. It seems to me that it might do you good at this particular time to have some of your pictures published," he wrote. If any of her works were published as prints and engravings, we have not yet been able to identify or locate any.

Interestingly, Wright himself, although widely known as a portrait painter, was in some instances a painter of animals like Clowes. Wright managed to have his painting of a thoroughbred horse, published as a "chromo" by none other than Currier and Ives (see photo). Wright depicted owner William Ryskyk with his horse, Hambletonian, in a painting that was turned into a widely distributed Currier and Ives print.

The insights gained here about both artists (our richer understanding of Wright beyond his being a portrait painter, and our better understanding of the financial priorities and acumen of Clowes) come from "connecting the dots" that emerge from surveying countless letters, photographs, and old newspapers. We gain answers, which only prompt more questions. Fertile Ground: The Hudson Valley Animal Paintings of Caroline Clowes runs through December 30, details at www.dchsn.org.

Legislators have different views on $25M amendment on Dutchess Stadium

Members of the Democratic caucus of the Dutchess County Legislature opposed an amendment to the 2023 county budget that added $25 million for improvements and event space at county-owned Dutchess Stadium.

In a press release from Dec. 8, the Democratic lawmakers said Legislative Chair Gregg Pulver wielded his authority to circumvent regular procedures and put the item to a vote on one day's notice, after weeks of budget presentations and public hearings were over.

The release added that Dutchess County Comptroller Robin Lois, who was shown the amendment less than an hour before the vote, warned in an email to legislators that it circumvented a Capital Project Policy that was "put in place to protect taxpayer dollars."

Republican legislators approved the measure on a near-party line vote.

A release from the Republican caucus said the appropriation comes from a fund balance and after lengthy discussions and was ultimately chosen over bonding, which would have cost the taxpayers an additional $11 million in interest costs. The new management group of the Hudson Valley Renegades has committed to expand the stadium use beyond 66 baseball games to include concerts, comedy shows, winter wonderland activities and charitable events. In pursuit of that, the group, Diamond Baseball Holding, is undertaking over $4 million in upgrades to the stadium to help facilitate those new attractions.

"This is an outrageous grab of taxpayer dollars at a time when every dollar needs to go to (our) county residents' urgent needs," said Minority Leader Yvette Valdés Smith. "Our caucus fought for free public transportation, affordable housing, funds for early intervention for childhood education, DCC tuition funds, a Climate Smart Coordinator, and youth mental health beds, of which the county has none. Those proposals were dismissed as 'too expensive'—and now suddenly $25 million is available for this - a Dutchess County 'Park' that is not free for our residents and that you must purchase a ticket to enter."

Chairman Pulver commented, "The Legislature discussed doing this project in June of 2021, however after bids came back over the appropriated amount, we had to revisit it. The merits and functions of the project have been in the public domain for over a year. The amount, which changed due to inflation and the Renegades contributing $4 million, was the only piece we needed to re-discuss.

"The Democrats clearly do not understand process as their claim that this was improper because it wasn't included in the Capital Improvement Plan was corrected the County's Budget Director during the meeting. To be clear, this project was included on our 2022 Capital Plan and removed from the 2023 Capital Plan because funding was being approved during 2022. Further, their claim that I circumvented regular process is laughable, the Democratic Caucus' amendments went through the same process. In fact, the Democrats offered three amendments after our committee and public hearing process was over—that's their right according to our rules."

DC Legislature adds amendments, approves 2023 county budget

At the Dec. 8 Board Meeting of the County Legislature, following comments from numerous legislators and members of the public, the legislature passed its final amendments to the 2023 Executive Budget and, by a 18-7 vote, approved the budget's final adoption.

This vote follows a public hearing on the Tentative Budget held on December 5th, and the Nov. 16 meeting of the Budget, Finance, and Personnel Committee, where the committee voted to advance the budget to the entire legislature for the final adoption vote.

The finalized 2023 Dutchess County budget totals approximately $588 million. Below, see an outline of the additional amendments approved at this evening's meeting:

Budget Amendments Adopted

- $25M in funding, transferred to the Capital Project Fund, to finance improvements to the Dutchess Stadium Park in the Town of Fishkill, with the Commissioner of Finance to create a capital account for this purpose

- $60,000 funding increase to create an additional bus shelter in Pleasant Valley, and another $60,000 in an ET Fund contribution to support the bus shelter project

- $50,000 funding increase to the DCFS Youth Services Division to fund the Path to Promise grant program to help struggling Dutchess County youth

- 50,000 funding increase to the Sheriff Department's budget, for the Sheriff Law Enforcement Academy

- 200,000 funding increase to the Planning & Development Department, to support a competitive grant program for youth programming to help at-risk youth aged 14-18, and parents of special needs children

- 1000,000 funding increase to the Planning & Development Department, for the APG not-for-profit infrastructure grant

Fund Transfer to Capital Project Fund

Chairman Gregg Pulver said, "We've debated improvements to the Dutchess Stadium Park for about a year, so this discussion was thoroughly conducted. To keep our stadium viable and functioning as a sport facility at its current level, investments are needed. The Dutchess County Legislature unanimously agreed to buy the land underneath the stadium in 2021, and when we did that, we took on responsibility to keep the infrastructure up to par. The stadium will continue to serve our community as it has done for years, benefitting our local economy and providing recreational opportunity to our residents. Unfortunately, supply chain and related economic problems drove up costs since the project was first proposed, but I believe this is an excellent investment for our county."

DPW- Public Transit

Legislator Diedre Houston said, "I'm proud that the legislature was able to provide this bus shelter to the residents of Pleasant Valley, increasing safety along the fixed Route D corridor. This is an essential infrastructure improvement, and will give our residents a more pleasant transportation experience. Many of our residents rely on the bus every day, and it is our responsibility to ensure their time on public transit does not put an undue burden on their daily routine. No one should be sitting on the curbside as they wait for the bus. This new bus shelter is a no brainer."

DCFS- Youth Services Division

Legislator Stephen Caswell said, "This funding will go to the worthy cause of the Path to Promise program, helping our young residents in their day-to-day lives in the areas of education, safety, and mental and physical health. I was proud to introduce the $50,000 amendment to fund this grant program, and glad to see it pass without opposition. Let's continue to help our at-risk and struggling youth towards a fulfilling life, by giving them opportunities to participate in our community and progress towards a worthwhile career."

Sheriff's Office

Legislator Ben Geller said, "I was proud to introduce this amendment, and see it pass unanimously, especially considering that I used to serve as in conjunction with Department of Environmental Protection Police Academy, through an EMS agency partner. I was responsible for instructing the care under fire course and teaching basic first aid to the recruits, so I know first hand what is needed for this kind of training to succeed. Given my education and experience, I know the importance of training like how you fight. Our sheriff's office is essential to day-to-day life in Dutchess County, and we need to give them the infrastructure necessary to accomplish their mission and keep our residents safe."

Molinaro remembers former legislator Incoronato

It was announced last week that former Dutchess County Legislator Joseph Incoronato, who represented the town of Poughkeepsie and Wappinger, died. Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro released a statement on December 6. He said, "We are saddened to learn of the passing of Joseph Incoronato, who served many years in the Dutchess County Legislature representing the Towns of Poughkeepsie and Wappinger. Joe believed in the importance of elected service and was a passionate fiscal watchdog for taxpayers. He never failed to share perspectives from residents, ensuring his constituents always had a voice in legislative actions and always sought to keep them informed with his frequent letters to the editor and newsletters."

Molinaro stated, "His sometimes cantankerous and always outspoken approach could get him in trouble when he was less than thoughtful with his words, but he recognized when he was wrong and was willing to admit it, apologize and learn from his mistakes. That is a level of maturity and decency too little employed."

"Joe will be greatly missed and we extend our thoughts and prayers to his family and friends in this time of grief," said the County Executive.

Molinaro directed all Dutchess County Government facility flags to be lowered to half-staff in honor of Incoronato. Flags will remain lowered until interment.

Clockwise from top left, the Village of Fishkill held its Holiday Light & Tree Lighting on December 4. Village of Fishkill Mayor Kathy Martin with scouts from Pack 54, who served hot chocolate at the event. Smidgen, an 8-month-old mini goat, and Milkshake, a sheep, were in attendance. Drive-thru 'Living Nativity' in East Fishkill December 17, 18

Families looking for a fun, free way to remember the reason for the season need only pay a visit to the drive-thru "Living Nativity" display at Hopewell Reformed Church (HRC). The church will be hosting a "Living Nativity" from 4:30 to 7 p.m. December 17 and 18 at 143 Beekman Road in Hopewell Junction.

Live actors and animals will bring the nativity story to life in five scenes re-enacting the first Christmas. The church's choir and the hand bell choir will perform hymns and carols to get everyone into the Christmas spirit.

"A short 10-minute drive through our church grounds will give families the chance to experience the joy of Christmas," said HRC Lead Pastor Doug Leonard. "It's important for families to take a break from the hustle and bustle of the season, spend quality time together and experience the joy of Christmas."

More than 1,400 people visited the "Living Nativity" last year. Donations from the event raised enough to provide gifts to 50 local children who wrote letters to Santa Claus, including one who wanted a gift card for his mother so she could buy Christmas dinner for the family.

"We look forward to sharing the Christmas story with the entire community," Leonard said. "One hundred percent of all donations will go toward helping local children have a happy Christmas morning."

For more information, visit www.hrcra.org visit Facebook, or call the church office at 845-221-9542.

New menus

Once again, Pop teaches Luigi a valuable lesson

The other day, I was going through our restaurant menu, making sure that everything in it was selling. I was reading through my notes to be sure that the counts were correct and trying to figure out if I needed to recommend and changes to my brothers. This chore brought me back to when I wrote my first menu with my father.

It was 1987. I was 18 years old and so proud. I re-wrote the entire menu and put in new artwork and did it all myself on our new office computer, which I had to beg my father to buy. It was still new to have a computer in your office and my father did not see the benefit of such a contraption, but he agreed because I told him I could make new menus myself without having to contract a specialist.

I invited my father into the office and sat him down next to my computer. I called up the menu with all its glitzy artwork and fancy fonts and its descriptive explanations. I was ready for my father to be wowed by how incredible and awe-inspiring my presentation was and prepared to be anointed the king of the earth for this amazing menu.

My father looked at the first words and stopped.

Pop: The writing, issa too small.

Me: What? No, Pop. It's just deceiving. It's plenty...

Pop: Whats all of this crap all over the menu?

Me: What crap? Ohh...that's some artwork I put in to...

Pop: Get rid of it and maka the writing bigger.

Me: Huh? But? Wait. What?

Pop: You usa too many words. Youa confuse the customer.

Me: Don't you need to describe...

Pop: Youa taka outa some words you can maka the writing a bigger.

Me: O.K. But..

Pop: Youa missing some entrees.

Me: I researched all our sales, tracked what sold and what didn't sell and removed the items that weren't selling.

Pop: Whya you do that. The menu needsa to be como se dice (how do you say) Equilibrato (balanced). Theya donta sell alot, but they still needa to be in there.

Me: Yeah, but Pop, the numbers...

Pop: Whata this. New Yorka Sirloin. That's it? Where isa the Pizzaiolla? Youa needa to hava pizzaiolla on the menu.

Me: But Pop...

Pop: Writa thisa down. Newa Yorka Sirloin ala Pizzaiolla. Grilled and smoodered with...

Me: Whats smoodered?

Pop: You know smooder! Come on, youa no understand? Smooder, smooder!

Me: What? Um. Wait..

Pop: Write ita down.

Me: Yeah, but I don't understand, Pop.

Pop: Nowa you maka fun of my English?! Smooder!

Me: O.K. Sorry. Pop. Smooder, yes of course.

It was in that moment, as I wrote down NY Sirloin Pizzaiola, that I realized that my great accomplishment, my wonderful creation, was dead. My menu with all its glitzy artwork and fancy fonts and its descriptive explanations would not be praised by my father. He would not be wowed by how incredible and awe-inspiring my presentation was. I was not going to be anointed the king of the earth for my amazing menu. Instead the menu was going to be...

Pop: Ok. Nicea menu. Very nice, Luigi. Youa did a nicea job.

Me: Wait? What? Huh?

The clouds of despair were disappearing. My menu with all its glitzy artwork and fancy fonts and its descriptive explanations, my incredible and awe-inspiring presentation might still get printed. I could still be the king of the earth. I sat a little taller, my chest puffed out a little bit, I looked bravely into my computer screen with a smile on my.....

Pop: Justa donta puta all the pictures ona the menu, maka the writing bigger, add the Steak Pizzaiola, anda donta yousa too many words. OK?

And boom, its gone.

Me: Yes, Pop.

As you enjoy this recipe for Steak Pizzaiola, SMOTHERED with a rich tomato, olive sauce, remember in life its important to know your audience. My father taught me that lesson very well.

Steak Pizzaiola

Ingredients

4 NY Sirloin Steaks, cut 1/2-inch thick

3 tbsp olive oil, plus extra
2 garlic cloves, finely chopped
16 oz. Coppola's Marinara sauce
1 tbsp capers, drained and rinsed
8-10 black olives, smashed
8-10 green olives, smashed
1/2 small onion, diced fine
10 oz. white wine
1 oz. grated Pecorino Romano

Method

Brush the steaks lightly with a little oil and season. Heat a cast-iron griddle over a high heat. Once smoking hot, add the steaks and reduce the heat to medium-high. Cook for 2 minutes on each side for rare, or 2 1/2 minutes on each side for medium-rare. Rest the steaks somewhere warm.

Put 3 tablespoons oil, onions and the garlic in a medium frying pan over a high heat. Once the garlic sizzles and begins to turn brown, add the white wine and allow to simmer for two minutes. Add the remaining ingredients and allow to simmer for 5 more minutes, shaking the pan every now and then.

Spoon the sauce onto warmed plates. Slice the steaks and place on top and garnish with grated cheese.

Serve with a hot loaf of Italian bread and a nice Chianti.

Roosevelt Cinemas to host free film, food drive

Roosevelt Cinemas in Hyde Park will present "Puss in Boots: The Last Wish" free to children and their families on Christmas Eve, Dec. 24.

Hyde Park Roosevelt Cinemas, I Heart Media and Rhinebeck Bank are joining forces to host a free Christmas movie and food drive on Saturday, Dec. 24, for children and their families.

"Puss in Boots: The Last Wish" (PG), stars the voice of Antonio Banderas. Puss in Boots discovers that his passion for adventure has taken its toll: he has burnt through eight of his nine lives. Puss sets out on an epic journey to find the mythical Last Wish and restore his nine lives.

The doors will be open at 9 a.m., when Santa will be on hand to visit with children; and the film will begin at 10 a.m.

Admission is free, but tickets must be obtained in advance from Rhinebeck Bank on Violet Avenue in Hyde Park or on Route 9 in Rhinebeck, or at the Roosevelt Cinema at 4060 Albany Post Road (Route 9) in Hyde Park.

Everyone who attends the movie is asked to bring non-perishable food items for distribution through a local food pantry. The need is greater this year and food pantries are stressed.

Food donations may also be dropped off at the theater at any time after 3:30 p.m. on any day before Dec. 24.

Each 3 by 3 subsection of the 9 by 9 square must include all digits 1 through 9.

Suguru

The heavy lines indicate areas, called cages, from one to five squares in size. Fill each cage with unique digits, counting up from 1. So for example a 2-square cage contains the numbers 1 and 2; and a 5-square cage contains the numbers from 1 to 5. Adjacent (touching) squares, even ones that touch diagonally, may never contain the same number.
