'This place will never leave me' Molinaro tells residents in farewell

Reflecting on his 11-year tenure, Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro presented his farewell address to the community on Friday, Dec. 16. Entitled "We Made a Difference," Molinaro addressed residents, County officials and local leaders gathered in the Legislative Chambers in the County Office Building in Poughkeepsie.

Molinaro, who took office on Jan. 1, 2012, will assume his new role as Member of Congress in the United States House of Representatives on Jan. 3, 2023.

Friday's address not only highlighted the myriad accomplishments of Molinaro's four terms in office – including, among many others, inception of the ThinkDIFFERENTLY initiative, creation of the Stabilization Center as the cornerstone of the County's innovative mental-health services, sustained tax relief and vital services for children, families, seniors and veterans – but also thanked the more than 1,800 County employees for sharing his vision of dedicated service to Dutchess' nearly 300,000 residents.

Molinaro said, "No problem we solved, no challenge met, no bridge built, no program developed was accomplished by one mind nor one set of hands. At all hours, every day, County Government employees work to make our community better, safer, and I'm grateful to all of you for your dedicated service."

As prescribed in the Dutchess County Charter, County Executive Molinaro will tender his letter of resig-

"Bill's decades of experience and passion for this community will serve him well. I know in the coming year, Bill will continue our work and leave a lasting legacy of his own," said Molinaro, who will represent New York's 19th Congressional District. "As we begin a new year, I assume a new role,

Holiday activities are 'all-inclusive' at Anderson

By Curtis Schmidt

Including residents in activities is an integral part of care at the Anderson Center For Autism. And that is particularly true when the December holiday period rolls around.

This year's inclusive holiday activities have ranged from trips to Radio City Music Hall performances in New York City and "The Nutcracker" at the Bardavon in Poughkeepsie to campus and community tree-lighting events to Polar Express Train Rides and baking gingerbread cookies, gifts with Santa and story times.

"We thank all Anderson team members, families, community members, and donors for making this holiday season extra special for the people we serve and truly optimizing the quality of life of individuals with autism, and their families," said Eliza Bozenski, Chief Development Officer.

A statement at the Anderson Center website reads, "For decades, we've invited and encouraged individuals with autism to become more involved in 'the community,' which usually meant the neurotypical community. As Anderson helps communities become more Autism Supportive, and with diagnostic rates in the United States at 1 in 44 and rising, Anderson recognizes that today, everyone is part of the 'autism community.' We are neighbors, friends, family members, coworkers, professionals, and business owners."

Local church presents Living Nativity as a reminder of the 'true meaning' of Christmas

By Kristine Coulter

The Hopewell Reformed Church hosted a Living Nativity Drive-Thru on December 17 and 18.

"I introduced the idea during COVID. I felt that this was something families could enjoy when everyone was sheltering in place. I had run a Living Nativity in my church in Westchester County several years ago before becoming the pastor of the Hopewell Reformed Church," explained Rev. Doug Leonard, pastor of the church.

As for what people saw when they attended, Rev. Leonard said, "It takes about 10 minutes to drive through our parking lot and from the warmth of their cars they can see five scenes depicting the story in the Bible of Jesus' birth." People were able to scan a QR code that we gave them when they entered the parking lot and heard a narration of the scenes as they drove through.

As for why the Living Nativity was a good reminder of the true meaning of Christmas, which Christians believe

During these December days, many faith and cultural organizations throughout Southern Dutchess County observe their celebrations, feasts, and traditional festivities, including: Kwanzaa; Hanukkah; Christmas; Christmas Posadas (and many other Latino celebrations); Yule; Bodhi Day; the Shaheedi of the 10th Sikh Guru and his family; Boxing Day; Winter Solstice; and Japanese New Year's Eve (Omisoka), to name a few. Not only do our local organizations bring to us much cultural enrichment, but each and every one provides outreach to our many residents in need throughout the year. We thank everyone for all that you do to help our communities.

This past year has laid upon our shoulders many challenges, such as inflation, unemployment, crime and violence, and ongoing threats to our health and well-being. Despite these ongoing problems, we hope that you will be able to enjoy a warm, festive, and restful holiday season. More importantly, we hope that you will be blessed by good health.

Holiday activities are 'all-inclusive' at Anderson

Here is a look at this year's events and how staff members include and care for residents.

- Radio City Christmas Show (New York City): Students and staff enjoyed a trip to the city to attend the Radio City Christmas Spectacular Show and lunch. Students with autism may become over-stimulated in noisy environments, so staff members provide students with opportunities to wear special noise-cancelling headphones to reduce overwhelming sounds. Students with autism may also struggle with what to expect in a new environment, so staff members utilize proactive strategies like social stories that outline what to expect in specific situations.

- Campus Tree Lighting: The campus has a large pine tree that the staff and students decorate in December. Staff members work with the students to create ornaments to decorate the tree. They also read stories about all the different holidays celebrated during this time.

- Santa Photos and Delivering of Presents: Santa and his elves go to each residence to deliver gifts to all students on campus. Santa and the elves are trained on how to communicate with each student. Some modes of communication include iPads, sign language and picture icons.

- Baking Gingerbread Cookies: Baking is such a fun winter activity! At Anderson, they utilize visual supports, like task analyses, to assist with baking activities. Task analyses can be visual and/or written supports that break down steps to completing an activity.

- 'Nutcracker' at the Bardavon: The staff and students attended "The Nutcracker" by New Paltz Ballet Theatre. This event was produced in collaboration with Dutchess County Tourism, ThinkDifferently Dutchess County and The Bardavon, New Paltz Ballet Theatre. The event was specifically designed as a sensory sensitive performance.

- Frosty Fest in Ulster Park and Christmas Lights in Lagrangeville: These are wonderful opportunities for students to enjoy winter decorations from the comfort of a vehicle. Staff and students often stop for treats before or after the events.

- Polar Express Train Rides in Kingston: Staff and students prepare for this event with social stories of what to expect during the train rides. They often watch the Polar Express movie beforehand. Students who may become over-stimulated with noises are also encouraged to use noise cancelling headphones.

Social stories are presented for events that may be new to resident to determine interests. Staff members utilized stories for Disney and World of Dance as some of the adults are non-verbal and these were events we had not attended previously.

When they plan the NYC trips, they do talk to the adults about the expectations of travel and work on preparing them for waiting and calming techniques.

one with new challenges and ripe with opportunities, but please know I take you – all of you – and the lessons we've learned together with me. Though I leave this place, this place will never leave me."

He added, "Dutchess County is a special place. Having traveled extensively throughout New York, I know this firsthand. For my entire adult life, I've had the honor of representing and serving the people of this great county – first as a village trustee, mayor and county legislator, then State Assemblyman, and for the last 11 years, this entire community as your County Executive. We've laughed together, cried together. We've triumphed in one another's joys and mourned each other's sorrows. We have learned, grown, innovated, and thrived together.

"We have repeatedly reached across the aisle, across the state, and across the nation to improve the life of our community and the lives of those who call it home. Make no mistake: Our collaborative approach has made an immeasurable impact on the lives of countless County residents — it has literally saved lives and rebuilt communities – and as I leave this office, I trust that sense of cooperation and understanding will long prevail."

Molinaro closed, saying, "I thank you all for the opportunity of a lifetime: the chance to serve you, the responsibility to lead, and the opportunity to learn. I hope it might be said of our time together that we didn't serve to make a point; we served to make a difference. And in that, my friends, we did it. We made a difference."

Additional evidence leads to more charges in Courtyard Marriott homicide case

Dutchess County District Attorney William V. Grady announced last week that Roy A. Johnson was arraigned before County Court Judge Edward T. McLoughlin on a Superseding Indictment containing additional charges in connection with the homicide at the Courtyard Marriott on Oct. 2, 2022.

Johnson has been charged with the following additional counts: Attempted Murder in the Second Degree for attempting to cause the death of a hotel employee in the lobby area of the hotel; two counts of Criminal Possession of a Weapon; and an additional count of Murder in the Second Degree relating to the death of Paul Kutz.

According to Grady, "This superseding indictment is a product of additional evidence that was developed subsequent to the initial Grand Jury presentation into the tragedy that occurred at the Courtyard Marriott on Oct. 2, 2022."

Judge McLoughlin continued the remand of the defendant without bail and the case was adjourned to Jan. 20 for further proceedings.

Johnson faces 50 years to life in prison if convicted on the charges contained in the indictment.

The case is being prosecuted by Bureau Chief Kristine Whelan, and Deputy Bureau Chief Angela LoPane under the supervision of Chief Assistant District Attorney Matthew Weishaupt.

It should be noted that an indictment is an accusatory instrument and not proof of a defendant's guilt.

WCSD leaders write Hochul about mental health services for students

The following letter was sent by Wappingers Central School District Superintendent Dr. Dwight Bonk and Wappingers Central School District Board of Education President John Lumia to Governor Kathy Hochul, Lieutenant Governor Antonio Delgado, and members of the New York State Senate and Assembly.

To Governor Kathy Hochul, Lieutenant Governor Antonio Delgado, and members of the New York State Senate and Assembly:

As Superintendent of Schools of the Wappingers Central School District, which is the 9th largest school district in New York State with over 10,000 students and 15 school buildings, I am writing to urge that additional funding be made available immediately for School Safety and Mental Health Services. The addition of such positions that are state-funded is necessary as our country grapples with the school violence that has plagued school districts and has resulted in injuries and the loss of life. Unfortunately, the horrific events of what transpired in Uvalde, Texas have created much anxiety for the families, students, and staff in my school district.

Earlier today, a threat to one of our schools was investigated thoroughly by our school and district administration and local law enforcement. The individual who made the threat was identified overnight and, fortunately, the threat was deemed non-credible and we were able to have a regular school day. Unfortunately, this is not the first time that the District has encountered issues such as these that require extensive investigation, as there have been previous occurrences of threats this school year directed at schools in our district that have occurred at both the elementary and secondary levels. Some of these threats have resulted in school closings or early dismissals. As I am sure you would agree, the safety of our students and staff is our top priority. As evidenced in our District earlier today, a trained and armed School Resource Officer, who works at a State/County or local police department, is one way in which immediate steps can be taken to begin to address this major concern. The combination of the presence of a School Resource Officer in our schools who is affiliated with one of these departments and the availability of the necessary proper mental health services will assist in keeping our students and staff safe, allow for continued collaboration, and will foster a safe school culture and climate that allows teachers and students to focus on teaching and learning.

The District has also seen a rise in student mental health issues after the return from the COVID pandemic, which has resulted in the need for additional and improved student mental health services. Based on this trend, our District has made a commitment over the past two years by budgeting much needed additional funds in these areas. For the 2022-23 school year, we expect to spend over one million dollars on School Safety and Student Mental Health Services. I expect that we will need to increase funds in these areas for the 2023-24 school year. Over the past two years, the District has added 12 positions in the area of student support services as well as two School Resources Officers who are employed by local law enforcement agencies. The District has also worked this year with our local law enforcement agencies to provide additional coverage in our 10 elementary schools. In addition, many of these agencies conduct training exercises in our buildings while school is not in session. These agencies include the New York State Police, Dutchess County Sheriff's Office, Town of East Fishkill Police, Town of Fishkill Police, Village of Fishkill Police, Village of Wappingers Falls Police, and Town of Poughkeepsie Police.

As the school budget season is upon us, school districts like mine are faced with difficult choices regarding spending to ensure that our budget provides the necessary services and programs that our students deserve and a budget that is fiscally responsible to our taxpayers. In order to ensure equity and access to these very important School Safety and Mental Health Services and to ensure appropriate staffing, additional funding targeted to these specific areas is needed.

In closing, I ask that additional state funding be made available, in addition to the regular budgetary allotment for education, as the ability to have the necessary School Safety and Mental Health Services in each school building should not be based on whether each local school district has the ability to expend resources on such. Everyone, regardless of the wealth of each school district, deserves the safest school environment possible where learning can occur on a daily basis! Thank you very much for taking the time to review this correspondence and I am hopeful this request will receive strong consideration.

Dr. Dwight Bonk, WCSD Superintendent
John Lumia, WCSD Board of Education President

PSC releases findings from Central Hudson investigation

ALBANY – Following an investigation requested by State Sen. Michelle Hinchey, then-Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan, and Assemblyman Kevin Cahill, the New York Public Service Commission (PSC) recently released its report affirming that Central Hudson demanded unjust and unreasonable charges from thousands of customers, failed to provide adequate and timely billing service and operated an estimated billing system in conflict with Public Service Law and Commission orders, among other findings.

Hinchey said, “After months of investigation, today, the PSC rightfully found Central Hudson guilty of numerous violations that have directly caused economic harm to its customers. I’m proud that my office, along with Rep. Pat Ryan, Assemblyman Kevin Cahill, and our partners at PULP, have kept the pressure on to ensure an accurate investigation in support of ratepayers.

“In their findings, the PSC found that Central Hudson’s estimated billing practices are in breach of the state’s standards for customer quality and service, and I’m incredibly pleased that my bill to ban estimated billing and require monthly, accurate meter readings has officially been adopted as one of the formal recommendations moving forward. If there is anything this investigation has made clear, it’s that customers across the Hudson Valley deserve better and that passing my bill to protect customers into law has never been more important. It’s about time Central Hudson’s customers receive justice and answers for the hardships they’ve endured, and I’ll continue to fight to hold the company accountable for its negligent actions.”

At the start of the 2023 state legislative session, Hinchey will be reintroducing her bill (S9469) to ban estimated billing and prioritizing it for early passage.

is the birth of Jesus, Rev. Leonard replied, “With all of the busyness of the season, it is easy for people to forget about the meaning of Christmas ... During our first year of the Nativity in 2020, we had spent weeks preparing. I was doing one last walk-through. The actors and choirs were all in place. I gave the traffic crew the thumbs up, and they waved the cars into the first scene. Just then, I heard a concerned voice from behind me: ‘Pastor Doug!’ I turned to see Mary and Joseph looking forlorn as they knelt by the manger.” They told him, “‘We don’t have a baby Jesus!’ ‘How could we have forgotten?’ I thought. I rushed into the nursery, found a baby doll, quickly swaddled it in a random shepherd’s headdress, scrambled back out and handed the doll to Mary just before the first car turned in front of the Nativity scene,” he said.

Rev. Leonard remarked, “I have since added “remember the baby Jesus” to my check list for the Living Nativity.”

There were about 60 actors and singers and people working behind the scenes to have the living nativity come into fruition this year.

NYS Ag Mac & Cheese Challenge

The dairy industry is the largest agricultural sector in New York State. Around 15 billion pounds of milk are produced on nearly 3,600 farms across the Empire State, making New York the 5th largest dairy producing state in the nation.

From its milk, New York makes more than one billion pounds of cheese annually, some of it right here in Dutchess County. With cheese taking the starring role in delicious, nutritious macaroni & cheese, we find ourselves lucky to live in New York where so many delicious cheese varieties are produced.

The 4-H Dairy Discovery members have accepted the challenge and, working with 4-H Program Manager Emma Jenks, have developed their perfect macaroni and cheese recipe, created marketing materials for their product, and learned more about the dairy product industry in their community.

Let's hope they win, but regardless they have learned a ton and had a lot of fun!

Stony Ground 4-H Club offers milking opportunities

The Stony Ground 4-H Club is based at the Stony Kill Foundation near Beacon. Youth engage in a wide variety of projects relevant to their interest including poultry, sheep and beekeeping. The animals and poultry raised on Stony Kill Farm are heritage breeds which are rare breeds of animals once commonly found on farms but are now in danger of extinction.

To support the conservation of these rare breeds, Stony Kill Farm has chosen heritage animals that tell the historical story of the farm and support the education and viability of these animals. In 2020 the Foundation introduced the historic American Milking Devon cows to the farm. They are a rare and ancient breed of cattle that date back to Devonshire, England. Devon cattle were brought to America by the pilgrims and were once very common in New England and the Hudson Valley.

The Foundation has started an artificial breeding program to increase their herd over time. 4-H'ers are lucky to have the opportunity to learn all aspects of their care and management and are excited to show them at the 2023 Dutchess County Fair.

4-H'ers wow Amenia Lions with presentation skills

Teaching our youth to speak well in public is one of the 4-H flagship programs. It is a life skill we all need to succeed, regardless of where life takes us.

In 2022, the Amenia Lions Club made a generous donation to support the 4-H presentation program, helping 295 youth improve their presentation skills. On November 10th, the Lions Club met at Millbrook Café. To show them just how impactful their support is, 9-year-old Amelia and 8-year-old Ben Coon took the stage to give presentations about their projects as part of the Flock of Feathers and Northern Dutchess Dairy clubs.

They were superstars, impressing their adult audience by presenting fluently, and answering questions with confidence. We are very proud of our 4-H members and grateful to the community partners who make this possible.

On December 4, 4-H'ers had a productive day working with the cows. The kids got to practice hand milking and the calves are making excellent progress with their halter training.

Beacon Santas 'generously show up' to assist local families

By Kristine Coulter

Beacon Santas assisted local families this holiday season. Local licensed real estate salesperson Stephanie Dignan explained how Beacon Santas began.

"Beacon Santas came from some good old-fashioned heartbreak, honestly. I was fresh out of a relationship, finally had some expendable income - the means to buy presents (give!), but no one to really get presents for, and, gosh, I don't know... I just sort of thought about the irony of all the people who have the opposite problem, and how I likely wasn't the only person in my position," explained Dignan via email. "So much of getting anything done in life is by connecting people to one another. And this was no different."

Dignan noted that Beaconites, in her experience, say 'yes.'

"People want to help; the key is to make helping accessible. People have so much goodness in their hearts," said Dignan.

To participate, explained Dignan, all one had to do by earlier this week was to join the Beacon Santas group on Facebook.

"All a 'Santa' [had] to do is comment on a post if they'd like to be part of a team or adopt a family on their own. Once that happens, I connect the Santa to the recipient, and they take things from there," said Dignan. Families in need of a Santa were able to write until December 20.

"This year we will top over 250 families adopted since we started in 2019.

There have been hundreds of children whose Christmas mornings have been profoundly impacted by our Santas, and even more Santas who have shown up year after year to not only generously help, but enthusiastically participate," said Dignan. "They've offered Christmas dinners, paid rents, met in person, stayed in touch. It is much more than presents. It's humanity. It is the cleansing of shame inherent that we're conditioned to feel when we need help, never mind muster the courage to ask for it," said Dignan.

According to Dignan, "Beacon Santas relies on simple truths ... that children are innocent, that every child deserves joy, and that the only answer to 'I need help' should be 'We can help you.'"

Winter break program for children offered at Stony Kill

By Kristine Coulter

During their winter break from school, parents can sign up their children, ages 6-12, for a winter program at Stony Kill Environmental Education Center. The program will be held from December 27-30 at Stony Kill, Farmstead Lane, near the border of the towns of Fishkill and Wappinger.

"The programs are geared to ages 6-12 with most running primarily outdoors with some indoor time to allow kids to warm up. This program is a drop off program," remarked Stacey Lynch Adnams, program coordinator for the Stony Kill Foundation (SKF).

As for what can attendees take part in if they are enrolled.

Adnams replied, "We'll be offering programs that include playing outdoor nature games, caring and feeding our livestock, making mozzarella cheese, birding basics, and outdoor cooking on a campfire. Programs are taught by SKF educators."

She explained, "We ran a winter break youth program last year and had a wonderful group of attendees that enjoyed the programs offered. We saw both new and familiar faces and join us last year and we are hoping for the same this year. We hope the program offers parents opportunities to get their kids outside the week after Christmas and enjoy some activities at the farm."

The programs are $25 per child per program with siblings $10 per program, stated Adnams. Parents can sign their child up for one or all the programs, she noted. Registration is required and can be found on the Stony Kill website at <https://stonykill.org/education-and-workshops/youth>.

Open House Holiday Party at Van Wyck Homestead Museum set December 28

Join in the merriment of an evening of friends, food, music, and activities for kids at the historic Van Wyck Homestead Museum - which served as Officers Headquarters during the Revolutionary War, on Dec. 28 at 6:30 p.m. Cara Schuman will play beautiful music reminiscent of what was played at the homestead over 200 years ago. Cara will also lead anyone who is interested in a little sampling of a simple country dance popular in the late 1700s. Musician Steve Kelman will play contemporary music on his guitar and mandolin.

For the child in all of us, one will hear the annual reading of the classic poem "A Visit from St. Nicholas" . . . or more commonly referred to as: " 'Twas the Night Before Christmas." There is ongoing controversy over the authorship of this classic poem. It is likely to have been written by Major Henry Livingston Jr. right here in Dutchess County rather than Clement C. Moore who the poem's provenance has always been credited. There will also be games and crafts for children.

The holiday cheer continues in the original colonial kitchen - built in 1732 - with mulled cider, snacks and sweets while sitting by the warmth of the fireplace - still in use 290 years later! There's no admission fee - but donations to help maintain the historic Van Wyck Homestead Museum are greatly appreciated!

The museum is at 504 Route 9 in Fishkill, just south of the I-84 overpass. The driveway entrance is off Snook Road.

By Kristine Coulter

Members of the Club Classic Senior Center in the town of Poughkeepsie gathered to celebrate the holidays recently. The group held its annual Holiday Luncheon at Mill Creek Caterers in East Fishkill on December 14. The three-hour event allowed seniors the time to catch up with old friends and to make new ones.

Antoinette Vianello is a new member of the Club Classic center.

She said she joined the club "to have more things to do. For the friendships and get-togethers."

Vianello said of the holiday party, "So far it looks wonderful. It's my first time here at Mill Creek. I think I'm going to enjoy it."

Ruta Ronis said about the event, "Everyone is smiling and happy." Ronis, who writes about the senior center for the Town of Poughkeepsie Recreation column that is published in the Southern Dutchess News, said, "It's nice. We do a lot of things in the Center. It's nice to do something out and festive."

Janet McHugh, who is the recreation director for the town of Poughkeepsie, said this year it was decided to "switch it up" and have the luncheon at a separate location from the Center.

"They're really excited," McHugh said about the attendees. "It's so nice to have a change of pace, a change of scenery." McHugh noted that the staff at Mill Creek Caterers was very accommodating with the planning for the luncheon.

Cissy Cantinieri said she has attended the Center for a long time.

"It's good to get together with everybody I don't see during the week," she said.

Music was performed by local residents and performers Wayne Targove and Bill Tamburrino, both are from the northern part of Dutchess County. They played Christmas carols.

"We love it. It's fun," Tamburrino said about playing at the luncheon. "The people are great."

Poughkeepsie Town Supervisor Jon Jay Baisley stopped by the luncheon. He said the luncheon is a good way for seniors to socialize.

"It's a different atmosphere with different people," said Baisley. Some of the attendees go to the Club Classic Center on different days, so this was a way for them to meet new people, he remarked.

"We're bringing something different," said Baisley about holding the event at the Mill Creek Caterers location.

The luncheon "perks" the seniors up for the holiday season he said. "Some might not be traveling for the holidays still because of COVID or being cautious about their health."

The room was decorated with snowmen, ornaments, and flowers. There was a cake wishing attendees Happy Holidays.

VBMC named to Report's 2022-2023 list for Best Hospitals for Maternity Care

U.S. News & World Report, the global authority in hospital rankings and consumer advice, recently named Vassar Brothers Medical Center as a 2022-2023 High Performing Hospital for Maternity Care (Uncomplicated Pregnancy). This is the highest award a hospital can earn for U.S. News' Best Hospitals for Maternity Care.

The annual evaluation is designed to assist expectant parents and their doctors in making informed decisions about where to receive maternity care.

Vassar Brothers earned a High Performing designation in recognition of maternity care as measured by factors such as newborn complication rates.

"Our obstetricians, nurses and ancillary staff are dedicated to providing an outstanding and safe childbirth experience to all of our patients and their families," said Peter Kelly, president of Vassar Brothers. "This is an accolade that reflects their commitment to excellence, and we could not be more proud."

U.S. News evaluated nearly 650 hospitals that provide high-quality labor & delivery services for uncomplicated pregnancies for its 2022-2023 Best Hospitals for Maternity Care. Fewer than half of all hospitals that offer maternity care and participated in the survey received a High Performing designation.

"When expectant parents are considering their options for welcoming a baby to the world, the Best Hospitals for

Maternity Care are designed to help them identify hospitals that excel in delivering babies for uncomplicated pregnancies," said Ben Harder, chief of health analysis and managing editor at U.S. News. "A hospital that has earned a High Performing designation may be a good option for parents, in consultation with their medical provider, to consider. ## Mount hosts annual Vespers service tradition

The Mount Saint Mary College community attended the annual Christmas Vespers service of lessons and carols on Sunday, December 4, in Newburgh, Orange County.

-Courtesy photos

For the Mount Saint Mary College community, the annual Christmas Vespers service of lessons and carols, which were held on Sunday, December 4, signals the joyous beginning of the holiday season.

This is the first time that college has been able to resume the tradition since it was put on hiatus in 2020 and 2021, due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The first Vespers at the Mount took place in 1974.

The annual service features lessons and carols like "Angels We Have Heard on High." Towards the end of the service, the audience joined in singing "Silent Night," during which the lights are dimmed, and the chapel is illuminated with candles.

The event was livestreamed by Knight Productions and the students of Merle Becker, instructor of Digital Media Production at the Mount. The performance can be viewed in full here: www.msmp.edu/vespers2022.

Baked oatmeal

An innovative and almost-decadent way to enjoy a breakfast staple

'Tis the week before Christmas when all through the house, every creature is hungry including your spouse. On these chilly mornings leading up to the holidays, a good, comforting breakfast can make all the difference. And while we may not have the luxury of a long winter's nap, many of us will be enjoying the warmth of home over a long weekend.

It's really the perfect time to treat yourself to a special and satisfying hot breakfast you might not indulge in any other week. The holidays are about spending time and, if you're lucky, taking time to slow down after all that hustle and bustle. To me a lovely breakfast on a cozy morning sounds like a little bit of heaven.

If you have the time and the inclination, you could certainly prepare a lavish spread to start your mornings; but if you really want to indulge in the joy of being home and relaxed, you don't need to put in that much effort to whip up something special that everyone will love and so have nothing to dread. That's where I come in.

If I told you that breakfast treat was oatmeal you might have your doubts. Even if you're a fan it doesn't sound all that exciting. But what if I told you that, instead of making it on the stove top or in the microwave you'd bake it to sweet, creamy perfection? I would also add that it's easy to make, doesn't require special skill or equipment and is infinitely customizable, and maybe you'd be thinking about it in a whole new way.

Well, my friends, that's exactly what I'm telling you! Baked oatmeal is a treat, something special you can serve up hot in no time. You can mix in anything you like – berries, raisins, nuts, chocolate chips, coconut, apple slices sautéed in butter with brown sugar – or serve them on the side so everyone can add what they like. A bit of cream or warm maple syrup poured over the top, and suddenly breakfast is worth lingering over. Prepare to make your holiday mornings more special.

BAKED OATMEAL

Something magical happens when you bake oatmeal: it takes on a pleasantly chewy texture and is reminiscent of bread pudding. When you add berries, cream, bananas, yogurt, even candied nuts, you've taken it to a whole new level and upped the nutrition factor even when it now feels more like dessert. And it reheats beautifully so you can make it any time and have it all week long.

INGREDIENTS

2 cups old-fashioned (not quick) oats
1/3 cup brown sugar, packed
1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 large egg
1 1/2 cups milk or cream
1/2 cup applesauce (don't have any?)
Peel and apple and use a fine grater or microplane)
2 tablespoons butter, melted and cooled slightly
1 teaspoon vanilla
Optional: nuts, blueberries, raisins, dried cranberries, about 1/3 cup

METHOD

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease an 8x8 baking dish and set aside.

In a large bowl, whisk together oats, brown sugar, cinnamon, baking powder and salt.

In a separate bowl beat the egg. Add milk, applesauce, melted butter and vanilla and mix to combine.

Add wet ingredients to the oat mixture and mix well. Stir in any add-ins and pour into prepared baking dish. Bake until golden brown, 30-35 minutes.

Serve warm with extra toppings on the side, a drizzle of cream or warmed maple syrup. Serves 4-6.

In less than an hour you can have a breakfast treat that will fill your holiday home with a comforting aroma that will reach the children while they're still nestled all snug in their beds. It's a treat for them and for you: delicious, easy and ready to serve up warm in the wink of an eye, a little gift to soothe the soul and brighten chilly winter mornings.

Happy Christmas to all!

Farming in 2023

What the ag community needs from the state and federal government to thrive in the New Year.

"We are working toward it, I promise." Caitlin Gilligan Daly will be Marcus Molinaro's district director when he assumes his seat in Congress on January 1st. She answered my question, a question that all 33,000 New York farmers have been asking - "Will Marc Molinaro become a member of the U.S. House agriculture committee?"

"He is currently making the rounds with the steering committee, vying for a seat," Caitlin assured me.

New York State lost all 3 of its House ag committee members in the last election. Two were from Dutchess County - Sean Patrick Maloney and Antonio Delgado (who was appointed Lieutenant Governor). As a current member of the Dutchess County executive's ag advisory committee, I can assure you that Congressman-elect Molinaro cares deeply about New York's farmers and their families.

Here are some of the issues both local and national, our farmers will be facing in the new year:

- 2023 Farm Bill - Government support for agriculture pales in comparison to support for Health, Education and Defense. The farm bill, newly written every 5 years, will cost $1.3 trillion over 10 years, with about 84% of the money going to nutrition programs (food stamps). The job of New York's congressional delegation is to make sure we get some of the money in the form of support for dairy and conservation programs, instead of sending it all to the Midwest.

- Nourish New York - Milk was dumped on the ground during the early days of the pandemic. The Nourish New York program was initiated to help food banks buy milk, meat, eggs and fresh produce to distribute to the people most in need. The program was so successful, it was made permanent by Gov. Hochul last year, and expanded to include funding for food pantries. Local farmers need to show their support by donating surplus products, ensuring that no food goes to waste.

- Direct shipment of liquor - Our State senator Michelle Hinchey and Assemblymember Didi Barrett are cosponsors of legislation allowing farm distilleries to ship vodka, whiskey and other spirits directly to customers (this is currently allowed for wine). Kim Wagner, co-owner of Stoutridge distillery and winery in Marlboro, tells me that her business depends on the passage of this bill, which has bipartisan support from Republicans Kieran Lalar and George Borrello. This would give a huge boost to our local economy.

- Extended Producer Responsibility - Partly because of increased labor costs, municipal recycling programs are becoming cost-prohibitive. Extended Producer Responsibility shifts those expenses to the producer of packaging, bottles and cans. A 15-page bill in the N.Y. Senate details the plans which includes advisory boards, lots of paperwork and hefty fines for noncompliance. Dairy farms and wineries would incur another round of expenses. Hopefully, Gov. Hochul will realize the burden she would be inflicting on our farmers should this bill pass, and veto it, as she recently did to the C-streams bill (Senate 4162), declaring that while the goal is laudable, it would have "serious regulatory impacts" and greatly increase the costs to the state and local communities.

- Labor - It's no big secret that undocumented workers help to produce our food. Maybe the crisis at our southern border will force Congress to finally realize that agriculture needs a willing, legal work force or else our food will come from overseas.

- Crop protectants - Farmers feel that the N.Y. Department of Environmental Conservation, rather than the legislature, should determine the status of N.Y. Approved pesticides.

- Good news - Local Farmers are recognized as stewards of the land as well as providers of delicious, nutritious fresh food. We plan to stay around for awhile, at least through the new year - 2023.

Mount St. Mary professor discusses aging and the holidays

'Tis the season to be jolly, but Christmas can also be a difficult time for aging family members, said Mount Saint Mary College psychology professor Lawrence Force.

"Holidays are a time of tradition, family, and reflection, and there's a lot of value and strength in that," explained Force, a gerontologist and director of the Mount's Center on Aging and Disability Policy.

Reminiscing about Christmases past "can have a positive outcome, but it can also churn up some negative feelings," he added.

The paradigm holds true for people of all backgrounds, but Force points out that the older one gets, the greater the chance for the loss of a spouse or other loved one during the course of the year, which can influence the holidays. Families could also experience other changes in dynamics, including marriage or divorce.

Thinking about unpleasant or stressful life changes can cast a dark shadow over what was once an enjoyable holiday, especially in the twilight of the COVID-19 pandemic. For most of us, life has returned to normal. But for immunocompromised individuals — often including the aging population — the risk of becoming ill remains a threat.

Force suggests that there might also be another reason for feeling down during the holidays — Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD), in which an individual who otherwise has normal mental health can experience symptoms of depression based on the time of year. One possibility is that SAD is related to a lack of the biochemical serotonin, which is thought to be a contributor to feelings of well-being and happiness.

Because sunlight stimulates the production of serotonin in one's body, winter's shorter days might be partly to blame for changes in mood.

According to Force, a therapy lamp — which emulates natural light — might help push away the holiday blues. Daytime walks might also help seniors to feel better. Force also suggests drinking more water and getting more exercise.

Force has worked in the field of aging and disabilities for decades as an administrator, clinician, and educator. He has authored and collaborated on books, articles, and technical reports that address topics of aging policy, Alzheimer's disease, family caregiving, and end-of-life care.

SUDOKU

Sudoku requires no arithmetic skills.

The object of the game is to fill all the blank squares with the correct numbers.

Each row of 9 numbers must include all digits 1 through 9 in any order.

Each column of 9 numbers must include all digits 1 through 9 in any order.

Each 3 by 3 subsection of the 9 by 9 square must include all digits 1 through 9.

Suguru

The heavy lines indicate areas, called cages, from one to five squares in size. Fill each cage with unique digits, counting up from 1. So for example a 2-square cage contains the numbers 1 and 2; and a 5-square cage contains the numbers from 1 to 5. Adjacent (touching) squares, even ones that touch diagonally, may never contain the same number.
