Village of Fishkill officials honor Colon with inaugural Volunteer of the Year Award

By Kristine Coulter

Local resident Edwin “Eddie” Colon was recognized by the Village of Fishkill Board of Trustees at its December meeting. Colon was awarded the inaugural Village of Fishkill Volunteer of the Year Award.

“It’s interesting that we see a lot of people a lot of times, like 10 percent of the people do 90 percent of the work,” said Village of Fishkill Mayor Kathy Martin.

She said the board wanted to recognize a person, committee, business or entity who does a lot of the charitable work “because they are so meaningful” to the community.

“So, the person we chose for this year’s first inaugural award is Eddie Colon. Eddie is everywhere. He has a lot of energy and he is always willing to help. If you need something done, this is a guy you can call,” remarked Martin.

Colon has played an integral part with the Fishkill Food Pantry, the recent retired flag box that is now in the village outside of McHoul Funeral Home on Main St., donations for local children, the Fishkill Rotary Club and so many other events, according to the mayor. “I can just go on and on,” she said.

The plaque inscription said it was awarded for “exceptional dedication” and “unwavering commitment to the community.”

Local resident Eddie Colon was awarded the Village of Fishkill’s inaugural Village of Fishkill Volunteer of the Year Award at Van Wyck Village Hall earlier this month. Pictured with Colon is Village of Fishkill Mayor Kathy Martin.

Municipal officials look back at 2025 and ahead to 2026

By Kristine Coulter

What are the goals local officials have in the coming year? What accomplishments do they tout as the top ones for 2025 in their municipalities? The following are the replies offered by municipal leaders who responded with their answers.

City of Beacon

The two goals for the City of Beacon, said City of Beacon Mayor Lee Kyriacou, via email, are:

(1) Developing detailed design specifications for the Beacon Rail Trail, followed by soliciting/awarding construction bids; and (2) Gaining ownership of University Settlement Camp from the state, which will allow City investment in additional recreational infrastructure.

Kyriacou was asked about the two biggest accomplishments in Beacon for 2025.

The mayor responded:

(1) Enacting a 2026 Budget that limits property tax increase to well below the inflation rate, while raising employee salaries; and

(2) Committing to rapidly building the Beacon Rail Trail in 2-3 years.

Military Mom surprises kids with help of PV Fire District

By Curtis Schmidt

Army Reservist and Construction Engineer Alexa Peterson of Pleasant Valley gave her four children an unforgettable Christmas gift on the evening of Dec. 19 – with a little help from members of the Pleasant Valley Fire District, the New York State Police and the Dutchess County Sheriff’s Office.

For almost a year, her children – Jaxon, Colton, Declan and Haidyn – stayed with her family while she was deployed to the Middle East. They communicated with their single mother through FaceTime calls and stayed connected, thanks to the ongoing support of loved ones.

Upon learning of Peterson’s planned return, members of the Pleasant Valley Fire District partnered with Alexa’s brother, New York State Trooper Mike Peterson, to organize a surprise reunion. Santa and the fire department team arrived at the Peterson home, with Santa delivering a special message from Alexa herself – noting that she would be coming home soon.

All of a sudden, “soon” became “now” as Santa’s helpers, dressed as firefighters, formed a wall of people in front of the home and stepped aside to reveal the true surprise: Alexa returning home to greet her children. Their emotional reunion was met with cheers and applause from friends, family, neighbors and the entire fire department as the four children ran into their mother’s arms.

Alexa is a 2016 graduate of Arlington High School and had been working as a Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) at the Fishkill Rehabilitation Center. She said that serving in the military is “something I always wanted to do and I wanted to show my kids that they can do anything they want if they set their minds to it.”

“I’m very proud to award you, this Number 1, volunteer of the year award,” Martin told Colon.

“Thank you all,” said Colon.

“I’m very grateful,” said Colon, adding he doesn’t want to be famous.

“I do [volunteer work] from the bottom of my heart.” Colon said he will continue to do what he’s doing.

Colon was also recognized by Dutchess County Legislator Douglas McHoul. Colon was presented with a proclamation from the Dutchess County Legislature by McHoul.

In a social media post, it was stated, “The Village of Fishkill recognized Edwin Colon’s outstanding contributions to the community by presenting him with the inaugural Village of Fishkill Volunteer of the Year Award, courtesy of Mayor Martin and the Board of Trustees.”

The post continued, “Mr. Colon’s selfless volunteer efforts have greatly benefited numerous local projects, including the Fishkill Food Pantry and Fishkill Rotary.”

Municipal officials look back at 2025 and ahead to 2026

Kathy Martin, Village of Fishkill

Town of East Fishkill

A goal for 2026, said Town of East Fishkill Supervisor Nick D’Alessandro, is to continue the Town’s economic development plans. Officials will try to increase the tax base with commercial businesses.

D’Alessandro said about the accomplishments in the town, “We finished our Comprehensive Master Plan. [It took] almost two years in the making. We adopted it this year.”

D’Alessandro, who was re-elected in November to another term as the leader of the town, said, “My hat goes off to the Comprehensive Master Plan Committee” volunteers and especially Councilwoman Marianne Flores, who was the liaison to the committee. Flores and the volunteers gave “a lot of dedication and effort to the Town.”

The East Fishkill supervisor also noted the other accomplishment was “keeping all our services without cuts to any departments.” He thanked all of the Town employees for their dedication to the well-being of the community.

Town of Fishkill

Town of Fishkill Supervisor Ozzy Albra said 2026 will continue to have “the best” infrastructure and will continue to complete any projects that need to be finished.

Albra said the infrastructure was the top accomplishment in the Town of Fishkill this year.

In a letter to residents in Oct. Albra explained that the Dutchess County Health Department “warned” officials in 2020, that the Merritt/Snook Well Field was “in violation since 2007.”

“The Town took immediate action, designed a larger mixer to allow it to draw water from a Village of Fishkill well located south of that property. This allowed us to lower the chlorides which removed the violation from the Health Department. The total cost to get into compliance was $100,000 and no addition rate increase to homeowners.”

Albra stated previously that the town, in the last five years, has upgraded its recreation building, police station, highway department and all of its parks.

Village of Fishkill

Village of Fishkill Mayor Kathy Martin remarked on her plans for the year for the municipality she leads.

“In 2026, I plan to continue improving our safety and walkability. I also plan on expanding on our events and adding new ones, like our very successful Parade of Lights,” said Martin, via email.

“One of my biggest accomplishments this year was focused on public safety. We were awarded the “Safe Streets and Roads” grant. The Village of Fishkill was one of only 13 municipalities in NY State that were chosen for this award. This funding will allow us to improve public safety and walkability. Paving Merritt Blvd. was another major road improvement the Village was able to complete. I was very happy that this project went so smoothly,” said Martin, who was re-elected in 2025.

The mayor added, “Another accomplishment was to improve our residents’ quality of life by working on a rail trail, and expanding the tax savings for our volunteer [firefighters], Veterans, and senior citizens by expanding the tax exemptions.”

Town of Wappinger

In the Town of Wappinger, town supervisor Joseph Cavaccini said parks will continue to be a priority.

“Over the next year, our Administration and Town Board’s goal will be to continue the progress we’ve made in our parks and operations extends to every corner of our town.”

What does that entail?

“That means continuing to invest in modern infrastructure — safer roads, efficient water/sewer plants, stronger drainage, and improved recreational facilities so our community continues to plan responsibly and sustainably,” explained Cavaccini.

Town officials will also continue to update Wappinger’s Town Code “to reflect the quality-of-life reforms our residents want to see in preventing high density development and fostering innovative attractions that support our rural-suburban way of life. Let’s continue the momentum here in our great Town of Wappinger,” he said.

Cavaccini, who was elected to a second term in 2025, said, “One of the first things I focused on when taking office was bringing accountability, efficiency, and transparency back to Town Hall. We looked closely at how every dollar was being spent and how we could better manage our resources for the taxpayers.” He continued, “One of the most significant steps was diversifying our town’s fund depositories, which allowed us to finally earn interest on previously idle funds. That change alone is now generating nearly $600,000 in new revenue every year — that’s real money staying right here in Wappinger.”

He also noted the reimagination of the Town’s Recycle Center from losing $300,000 per year to the Town processing its waste in-house with the purchase of a new roll-off truck.

“My goal is to make Wappinger a place where small businesses can thrive and families can enjoy all the benefits of a modern, connected, and character-filled town,” said Cavaccini. He mentioned the Wappinger Protection Act, which is a legislative package that is focused on “preserving the town’s suburban-rural character and maintaining sustainable growth.”

A moratorium was passed and subsequent code changes which prevent large-scale multi-family housing developments allowing officials to ensure that infrastructure, schools, and emergency services can keep up before any new major projects were allowed to move forward. “In doing so, we prevented 5,000 units from coming into our single-family zoned areas, a problem you will never have to see,” said Cavaccini.

Happy New Year!

2026 County Budget process complete with list of overrides and amendments

Following the Dutchess County Legislature’s adoption of the 2026 County Budget, County Executive Sue Serino returned the budget unsigned, expressing concern about the County’s fiscal sustainability following the Legislature’s additional $7.2 million draw down from the County’s fund balance for the multiple legislative amendments. The County Executive also line-item vetoed legislative amendments that added positions to the budget without sustainable offsetting revenue.

After the Dec. 17 Legislature Meeting for Budget Overrides/Adoption of Tax Levy and conclusion of the 2026 Dutchess County Budget process, Serino commented, “The 2026 Dutchess County Budget is now complete. The legislative amendments adopted, while worthy, only kicked tough decisions down the road to next year. Adding millions in new spending and drawing millions more from our fund balance is not a sustainable path – it was a risky choice given the challenges ahead, including union contract settlements, rising state mandates, declining federal support and economic uncertainty. As we move through 2026, my priority will continue to be doing what is right for Dutchess County: making the difficult choices necessary to strike the right balance between the cost of programs and services and the taxes needed to pay for them. Achieving that balance will demand compromise and I look forward to working together with the Legislature in 2026 to manage this budget responsibly and in the best interest of our neighbors.”

While the $653.6 million adopted spending plan included all of the essential services and key priority investments from Serino’s budget plan, including public safety, elder fraud prevention, housing, youth and mental health and more, the additional legislative amendments increased the overall spending plan by nearly $2.2 million.

Serino said the majority of legislative amendments relied heavily on the County’s fund balance, appropriating more than $7.2 million to pay for numerous one-time costs, additional positions and to maintain the sales tax exemption on clothing and footwear items under $110 per item, bringing the total appropriation of fund balance and Community Benefit fund to more than $33.9 million for 2026.

Serino had previously expressed her concerns about how using significant fund balance would lead to many more difficult decisions for the 2027 budget in a memo to the Legislature prior to the budget adoption.

The amendments to add new, recurring positions costs using fund balance, which is a one-time revenue, are particularly problematic, according to Serino. In the development of the Executive budget proposal, Serino and the Budget Office worked closely with Executive Department Heads, as well as elected officials to figure out how to control position costs while still achieving key priorities without layoffs. With creative cost cuts and shared sacrifice, the Executive Budget included the deletion of 10 vacant positions and an additional 17.5 positions were held vacant for the year across various departments. Legislative amendments, however, added five positions to the District Attorney’s Office, including positions slated to be held vacant, at a cost of more than $711,000.

Serino line-item vetoed three of the five positions, citing lack of a sustainable revenue source in her veto message to the Legislature.

The adopted budget does keep the property tax levy under New York State’s property tax cap as Serino crafted in the Executive Budget, with the property tax rate reduced from $2.17 to $2.10 per $1,000 of assessed value.

Serino concluded, “As we look ahead, we know we will have many tough choices in the coming year, particularly as we craft the 2027 budget. I look forward to working with the Legislature in 2026 to address these challenges together.”

Here is the complete list of amendments adopted by the County Legislature:

- Five amendments, totaling $31,400, for the Department of History for REV 250 programming including professional services program, temporary positions, training seminars, employee travel and travel reimbursement (Legislature Chair Will Truitt) – offset by increase in DMV revenue;
- $138,600 for the County Clerk’s Office for security at the Department of Motor Vehicles (Legislature Chair Will Truitt) – offset by increase in DMV revenue;
- $50,000 for the Department of Planning and Development for increased funding to Destination Dutchess for REV 250 (Legislature Chair Will Truitt) – offset by appropriated fund balance (Community Benefit Fund);
- $4,436,736 million for the removal of the elimination of the sales tax exemption on clothing and footwear purchases under $110 per item (Assistant Majority Leader Michael Polasek) – offset by appropriated fund balance. (This is a net number, as the revenue that have gone to local municipalities was removed.)
- $1 million in additional funding for the Dutchess County Housing Trust Fund (Minority Leader Yvette Valdés Smith) – offset by appropriated fund balance (Community Benefit Fund).

DC Legislator Lisa Kaul announces campaign for NY State Senate District 39

Democratic Legislator Lisa Kaul is announcing her campaign to run for New York State Senate District 39.

“I’m running because we are at a critical moment. Working people are being crushed by rising costs. Our freedoms and basic dignity are under attack. And climate change threatens our future,” said Kaul. “I’m running because we all deserve the opportunity to thrive, not just make ends meet. To get there, we need new leadership who will fight and deliver for us.”

As the County Legislator representing District 6 (Town of Poughkeepsie), Kaul has forged cooperation between state, county, and municipal governments to bring resources where they are needed. After a decade of partisan impasse, Kaul worked across the aisle to solve environmental and infrastructure problems, obtaining funds for a new waste management strategy. Kaul will bring the same solutions-oriented approach to Albany.

Kaul grew up in India, where her mother was a teacher and her father was a career army officer.

“We didn’t always have clean water or uninterrupted power, so I learned early on that basic reliable infrastructure is precious,” Kaul said. “We didn’t have a lot, but my father’s job gave us healthcare, food and housing, and it gave me a secure launchpad. My parents taught me to live within my means and showed me what a life of service and good citizenship look like.”

After completing college in India, she won a Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford University, where she earned a PhD. In 2004, she and her husband moved to the US, where they raised their son.

In 2008, Kaul became an American citizen. In the 21 years that she’s lived here, she has contributed extensively to her community in the Hudson Valley. She led the successful fight to keep her local elementary school from closing, was elected to the Board of Education, and organized the Poughkeepsie Women’s March Across the Hudson. She volunteers actively with local community organizations, serves on the board of Planned Parenthood Greater New York Action Fund, and created and runs a Repair Café where neighbors help each other mend things to keep them out of the landfills.

In 2023, Kaul ran to represent District 6 (Town of Poughkeepsie) in the Dutchess County Legislature against a Republican who had held public office for 17 years, and won with 58 percent of the vote, becoming the first AAPI legislator to serve in the county. In 2025, she ran unopposed.

- Kaul will fight to:
- Restore our rights to the basics: housing, healthcare, education and food.
 - Break down barriers: inadequate child-care and eldercare, transportation gaps, immigration status, disability barriers, and an unfair justice system.
 - Tackle the climate crisis: advance climate solutions that lower energy costs, create jobs, and protect our communities from costly climate disasters and public health crises.
 - Keep New Yorkers safe: defend reproductive freedom and bodily autonomy, protect our clean air and water, and address the epidemic of gun violence.
 - Protect our democracy: Fight to protect the voting rights and freedoms of every New Yorker, and hold those who seek to violate them accountable.

Kaul is ready to bring strong leadership, hard work, and grassroots power to build community, coalitions, and a successful campaign.

“I know the Hudson Valley community; we have what it takes to meet this moment together,” she said.

Tribute to Dr. George Verrilli ‘was the best!’

To the editor:

Congratulations on what for me is the best Northern Dutchess News and Southern Dutchess News article for 2025! I didn't know Dr. George Verrilli, but did get to know much about this admirable man thanks to the warm and personal tribute article written by Jim Donick and Curtis Schmidt.

Your article has a "home-town" feel as it relates so much about how Dr. Verrilli was not only a respected local physician, but also how much he gave back to our Rhinebeck/Red Hook community. Including comments from others in the community did much to highlight how he so positively affected so many as well.

Mark Van De Carr's stories by Curtis Schmidt added a really interesting twist to the presentation, noting how the good doctor enjoyed life "in the fast lane" with his auto racing experiences. These are the kind of people we like to hear about. Thanks for bringing his story to us, his Northern and Southern Dutchess neighbors!

NYSOFA and DMV share tips and resources for older drivers

The New York State Office for the Aging (NYSOFA) and New York State Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) offer tips and resources for older drivers, their families and caregivers. Being proactive about safe driving skills is critical for drivers of all ages, but particularly for older adults so that they can maintain their independence and stay engaged in their community.

In New York, according to the Institute for Traffic Safety Management and Research (ITSMR), drivers age 65 and over account for 21 percent of all New York licensed drivers but are involved in only 11 percent of the fatal and personal injury crashes. Older drivers are also less likely to engage in reckless driving behaviors, according to ITSMR crash data. Despite fewer total fatal crashes, older drivers who are involved in crashes are more likely to be killed or suffer severe injuries when compared to younger drivers, and nationally, the rate of fatal crashes involving older drivers is on the rise, according to the National Highway Transportation Safety Board (NHTSA).

New York State Office for the Aging Director Greg Olsen said, “NYSOFA’s goal is for older adults to be as active and engaged in their communities for as long as possible, and one way to ensure that is by maintaining safe driving skills. If you’re a family member or caregiver of an older adult driver, encourage them to keep up with their driving skills and to learn about new traffic patterns, vehicle features, and traffic laws. Lastly, help maintain safe driving skills by taking a point and insurance reduction driver improvement course like AAA’s RoadWise driver program.”

“We want everyone, regardless of age, to be safe on the roads,” said Mark J.F. Schroeder, Commissioner of the Department of Motor Vehicles and Chair of the Governor’s Traffic Safety Committee. “For older drivers, being aware of their health and addressing any potential issues that could impact their safety and the safety of others is paramount. We want people to keep their license for as long as it’s safe to do so. We are happy to partner with the Office for the Aging to help raise awareness of this important topic.”

Decisions about ability to drive should never be based on age alone. Instead, it is important to accurately assess age-related changes so that the driver can adjust driving habits to remain safe on the road or choose other kinds of transportation.

Tips for adjusting driving habits

- Exercise regularly to increase your strength and flexibility.
- Ask your doctor or pharmacist to review your medications – both prescription and over-the-counter medications – for any potential effects on your ability to drive safely.
- Have your vision checked every year.
- Drive during daylight and in good weather.
- Find the safest routes with well-lit streets.
- Plan your route before you drive.
- Leave a large following distance behind the car in front of you.
- Avoid distractions in your car, such as listening to a loud radio, texting or talking on the phone.
- Consider potential alternatives to driving, such as riding with a friend or using public transportation to get around.

CarFit

CarFit events offer older adults the opportunity to check how well their personal vehicles "fit" them. CarFit is an educational program developed by AAA, AARP, and the American Occupational Therapy Association, with the goal of providing drivers with information and resources to enhance their safety in the driver’s seat. At a CarFit event, trained experts show drivers how to enhance comfort, safety and fit within their vehicle. Find more information on free CarFit events.

Offices for the Aging and their community partners are also a resource to help older drivers, including safety assistance or alternative transportation options. Area Agencies on Aging provide about 1.7 million rides annually to older adults in the community. To expand capacity, the aging network, through NYSOFA, has also partnered with GoGoGrandparent’s ride-share network to provide an additional 24,000 rides in participating counties since the beginning of the partnership, according to an announcement this summer. To reach local assistance, call the NY Connects helpline at 1-800-342-9871.

Sheriff’s Office to implement new internal phone system

Dutchess County Sheriff Kirk Imperati has announced that the Sheriff’s Office is in the process of implementing a new automated phone directory system, set to go live beginning January 5, 2026.

This new system is designed to improve public access, streamline call routing, and ensure that requests for assistance are handled in the most efficient manner possible. The updated system allows callers to reach specific areas within the Sheriff’s Office through a centralized main number and clearly defined menu options. This enhancement is intended to reduce delays, improve customer service, and provide both the public and law enforcement partners with direct access to the appropriate resources.

The main phone number for the Dutchess County Sheriff’s Office will remain 845-486-3800. Callers will now be guided through an automated phone tree with options to connect directly to the following bureaus and units: Emergency Communications, Pistol Permits Unit, Patrol Bureau, Internal Affairs Bureau, Dutchess County Drug Task Force, Evidence and Property Unit, Administration, Records Unit, Civil Unit, Training and Recruitment Unit, Detective Bureau, Special Operations Bureau and Corrections Division.

Sheriff Imperati said, “This new system improves accessibility and ensures that calls are handled by the appropriate personnel as efficiently as possible. It allows us to better serve the residents of Dutchess County while also supporting our law enforcement partners.”

Members of the public are encouraged to use the automated directory for non-emergency matters, however emergencies should continue to be reported immediately to 911.

Academy recruits help apprehend larceny suspect

The Dutchess County Sheriff’s Office reports assisting with an investigation of a larceny that occurred on Parker Avenue, in the City of Poughkeepsie, at approximately 1:45 p.m. on Dec. 22.

While out conducting a Physical Fitness test on the North Side Trail, Dutchess County Law Enforcement Academy recruits sprang into action when a civilian alerted the police recruits that a package had just been stolen from her front porch on Parker Avenue.

The victim provided Ring Doorbell footage of the responsible party, who had fled onto the trail where the recruits were conducting their testing. Recruits alerted DCSO Academy staff and together they were able to locate and detain the subject in question. Evidence of the crime was also located and recovered by the recruits on the trail, which the suspect had attempted to dispose of.

This subject was found to be in possession of stolen property and turned over to the City of Poughkeepsie PD, who were interviewing the victim during this time. Items recovered included stolen Christmas presents for the victim’s children, which were sent by a family member. The property was returned to the victim, and the investigation was handled by the City of Poughkeepsie.

Despite being a few months away from their graduation, the Academy recruits showed they are ready to serve the residents in and around Dutchess County. Their fast thinking and actions helped stop a real-life Grinch from spoiling Christmas for a local family.

New Year traditions & news sampling from the past as we head into 2026

The January 1, 1823 “carrier’s broadsheet” of the Poughkeepsie Journal, a gift to DCHS in January of 1926 by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

By Bill Jeffway

The reliable arrival of this singular, annual event prompts us to look at New Year traditions and news of the past.

January 11, 2026 will mark the 100th anniversary of the donation of two single-page New Year’s Day newspaper sheets by Dutchess County Historical Society (DCHS) founder, Vice President and active lifetime member, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In his letter, FDR pointed out that both “carriers’ broadsides” were from the Poughkeepsie Journal on New Year’s Day. One was from 1816 and the other from 1823.

The year 1926 was important for FDR, because it was the year he purchased the Warm Springs, Georgia estate to help him recover from polio. He became New York Governor in 1928 and then U.S. President in 1932 until his death in 1945 at Warm Springs.

Inspired by FDR’s gift, the 1944 Yearbook contains a wonderful article by the then editor and noted historian, Amy Pierce Ver Nooy, called, “The Carrier’s Address – A New Year’s Greeting,” which can be found on this digital bookshelf: dchsny.org/yb-1941-1965

In what Ver Nooy called, “a quaint American practice for more than a century [from 1776] ... which seems to have been discontinued even in our smaller communities,” she explained that an annual greeting was offered on behalf of the newsboy or carrier. The later 1800s became crowded with local businesses vying for attention by offering New Year calendars and “souvenirs” with an ultimate goal of promoting their business.

Early issues, like the December 27, 1786 Poughkeepsie Advertiser (known by 1789 as the Poughkeepsie Journal), are explicit in their suggestion that a “favor” be bestowed on the carrier, in the form of a gratuity. Two-hundred thirty-nine years ago, local readers found a separate sheet with this poem:

“To the generous subscribers for the Poughkeepsie Advertiser.”

“Through wet and dry, and frost and snows, With fingers numb’d and aching toes, I ride to please with heart sincere, And wish you all a happy Year.”

“Each Wednesday morn’, as soon as light, I mount my horse and ride ‘till night, To bring you news from ev’ry quarter, That happens on the land or water.”

“I dauntless push through wet and dry, And at your door, ‘here’s news’ I cry; In hopes of a small recompense, For serving you with diligence; Though small the gift at the New Year, Will help me thro’ with greater cheer.”

“May commerce, trade, and arts increase, Wars and contentions ever cease; The God of Peace grant you success, And all your virt’ous doings bless.”

Let’s check out a few of the newsworthy items in New Years of the past.

- Two hundred years ago, the January 11, 1826 Poughkeepsie Journal carried the New Year’s message from New York State governor De Witt Clinton, reporting: “Notwithstanding immense emigrations to the fertile and wide-spreading regions of the west, our population is in a state of rapid advancement.” The dynamic at play was the transformational role that the 1825 opening of the Erie Canal played by connecting New York City to the U.S. West. This advancement both facilitated a mass migration west, but also became the backbone, along with the Hudson River, of the booming Empire State economy. In the first five decades as a State, New York’s population was up (from the prior decade) as follows: 1800: 73%; 1810: 63%; 1820:43%; 1830:40%; 1840: 26%.
- To fully appreciate the New Year’s news published by the Poughkeepsie Eagle one hundred and fifty years ago on January 6, 1876, we have to remind ourselves that at that time, without fail, each year the Hudson River froze solid for around three months. So the tone of astonishment that comes through this reminiscence of an ancient time when it did not freeze is better understood.
- “The Roundout Freeman, speaking of the weather on New Year’s Day [1876] says: the weather this year is wonderful, and on New Year’s Day certainly presented the most remarkable atmosphere this generation has ever experienced. Overcoats were really oppressive, and in all respects the day was more like summer than winter. Our ancestors however could beat it. In 1663, on the 30th of December, the Dutch troops sailed from Kingston in shallops [a small, nimble sailboat] and on New Year’s Day of 1664 reached New York after an unimpeded

The carrier’s broadsheet declined in the late 1800s as the field became crowded with commercial “greetings and souvenirs.” Here, S.G. & J.T. Smith of today’s City of Beacon, a seller of patterns for the tailoring of clothing, offered the traditional calendar of the New Year as well as an opportunity to promote their business.

sail of thirty-six hours, there being no more ice in the river than on a June day. Indeed, that year there was no ice at all, as Mattice Capito the clerk of this County entered on the margins of his records in the spring of 1664 that the river between New York and Albany had not once frozen over and that the Dutch had navigated it without hindrance.”

- One hundred years ago, the January 1, 1926, Poughkeepsie Eagle News announced another big step in the technological revolution at the time, which was AM radio.
- “Radio will Usher in the New Year. McCormack and Bori to Sing Here and Be Heard Abroad,” the headline flagged. The article reports, “New York, December 31 Associated Press. The radio world will launch the New Year tomorrow night [January 1, 1926] with the most elaborate attempt yet made to bring all the Earth in speaking distance. From New York, a program of music and greeting will be broadcast to Europe. In reply, another will be sent back from London. And to make it a worldwide event, news dispatches received by radio telegraph from the Orient, and South and Central America, will be relayed across the Atlantic from New York. Nine of the most powerful broadcasting stations in the United States have been linked for the attempt.” Happily, the “attempt” was successful as reported by the following day’s newspaper!

- Finally, the editorial in the Poughkeepsie Journal of January 1, 1976 suggested, “Let the astronomers keep track of solstices and equinoxes and solar revolutions. New Year’s Day, like Christmas, is something that happens in the heart. And in every good heart this day is the same wish: May it be a Happy New Year.” This was the year the United States was preparing for its bicentennial the way we are preparing for its 250th this year.
- Whether your gratitude is expressed through the heart, or your wallet, or a myriad of ways in between as has been done over the centuries, we hope you will find much to be grateful for in the New Year!

Utility poles removed as ‘signifiant progress’ in trail project

Utility poles on the west side of Route 9D were removed by Central Hudson, revealing a much-improved view of Storm King Mountain and Bannerman Island along this section of the Route 9D Scenic Byway earlier this month. Earlier this year, new utility poles were erected on the east side of the road and, subsequently, power was transferred to the new poles.

This work marks significant progress in the early stages of the Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail Breakneck Connector and Bridge project, as it allows for the construction of the new Metro-North Breakneck Ridge station, the Breakneck Connector trail, enhanced crosswalks, and amenities like restrooms and wayfinding signage.

The utility relocation project was performed in collaboration with several Hudson Highlands Fjord Trail, Inc. partners, including Central Hudson, NYS DOT, and Consigli Construction, and others.

Her basic training started March 9, 2020 at Fort Jackson, SC and progressed to 12 weeks of individual training at Fort Leonard Wood, MO. After that, she went through monthly drills for five years before being deployed to Kuwait and then to Iraq on Jan 3, 2025.

Alexa said she wanted to do something completely different than her work as a CNA and that is exactly what she got in performing maintenance duties at an existing U.S. Army base that was used during the Iraq War.

“I was not in combat situations, but we could definitely see it. They were setting off mortars and we always had alarms going off,” said. “You have to mentally prepare yourself for those situations.”

Alexa said her children called her tour of duty “Mommy’s Army work.” She added, “It was definitely hard on them, especially the two younger ones, (Declan, 4 and her daughter Haidyn, 3).”

She was injured near the end of September and was airlifted to a U.S. Army base in Germany and then to Fort Drum, NY.

In addition to her brother, Alexa said two of the main individuals she wanted to thank for the surprise family reunion are Pleasant Valley Fire District Commissioner Melissa Lawlor and Fire Chief John Cronk. “They were really amazing,” she said.

This was the longest period of time that Alexa had been separated from her children and she was amazed to see how much they have grown in just one year, particularly her daughter, Haidyn. “She was barely talking when I left and now we can hold a real conversation. That’s awesome,” she said.

Alexa will receive her honorable discharge from the U.S. Army on Jan. 22 and, in the meantime is trying to restart her life as Mom.

“I’m just happy to be back home. We’re going through some unusual adjustments,” she said. “But we’re getting there.”

Drug Task Force: 39-year-old man charged with criminal possession of controlled substance

The Dutchess County District Attorney's Office Drug Task Force has announced the successful execution of a search warrant at 40 South Hamilton Street in the City of Poughkeepsie following a narcotics investigation.

Agents began the investigation after developing intelligence about a suspected dealer selling narcotics and dangerous drugs out of an apartment located at 40 South Hamilton Street. Drug Task Force Agents identified Leon V. Allen, 39, as the individual allegedly distributing narcotics in the City. Over the course of the investigation, Agents allegedly conducted purchases of narcotics from Allen, which ultimately led to the securing of a search warrant for multiple apartments within 40 South Hamilton Street believed to be utilized for the storage, concealment and distribution of narcotics and dangerous drugs.

On Dec. 10, Drug Task Force Agents along with members of the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office Emergency Services Unit (SWAT) and the Poughkeepsie SWAT team executed the search warrant at 40 South Hamilton Street in the City of Poughkeepsie. During the execution of this warrant large quantities of cocaine, drug packaging materials, U.S. currency, digital scales and other items associated with the sale and distribution of narcotics were seized, according to officials.

According to law enforcement officials, Leon V. Allen was charged with the following:

- 1 Count of Criminal Possession of a Controlled Substance 2nd Degree, a class A-II Felony.
- 1 Count of Criminal Possession of a Controlled Substance 3rd Degree (intent to sell), a class B Felony.

Allen was later arraigned in the City of Poughkeepsie Court and remanded to DCJ with no bail, according to officials. There are multiple sales charges pending against Allen related to this case by the Drug Task Force.

This investigation and enforcement action were made possible through close collaboration between the Drug Task Force and the NYSP Community Stabilization Unit, City of Poughkeepsie Neighborhood Recovery Unit the Dutchess County Sheriff's Office Patrol Bureaus, Town of Poughkeepsie and City Police Departments, City of Beacon Police Department, Town of Hyde Park Police Department, Town of East Fishkill Police Department, and the Town of Fishkill Police Department.

If anyone has information regarding this case or about any other individuals selling drugs in Dutchess County, you are urged to contact the Drug Task Force confidential tip line at 845-463-6040 or by emailing your tips to Drugtaskforcetips@gmail.com. As with any criminal case, the charges described above are merely an accusation and those individuals named in this release are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Sheriff's Office warns of ongoing scams

The Dutchess County Sheriff's Office would like to warn the residents of Dutchess County and surrounding areas about scams that once again seem to be on the rise.

Scams are ways in which criminals will attempt to get money from people by contacting them and making up elaborate stories. In some cases the perpetrators have tried, sometimes successfully, to use the victim's emotions about a loved one in trouble to get money. It's common for the perpetrators of these scams to try to get money by telling people that one of their relatives has been seriously hurt or is in jail, and that they need money right away. In many cases they will pose as a law enforcement official or another relative to try and convince the victim that it's legitimate.

Lately there have been two main scams circulating. In the first one the perpetrators pose as law enforcement or corrections officials and tell the victim that a loved one has been arrested and is in jail. They proceed to tell the victim that their loved one can be released from jail if they pay a sum of money, and then once the money is paid it's discovered that the loved one was never incarcerated to begin with. This scam preys on emotions and is common with older victims being told that their grandchildren are in jail.

The second scam, unrelated to the first one above, is common during the holiday season and occurs when the perpetrators pose as someone familiar to the victim and ask the victim to purchase gift cards for them in exchange for reimbursement. Of course reimbursement is never made once the cards are purchased and turned over to the suspects.

The Sheriff's Office has identified at least two victims that have each lost several thousands of dollars as a result of the aforementioned scams.

The Sheriff's Office offers the following general tips to help people avoid these scams:

- If you're contacted by someone you don't know asking for money, for any reason, it's very likely a scam.
- If you receive correspondence from someone that you don't know and they instruct you to keep the matter confidential and not tell anyone about it, it's most likely a scam.
- Emails or text messages that contain misspelled words, grammatical errors, don't make sense, or are sent at odd hours – for example the middle of the night - are most likely scams.
- Legitimate law enforcement would not attempt to satisfy a warrant or make promises to avoid prosecution by soliciting money.
- If you receive an email or text about an order you didn't place or asking you to send money call the company using a legitimate number. DO NOT follow the instructions in the email, click on any links in the email, or call the number provided in the email.
- If someone you don't know asks you to purchase merchandise, transfer money, provide bank information, provide remote computer access, enter a code, or click on a link given to you by them use caution as it is likely a scam.

Jeffrey ‘JeffFree’ Alan Relyea

Jeffrey Relyea came into this world on April 20, 1959, in Wappingers Falls, New York, born to Ralph and Ethel Relyea. From the very beginning, he carried a lightness of being—a curiosity for life, a devotion to music, and a heart tuned to love. Somewhere along the way, he remembered who he truly was and chose the name JeffFree, a name that reflected the spirit he lived from: open, unbound, and awake.

Jeff took his qualities of goodness and honesty and established a lucrative business, All Season Siding. His craftsmanship allowed him to work with many prominent builders throughout Dutchess County, NY. His reputation allowed him to move on to Schoharie, NY where he established All Season Construction. His quality craftsmanship allowed him to build beautiful homes in Schoharie County, NY.

He leaves behind his two sons, David

Relyea of Schoharie, New York, and Steven Relyea and his wife Michelle of San Diego, California—extensions of his being, walking the world in their own way. His heart overflowed with love for his grandchildren, Parisay and Atlas, whom he adored as teachers, miracles, and reminders of wonder.

Jeffrey is also lovingly held in the hearts of his siblings: Michele and Larry Haynes of New Hamburg, New York; Michael and Gay Relyea of North Augusta, South Carolina; Susan and Mike Reed of Eureka Springs, Arkansas; Judith Durland of Schoharie, New York; and Steven and Rosanna Relyea of Fishkill, New York. He is remembered with great affection by his many nieces and nephews, each one touched by his presence in their own sacred way.

For the last eight years, Jeffrey offered his gift freely on the streets of downtown Eureka Springs, his harmonica singing through the air like a prayer. He didn’t just play music—he was the music. His melodies met people where they were, softening edges, opening hearts, reminding us to pause, to breathe, to feel.

When the streets were full, he was there. When the streets were empty and the night settled in, he was still there—keeping quiet company with the moon and anyone who needed a moment of peace. He was a familiar sound, a steady presence, love humming through brass and breath.

Though his body has moved on, Jeffrey has not gone anywhere. We hear him still—in the echoes of a harmonica, in the hush after a long day, in the simple joy of being alive. What we carry forward is not just memory, but presence. What we loved in him lives within us now.

A celebration of life will be held at Lake Leatherwood in Eureka Springs sometime in January, with another gathering planned in New York in the spring. Details will be shared with family and friends as plans unfold.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to A Cup of Love Food Pantry, a charity JeffFree loved and frequented, in honor of his generous and compassionate spirit.

Donations can be made online at: acupofloveministry.org
Much love to a brother, a friend, a traveler who walked gently and loved deeply.
The music continues. The love remains.
Be here now, JeffFree.

2026 Art Exhibition Season kicks off at Cunneen-Hackett Arts Center on Jan. 3

The Cunneen-Hackett Arts Center kicks off their new 2026 Art Exhibition Season with thirteen talented artists whose works will be showcased from Jan. 3, 2026 to Feb. 29, 2026 in three Visual Art Galleries. Featured in the Victorian Gallery at 9 Vassar Street in Poughkeepsie, will be Kelly Stohr presenting her solo exhibition, “Shadow Map.” At 12 Vassar Street, WomensWork.Art brings together twelve artists for their group show, Something About the Women, in the Hancock and Reception Galleries. Free Public Art Opening Reception will be held in all three Art Galleries on Friday, Jan. 9, 2026 from 5-7 p.m.

Kelly Stohr is a visual artist residing in the Hudson Valley whose practice relies on the methods of intuitive wandering, spontaneous conversation, and chance encounters. The result is a fateful chain of events that leads her from one subject to the next. “I use cameras to navigate our distracted, psychically lonely 21st century existence as a young woman in this present moment,” Kelly explains. “Through images and textures that feel both universal and oddly specific, I hope to bring a shimmer of the collective unconscious to the surface and encourage us to look a little closer at what’s already there.” In addition to being an accomplished photographer who has showcased her work in group and solo exhibitions, Kelly is also the writer of the blog “The Junk Drawer” that functions as a curated collection of found images and scattered thoughts.

Womenswork.Art is dedicated to supporting emerging and mid-career female, femme-identifying, non-binary and marginalized artists and curators across the spectrum of artistic mediums to explore themes ranging from the personal to the global. get growing!

“Good luck!”

These are some of the comments I got when I asked local farmers what’s in store for the new year. Zippy Duvall, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has always been optimistic when he talks to farmers about the future. But this month he writes in his newsletter, “It’s not in my nature to focus on the clouds overhead, but it’s not wise to ignore them either. Farmers across the country are facing a growing economic storm. Crop prices are low and production expenses are at record highs. As we hear more rumbles of tariffs, the storm is impossible to ignore.”

When I got deeper into conversation with Hudson Valley farmers, I was able to tease out a few sparks of optimism, as we searched for the pony:

• Mark Doyle, manager of Fishkill Farms – “Crops that are part of the experience for the customer is where you’re going to make money.” Fishkill Farms is a real farm, not just an empty lot with a few pumpkins thrown around for a “pick your own” experience. And they have lots of value-added products for visitors to buy, like the new Treasury Pommeau. Still, the cost of labor is a huge concern, since farming is so labor intensive. Government, especially N.Y. state, grants will be available for help getting excess product to food banks, but they need to be consistent.

• Isaac Coon and his dad Peter – “Milk prices are low, and I don’t think they’ll get much better. Tariffs are hindering the sales of powdered milk.” Coon Brothers Daisy just installed robots to milk their 350 Guernsey cows. But they still need labor, and Peter points out that it’s a big challenge to convince people that a farm is a nice place to work. Peter remembers a farmers’ meeting 50 years ago where everyone was pessimistic, “But I’m still here,” he says. The local dairies that survived and will continue to thrive are focused and innovative.

Local farmers in the new year

‘Sparks of optimism’ emerge for 2026

• Mandy Dykeman - “Absolutely a future!” Especially if it involves agri-tourism. The Dykeman family grows pick-your-own pumpkins on their 350-acre farm in Pawling, along with sweet corn, tomatoes, apples, and dozens of other crops, sold at markets and their farm stand. Mandy points out that the tourist popular hay ride is not a form of agritainment, but a way to get their customers to the pumpkin patch. It just happens to be fun.

• Charles Hurd from Hurds Family Farm – Diversification is the key to the future. Charles is optimistic, planting new apple trees, and selling into the wholesale market while also offering pick your own. Still, he laments that local farming is a break-even business, even when everything goes right. You really need enough income to, for example, buy a decent car or help send your kids to college. A lot of younger apple farmers are diversifying into hard cider, which might be the secret in 2026, if we don’t have a glut.

• Ron Spadafora – “There is optimism” in the cannabis industry. Ron’s company Farm QC holds one of the original marijuana production licenses. His optimism stems from the federal government’s rescheduling cannabis, now allowing for research and normal business tax deductions. Anecdotal evidence suggests that the CBD and THC in marijuana treats chronic pain, epilepsy and anxiety, but now these theories can be properly researched and quantified, opening up new legal markets for a local crop.

• Gregg Pulver – the new Deputy County Executive is a long-time farmer, currently renting out his farm for corn and soybean production. He told me that Hudson Valley farmers are experiencing Dairy farmers Isaac and Peter Coon.

“pressures from everywhere.” but that we (I’m a farmer, too) are “more resilient than most. The people still doing it are doing it well.” The economics for straight agriculture are not looking good. We have to ramp up to value-added, and have total control of our product. Create a marketing opportunity. A good example would be Hudson Valley Fresh, the milk brand that sells a local product better than other brands, and also is value added, with their famous chocolate milk. Gregg laments that not enough people are buying local farm products. It’s up to the farmers themselves, in 2026, to make sure that their products are the best on the market and that everybody knows it.

love to cook

And so, we come to the end of another year. I do hope you have some things to look back on fondly and are looking forward to an even better year ahead. As for me, 2025 was bittersweet, its highs and lows bringing new perspectives, making me even more grateful for all I have and bringing into clear focus all I need to change. I have to believe it’s never too late to become my best self.

When I look back on my year in food, I can say it was a good one. My passion for cooking was reinvigorated in a way it hasn’t been for many years; and almost every day saw me busy in the kitchen, music or a podcast playing, while I came up with recipes, revisited old ones or discovered new ones to try. It’s fun to get lost in the process again (like I did for several days while making this year’s Christmas feast and why this is a short article – it was fun but I’m tired!). All year I set goals and challenged myself and played and had fun. There were mistakes and triumphs, and I like knowing there’s always more to learn.

To my list of go-to recipes I added crunch wraps (where have they been all my life?!), taco casserole, lemon pudding cake, manicotti made with crepes, summer vegetable lasagna, no-churn pumpkin ice cream and peanut butter-potato chip cookies, to name a few. I’m looking forward to growing that list in the year to come. I revisited some old favorites and even improved them, which is its own reward, if you ask me. Dusting off old recipes always feels a bit like spring cleaning. You see them with new eyes and have more experience to change them up and make them new again.

I also got into a routine with cooking, which felt great and helped make me more productive and efficient. I now schedule my time in the kitchen, planning everything ahead, from shopping lists and weekly menus to what to do with leftovers. I actually look forward to the part of my day spent in the kitchen, finding comfort in knowing that it’s my time to unplug from everything else that’s going on and just have a date with food. It’s been a good perspective changer.

In addition, I said a tearful good-bye to my beloved cat Phoebe, stole some time for myself, reflected on gratitude, allowed myself to take a few shortcuts now and then and had some fun, creative adventures with my sister. I continue to learn about myself and am sometimes surprised by what I can accomplish while also admitting my shortcomings, which I’m working on and hope to improve. I need to do better and be better and a new year is as good an excuse as any.

I’m not one to make New Year’s resolutions or tell you what you ought to do, but I think it’s OK to make a friendly suggestion or two. To that end, it warms my heart to hope I can inspire you in some small way and encourage you to take chances, try new things and savor as many moments as you can, even – and maybe especially – the small ones. Don’t be afraid to challenge yourself, try new things and have fun doing it. Try not to have any regrets. Take pride in even the smallest accomplishments and treat yourself when you can.

Might I also suggest taking a few moments to relax with your favorite beverage – a nice cup of tea or coffee, a glass of wine or a cocktail – and just be. Set pressure aside, breathe deep and know that doing so is no less than you deserve, especially after a busy holiday season. Tomorrow is another day and another year. What you do with it is ultimately up to you, even when you don’t feel like it is. Try to stay positive, be good to yourself and kind to others, do your best, listen, love and always, always find something to be grateful for. Happy New Year!

50 years of tradition: The Great Thanksgiving Football Game

Thanksgiving Day 2025 marked the 50th year of the Chase Family Football Game, which has been played through rain, snow, freezing temperatures and good weather, for five decades.

Village of Wappingers Falls Judge Raymond Chase, who initiated the game in 1975 and who has played in and sponsored it every year, was presented by Tom Raiche with a quilt made of past years' shirts. The Young Warriors defeated the Mature Warriors 6-5.

More than 50 white coats awarded at Mount Saint Mary's Nurse Practitioner ceremony

More than 50 students from the Mount Saint Mary College Nurse Practitioner program were honored at the winter 2025 White Coat Ceremony on Friday, Dec. 12.

The graduates' white coats were presented to them by their chosen family members, from spouses and children to parents and grandparents, symbolizing the support systems that helped them reach this milestone.

The ceremony reflected the students' transition to the professional nurse practitioner role. Nurse practitioners are advanced practice nurses who provide high-quality healthcare services, with the ability to diagnose, treat, and prescribe across a wide range of health problems.

After welcome speeches by Professor Nancy Gartin-Checchi, Graduate Nursing Coordinator, and Dr. Robert Gervasi, president of the Mount, students and their families enjoyed a congratulatory message from Dr. Lynette DeBellis, associate professor of Nursing and Chair of the School of Nursing.

Dr. Gervasi reminded the graduates that their new title comes with a profound responsibility to the whole person, not just the patient's physical ailments.

"The white coat is a symbol of competence, yes, but it must also be a symbol of conscience," said Gervasi. "You are called to bring light to the shadows of illness, and to treat every individual with the dignity they deserve as children of God."

Anne-Marie Uebbing, associate professor of Nursing and a certified Family Nurse Practitioner delivered the keynote address. She urged the new Nurse Practitioners to remember the humanity behind the science.

"Never lose sight of the art of nursing," said Uebbing. "Guidelines and protocols are essential, but it is your empathy, your listening ear, and your advocacy that will truly heal those entrusted to your care."

Graduate Sherene Williams was selected to discuss the group's progression through the rigorous program. She highlighted the resilience of the Class of 2025.

"We are not the same people who walked into our first class," said Williams. "We have been tested, we have been tired, but we have been transformed. We are ready to step into our communities and make a difference, not just as providers, but as partners in health."

The sentiment of the class was further reflected in the ceremony program, where students shared their personal philosophies. As graduate Nicole Zazzero noted, the goal of the Nurse Practitioner is "to

Art Effect exhibition showcases teen artists from across the Hudson Valley

Five Hudson Valley teens are debuting an impressive body of work at The Art Effect's Senior Project Exhibition, running through Jan. 10, 2026 in the Carole J. Wolf Gallery, 45 Pershing Avenue, Poughkeepsie. Featured artists in this year's show represent five different Hudson Valley communities. Phoenix Barra-Greenmyer of Middletown, Kenny Gray of Holmes, Sadie Pomerantz of Rhinebeck, Chanel Reed of Poughkeepsie, and Virginia Zengen of Stanfordville will each show off a cohesive body of work in this exhibition.

Senior Project, one of the only programs like this in the Hudson Valley, is a culmination of 12 weeks of intense individual development, including a collaborative studio environment, offering time to work both in the studio and at home, that prepares the students for college-level arts programs and careers in the arts.

The exhibition features innovative and diverse works created by advanced students enrolled in The Art Effect's Senior Project course. Discover the stories behind the art as these young artists share their unique experiences and practices. Explore the motivations driving their self-expression and delve into the techniques and media that have brought their visions to life.

In 2024, Art Institute students earned more than $1.2 million in scholarships, and the Senior Project cohort went on to study at Syracuse University, UMass Dartmouth, and Eastern Connecticut University and more.

Exhibiting artists like Chanel Reed worked for more than 240 hours on their body of work. They not only created an impressive exhibition but also worked as professional artists, developing a portfolio, participating in critiques, and writing artist statements.

"My time in the Senior Project refreshed my artistic skills and development." Says Chanel. "I struggled with finding a constant in my art-making in the past, but working on a new series that includes a personal narrative and an exploration of mixed-media materials has gradually given me clarity towards my personal art practice. Working on this series has taught me to trust the slow layering of my own voice."

The Art Effect's Director of Artistic Advancement and teacher of the Senior Project course, Hanna Rose DeMarco states, "This group of artists' dedication to their practices and their bodies of work makes me excited for the future of contemporary art. Each one of them has shown dedication to the mastery of their craft and their visions that have not only paid off, but have made me immensely proud. They brought their unique ideas to life, and I believe viewers will be amazed by the work they've created."

Alumni of this program have gone on to be professional freelance artists, illustrators, game designers, college educators, fashion designers, cartoonists, architects, and more. Proceeds from the sale of artwork will go towards the artist's creative futures.

Viewings can be scheduled by appointment, Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Teen artists showing works in the Art Effect's Senior Project Exhibition include (from top of page) Sadie Pomerantz, Kenny Gray, and Virginia Zengen.

The heavy lines indicate areas, called cages, from one to five squares in size. Fill each cage with unique digits, counting up from 1. So for example a 2-square cage contains the numbers 1 and 2; and a 5-square cage contains the numbers from 1 to 5. Adjacent (touching) squares, even ones that touch diagonally, may never contain the same number.

College students collect more than 1,000 toys for the holidays

The spirit of giving is alive and well at Mount Saint Mary College, where the campus community recently collected more than 1,000 toys for local children during its annual Christmas toy drive. Organized by Fr. Gregoire Fluet, Vice President for Mission and Ministry and campus Chaplain, the drive rallied students, faculty, and staff to ensure that families in the Hudson Valley would have gifts to open this holiday season. The donations will be distributed by Catholic Charities of Orange, Sullivan, and Ulster Counties to families in need throughout the region. On-hand to help package up the toys for delivery were Assistant Athletic Director Mike Lowell and plenty of Mount student-athletes. “This entire season – Christmas, Hanukkah, Three Kings, Kwanzaa – is a season of miracles and light that calls us to open our hearts to our neighbors,” said Fr. Fluet. “The Mount community has answered that call in a spectacular way. To see more than 1,000 toys gathered for local children is a beautiful reminder of what we can achieve when we come together in the spirit of giving and love.” The annual drive has become a staple of the holiday season at the Mount, reflecting the college’s Dominican pillars of service and community. Since Fr. Fluet’s arrival at the Mount nearly a decade ago, the annual toy drive has collected thousands of toys for local children. For more information, visit www.msmc.edu.

Mount Saint Mary College students and staff sort and bag hundreds of toys collected during the college’s annual Christmas drive. The community gathered more than 1,000 gifts to support local children.
